

Western Kentucky University

TopSCHOLAR®

WKU Archives Records

WKU Archives

2-10-2000

UA12/2/1 Valentines

WKU Student Affairs

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.wku.edu/dlsc_ua_records

Part of the Advertising and Promotion Management Commons, African American Studies Commons, Journalism Studies Commons, Mass Communication Commons, Public Relations and Advertising Commons, Publishing Commons, and the Race and Ethnicity Commons

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by TopSCHOLAR®. It has been accepted for inclusion in WKU Archives Records by an authorized administrator of TopSCHOLAR®. For more information, please contact topscholar@wku.edu.

Valen T • I • M • E • S

A special section of the College Heights Herald

Western Kentucky University ♦ Bowling Green, Kentucky

Thursday, February 10, 2000

Andrew Otto/Herald

Jamie Bailey, a junior from Whitehouse, Tenn., and Andrea Pirtle, a junior from Hendersonville, Tenn., talk while watching the television show "Will and Grace" Tuesday night. Bailey and Pirtle have known each other since the 6th grade, but did not begin dating until two years ago when they bumped into each other as freshman while taking the chemistry placement test.

Gifts for him, Gifts for her

Valentine's Day is not just special for the 'fairer sex'

By LIHN TRAN
Herald reporter

Hey ladies, Valentine's Day isn't just your holiday. Quit being selfish. Give your guy dad, best guy friend a day to remember.

While Valentine's Day is considered to be a girly occasion, some guys do confess the need to feel a little special.

Bowling Green sophomore Luke Keith looks forward to the holiday.

Although Keith enjoys getting the usual chocolates and candy, he really enjoys making the day special for someone else. He has been talking to a special someone for a few weeks and he hopes to take her out on the special day.

"I get more excited that I get to do something for somebody else," he said. "I like making the other person happy."

Material things don't mean as much to Keith as the time spent with a special someone.

"I'd rather have the time to spend with the person than materialistic things," he said. At Miller, a freshman from Greenville, Tenn., said that Valentine's Day isn't a major holiday for him.

"I'm just not a big Valentine's Day fan," he said. Although Miller isn't a big fan of the holiday, he would like some candy, especially chocolates, for Valentine's Day.

That might be a little hard, considering Miller doesn't have a girlfriend at the present

Tips for guy gifts by Gregory Elwell

♦ Ladies, stay away from things you like. You don't want to be buying for yourself.

♦ Examine his surroundings. Get him an art book if he has famous artwork on his walls. Observe his passions and work from there.

♦ Unless you know his size, color and style, stay away from clothing. But if he points out a shirt he likes, go for it.

♦ Colognes should be soft, not too strong.

♦ Movies are great. You can never go wrong with Jackie Chan, a John Wayne classic, Monty Python or "Ferris Bueller's Day Off."

Source:
www.pccollegeokstate.edu/issues/1998_Fall/981204/stories/guys.html

time. He plans on spending the holiday as he would any other day.

Bowling Green sophomore Jessica McClure has been married for almost a year. In fact, her husband proposed over dinner last Valentine's Day.

But being married doesn't make shopping for her husband any easier.

"It's really hard to get a guy a Valentine's Day present," she said. "It depends on how picky they are. I usually get a card and chocolates."

Gary Smith, a Western graduate who owns the Bouquet Shoppe on the 31-W Bypass, has worked with flowers for 30 years.

Smith said that girls do come in to buy their special guys Valentine's Day gifts like red roses, candies and green plants.

For something more original, Smith suggested a mixed spring bouquet or an arrangement of assorted flowers.

As one can expect, Valentine's Day is pretty stressful. Finding the right gift, restaurant or gesture isn't an easy thing.

Smith described it perfectly. "Valentine's Day is crazy," he said. "It's stressful trying to keep everybody happy and keep everything right."

By LIHN TRAN
Herald reporter

Guy, you have it easy. Valentine's Day only comes once a year, and it's safe to say that flowers should turn any girl into mush. Throw in dinner and some candy, and you're done.

Right? Elizabeth junior Catron Peterson said it is.

"All girls want flowers," she said. "It's a romantic holiday, and that's the way it's stereotyped."

She said the way the stores are decked out, it's no wonder girls get excited for this holiday.

Bowling Green sophomore Jessica McClure agrees with Peterson.

"I just want flowers," she said. "That's pretty much all I want."

According to McClure and probably the most of the "fairer sex," red roses are the most popular flowers for this holiday.

