Highway to Hill

HIGHWAY TO HILL

The road to the Hill, like another, better-known road, is paved with good intentions.

Most freshmen don't plan on gaining the dreaded "Freshman 15"—pounds picked up by not eating right, not exercising and not dealing well with stress. They also don't plan on the variety of problems, large and small, that college presents.

This special section of the Herald gives some travel tips for the trip and points out some of the bigger potholes on the Highway to Hill. See you at the races.

Adjusting to college takes time, patience

By DANA ALBRECHT

Standing under a tree near McLean Hall Friday, Cathy Clark and Gail McCoy studied a schedule card and glanced curiously at Grise Hall.

The two freshmen were trying to find their classes and avoid the lonely-freshmen-sitting-in-their-room syndrome, which can dash the confidence of many freshmen and send them packing.

But Clark of Lexington and McCoy of Drakesboro are determined to stick around, although they have had their weak moments.

McCoy arrived Wednesday when dorms first opened, and things were fine — until her parents left. "I said, 'I'm not going to cry,' and then the tears came," she said. "It really hits you when you go to bed. It did for me."

But that afternoon, "I went out and met up with some girls."

When sitting on the steps at the fine arts center Thursday, she saw Clark walk by and began talking to her. Now the two are buddies and a bit more optimistic about being away from home.

"When you first get here, you sit in the room by yourself and wait for someone to come to you," Clark said, laughing. "Once you meet somebody, one person is all it takes" to get started.

For many freshmen, finding that one person may be difficult when thrust into an environment flooded with strange faces.

"A temptation for many freshmen is to give up too quickly," said Dr. Richard Greer, director of Western Counseling Services Center. "Give all of your experiences a second chance."

Howard Bailey, dean of Student Life, agreed. "College is not for everyone, but I don't think kids who go home the first week are giving it a chance," he said. "We will lose some who refuse to attempt to cope."

Bailey said he remembered a freshman last year who didn't really try to meet others and whose mother spent almost every night with her. "By the first day of classes, she already decided that she didn't like going to college," he said.

Dave Parrott, Residence Life director, said his office, resident assistants and dorm directors try to help freshmen fit in by setting up activities.

Freshmen should take advantage of those activities or become involved in a club to meet people.

"It's really important for freshmen to find some group and identify with it," Greer said.

But many freshmen may meet someone to the left, right and maybe across the hall from them and go no further, Bailey said.

JAMMIN' — Students thrash wildly to Nervous Melvin and the Mistakes, who played in Garrett Ballroom Thursday night.

Although they want to be looked on as adults, they feel lost, Parrott said, especially those who knew everyone in high school.

"They go from being big fish in a little pond to being little fish in a big pond," Parrott said.

Many freshmen go to colleges with some of their high school friends. But those friends become "false crutches," Bailey said. "Freshmen need to broaden their perimeters and expand beyond their peer group."

Becoming independent adults and having a successful college life means staying away from home as much as possible, Greer said.

Many freshmen complain there is nothing to do here. But "adults learn to entertain themselves," he said. "Children have to be entertained."

Bailey said he remembers big problems as a 17-year-old freshman here in 1966. Being about six hours away from his Middlesboro home in eastern Kentucky didn't help matters.

"I was young, black and in a whole new environment," said Bailey, whose first trip home was at Thanksgiving. "I was frightened."

If freshmen look around, they will find others just as frightened as they are, Parrott said. Plugging in with upperclassmen and learning the tricks to college survival from them is a good idea.

Freshmen should also be aware that going away from home is as difficult for parents as it is for them, Greer said. "Be sensitive."

Students get special rates on checking, Quest cards

By DAVID HALL

Instead of writing home for money, students may want to open a local bank account.

American National Bank and Trust has a student account that has a $2.50 monthly service charge and unlimited use of the bank's automated tellers. Customers may write 10 checks a month without a charge, and each additional check is 20 cents. No minimum balance is required.

Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Friday. The Scottsville Road branch is open until 6 p.m. Friday. For more information call 781-6111.

Most student customers of Citizens National Bank of Bowling Green use the Money Saver Account, which has a $2.50 monthly service charge and use of a Quest card. Customers may write up to 10 checks a month without a charge. Each additional check costs 15 cents. Quest withdrawals do not count as checks, and the service comes free.

The regular checking account has a $4 monthly service charge unless the balance stays above $1,000, in which case there is no charge.

