11-10-1988

UA12/2/1 Winter Sports Preview

WKU Student Affairs

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.wku.edu/dlsc_ua_records

Part of the Journalism Studies Commons, Mass Communication Commons, Public Relations and Advertising Commons, Social History Commons, Sociology Commons, and the Sports Studies Commons

Recommended Citation

https://digitalcommons.wku.edu/dlsc_ua_records/5974

This Other is brought to you for free and open access by TopSCHOLAR®. It has been accepted for inclusion in WKU Archives Records by an authorized administrator of TopSCHOLAR®. For more information, please contact topscholar@wku.edu.
By DOUG TATUM

Tandrelia Green has had a love affair since she was 8 years old.

The object of her love—basketball.

Green was a second-grader when she started playing.

"I learned on the courts outside at home," said Green, a Washington, D.C., native. "It was pretty hard at first because you get out there, and guys don't think girls should be playing basketball. But after I got started, it was pretty easy."

The 21-year-old junior is the only daughter of Ramona and Tafi Green.

She has four brothers—one older and three younger—who played basketball with her.

"We'd go to the court and play from sun up to sun down," she said.

Her brothers didn't try to play rough with her unless "I was leading in points."

Western's women's basketball coach Paul Sanderford said the team is structuring a great deal of offense around Green's talents.

"Tandrelia needs to have an outstanding year," Sanderford said. "We need to keep her out of foul trouble."

Green is optimistic about the upcoming season.

"I think we'll do well this year—we have a lot of talent. It could be a big year for me, but it depends on how I work and on how the team works."

Teammate Michelle Clark said working hard isn't a problem for Green.

"She's a great athlete who's a hard worker," Clark said. "She does the best she can every time."

Although Green wasn't one of those people who carried a basketball wherever she went, she said she did play whenever she got the chance.

"I played basketball every day. At junior high I played at lunchtime because I loved it so much."

Green went to Howard D. Wodson High School in Washington, D.C., where she started on the basketball team for three years as a forward and center. She averaged 25 points and 20 rebounds a game as her team won the city championship. She was also a high jumper and a shot putter on the track team.

The 6-footer was heavily recruited, but chose Western over the University of Georgia and the University of Maryland because she liked the atmosphere and thought she could fit in.

"The people were really nice, and the town wasn't real busy or hectic," Green said.

She also liked Coach Paul Sanderford.

"He's tough in practice, but off the floor he's a best friend," Sanderford said.

Green had to make the adjustment from playing center in high school to playing small forward at Western.

"Tandrelia Green has made herself a complete player," Sanderford said. "She is an outstanding athlete who has learned to play in a structured situation. Tandrelia does everything above average... she has all the tools to be an All-American."

Green said she didn't have to work hard at Wodson because the level of competition wasn't exceptional, but has worked hard at Western to improve.

"My shooting and defense has improved. In high school there wasn't any competition; now I have to work harder."

The hard work paid off for Green last year when she was named the most valuable player in the Bowling Green Invitational and the Lady Ute Classic. She was also an All-Sun Belt Conference first-team member last year as she averaged 14 points and almost seven rebounds a game.

Even though she received many accolades last season, Sanderford said Green was inconsistent.

"We're looking for more consistency and more leadership from Tandrelia," Sanderford said. "Her biggest problem is the fact that she is so competitive that her competitiveness causes some of her problems—making a foul out of being frustrated. She has to manage herself on the floor."

Her teammates also said Green was an aggressive player.

"It's like playing with a bulldozer," said senior Susan Starks.

Off and on the floor Green has the reputation of being a Joker.

"She's exactly like the Joker," Starks said referring to the character on Batman comic strips. "She's always playing jokes. She's fun to be with."

At a recent practice, she, Mary Taylor and Brigitte Combs all stood on the sidelines the same way. At first, they stood with their arms crossed, then with their arms behind their backs, and then they turned their bodies parallel to the court.

"We don't do it every practice," Green said with a laugh. "We were just being silly."

Basketball isn't the only thing on Green's mind. She is a mass communications major who wants to get a job working in television after graduation.

Green said it is difficult to mix academics and athletics.

"It gets hard on the road trips because your mind isn't on the books."

But Green has made her priorities set.

"Academics is more important. There is life after basketball."