"Valentine's Day only comes once a year," McClure said. "That should be the day to get red roses."

Gary Smith, owner of the Bouquet Shoppe, said that on an average Valentine's Day 1000 to 1200 roses will leave the shop.

And most of those roses are red. He said one can expect to spend from $65 to $75 for a dozen roses.

A more expensive gift can be jewelry, depending on your price range.

Melinda Correl is a manager at LoveMore Jewelers in Greenwood Mall. She has been at the store for 15 years.

Correl said jewelry doesn't always have to be expensive. For about $50, one can pur-

Gift Ideas from the Romance Tips Hall of Fame

♦ Purchase a dozen of your girlfriend's favorite flowers and arrange to have them delivered...one at a time. Then, you should bring her the last flower when you pick her up for your date.

♦ Buy season tickets to the performing arts group of her choice. This way you will have a few pre-planned dates where you both can dress in your finest, go to a romantic restaurant together and enjoy the evening.

♦ Change the lyrics in her favorite song so that it's about how much you love her. And then, either tape it or sing it to her (or both). Write down the lyrics, frame it and then give it to her as a present.

♦ Present her with or start a scrapbook of memories (ticket stubs, pictures, pressed flowers, etc.)

♦ Bake heart shaped cookies and use frosting to write messages for your love on them.

♦ Hand pick her a bouquet of flowers

♦ Make a webpage in honor of your love. Include poetry, thoughts, pictures, romantic messages, the story of how you met, etc.

Source: www.getromantic.com chase a small gold ring or earrings.

Heart-shaped pendants, rings, earrings and lockets are popular on Valentine's Day, according to Correl. She has an increase in the popularity of diamond earrings among young suitors.

Correl suggests that before you head out to the nearest jewelry store, that you figure out your price range and have an idea of what you'd like to get.

But no matter what you get your sweetheart, remember that it's the thought you put into Valentine's Day that makes it special, not the gift.

"It (Valentine's Day) grows more special the longer you're with the person," said Burkesville senior Tonya Killman said. "It's the time you put into the relationship that makes it very special."

Setting the Mood

An evening of magic begins with the right tunes, the right taste and the right touch

By CAROLINE LYNCH
Herald Reporter

Love is patient, love is kind. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always makes a good Valentine's dinner.

Okay, so the real scripture probably doesn't have that part about Valentine's Day dinners, but your girlfriend's (or boyfriend's) version definitely does. Depending on what time it is, when you pick up this paper you have about 100 hours (99.98%) to figure out how to sweep your loved one off his/her feet.

But if you're afraid that your cooking skills might send Cupid's arrow into his stomach rather than his heart, there's hope after all.

Important folks from the departments of music, culinary arts and interior design have offered advice on how to make this Valentine's dinner a success, or at least to avoid a stomach pump.

Relax. Shut your eyes. Breathe out the sound of that monotonous professor. Imagine the elements, one by one, of the Valentine's dinner she is really waiting a millennium for.

Element One: Fine-tuning the night

When setting the mood for a romantic evening, Director of Choral Activities Ronnie Oliver prefers soft jazz music.

"You can set a mood with music; I've done it myself. And it worked for me — with my wife."

So it's soft jazz for Oliver, but he's quick to point out that there's no one-size-fits-all relationship.

"It just depends on the couple," he said.

Muriel Gorth Brooks, Rick James, it doesn't matter what you pick, as long as it's soft and helps to set the mood. But make sure it's low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is

The perfect candlelight dinner can be achieved through simplicity. Too much energy devoted to fancy wine glasses and flower arrangements can cause a tense atmosphere by dinner time. The key is making the atmosphere romantically relaxed.

said Louisville freshman Rachel Novak, and I like the Savage Garden song 'I Knew I Loved You.'

But don't expect music to save your overcooked meat or super salty potatoes.

If you both dinner and the food is terrible, it's a help.

— Ronnie Oliver
Director of Choral Activities

can't create the mood on its own, but it can be an important element.

So tuck the fork. Even a dorm room the ultimate of eyesores can be transformed.

Element two: Roses are red for a reason

Red advances toward you and makes the roses feel small.

Low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is that feels more enclosed is good because it creates a romantic mood.

Red flowers, red napkins or red fabric draped over that ugly card table. Then add candles and low lighting, and the night has another romantic dimension.

Color is extremely influential in how people feel," she said. "You can make space feel very intimate."