The bank is open 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 5:30 p.m. Fridays. The drive-in banking windows open at 8 a.m. For more information call 781-5000.

The Cumberland Federal Savings Bank has an efficient account that many students choose. A minimum starting balance of $100 is required. Checks are 15 cents each, and the service charge is $1.50 per month.

Another type of account — the check plus account — is a combination of a savings and a checking account. The required opening balance is $300; with $200 to be held in savings and $100 for checking.

A third account, called the regular checking account, has a required opening balance of $100. With a $300 average daily balance there is no service charge. Otherwise the charge is $5. Checks are extra. A Quest card is given.

The bank's hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday to Thursday and 5 p.m. Friday. For more information call 843-3255.

First Federal Savings and Loan Association has a checking account that requires a $100 minimum to open. There is no charge for 20 checks a month, but each additional check during a month costs 10 cents.

A variety of savings accounts are available, including passbook, certificates and thrift master.

Its hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:30 to 4:30 p.m. Friday. For more information call 782-2790.

Bowling Green Bank and Trust Co. has two checking accounts that are recommended for students. The Club Account has a $5 monthly service charge, free checks, travelers checks, cashiers checks, money orders and a $1,000 accidental death insurance policy. A money card is included.

The personal checking account has a $4 monthly service charge. Both accounts require a $100 minimum balance and have overdraft protection and no limit on the number of checks that can be written.

The bank is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

TUNE UP — Elite players in The Big Red Band warm up in front of the fine arts center before the Heritage Bowl Saturday

Monday to Thursday and 5 p.m. Friday, the account earns interest (5 percent annual) if the balance remains at $100 or higher. The credit union belongs to the Quest network, and a Quest card can be bought for $3. Automatic overdraft protection is provided.

Students must belong to the Western Kentucky Credit Union to use its services. There is a $5 membership fee and $5 balance should be kept. Customers must pay for the cost of printing checks, $11 for 200.

The monthly service charge is $2, and the drive-in at the Eastland branch is open 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. For more information call 782-4000.

The campus branch in Garrett Center is open from 7:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday to Friday. The Campbell Lane branch is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday. For more information call 745-2411.

grade. Each student is charged $2 per change.

Drop/add cards are available in the registrar's office. Students must report to the department of the class they are dropping or adding to obtain instructors' signatures, and departmental stamps to drop or add a class.

Eggleton pointed out that students had the chance to pre-register, drop or add before July 31 at no charge. The fees' purposes are to discourage students from registering, dropping and adding at the last minute, she said.

should also go to the registrar's office on the second floor of Wetherby, she said. They will be charged $10. Students can register late from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. through Friday.

Students should also go to the registrar's office to drop and add classes. Monday is the last day to add or drop a class without a charge. Eight temporary workers were hired to handle the load caused by students registering late. The fees offset that expense, she said.

Getting religion

Groups on, off campus serve religious needs

By JOHN MARTIN

Three campus religious organizations, five denominational groups and several local churches are available to meet the spiritual and social needs of Western students.

The biggest non-denominational religious organization on campus is the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, which meets each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the West Hall Cellar and has annual fall and spring retreats. More information on FCA is available from president Joey Schuffett at 842-6861 or faculty sponsor Ray Rose at 745-6036.

Campus Crusade for Christ is another group whose members have varied church backgrounds. Meetings are Tuesday nights at 7 in West Hall Cellar. A prayer group meets Wednesdays at 7 a.m. in the university center. Campus director Thomas W. Weakley's office is at 835 East 10th St., and his number is 782-3466.

Christian Student Fellowship holds a worship service each Sunday at 10 a.m. at its campus house at 250 East 14th St. FOCUS is a gathering of praise, song and Bible study each Tuesday at 7 p.m. For more information about Christian Student Fellowship call Steve Stovall at the campus house, 781-2188.

Various Christian student centers and local churches offer opportunities for students interested in a particular denomination. The Newman Center, for Catholic students, is located on the corner of 14th and College streets. Mass is held every Saturday at 5 p.m., Sunday at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. Call the Rev. Ray Goetz at 843-3638 for further information.

Wednesday night discussion groups and a September retreat highlight the fall schedule at the Wesley Foundation, the United Methodist campus center at 1355 College St., headed by Dr. Dean Meadows.

