Capacity Audience Hears Orfeon Sing

The eighty male voices of the Orfeon Chorus from the University of Coimbra, Portugal, presented the first Community Concert of the season Wednesday, October 31, in Van Meter Auditorium.

With a standing-room only audience, the chorus began with "The Star Spangled Banner" and "The Portuguese National Anthem."

The Chorus, dressed in their traditional black robes, then turned to some Latin and French selections. Following this came the stimulating selection, Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

Near the end of the program the men sang songs in their native tongue. At the close of the concert the entire chorus sang their school song "Balade de Coimbra" after being brought back with a standing ovation.

These black-robed young singers came to America for the first time, for a nationwide tour with an almost endless repertoire of masters through modern popular songs.

For three-quarters of a century, Coimbra's Orfeon Chorus — as it has been known since its establishment in 1880 — has sung the length and breadth of Southern Europe, and in 1949, extended its tours to Maderiras the Agores, South Africa and South America. In Sao Paulo, Brazil, they helped that city celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of its founding.

Everywhere they sing, the

Newman Club Visited By Orfeon Chorus

Newman Hall was quite honored last Wednesday night with the visit of the Orfeon Chorus, which had just completed a splendid and outstanding performance at Van Meter Auditorium.

Informal conversations and the singing of various songs was carried on by Newman club members and the distinguished guests.

During the evening, coffee and cake was served to the group of outstanding young men.

Also on the same night, members of Newman club were host to thirty-one seminarians from St. Maurs' Monastery.

All members of the Newman club were entertained last Tuesday night at a halloween dance held at the Hall. The costume and falsefaced crowd enjoyed the playing of Cudnick's Swinging Three from Western. Fun was had by all, and many new variations of the Twist were being shown by a few of the "swingers."

Best costume at the party was displayed by Father Allard, who was dressed like Fidel Castro.

same kind of acclaim follows their concerts: Vocal coordination is very sharp, the style is fine and delicate, "meticulous enunciation and rhythmical precision," and equally adept in folklore and the classics, this versatile chorus performs with the impeccable ensemble and the exquisite beauty of a finely tuned orchestra.

The founder of the Orfeon Chorus of Coimbra was a brilliant young law student named Joao Arrilo whose talents eventually brought him to the post of Portuguese Minister of Education. His successor, another law

Who's Who Elections Set For November 14

The election of Who's Who among students in American universities and colleges will be held Wednesday, November 14. The voting will be between 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. in the Paul L. Garrett Student Center.

To be eligible to be nominated for Who's Who, one must be a senior with an overall point standing of at least 1.5. Each faculty member is given the op-

Tomorrow Afternoon

Sabin Vaccine Will Be Distributed On Campus

No waiting, no needles, no pain! This statement describes the new Sabin Oral polio vaccine which will be distributed on campus Thursday, November 8, (tomorrow), in the Student Union Building between the hours of 12:15 p. m. and 4 p. m.

Through the cooperation of the Bowling Green-Warren County Health Department, students will be able to take the oral vaccine on campus at no cost. Although there is no cost, a donation of 25 cents or more is being requested in order to cover the cost of producing and transporting the vaccine, however, this donation will not be required.

Type I

The type of vaccine to be distributed Thursday will be Type I, which is the first dose in a series of three doses necessary for adequate polio protection. All Western students, faculty and administrative personnel are urged to take the vaccine tomorrow in an effort to stamp out polio in this area completely. Students who have already taken the Salk inoculations should also take the new Sabin oral vaccine, as it provides longer-lasting protection from polio.

A Lump of Sugar

The new oral type of vaccine will be a welcome relief to those persons who are hesitant about taking shots. The Sabin vaccine is administered orally. Three drops of the pink serum are placed on an ordinary cube of sugar and the sugar is simply eaten by the individual taking the vaccine.

There is absolutely no taste whatsoever except the taste of the sugar. Diabetic persons should not be afraid to take the oral vac-

NOTICE

Students registered in English 205 (the second nine weeks) should report to Cherry Hall 120 beginning Monday, November 12. Class will meet daily at 1 p. m. beginning on that date.

Spanish Film To Initiate Language Movie Series

The Spanish full-length feature, Flamenco, in Fotocolor, will inaugurate the foreign language film series sponsored by the Department of Foreign Languages, as announced by Dr. Paul G. Hatcher, department head. Flamenco, in Spanish with English subtitles, will be shown at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday, November 13, in Snell Hall Auditorium.

Flamenco is a film event of importance to all who love the dance, music, and the beauty of Spain, a documentary of "flamenco," the gypsy dance based on ancient tradition. Photographed against authentic backgrounds with some of Spain's greatest artists supporting the great Antonio, Flamenco is a rich feast for the eye and ear with its true-to-life presentation of Andalusian folklore and Spanish ballet. The film features music by Albeniz, Granados, Chueca, Father Soler, and popular flamenco. Starring are Pilar Lopez, Maria Luz, the Ballet Espanol, and bullfighter Juan Belmonte in a special sequence.