Laura Ressler, a freshman from Evansville, Ind. surprised her boyfriend, Adam, two years ago with a special homemade dinner. The flames from the candles she used as a centerpiece lit their faces and shadowed everything else.

Ressler and her boyfriend had planned to go out to eat, but their night was going to be hurt because he was playing with a band later on that night, so she opted for an eatery plan.

Low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is that feels more enclosed is good because it creates a romantic mood.

Red flowers, red napkins or red fabric draped over that ugly card table. Then add candles and low lighting, and the night has another romantic dimension.

Color is extremely influential in how people feel," she said. "You can make space feel very intimate."

Laura Ressler, a freshman from Evansville, Ind. surprised her boyfriend, Adam, two years ago with a special homemade dinner. The flames from the candles she used as a centerpiece lit their faces and shadowed everything else.

Ressler and her boyfriend had planned to go out to eat, but their night was going to be hurt because he was playing with a band later on that night, so she opted for an eatery plan.

Low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is that feels more enclosed is good because it creates a romantic mood.

Red flowers, red napkins or red fabric draped over that ugly card table. Then add candles and low lighting, and the night has another romantic dimension.

Color is extremely influential in how people feel," she said. "You can make space feel very intimate."

Laura Ressler, a freshman from Evansville, Ind. surprised her boyfriend, Adam, two years ago with a special homemade dinner. The flames from the candles she used as a centerpiece lit their faces and shadowed everything else.

Ressler and her boyfriend had planned to go out to eat, but their night was going to be hurt because he was playing with a band later on that night, so she opted for an eatery plan.

Low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is that feels more enclosed is good because it creates a romantic mood.

Red flowers, red napkins or red fabric draped over that ugly card table. Then add candles and low lighting, and the night has another romantic dimension.

Color is extremely influential in how people feel," she said. "You can make space feel very intimate."

Laura Ressler, a freshman from Evansville, Ind. surprised her boyfriend, Adam, two years ago with a special homemade dinner. The flames from the candles she used as a centerpiece lit their faces and shadowed everything else.

Ressler and her boyfriend had planned to go out to eat, but their night was going to be hurt because he was playing with a band later on that night, so she opted for an eatery plan.

Low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is

photo illustration by Cara VonLeuten/Herald

Too much energy devoted to fancy wine glasses and flower arrangements can cause a tense atmosphere by dinner time. The key is making the atmosphere romantically relaxed.

that feels more enclosed is good because it creates a romantic mood.

Red flowers, red napkins or red fabric draped over that ugly card table. Then add candles and low lighting, and the night has another romantic dimension.

Color is extremely influential in how people feel," she said. "You can make space feel very intimate."

Laura Ressler, a freshman from Evansville, Ind. surprised her boyfriend, Adam, two years ago with a special homemade dinner. The flames from the candles she used as a centerpiece lit their faces and shadowed everything else.

Ressler and her boyfriend had planned to go out to eat, but their night was going to be hurt because he was playing with a band later on that night, so she opted for an eatery plan.

Low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is that feels more enclosed is good because it creates a romantic mood.

Red flowers, red napkins or red fabric draped over that ugly card table. Then add candles and low lighting, and the night has another romantic dimension.

Color is extremely influential in how people feel," she said. "You can make space feel very intimate."

Laura Ressler, a freshman from Evansville, Ind. surprised her boyfriend, Adam, two years ago with a special homemade dinner. The flames from the candles she used as a centerpiece lit their faces and shadowed everything else.

Ressler and her boyfriend had planned to go out to eat, but their night was going to be hurt because he was playing with a band later on that night, so she opted for an eatery plan.

Low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is that feels more enclosed is good because it creates a romantic mood.

Red flowers, red napkins or red fabric draped over that ugly card table. Then add candles and low lighting, and the night has another romantic dimension.

Color is extremely influential in how people feel," she said. "You can make space feel very intimate."

Laura Ressler, a freshman from Evansville, Ind. surprised her boyfriend, Adam, two years ago with a special homemade dinner. The flames from the candles she used as a centerpiece lit their faces and shadowed everything else.

Ressler and her boyfriend had planned to go out to eat, but their night was going to be hurt because he was playing with a band later on that night, so she opted for an eatery plan.

Low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is that feels more enclosed is good because it creates a romantic mood.

Red flowers, red napkins or red fabric draped over that ugly card table. Then add candles and low lighting, and the night has another romantic dimension.