Tandrelia Green, a junior from Washington, D.C., looks to lead the Lady Toppers to a winning season this year. Green led Western in scoring last year with an average of 14 points per game.
Arnold, team set for third year together

Sports editor Julius Key spent a week with the men's basketball team. The following is the first of a two-part series.

By JULIUS KEY

In a matter of weeks, Western men's basketball coach Murray Arnold's third Hilltopper team will open against Western Carolina.

Since replacing Clem Haskins '86, Arnold has experienced the highs and lows of coaching — from first place and a trip to the NCAA in his rookie season at Western to a sixth-place finish in an eight-team league last year.

But this team, while not highly regarded, seems to be adjusting well to Arnold and feels more at ease with his coaching style. Sunday, Oct. 30.

Arnold's timing is impeccable. Before every practice, he gives each assistant a copy of the day's schedule. Listed are the times each drill should begin. For instance, warmups were from 1 p.m. until a quarter after.

At precisely 1:15, Arnold's whistle signaled the beginning of a new routine.

The players are accustomed to Arnold's structure. Most arrive about 45 minutes before practice, and they are usually on the floor 20 minutes prior to its start.

The array of the team's drills is unusual. The drills include work on rebounding, dribbling, passing, and passing. The drill is repeated, and Arnold gets to work on with each drill introduced each day.

Perhaps the most interesting drill is the one-on-one match-ups. Here is where the coaches decide the team members' playing time.

The biggest battle is for the third guard spot where senior Terry Cadwell and sophomore Terry Birdsong are running up even.

The coaches like the idea of having Arnold's third Hilltopper team "play the game". Their style: "We're going to practice the way we're going to play."

The coach's primary concern is on defense, and he suggests that the younger players have made good progress.

The coaches are pleased with his improvement but are waiting until the season starts before becoming overly optimistic. While Ross seems to be on a mission, the senior guard doesn't seem to have a mission at all.

During Sunday's practice, Thompson's missed assignments and passes and generally had a bad day. But Arnold and the other coaches never got upset with Thompson and took time from practice to work with him.

"Harold," Arnold said, "you gotta look for the ball. You've got to always be ready for the ball. You've got to think while on offense."

Thompkins nodded his head, but still made a few more mistakes before practice ended. But each time, a coach would patiently offer him encouragement or instruction.

"Harold's making a big adjustment," Arnold said. "This is really like his freshman year. He's got some talent; it's just going to take him a while to learn the system and get adjusted."

Arnold kept the players around until shortly before 4 p.m. That gave them time to shower, eat, rest and be in the library at 7:30 for study hall.

Most players stayed around the locker room and talked about things not related to basketball.

The first player to leave was Cadwell, the last was junior guard Roland Sheldon, who likes to joke with the student managers before leaving. He finally strolled out around 5 p.m.

In 3½ hours, the group would meet again in the library for study hall.

---

ALL-YOU-CAN-EAT
CHICKEN

Sundays

Enjoy all-you-can-eat of our Blue-Ribbon Fried Chicken, Your Choice of TWO Vegetables and a big Biscuit. All for ONLY $3.99.

BOWLING GREEN
2410 Scottsville Road
788-8400

---

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK
NOVEMBER 14 - 18

20% OFF all children's book titles

College Heights Bookstore
Lady Tops not under Manned despite losses

By DOUG TATUM

Coach Paul Sanderford will be counting on the experience of his four returning starters to lead the Lady Toppers back to the final four. Only last year's senior Traci Pauzan graduated from a team that finished 26-8 last season. The Lady Toppers lost to the University of Arizona in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

But Terri Mann, USA Today's top high school female athlete in 1986-87, quit the team and withdrew from school because she didn't follow team rules.

She broke team rules about class attendance, curfew and participation in team study halls and preseason conditioning, Sanderford said.

"We'll miss Terri Mann's athletic ability, and some of the things she can do on the basketball floor," Sanderford said.

But junior Tandrea Green doesn't think Mann's absence will hurt the team tremendously.

"We won the Sun Belt without her," she said.

Also, sophomore Kelly Cook withdrew from the university because of having a severe kidney infection. She will be redshirted this year and might return next semester.

The four returning starters are Green, senior Brigitte Combs and sophomores Mary Taylor and Kelly Smith. Senior guards Susie Starks and Debbie O'Connell also started more than 10 games for Western last year. Starks was named the most valuable player in the Sun Belt Tournament last year.