Self-understanding, relationships and other topics relating to Christian growth will be the themes for the Wednesday night gatherings, which begin with supper at 6:30. The Wesley Foundation has two Sunday services, morning worship at 11 and a sing-n-celebrate gathering at 7:30 p.m.

The Church of Christ student center at 1536 Chestnut St. is directed by Tim Curtis. A time of songs, Bible study and fellowship is held every Tuesday at 8 p.m. A fall retreat will be held Aug. 27. The group also participates in activities and services at Greenwood Park Church of Christ. For more information call the student center at 843-1814.

The Episcopal Student Fellowship, led by the Rev. Ken Chumbley, will be holding two regular Sunday gatherings beginning in September. A fall retreat will be held with the diocese of Lexington. Most Episcopal Student Fellowship events will be held at the Christ Episcopal Church, 1215 State St. Call Rev. Chumbley for more information, 782-9121.

For Lutheran students, the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America is attempting to begin a student organization. Interested students should phone the Rev. Ken Witt of the Holy Apostles Lutheran Church at 781-6737.

Bowling Green area churches also welcome the attendance of Western students. State Street United Methodist Church is located on the corner of State and 11th streets, and its pastors are Dr. Don Davis and the Rev. Ted Burke. In addition to 10 a.m. worship there is a special Sunday school class for college students beginning at 9 a.m.

First Baptist Church has the largest membership of any church in Bowling Green. Services are held at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday, with a prayer service each Wednesday at 7 p.m. First Baptist is located on the corner of 12th and Chestnut streets, and its pastors are the Rev. Richard Bridges and the Rev. Jeff Story.

The Presbyterian Church, on the corner of 10th and State streets, has two Sunday morning worship services, at 8:30 and 11. Dr. Allen McSween is minister and Dr. David Kivett is associate minister. The First Christian Church, also on the corner of State and 11th Streets, has 10:45 a.m. Sunday worship, and its pastor is the Rev. Reed Carter.

Clothes come clean at local laundromats

By THAVIS GREEN

It's the second week of school — dirty shirts lie scattered on the floor, sweat socks huddle in the corner and there are no clean towels.

Laundry isn't on the minds of most new students as they move in and meet new people, but if mom and dad's laundry room isn't close enough, problems can arise.

Bowling Green has a variety of laundries to choose from, from those that offer just the basics to ones that border on night clubs. The fancier the place, the higher the price.

The campus laundry is the closest place for dorm residents to do their laundry. It is located in the parking structure and offers prices of 50 cents per washer load and 25 cents per dryer cycle.

The Plaza Wishy Washy offers the cheapest off-campus facilities, aside from mom. It is located in the Plaza Shopping Center on 31-W Bypass and offers prices of 50 cents per regular washer load, $1 for a double load and $1.25 for a triple load. Dryers are available for a quarter.

Other laundries include Suds Are Us at 2718 Scottsville Road, White Cloud Laundromat at 1339 Laurel Ave., and Mall Soap and Suds in Bowling Green Mall on Nashville Road. Average prices are 75 cents per regular load and 25 cents per dryer cycle.

For students who don't want to do their own laundry, several places have a drop-off service.

Drop-off service is available with prices per pound or per load. Average prices are 30 cents per pound with student-supplied detergent and 35 cents without. Prices by the load vary from 95 cents at the Plaza Wishy Washy to $3 at Suds Are Us.

Most laundries provide the user with a place to sit and perhaps read or study while the washers run. Suds Are Us offers a bar and grill for students with alcoholic drinks for students over 21 and regular drinks for those under age and a color cable TV for everyone to pass the time.

Dates for freshman elections approaching

Herald staff report

The filing period for freshman elections is Sept. 5 through 11.

Freshmen wishing to file for the positions of class president or vice president or a representative post may pick up applications at the Associated Student Government office, university center Room 119 during office hours.

To qualify for candidacy, applicants must be a full- or part-time student and must be in good standing with the university, said Amos Gott, student government president.

Candidate certification meetings, where campaign rules and regulations are reviewed, are Sept. 12 at 4:15 p.m. and Sept. 13 at 3 p.m. Candidates may not campaign until they have attended a certification meeting.

The primary election is Sept. 19, and the general election is Sept. 26.

Welcome Episcopal Students!

You're invited to participate in the Episcopal Student Fellowship. ESF meets throughout the semester for worship, food and fellowship, classes and discussion groups, films, retreats and much more!