Color is extremely influential in how people feel," she said. "You can make space feel very intimate."

Laura Ressler, a freshman from Evansville, Ind. surprised her boyfriend, Adam, two years ago with a special homemade dinner. The flames from the candles she used as a centerpiece lit their faces and shadowed everything else.

Ressler and her boyfriend had planned to go out to eat, but their night was going to be hurt because he was playing with a band later on that night, so she opted for an eatery plan.

Low enough to talk over, Oliver said.

The Back at One song is

College Graffiti

Free Engraving
Rings, earrings,
pendants, bracelets
and more

Beautiful Monogrammed Silver Jewelry

For that personal touch, attractive sterling silver jewelry engraved with your monogram.

796-8528 College Graffiti 1231 Center St.

Valentine's Day Savings From Vette City Liquors

Martini & Rossi Asti	Crown Royal	Ballatore Gran Spumante
750 ml	750 ml	750 ml
$10.99	$18.99	$5.99

E & J Brandy VSOP 750 ml. $8.99

"We Sell For Less"

VETTE CITY LIQUORS

2037 RUSSELLVILLE ROAD-BOWLING GREEN, KY

(502)782-5551

Follow Cupid to...

The Balloon-a-Gram Co.

All Balloon-A-Grams are Delivered in Costume!

Singing Valentine
A Valentine Service by "The Pitching Staff" a barber shop quartet! Includes a red rose, mylar balloon and a personalized Valentine Card! $39.95

Lore-A-Float
A 5-foot Hot Air Balloon with a Basket full of Hershey's Kisses or a Plush Animal $45.95

You're Beary Special
A 12" Plush Teddy Bear with a Valentine Mylar and Sex Latex Balloons $31.95

Love is in the Air
A 12" Hot Air Balloon Basket with Chocolates (or a Plush Teddy Bear) $24.95

Custom Orders Available! Balloons, Mylar, Bows, Shirts, Plush Animals, Gift Baskets, Long Worned Chocolate Boxes! Call for Pricing!

843-4174 Order Early

1135 U.S. 31-W Bypass from your Valentine Headquarters!

College Heights Herald est. 1925

WHAT I LIKE ABOUT YOU... (HONEST, CARING, ROMANTIC)

Sexual Responsibility Week Feb. 14-18

14th- Bake Sale @ DUC 10-2p.m.
Condom Count - $1 Guess to win Prize

15th- Bake Sale @ DUC 10-2p.m.
Condom Count

"Wanna Be a Millionaire"-All Questions Relate to Sexual Responsibility
Great prizes to be awarded
@ Nite Class 8-10p.m.

16th- Coffee House @ -Bring your favorite Love Poem, Song, etc.
Nite Class 8-10p.m.
The stage is Yours! Come early to sign up!

Information Table @ DUC 12p.m.

Abstinence is the easiest and the only 100% sure way to avoid pregnancy and sexually transmitted disease (STD), including HIV/AIDS.

Brought to you by PERC & WKU Health Center

Bowling Green offers variety of tastes

By KATE CORCORAN
Herald Reporter

For the dateless, this Feb. 14th will be especially hard because Valentine's Day will just force with Monday to form the rare double whammy an awful holiday on an awful weekday.

But since many if not most students will be venturing out in two's and food almost always seems to be involved, the eternal question arises: Where should we eat?

Since there is little else to do in Bowling Green, I'm sure eating out is in the Valentine's Day cards for many Western students.

So to help those who need a little nudge in the right direction, here are the top 10 places to eat in our fair city.

10. McDonald's — Come on, you knew it had to be on the list somewhere. This is Valentine's Day for the financially challenged. This is a last resort.

We're talking every other restaurant in town has burned down. Please, don't let this happen to you, even if it has an indoor playground.

9. O'Harley's — They have a new location, but the food will always be the same. My recommendation is to put honey mustard on everything because they have the best.

8. Bafferty's — Cozy atmosphere. Dim lights which is good as in you're with a less than perfect date. I'm just kidding — no, wait, I'm not. They also have great potato soup which I really mentioned in two different reviews, but it's that good. I won't rest until everyone has tried it.

7. Brickyard Cafe — They recently renovated it and it's just lovely right down to the enclosed front porch. The atmosphere is intimate but casual, you can talk without having to shout over any.

6. Bafferty's — Cozy atmosphere. Dim lights which is good as in you're with a less than perfect date. I'm just kidding — no, wait, I'm not. They also have great potato soup which I really mentioned in two different reviews, but it's that good. I won't rest until everyone has tried it.