Sanderford had a good recruiting year bringing in his third Kentucky Miss Basketball in Kim Pehlke.

"I felt like the recruiting class helped us in areas where we needed it," Sanderford said. "Kim Pehlke is an outstanding prospect."

Pehlke said she is trying to adjust to the college game.

"It is a lot different, it was tough at first and still hard," Pehlke said. "I'm doing okay, at least the coaches say I'm doing okay."

Sanderford isn't sure if the recruiting class is his best ever, but "it's a very good recruiting class."

Two of Sanderford's other recruits — Tynia Wilson and Jennifer Berryman — will also receive some playing time.

"At 6-3, Wilson is the first true post player recruited under him, Sanderford said. She will be battling with junior Michelle Clark for playing time at center.

"I feel like all three will have to give us quality minutes," he said. "They need to learn the system and make the adjustment to college."

The Lady Toppers will need all their experience to survive a schedule Sanderford described as "gruesome."

It includes away games against the University of Tennessee, Long Beach, Old Dominion and Texas, all perennial top-twenty teams.

"In our scheme we're not looking at a particular game as a key," Sanderford said. "We want the best team by tournament time."

Winning the Sun Belt and getting into the NCAA Tournament are some of the goals mentioned by the Lady Toppers. They will have an advantage in the tournaments because the Sun Belt Conference Tournament and the NCAA East Regional Tournaments will be in Diddle Arena this year.

Junior forward Tandrea Green of Washington, D.C., watches her shot while senior guard Debbie Smith's shot also ranked Western sixth.

Green, a forward, said the players don't pay attention to preseason polls.

"I really don't worry about the rankings because its just preseason," she said.

The preseason practices have been going well, Sanderford said.

Junior forward Tandrea Green of Washington, D.C., watches her shot while senior guard Debbie Smith's shot also ranked Western sixth.

Green, a forward, said the players don't pay attention to preseason polls.

"I really don't worry about the rankings because its just preseason," she said.

The Lady Toppers play a Red-White game Sunday at 1 p.m. at Louisville Southern High School.

Tickets for the game are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Talisman Group Photos

Don't miss your appointment or you'll be missing your mug!

Nov. 10

5:00 AEHA
5:10 Delta Sigma Pi
5:20 Dental Hygiene 1st Year Students
5:30 Samer Piedad Society
5:40 Western Sociology Society
5:50 Gamma Theta Upsilon
6:00 Intercollegiate Equestrian Assoc.
6:10 Pro Law Club
6:20 Beta Gamma Sigma
6:30 Pershing Rifles
6:40 Anthropology Club
6:50 Accounting Club
7:00 Western Flyers
7:10 Amazing Tones of Joy
7:20
7:30 PISSA
7:40 Women's Softball
7:50 University Scholars
8:00 Intercollegiate State Legislature
8:10 Omicron Delta Kappa
8:20 National Assoc. of Accountants
8:30 Force ROTC
8:40 -
8:50 Block & Bridge
9:00 Public Health Assoc.
9:10 Beta Sigma Gamma (to be resolved)
9:20 Fellowship of Christian Athletes
9:30 Horticulture (to be resolved)
9:40 Marketing Club
9:50 Personnel Administration Club
10:00 Weight Club

Nov. 16

5:00 Young Democrats
5:10 Baptist Student Union
5:20 Soccer Club
5:30 Dairy Science
5:40 Geology Club
5:50 Geography Club
6:00 UCB
6:10 International Student Organization
6:20 Delta Omicron
6:30 Kentucky Consultants
6:40 Society of Physics Students
6:50 Horse Rider's Assoc.
7:00 Gamma Sigma Sigma
7:10 Beta Beta Beta
7:20 Young Life
7:30 Collegiate Sec International
7:40 Industrial Education and Tech.
7:50 Ag Business
8:00 AG's
8:10 Omicron Delta Epsilon
8:20 Sigma Delta Chi
8:30 Alpha Phi Omega
8:40 Phi Alpha Theta
8:50 SME
9:00 Phi Beta Lambda
9:10 Nursing Honors Society
9:20 Interfraternity Council
9:30 Ad Club
9:40 Associated Student Social Workers
9:50 Student Alumni
10:00 Great Commission Students