Students picking up tab for AT&T phone service

By DRESDEN WALL

Students aren't forced to have their parents pick up the tab for their long-distance phone calls, thanks to a service offered by AT&T since last year.

The American Telephone and Telegraph College and University Systems (ACUS) service allows students who live on campus to set up their own long distance account and receive monthly bills at their campus or home address.

Students can sign up for the service throughout the school year by calling AT&T's toll-free number at 1-800-445-6063. There is no sign-up fee for the service, which is activated within 24 hours after AT&T is notified.

After signing up for the service, students receive a card embossed with a Personal Security Code (PSC), which can only be used from a campus phone.

Students must pay the full balance at the end of each month. Roommates don't have to divide up the phone bill because the codes allow AT&T to tell who made each call and thus send individual bills.

Those who fail to pay by the due date or who exceed a $50 credit limit will have their PSC deactivated and a late fee charged to their account when applicable.

ACUS rates are competitive with the direct dial rates, said Kathy Krabb, an ACUS representative. Evening rates run 5 p.m. to 11 p.m., Sunday through Friday. Night and weekend rates run 11 p.m. to 8 a.m., Sunday through Friday and all day Saturday.

For example, a call to a Tennessee city 140 miles from Bowling Green costs 44.2 cents per minute during the day, she said. But, the evening rate is 16.2 cents per minute and the weekend rate is 12.6 cents per minute.

ACUS is a voluntary service that was offered for the first time during the 1988-89 school year. Students can still make long-distance calls by using calling cards from other phone companies or by dialing collect.

"Coke, Fritos and pizza with no exercise can stress one out," says psychology professor Patty Randolph.

Stress comes with the territory

By ANN SCHLAGENHAUF

Denise Sipith sat comfortably in a Central Hall lobby chair.

"I'm having a ball, having fun," said the Scottsville freshman. "It's going pretty well. I'm getting along fine. I'm really enjoying it."

But she said she has some adjusting to do. "It's a big adjustment, going away from home."

Like thousands of other new students, she will have to adapt to college life — and that can mean stress.

West Hall resident assistant Michelle Wood, who is starting her fourth semester as an r.a., suggests getting out of the room to deal with stress.

"As long as they (freshmen) know other people and socialize, it cuts down on the stress," she said.

The problem isn't unique, she said. Wood estimated that 60 to 70 percent of freshmen deal with stress.

Symptoms include sleeping a lot, especially during the day, bad eating habits, missing classes and an apathetic attitude, she said.

"They just look stressed," Wood said.

Psychology professor Patty Randolph said that "99.9 percent" of freshmen encounter stress. "We all get stressed in our own way," she said.

The biggest source for freshmen is having to "regulate and organize every aspect of their own life for the first time," she said.

A positive attitude is the most effective stress-beater, she said. "My favorite maxim is at every given moment everyone, including me, is doing the best job they can," she said. That cuts down on irritability from problems one can't control, such as bookstore lines.

Planning activities is important, Randolph said. A student's schedule should include classes, study time, social activities, exercise and time to eat, sleep and be alone.

Randolph suggested a semester-in-a-glanz plan, with social weekends, term papers and tests scheduled to anticipate crunches ahead of time.

Having priorities is necessary, she said. Whether a student's goals are good grades, more education, meeting Mr. or Ms. Right or socializing, ranking priorities "helps you keep your perspective."

For freshmen, "it's very tempting ing to party every night," she said, especially while trying to make friends and adjust to college.

Turning down a social invitation doesn't mean the end of social life, Randolph said. "People who like them will come around again."

Exercise and healthy eating are very important, she said. "Coke, Fritos and pizza with no exercise can stress one out." She recommended keeping fruits available to snack on.

If stress catches up with a student, Randolph recommended writing about worries in a journal. That helps produce solutions.

Relaxation tapes, available at bookstores, can help, she said.

If students need more help, the university counseling center is free, and resident assistants and dorm directors are trained to help deal with stress problems.

South Hall resident assistant Valarie Curry said she tries to get stress-ridden freshmen to meet other people. And having been a freshman herself, she knows what it's like, she said.

"You know it's not that simple," Curry said. "You know how they feel."

Randolph said organization skills and preparations for stress learned as a freshman can help later.

"Setting up good habits early is important."

Financial help still available

By TRAVIS GREEN

Paying fees can be hard on the checkbook for students, but help is out there.

Lee Watkins, student financial aid director, said it isn't too late to apply for financial aid for the fall semester.