5. Cambridge Market & Cafe — This place would be good for a lunch date or early dinner. It's an informal restaurant where you order at the counter and then go up to get your food when it's prepared, so there are no waiters to bug you. They even have a room away from the main eyesore it's great for serious, uninterrupted discussions.

4. Miffback — A fun place that you can't leave hungry. This is a place that you're more likely to have to shout over music, which is good if you don't have much to say on a first date. They also have great big salads which might help to ward off a heart attack from the bismuth onion. A little tip for the wise: their main attraction is steak, so be sure that your date isn't a vegetarian.

3. Bread and Butter — A cute brunch or casual early dinner place. They have fresh bagels and original sandwiches that they make themselves as well as other random pastries and a funky array of coffees. Quelli chic.

2. The Olive Garden — I'm pretty sure that The Olive Garden has a Francesca or Sofia stirring pasta in the kitchen. I love the ambience of this place: the soft music, the lighting is romantic but bright enough so you can still pick the olives out of your salad. And, of course, they have fantastic pasta. Pasta in every imaginable form. You've got your ravioli, tortellini, and fettuccini, plus free salad and bread sticks. And the dessert menu? Forge da-boudit.

1. Mariah's — They're pretty much have the same deal as 440. A wide variety of choices that includes everything from huge steaks to veggie burgers. Mariah's was renovated recently after a fire gutted the original 1800's interior. They have replaced the antiques with a goody mural that seems out of place in a restaurant trying to be swanky, so you have to go for no other reason than to laugh about it.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

But the bottom line is whether it's a first date, a breakup date, or just a "date" with a group of your friends, the important thing is to have a fun time and to not put too much pressure on Valentine's Day to be perfect. After all, if you don't have a box of candy waiting for you after you get home from your date, console yourself with the fact that it will all be 50 percent off tomorrow.

Covering Western civilization since 1925.

College Heights Herald

By ERICA WALSH
Herald reporter

So you forgot Valentine's Day. Don't worry, boys. There is a solution, and your girlfriend will never even know it slipped your mind in the first place.

Just visit a florist site like FTD Online before 1 p.m. Monday, and you can have a beautiful bouquet of roses delivered to your honey's door before the day is over and you're in the doghouse.

FTD Online is just one of the many Internet sites that are available to show how much you care.

Valentines can be sent by e-mail, teddy bears can be ordered online, you can even write fortunes and order your own personalized fortune cookies.

If cards and teddy bears aren't enough, one website lets you send an entire Valentine's Day party to your friends or loved ones.

Greets, an online gift-giving service, has come up with a new method for celebrating romance this year. Now, Greets Interactive Valentine's Day Party offers the chance for customers to personalize their own multimedia interactive party on CD Rom.

All that is required is for customers to visit www.greets.com, and they can create their own interactive parties using activities like interactive Chocolates, Make a Date (where a customer can set friends up on an interactive blind date), or Love IQ, which will rate a friend's potential as a lover.

William Simpson, the founder, chairman and CEO of Greets Interactive Inc., which owns Greets, said in a press release that the Greets Interactive Valentine's Day Party is the Valentine's Day card for the 21st century.

Although there are new online Valentine's Day parties, the most popular online choice for Valentine's Day is still the classic bouquet of flowers.

According to Lisa Muller, a customer service representative for FTD Online, on average at least 100,000 people use FTD Online for Valentine's Day. And most of them will wait until the flowers barely have time to make it to their sweet heart.

"Yes, oh my, a lot of people wait until the last minute, and it makes it a lot harder."

— Lisa Muller
customer service representative for FTD Online

According to Muller, popular choices this year include the M&M bouquet or the Mickey Mouse bouquet. But by far the most ordered arrangement is the traditional bouquet of roses.

Even though ordering gifts from the internet may save you money, some students have mixed feelings on the sentiment behind internet gifts.

Springfield senior Rachel Johnson said she wouldn't be intimidated by ordering a Valentine's gift over the internet.

"I would probably send my friends valentines if they had e-mail addresses," she said. "I've bought things over the internet before, so it wouldn't bother me."

Johnson also said she wouldn't mind if her boyfriend sent her a Valentine over e-mail.

"I like it when he surprises me," she said.

Other students felt that internet gifts were a little too impersonal.

"I'd use it only if there was no other way," Glasgow senior Brandon Davidson said. "It'd be one of those last ditch efforts."