Nov. 17

6:00 Speculative Fiction Society
6:10 Sigma Tau Delta
6:20 Recreation Major Club
5:30 Special Places
5:40 SLU Club
5:50 Snubboard and Blaah
6:00 Electrical and Electronic Engineering
6:10 Diet Ed. Clubs
6:20 Gun Club
6:30 Black Student Fellowship
6:40 NFPA-Photograph
6:50 Phi Eta Sigma
7:00 Navigators Club
7:10 Southeastern Kappa Karate
7:20 Frisbee Team
7:30 College Republicans
7:40 Pi Epsilon
7:50 Pi Epsilon
8:00 Phys. Educ. Majors Club
8:10 Rugby Football
8:20 Alpha Delta Delta
8:30 Alpha Xi Delta
8:40 Association Med. Tech.
Mike Gonzales, a senior from Munster, Ind., practices the butterfly during practice yesterday afternoon.

18 returning lettermen will boost Tops

By ANDY DENNIS

Among the papers, books and pamphlets on Coach Bill Powell's office desk sits a plaque saying, "Where disorder reigns, genius exists.

But Powell said the team's success isn't due to his coaching genius or his disorganization.

"Winning is contagious," and our program has a lot of tradition,"" the team's record since 1977 is 81-14. Last year's 10-0 squad capped off its season by winning the Midwest... Championship, its eighth in the last 11 years.

Powell said the success should continue this season.

"I think we have the nucleus to do it again this year," he said. "We have a lot more depth this season than last year.

Swimming

Gone from last year's championship team is Powell's son, Doug, who missed a spot on the U.S. Olympic team by a tick of a stopwatch, and standouts Sean Herbst and Mike Sime.

"They scored 125 points between them in the Midwest championship (out of the team's 500)," Powell said. "We're not going to replace those guys."

"We'll do a lot better in tournaments than dual meets though," he said, "because in dual meets you need those stars."

The 1988-89 squad will have 18 returning lettermen, led by senior co-captains Jeff Braak of Grand Haven, Mich., and Mike Gonzales of Munster, Ind.

Braak was fourth in one-meter diving at the Midwest last year, and the three ahead of him graduated. Gonzales won the 100-meter backstroke and was second in the 200-meter backstroke at the Midwest.

Although Western isn't the only team in the conference to lose key performers, the biggest obstacle to Western's title defense may be Southern Illinois University, depending on a vote of the coaches.

"They are up there with the Southeastern Conference and the Big Ten conference teams," Powell said. "They have a full complement of scholarships. I feel like they'll get in."

"It changes things because we had so much parity," he said. "With Southern Illinois coming in, everyone's goal may be second place."

Overall Western should be strong again in the backstroke, Powell said.

"We had five out of the top 16 in the backstroke at the Midwest," he said. "Four of those return."

Mike Dingfield, a sophomore from Jacksonville, Fla., has been impressive in workouts, Powell said.

John Brooks, a junior from Brentwood, Tenn., and Jay Hansen, a freshman from Ludington, Mich., may contribute right away. Hansen won the 100-yard butterfly in the Michigan state championship last year.

Western will have an intrasquad meet at the Diddle Pool starting at 7 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday at 10 a.m. Sunday.

The first regular season meet is Nov. 18 at the Miner Classic in Rolla, Mo.
Experienced returnees know Arnold's style

BY JULIUS KEY

If nothing else, this year's team promises to be one of the most experienced for Topper Coach Murphy.

Unlike his first two seasons when players from both squads were adjusting to Arnold's system, most are now familiar with his offense and coaching style.

"Obviously, we'll be a better team," Arnold said. "We have four starters returning who constituted 78 percent of our scoring output from last year."

Most of that scoring output was manufactured by senior guard Brett McNeal who averaged 20 points per game last year for the 15-13 Toppers.

The Minneapolis native will again be looked upon to lead the way for the team's success.

McNeal was a second team All-Sun Belt selection and was picked on the preseason All-Conference team by the league's panel of coaches.

Welti was only the player we had first half, Smith's weight dropped to around 200 pounds on his wiry 6-8 frame.

Then after battling players like Louisville's Pervis Ellison and 6-8, 240-pound Jacksonville center Sean Byrd, Smith began to wear down and his statistics began to decline. He finally finished the season as the Sun Belt's leading rebounder, but dropped out of the nation's leaders.