"However, at this late date, if a student completes the application," Watkins said, "it could be late October before they could receive any disbursements."

Students who can't pay their fees can expect little help at the university level.

"The university has very limited resources (for short-term loans), and that is for emergencies only."

Watkins said there are very few exceptions on the policy of not giving short-term loans and that the financial aid office decides if the situation warrants a loan to be given.

However, some students may be eligible to defer the fees until their aid comes in.

"We do everything we can to assist those folks," Watkins said.

Many students have already gone through the financial aid process and will receive help this fall. "As of Aug. 11 we have processed 11,438 awards totaling $16,327,399, compared to the 9,981 awards processed up to the same date last year."

Dates to pick up aid money vary depending upon the type of award granted:

Stafford Loans (Guaranteed Student Loans) are loans which students can receive from their hometown banks at a lower interest rate than normal. Those loans could be picked up in the financial aid office in Room 313 of Wetherby Administration Building starting yesterday if the bank had sent the check to the office for disbursement.

He said late applications and bank operations may delay the arrival of some checks.

"Some of the bigger banks give loans to several different students from different schools, and all those schools have different starting dates," Watkins said. "So the bank may just pick out a day to send the checks out."

Perkins Loans, Pell Grants, state grants, supplemental grants or scholarships may be picked up during fee payment from Sept. 5 through Sept. 11 in the Garrett Ballroom, Watkins said.

Nearly 75 percent of the aid is awarded during fee payment, with 25 percent left to be awarded later, he said.

A verification process may cause some aid to arrive late, as well, he said.

The government picks out about 30 percent (of the applications) nationally to go through verification, and that may delay the award," Watkins said.

Food Services offers variety, many locations

By JAMIE LAWSON

An ominous grumble intercepts your 1 p.m. class. It's your stomach reminding you it's empty, but your refrigerator is empty too. So where do you go?

Western has seven places for students to go to when they're hungry. Students can pay cash or use a Super Card II.

The cafeteria in the university center is open Monday to Friday from 10:45 a.m. to 7 p.m., Saturday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The grill in the university center is open Monday to Friday from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Its Pastry Shop sells homemade cookies, cakes, pies and also serves ice cream, banana splits, sundaes and shakes. It's open Monday to Friday from 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The Unicorn Pizza Company located in Gilbert Hall offers homemade pizza with free on-campus delivery, submarine sandwiches and a salad bar. Students can also buy groceries here. Hours are 11 a.m. to midnight Monday to Thursday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, and 5:30 a.m. to midnight Sunday.

The Pick-Up Grocery on the first floor of Pearce-Ford Tower is open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday to Thursday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Sunday.

The Top of the Tower restaurant is on Pearce-Ford Tower's 17th floor, and it's open from 5:30 a.m. to midnight Sunday through Thursday.

Students can order anything from nachos to non-alcoholic dagnuts at Niteclass in the basement of the university center. It is open from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. Monday to Thursday and 7 p.m. to a.m. Friday and Saturday.

Hilltopper Inn, located on Garrett Center's ground floor, offers ateria and grill service, a salad bar and a self-service ice cream machine. Hours are 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday to Friday.

Super Cards can be purchased from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday to Friday until August 25 at the University Food Service office in room 119 of the university center. A minimum deposit of $30 is required to open an account.

Students depositing $250 or more will receive credit bonuses. Deposits of $250 to $349 will receive a 7 percent bonus; deposits of $350 to $449 will receive 6 percent; deposits of $450 to $549 will receive 8 percent; and deposits of $550 and more will receive 9 percent.

All Super Cards issued before July 1, 1989 must be remade because a new system has been installed. There is no charge for replacement cards.

Escort service helps keep students safe

By LAURA HOWARD

Students walking alone on campus at night need to dial 745-3333 to ensure a safe trip home.

The Student Escort Service was established in 1981 to provide free protection to women who were alone on campus after dark, said Bunch, director of Public Safety.

Since that time, however, it has developed into a service that serves men and women, alone or otherwise, who would like an escort, Bunch said.

The service will be operating by Wednesday. It will be manned by volunteers whose backgrounds and police records have been investigated to ensure that the escort is a responsible, qualified individual, Bunch said.

"We want to be sure that the individuals in the service are appropriate," he said.