Although there are plenty of other ways available, the internet does offer some great ideas and quick fixes this Valentine's Day.

From traditional red roses to E-cards, the internet offers a range of gifts for the one you love.

Besides, nothing says "I love you" quite like a box of interactive Chocolates.

Remember your Valentine with Vera Bradley

Available Exclusively in Bowling Green at
WERNER-LOWE LTD.
1232 31-W By-Pass
Bowling Green, KY
42101

(270) 796-2683

Heartfelt alternatives to the generic gift

Diary of a Procrastinator. Okay, so Valentine's Day is really soon and, like I ran the patented red rose and candy idea by my girlfriend, and she didn't seem impressed at all.

I even said that I would throw in a teddy bear if that would make it better, and still nothing! What am I going to do?

If this sounds even remotely like a problem you are facing four days before the holiday of love, then this is dedicated to you.

There are always the not-so-original ideas to fall back on — roses, lingerie, chocolates — but I have dug up some creative and fun ways to spend Valentine's Day.

An inexpensive way to use resources that are already available would be to break out the art supplies from kindergarten and make a card of your own. Be sure though if you do that it is red, heart-shaped and includes a poem that starts, "Roses are red, violets are blue."

For those of you who aren't Martha Stewart and would rather just spend some money, there are ways to do that, too.

Take some time and assess your mate's personality. If he/she is a sports fan, grab tickets to a game and they'll be stoked.

Jamie Sears
senior

because of the game and because you are going with them.

A coupon to a day spa will always be the trick for a stressed out person, although it will be most effective for a girl.

Now, realize that there are those of you who are heavy in the heart but not as much in the wallet. These ideas will also suffice for the hopeless romantics out there. Bake a cookie in the shape of a heart or buy Hershey's Kisses for the number of days that you have been a couple.

For all of the right-brained Shakespeare types, write a few poems and bind them in a little book that your dear can keep lying around to read on a rainy day or write a song and sing it to them.

On the other hand, there are some boyfriend/girlfriends that require a little more maintenance. Surprise them with a personalized fortune at a Chinese restaurant or candlelight dinner.

Another idea would be to fill their entire room with pink and red balloons and they can try to find you when they get home. You could always take out an ad in the paper if you want your declaration of love to be heard campus wide, or decorate their car with balloons, streamers and banners, then watch their face when they see all of their friends out in the parking lot looking at it.

If you are just plain out of ideas and are still desperate, remember that lavaliers and rings are still good things to give on Valentine's Day. However, if you are not ready for all that, then just go to the campus kissing bridge where you will most likely hear, "Couple five, you are next. You have 30 seconds under the kissing bridge, start now."

Jamie Sears is a sophomore psychology major from Melber.

VALENTINE SYMBOLS

HEART

Emotions are feelings such as love, happiness, anger or fear. A long time ago, people believed that all the emotions were found in the heart. In later years, they thought only the emotion of love was connected with the heart. The heart is still a symbol of love, but because of this, it is also a symbol of Valentine's Day.

RED ROSE

The rose was the favorite flower of Venus, the Roman goddess of love. Red is a color that stands for strong feelings. This is why the red rose is a flower of love.

Cupid's Arrow
Manicure
Pedicure
One hour massage

Fountain of Youth
Facial
Spa Manicure
Body wrap

Heart to Heart
For him & her
One hour massage
Facial

True Love
Manicure
Pedicure
One hour massage
Paraffin body treatment

Short but Sweet
Spa manicure
Spa pedicure
Paraffin therapy
For hand & feet

Sweet Heart
One hour massage
Facial
Body wrap
Spa manicure

Gals get 20% off haircut with purchase of a valentine's day package for her!

You can add lunch to any package.

Regina's
Salon & Day Spa

Custom packages for wedding parties

25% discount on Paul Mitchell products with the purchase of any salon service.

Western Students receive 10% off all services (must show student I.D.)

Salon Services:
Complete body, skin & nail care
Body treatments include: massages & wraps, paraffin & waxing treatments
Spa manicures & pedicures
Total re-imaging
• corrective coloring
• perms & straight perms
• make-up application
• up-do's for all occasions
• facial analysis & design cutting
• foil weaving

Gift Certificates Available

1945 Scottsville Rd
Located in Thornwood Square behind Ralphy's.
781-4676

Valentine's Day is Monday
February 14th

Place your order to be delivered by Saturday, Feb. 12th, and receive a free box of candy

DEEMER'S
FLOWERS & GREENHOUSES

861 Fairview Ave.
843-4334

S.W.A.K. Valentine's Week Sale!

