John, I knew these two and would say that they may not be alive but if they are my good friend Tara can find them. I remember more about Dr. Anderson because she is the one who started AKA. Dr. Beck lived in the cabin behind Rodes because there was nowhere around campus that would rent to blacks. Dr. Anderson lived in one of the Bates apt. for the same reason. She was more active around campus yet neither of them was here for very long.

Dr. J.E. Jones of St.St.Baptist Church who worked in the admission office also started teaching a few classes a little after they left or maybe while they were here.

Some of this is beginning to get away from me.

Are you aware of the first black faculty appointed at Western? These are names that will probably appear in various places during the Centennial effort.