Student escorts are recruited at the beginning of every semester, Bunch said. This year's recruitment will begin next week. Volunteers can sign up at the Public Safety office in the parking structure.

Bunch said he is not sure how many students will be working as escorts this semester, but at the end of last semester 30 students were volunteering their services.

The escort service works in two shifts. Each shift has a dispatcher who takes the incoming escort request calls and radios them to the escorts, who are on foot or are in escort trucks, Bunch said.

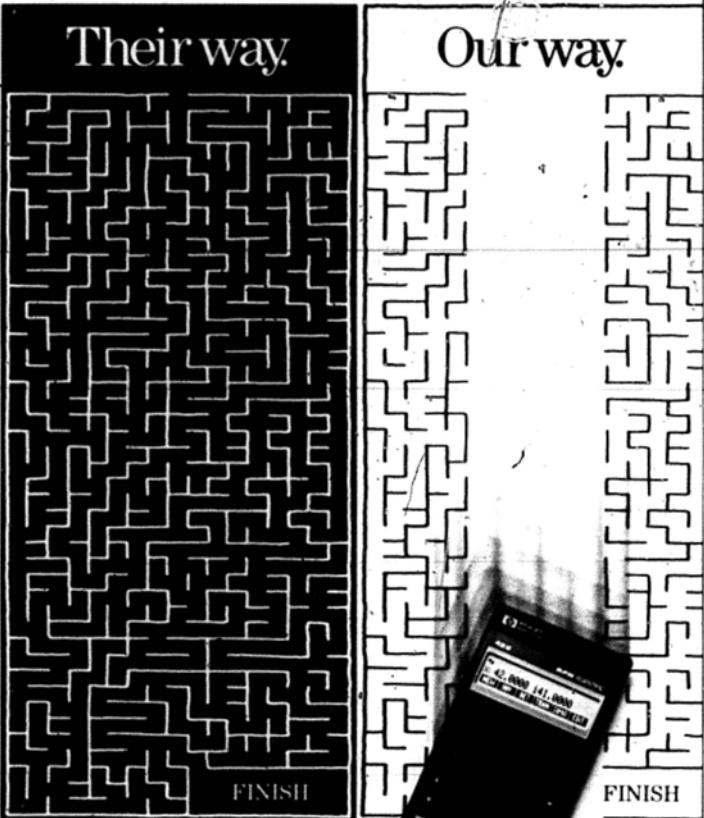

After a request for an escort is made, one will arrive soon, depending on how busy a particular night is, Bunch said.

"The time it takes to receive an escort depends," he said. "We have had nights when we received 30 or 38 calls."

Escorts can be recognized by their red caps and jackets.

Calls made to the escort service after midnight will be diverted to the university police service, who will come in patrol cars to offer escorts, Bunch said.

"It's not a taxi service," he said. "It's something that is there for the benefit of everyone on campus."

You can save literally days of work between now and graduation. Simply by using an HP calculator. To keep you from endlessly retracing your steps, ours have built-in shortcuts. Such as the unique HP Solve function for creating your own formulas. Menus, labels and prompts. Program libraries. Algebraic or RPN models.

Better algorithms and chip design help you finish much faster and more accurately than their way. So, whether you're in engineering, business, finance, life or social sciences, we've got the best calculator for you. For as little as $49.95. Check it out at your campus bookstore or HP retailer.

Campus post office delivers

By KARLA TURNER

It's the end of the first week of school, and you still haven't sent the letter you promised to mail to Mom. Don't worry, because the campus post office is guaranteed to deliver.

The College Heights Post Office in Room 124 of the university center is open weekdays from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Along with the basics such as stamps and regular mail delivery, Western's post office also offers special services such as express, certified and insured mail, said Anthony Bowles, postal supervisor. Letters and packages to other countries can also be mailed there.

Express mail can get letters to most locations by the next day if it is brought to the post office by 12:45 p.m.

U.S. mail is delivered Monday through Saturday to students' mailboxes at each dorm. Campus mail — letters sent from one Western building to another — is delivered only on weekdays.

Off-campus students who don't have a campus mailbox can rent one from Western's post office for $10 for the school year or $7.50 for six months. There is 24-hour access to the boxes.

Students can also purchase money orders at the campus post office. There is a 75-cent fee for money orders of $35 or less; $1 is charged for ones more than $35.

Students should remember to give friends and family a complete dorm address — including full name, room number and dorm, Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green, Ky. 42101.