Stop at the University Bookstore to select a gift for that special Hilltopper on your list and save with these specials!

$1 off 1 WKU cap

Coupons: Expires 2/19/00. Limit 1 coupon per item.

25% off 1 pair WKU shorts

Coupons: Expires 2/19/00. Limit 1 coupon per item.

25% off 1 WKU T-shirt

Coupons: Expires 2/19/00. Limit 1 coupon per item.

25% off 1 WKU sweatshirt

Coupons: Expires 2/19/00. Limit 1 coupon per item.

We have all your Valentine wants and needs!

25% off Plush Animals

Coupons: Expires 2/19/00. Limit 1 coupon per item.

Bring in your film for processing and get second set of prints free.

Computer reference books are discounted 30% everyday in our trade book department.

University Bookstore

We're here to serve you!

Regular Store Hours
Mon.-Fri. 7:45 am-7:00 pm
Saturday, 10:00 am-2:00 pm

Third Floor Downing University Center

Phone 502-745-2467
800-444-5155
www.wku.edu/Info/Bookstore

Couple finds love story on top of Western's Hill

Ours is a love story.

You know, the kind that makes you cry and feel nauseous at the same time. The kind that makes you say, "That could never happen to me." I know because I said that once.

And then I met Cathy. It's hard to believe we grew up less than two miles apart.

We went to the same elementary school, same middle school and same high school — yet somehow I managed to graduate without ever meeting her.

Once, as editor of the high school newspaper, I had to make up a caption for a photo because I didn't know who the girl in the picture was.

A color guard member does the Hammer. I wrote, trying to be funny.

Turns out the girl was Cathy. So then I came to Western. And as a freshman feeling lost in the crowd, I searched desperately for a few people who were to my high school.

For several days, I was hanging with these friends, trying to remember this strikingly attractive, incredibly sweet girl who had joined the clan.

Charlie Lanter
commentary

As class began and the semester moved along, I continued seeing this girl.

One night I walked with her to the overlook in front of Van Meter Hall. I'll never forget the kiss we shared on that warm August evening.

Turns out that girl was Cathy. Two years later to the day, I brought her back to that spot in front of Van Meter.

There I dropped to one knee as I presented the diamond ring I'd saved up for all summer.

It wasn't anything you'd call a rock, but it was the best I could do on an intern's salary.

But the ring didn't matter; Cathy wanted to spend the rest of her life with this stocky, red-headed journalist wannabe.

Turns out she loved me.

On Jan. 6, 2001, Cathy and I will marry.

It won't be the final chapter of this love story, but it's certainly a happy ending.

For years I thought there was no one out there for me. For years I thought I'd never fall in love, never be someone's husband and lover.

But then she came along, and I'm happier, more successful and a better person for it.

When I said "I can't," she said "You will." When I said "I'm leaving," she said "I'll wait." And when I said "I love you," she said "I love you, too."

Turns out Cathy was the love of my life.

Charlie Lanter and Cathy Call are seniors from Leamington. Charlie is a first journalism and government double major and Cathy is a photojournalism major.

John Loh Herald

Snuggle: Casey Harrison, of San Francisco, Calif., reaches out to his girlfriend, Bowling Green sophomore Catie Brownfield, as the two enjoy a moment outside Cravens Graduate Library Wednesday afternoon. The couple took advantage of the warm temperatures to have some quality time outdoors.

★ ♀ LOVESCOPIES FROM MADAME MOONBEAM ♀ ★

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

You're waiting too long to act on warm, fuzzy feelings. Seize the moment! Make Valentine's Day the deadline for showing this person how you feel. Be honest. Be creative. But be subtle, or you could end up in jail for stalking.

Taurus (April 21 - May 21)

Your loved one is in the sentimental type, whether they'll admit to it or not. Tap that! Recreate your first date. Watch the first movie you ever saw together. You'll enjoy the jog down memory lane.

Gemini (May 22 - June 20)

Okay Gemini, so you're not the most romantic sign of the zodiac. That's no excuse. Make a special effort to surprise your loved one with something especially romantic for Valentine's Day out on a limb. If you can't come up with something, hire someone to figure it out for you.