After adding about 15 pounds, Smith is ready to become one of the league's dominant players.

"Anthony is bigger, stronger and more versatile this year," Arnold said. "He's playing well offensively for us now. Hopefully, he'll continue to play well for us."

But following those three players, question marks are plenty.

Senior forward Steve Miller is also a returning starter. He has yet to produce the numbers most expected after signing in 1983 as one of the nation's top high school recruits out of Lexington Henry Clay High School.

But two back injuries forced the former Mr. Kentucky Basketball to sit out two seasons and play sparingly in another. Last year was his first full season.

"I thought Steve had a solid junior season," Arnold said. "Remember, he hadn't played for two seasons. I thought he performed best when he was his first full year back."

Nevertheless, Miller will have to increase his 9.7 scoring average of last year if the Toppers are to make a serious run at post season play.

Another position where significant production will be needed is the center spot. Currently, Rodney Ross and Colin Potts are battling for that starting job. The cothiches like Rees, who has shown marked improvement from last year.

"I'm pleased with Rodney's progress," Arnold said. "Physically, he worked over the summer to improve himself."

If Potts or Ross don't pan out, Arnold mayswitch to a three-guard alignment using either Darre Cadwell or Terry Birdsong. Both are now dueling for the third-guard position in the most competitive battle of them all.

But if Arnold does decide to use a three-guard alignment, it will make a small team even smaller.

"We will definitely have a lack of size," the coach said in reference to the teams we'll play in the conference," Arnold said. "We'll have to compensate with the press and multiple defenses to balance things out."

Fortunately for Western, the schedule isn't as demanding as other years. The Topper's biggest test will come Dec. 8 when they face the Louisville Cardinals at Diddle Arena.

But even with the tight schedule, many predators say the Topper's chances for post-season play are slim. The Toppers are picked sixth by conference coaches.

"Ldon't listen to the predictors or read the magazines," Arnold said. "All that matters is what happens on the court."

Toppers rebound after losses

ANDY DENNIS

Ten days ago, Western had won 11 of its last 12 matches and had just reached its 15th victory of the season.

But last weekend, the team's record dwindled to 25-21 as it lost five matches at the Memphis State University Invitational tournament.

The team rebounded Tuesday night with a 3-1 win over Austin Peay State University.

In the tournament Western played without senior Dedre Nelson and sophomore Meghan Kelly because of injuries. Nelson reinjured her left shoulder, and Kelly had a muscle strain in her back.

But Coach Charlie Daniel didn't offer the injuries as an excuse.

"We played quite well actually," he said. "We weren't out of any of the matches. It was just good competition."

"Having them (Kelly and Nelson) would have helped," he said.

Western lost matches to Tulsa (0-3), St. Louis (0-3), Memphis State (0-3), Northeast Louisiana (1-3) and Western Illinois (1-3) universities.

The Toppers would set 11 or 12 points in a game and then stop scoring. Daniel said. The match game against Western Illinois lasted almost three hours. An average match lasts about two hours.

After being one of the nation's leading rebounders for the season's would have helped," he said. Western lost matches to Tulsa (0-3), St. Louis (0-3), Memphis State (0-3), Northeast Louisiana (1-3) and Western Illinois (1-3) universities.

Volleyball

The Toppers would set 11 or 12 points in a game and then stop scoring. Daniel said. The match game against Western Illinois lasted almost three hours. An average match lasts about two hours.

After being one of the nation's leading rebounders for the season's

...
Western seeks redemption at Furman by Reed Ennis

A few members of Western's cross country team will be seeking redemption this weekend at the district championships at Furman University in Greenville, S.C.

After not having one of its teams win the Sun Belt crown for the first time in three years, Western's runners will have an extra incentive to perform well as they try to erase the disappointment at Richmond, Va., two weekends ago.

Western's men finished second to South Florida after winning the title the past seven years and the women finished second to South Alabama after winning the title for the past three.

"After the Sun Belt (finals) we feel we've a lot to prove," said Steve Gibbons, a sophomore from Louisville, "and that's what I'm driving at."
Bush victory ends groups', campaign

Continued from Page One

Sen. Dan Quayle.
Meanwhile, the Republicans were confident they'd gathered at the Park Inn International.