Get well soon with health service

Herald staff report

Students feeling under the weather can get medical help at the Student Health Service.

Dr. Philip Turner, seven nurses, a nurse practitioner, a pharmacist, a lab technologist and an X-ray technician work in the clinic in the Academic Complex.

The $5 office fee does not include any lab or pharmaceutical charges. The fee can be paid by the student or billed home.

Visits are by appointment only, but students without an appointment can stop by and talk to any of the nurses on duty. Hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Bowling Green also has two hospitals. HCA Greenview Hospital at 1801 Ashley Circle and The Medical Center at 250 Park St. offer 24-hour, physician-staffed emergency departments.

Bowling Green also has several clinics: Bowling Green Warren County Primary Care Center, 1133 Adams St., has a 24-hour answering service at 781-2490; Graves-Gilbert Clinic, 1109 State St., open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 8 a.m. to noon Saturdays; and Urgentcare, 2940 Scottsville Road, open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day.

Squash

This can have two meanings on campus — if those extra pounds gained by eating Mom's fried squash and other home-cooked goodies over the summer make the climb uphill a little steeper, squash is only one physical activity offered to Western students.

Whether it's swimming, walking, playing or watching, "There's not one student who shouldn't be able to do something," said Debby Cheryak, director of intramural recreation.

Western offers 29 departmental clubs, more than 15 general organizations, 24 honor societies, two language honoraries and 27 professional societies. Just open last year's campus phonebook to page 10.

There's no excuse for not becoming involved on campus physically or socially, she said.

"People who develop a sense of belonging are more likely to stay in school," said Scott Taylor, director of student activities and organizations.

From archery to weightlifting, the realms of informal and intramural fitness are unlimited not only indoors at Diddle Arena, but out.

Daily recreation facility hours are 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Weekend hours are Saturday from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Football is not just for men anymore. Registration for men's and women's flag football tournaments has already begun. Registration at Room 148, Diddle Arena, ends Sept. 5.

Physical fitness also extends into many of the clubs on campus.

The Western Flyers Cycling Club and the Western Barbenders offer more than a speech followed by cookies and punch when they meet.

Sailing, water polo and snow skiing are also registered with the 21 sport clubs registered with Western. For more information contact the Rec-Line at 745-2006.

More than information, many department clubs give motivation and an opportunity to become involved in their major. A trip to a law school and speaking with other lawyers are plans for the Pre-Law Club.

In his navy blazer and a tie with Big Reds waving red towels, Eddie Smith is hard to miss since he became a Spirit Master last September.

Since the Elizabethtown senior became one of Western's 22 Spirit Masters, he has given campus tours for orientation, hosted campus receptions — including former President Ronald Reagan's visit — and visited high schools.

"I really love Western," Smith said. In orientations for freshmen and to anyone he recommends becoming involved because "it makes college much more enjoyable."

Renters take heed of these utility tips

Herald staff report

Renting a house or an apartment may be a step toward independence for some students. Here's a few things first-time renters should remember to make their new abodes a true home-away-from-home.

Getting utility service is as easy as making a few phone calls.

Bowling Green Municipal Utilities provides some of the necessities. A $50 deposit is required for electricity and a $15 deposit is needed for water, sewer and sanitation service.

Students needing these services should call the utility's electric division at 782-1200 and the water and sewer division at 782-1220.

To get telephone service, students should call South Central Bell at 1-557-6500 to get information about services and rates.

Students who want their MTV and 30 other basic cable channels should go to the Storer Cable Communications office on Double Springs Road to make an appointment for installation.

Basic cable service costs $17.25 a month. Several premium channels — HBO, Showtime, the Movie Channel or the Disney Channel — can be added to the service. The first premium channel subscribed to costs $10.95; adding more premium channels costs $6.95 per month each

Two campus offices cash student checks

Herald staff report

It's 4 p.m. on a Friday afternoon, and you have no cash for that weekend bash. Don't panic. You still have 15 minutes to hustle up the Hill.

Employees in the cashier's office of Wetherby Administration Building and the ticket office of the university center will cash students' personal checks of $40 or less.

Students must show their class schedule card and a piece of identification featuring a photograph of themselves to have a check cashed. After students pay their tuition and other fees, only a Western student ID is required.

The office on the first floor of Wetherby honors Western paychecks as well as personal ones. It is open from 8:15 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The ticket office in the university center cashes personal checks from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday to Friday.