Cancer (June 21 - July 22)

Deny your nurturing side for just a moment and let your partner take care of you for a change. Which isn't to say ignore their Valentine's Day needs completely, but you should let them be the "planner" for once. What they come up with might surprise you.

Leo (July 23 - Aug. 23)

Let your creative side take control. Part of you has always wanted to, at least try writing a sonnet or serenading. Try it. Try anything that pushes the boundaries of your normal romantic routine. The payoff will speak for itself.

Virgo (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

So you feel a little lonely right now — who doesn't? Everyone you see is running around with somebody. Don't despair. There's someone out there for you and they're just biding their time until they can tell you how they feel. Maybe they're an Aries.

Libra (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

You are often victim to your own high expectations, but not this year. This will be a good Valentine's Day for you. You may not get jewelry, or even flowers. But the ones closest to you will let you know exactly how much you mean to them.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

Valentine's Day is all about chocolate. And so is the one you love. Incorporate the dark sweet stuff into every aspect of your Valentine's Day plans. Chocolate kisses. Chocolate syrup. Whatever. It will make for some very interesting memories.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 21)

Don't put so much pressure on yourself. Valentine's Day isn't about outdoing Cassanova's romantic prowess. It's just a holiday — one day out of many. No matter what you have planned for your true love, they're going to love it and, at the very least, appreciate the effort.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 - Jan. 20)

This Valentine's Day is all about pampering the one you love. Do something they would never expect. Make them dinner and insist on feeding it to them. Draw them a bubble bath and wash their hair. Anything to make them feel special.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 - Feb. 18)

You're probably missing the one you love, no matter how close they are. Take the opportunity to express this through a sweet note, an e-mail, or even a goofy poem. People love seeing what people think of them in print.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 19)

You're a fan of the classics: red roses, chocolates and a gift will get you farther than a dozen boring old red roses like his-his's gotten for every other occasion. Be spontaneous. Come up with something that suits their personality. Your efforts will definitely pay off.

Although I love you Tennessee, the land of Kentucky is the place for me Love, Andy

Happy Valentine's Day Brian! I love you always! Aileen

I love my boyfriend, Steve, with all my heart and soul. Happy Valentine's Day to him, my family, friends, and Newrock 92

Paul Lodge, You've captured my heart and my soul. I love you more than life itself. Love Always, Rachel Johnson

Sandy, Every day is Valentine's Day when you love somebody with a heart as big as yours. I love you, Bob

Lance, You hold the key to my heart and my happiness. Thank you for giving me the greatest gift possible.....you! I love you, KIT

Clint, Happy Valentine's Day! Love Always, Sherry

Being with you allows me to feel privileged only the love of my life can make me feel this way

Happy Valentine's Day Dan! We love our KA king! The sisters of Kappa Delta

To the brothers of Kappa Alpha Order, you guys are the greatest! We love you, Southern Belles

Heather, I appreciate you so much! Thank you for your friendship Greg

To the two most beautiful granddaughters in the world! Happy Valentine's Day! Love, Mom and Gaga

Aaron W., I love you, my little sugar puff. Your beautiful blue eyes shine like the ocean on a bright sunny day. Your Secret Admirer

Happy Valentine's Day, Brijet. To the most beautiful, special girl in the world. I love you! Love, Scott

GEMINI BAD GIRL Soul-mates 4-Ever Cancer-Man

Happy Valentine's Day to Sorority Hall Staff! From, Cupid

Happy Valentine's Day to the KA Ladies! AOT, Your CAB

Joann and Sherry, Thanks for all you do every day to make things better for so many people. You're special. The other third

K.A.H. I am so happy I found out what a wonderful person you are. Thank you for never giving up on me. Will you be my Valentine? Olive juice, M.E.W.

Happy Valentine's day Bridgett, I wuff you very much! Be my Valentine. Love, Prissy

Morgan or Henry, Only seven more months. Love, Mom and Dad

Hey Pumpkin, I know it's rough right now, but I still love you Zookumhakum! Love, Your Angel

Cathy, Just eleven more months Love, Charlie

Rusty, If I had a single flower for every thought I had of you, I could walk in my garden forever. Love always, Becky

Autumn, Love you honey Happy Valentines Day, Scott

Brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, we love you! Your Violets

Happy Valentines Day Nicole You're the best and I love you very much. Love, Kelly

Megan, I love you bunches and bunches! You are the greatest wife a boy like me could ever hope for. Will you be my Valentine? 2 buds, 1-2. Love, Chad