"I thought all along he was going to win," said Republican Greensburg jurist John Raffil, who was on an ABC-11 TV map indicating a Bush lead.

"This is a proud day for America because we're going to elect the greatest president in America," said Robert Foss, a freshman from Portland, Tenn.

After a second, he retracted that statement. "Now," he said, "he's not as good as Reagan, but he'll continue the progress that Reagan started.

College Republicans and Young Democrats have been campaigning in the presidential race for months. Gwynn Stewart, co-chairwoman of the Warren County Bush/Quayle campaign, said, "Without the College Republicans and the Woman's Republican Club, we wouldn't have anything."

Curtis Vannemeter, Kentucky's 72nd Congressional District campaign coordinator for Dukakis and Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, echoed party appreciation, but for the Young Democrats.

Tuesday night, members of both clubs sat in front of televisions for hours waiting for their candidate to receive the 270 electoral votes needed to become president.

As Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis made his concession speech on television, several College Republicans talked back to the screen.

When a television reporter asked Kitty Dukakis' mother if she wanted Dukakis to run again, she answered firmly: "No!" The club members yelled loudly in agreement.

Finally, about 11 p.m., Bush gave his acceptance speech on television. As the image of Bush and his wife, Barbara, appeared on the screen, the College Republicans talked behind them a standing ovation.

Even though Dukakis lost the election, McDonald said she hadn't felt so inspired by her political activities in the '60s when she attended Morehead State University.

"The young people have rallied around a cause, the Bowing Green resident said. "This is the first election (since John Kennedy) I've seen this." McDonald, who marched with the Rev. Martin Luther King in Memphis, said she was more involved in interest of young people in social and political issues today shows they have motivation and dreams they want to achieve. Although both parties have worked Kentucky for votes, the Democratic state voted Republican.

"I believe that Kentucky went for Bush," said Louisville senior Bruce Cranmore, "since we have such a low rate of literacy."

"A state that has no respect for education would vote for Bush.",

However, Darla Wingfield, a Greeniville senior, is a registered Democrat who voted for Bush.

"George Bush is what America stands for," she said. "I feel that the Republican administration is more conservative and the new state's election shows that."

Lexington freshman Angelique Bell said she thinks the Democrats will now have to get more people registered and get more students to be politically active "to vote and to have a good Democratic candidate in '92."

But McGee Watkins, a LaGrange senior, is weary of Campaigning.

After months of rallies, sign making and demonstrations, Watkins said, "I'm glad it's over."

"A few of my friends were on the other side. At times it got really heated, and now it's over, things can get back to normal."

CAMPUSLINE

Campusline lists campus events.

Today

j The Public Relations Student Society of America will meet at 5:30 p.m. in the university center, Room 303.

j The International Association of Business Communicators will meet at 2:15 p.m. in the fine arts center, Room 140.

j Young Democrats will meet in the university center, Room 340, at 7:15 p.m.

j Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship will meet in the university center, Room 341, at 7:30 p.m. Call 745-3136 for more information.

j Sister Cities International will have a fund-raising dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the Garrott Ballroom. The $8 ticket fee will go toward a scholarship fund. Call 843-1599 for more information.

j United Campuses to Prevent Nuclear War will meet at 7 p.m. in the university center, Room 306.

j Products of the College Heights Herald will be responsible only for the first incorrect insertion of any classified advertisement. No refunds will be made for partial or cancelled orders. The Herald reserves the right to refuse any advertisement it deems objectionable for any reason.

Classifieds will be accepted on a pre-payment basis only, except for business ads with established accounts. Ads may be placed at the Herald office, by mail, payment enclosed, to the College Heights Herald, 122 Garrett Center, Northern Kentucky University, Bowling Green, Ky., 42101, or call 745-6287 or 745-6253.

Deadline for Tuesday's paper is Sunday at 4 p.m. and deadline for Thursday's paper is Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Roommate

Help Wanted

NANNIES NEEDED. We place persons with all childcare experience and/or education in Families Excellent salaries. No fee to nanny. Live in or live out positions. TINYM AREA. Call TLC For Kids, Reno, NV 745-664-2811.

OPPORTUNITY IN THE TRAVEL INDUSTRY. The #1 college tour operator is looking for an efficient, responsible and organized campus rep. Plan Spring Break trip on campus. Earn free trips and good money gaining great business experience. For more info call 1-800-999-4500.

BAE Computer needs responsible student to represent our computer approves bonus plan. Interested students' please send resume to 3563 Ryder Street, Santa Clara, CA 95051.

Looking for a Fasttemly, Sociably, Student Organization. Our exceptional individuals would like to potentially make $1,000.00 or more sponsoring quality Ski and Beach Trips on campus. For further information call Mark at Great Destinations, Inc. 1-800-258-9191.

ATTENTION PROMISUS: GOVERNMENT JOBS: YOUR AREA. Call 822-800. Call 622-8003 EXT 4-J003.

Gofathers Pizza now hiring delivery drivers. Apply within. 1500 31-W By Pass.

Beloing to a group that's looking for a great way to raise some cash? $500.00-$1000.00 for a one-week on campus decoration & setup. Project. No cost to you. Call 843-3652.

FOR RENT

For Sale

Used record Low, low prices. Also CDs, cassettes, rock & back lines. Comics, gaming. Pac-Rats. 428 E. Main St on Fountain Square. 745-8900.

WANTED: RESPONSIBLE PARTY TO TAKE OVER MONTHLY PAYMENTS ON SPINET PIANO see locally CALL 800-327-3345.

If you are flying home sometime between now & the lst of the yr. I can give you TWA plane tickets - Guarantteed return price. Call for explanation: 782-1624.

Government homes from $1.00 U. Repair. Also for deficient property. Call 805-644-8031 ext. 1003 for info.

Large 2 1/2 dorm refrigeratos. Warranty included. Lot runs. Like new. $100 745-3265.

Goal can you buy, explore, cars, 4x4s seized in drug raids for under $1,000.00. Call for facts today 602-833-3401 ext 548.

FOR RENT

For Rent

Nice, large 1 bdrm. duplex with garage. 828 E 11th St. $200/mo. 781-3627 or 529-9212.

1 block of Western, 2 nice off. Apts. Share bath. $125/165 mo. All utilities paid. 791-2036, 843-9294, 843-8367, 782-7346.

Disco lights, sound equipment, taggers, mixers, speakers for rent. Hocks Sounds. 332 Main St. 782-1172.

House for rent. Full basement. 3 bdrm., gas, separate utility room. 791-9235. $375 plus deposit. No pets.

2 bdrm. duplex near University available Jan. 1. Call 841-5123 or 529-9212.

Herald Classifieds

Fill in form completely and mail or bring to the Herald Business Office.

Name ____________________________

Address ____________________________

Phone ____________________________

Ad Description ____________________________________________________________

15 words or less...$3

ASK ABOUT OUR SPECIALS

PUZZLED?

We've got the answers to your advertising. Call and let us put the pieces together for you today!

745-2683
Wheel into Rally’s . . . when you’re on the go!

MENU

Our ¼lb. hamburger is made with 100% USDA fresh ground beef.

- ¼lb. hamburger ........................................... 99¢
- with cheese add ........................................ 16¢
- with bacon add .......................................... 30¢
- double hamburger add ................................. 79¢
- Bacon Cheeseburger ................................. 1.45
- Rally Q Bar-B-Q Sloppy Joe ......................... 95¢
- BLT ........................................................... 95¢
- Hot Dog ...................................................... 89¢
- Chili Dog .................................................... 99¢
- Chicken Sandwich ................................. 1.49
- Chicken Club ........................................... 1.69
- Chili .......................................................... 99¢
- French Fries ............................................. 69¢
- Large ...................................................... 89¢
- Soft Drinks ..............................................
  - Small ................................................... 49¢
  - Medium ................................................ 59¢
  - Large ................................................... 79¢
- Milk Shake ................................................ 69¢
- Iced Tea .................................................... 49¢
- Milk ......................................................... 39¢

$1.79 Hamburger Meal Combo
Includes hamburger, reg. fry and small drink. Not good in combination with any other offer. Cheese and tax extra. Limit one per coupon.
 Expires 11-19-88  chh

$1.99 Chicken Sandwich Combo
Includes chicken sandwich, reg. fry and small drink. Not good in combination with any other offer. Cheese and tax extra. Limit one per coupon.
 Expires 11-19-88  chh