All students taking a course in a foreign language and paying the laboratory fee will be admitted without charge to the showing of all films in the series. Faculty members are likewise admitted free. Others interested in seeing the films must obtain special permission from Dr. Hatcher prior to showing. Each student is required to see the foreign language film related to the language studied. Admission to all films is obtained by presentation of the student receipt for registration.

Other films in the series include Balzac's Colonel Chabert cine because there is only a small amount of sugar involved.

Three Types

There are three types of the oral vaccine — Types I, II, and III. Each type is administered at six week intervals and it is necessary to take all three types in order to insure the most complete protection possible. Persons who have already taken Type I should wait until Type II is distributed in December before taking another dose.

All persons under 18 years of age must have written permission of their parent or guardian in order to take the vaccine and persons taking the vaccine should keep a record of the type taken and the date in order to take subsequent doses on schedule.

Joint Alumni Council Meets At Western

Western was host to the Joint Alumni Council of Kentucky on October 29 and 30. Alumni officers from the University of Kentucky, Murray State College, Kentucky State College, Eastern State College, Morehead State College and Western Kentucky State College participated.

Fund raising and giving was the subject chosen by Mr. Les Shively, Director of Alumni Relations at the University of Kentucky, for his speech, which opened the workshop meeting held for the Alumni officers of the six Kentucky state colleges.

Western faculty members William Cunningham, Dr. Lucia Anderson, Bennie Beach, Miss Flora Zebur, Dr. John Scarborough, and Tom Ecker presented a very informative as well as enjoyable panel discussion. The discussion, "The Alumni Association of My Alma Mater," gave the panel an opportunity to tell what their various alumni associations mean to them.

Do's and don'ts in publishing alumni magazines were presented by a group from Peabody College. Dr. J. E. Windrow, Miss Etha Green, and Mrs. Dorothy Crowley, all experienced staff members of Peabody's alumni publication, gave many valuable tips to the Kentucky alumni officers.

Highlighting the dinner meeting Monday evening was a speech by Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western. Dr. Thompson pointed out the importance of the six state colleges in Kentucky joining together for the benefit of public higher education in the state. President Thompson quickly added that good wholesome

SNEA Scholarship Fund Receives $300 Addition

A $300 addition has pushed the scholarship fund of the Western chapter of the Student National Education Association one big step nearer its goal.

The local SNEA group is establishing a perpetual fund to furnish scholarships to worthy education students who need financial aid.

The fund was started only a year ago with an initial contribution of $500. Since that time, contributions by students, Western faculty and staff members, and alumni have swelled the total.

The latest $300 addition recently turned over to A. J. Thurman, executive secretary of the College Heights Foundation, Inc., boosts the total well past $1,000.

"The ultimate aim is to build up a fund large enough so that, when invested, it will return enough to furnish perpetual scholarships," explained Thurman.

"In other words, the money for the scholarships would come from the interest derived from the investment, not from the basic fund itself. Thus it will be a self-sustaining thing."

"Now, in its initial stage, the fund is drawing interest as savings. But the SNEA has added to it steadily and it is rapidly reaching the point where we will

Study Yourself

Today marks the end of the visitation of a group of educators who have been on campus for the past three days in order to evaluate the results of an institutional self-study conducted by Western over the past two years.

The self-study is essentially designed to aid the college in reassessing objectives, exploring ways and means by which educational efficiency may be improved, and preparing for the ever-increasing demands upon institutions of higher learning.

This self-study has touched every aspect of the total operation of the college and the results of the study have been published in a 225 page booklet entitled "Institutional Self Study Report 1960-1962."

Eventually, this self-study will result in the improvement of today's educational opportunities here at Western and the planning of a long-range program that will enable students to receive the finest college education available.

As long as the college is taking the time to make a self-study to see what it can do to benefit the student body, perhaps it would also be a good time for the student body to make a quick self-study of its own. It need not be quite as extensive as that made by the college. A quick glance at the events of the past two or three weeks should be enough.

To begin with, let us pose two simple questions. First, what are your objectives here at Western? Second, what progress have you made toward these objectives?

Many students come to college full of enthusiasm to excel in their studies and prove to the folks back home that college really isn't so tough. This attitude is a pretty good one if it keeps up throughout one's college career. Chances are that a person who really believes in this will excel in his studies, but all too often that flame of enthusiasm goes out after the first few weeks when the rose-colored glasses come off. This is generally the time when studies are replaced by "goofing-off."

It is these students which will benefit most by a quick self-study. Think back over the past few weeks. How much time was actually put in on the books, and how much time that could have been put in on the books actually was? Don't get the impression that college is all book work. Heaven forbid! But it is virtually impossible to get that sheen of skin at the end of four years without ever having cracked a book.

College isn't something you can jump into one day and come out of summa cum laude the next. It takes time, effort, and lots of advance planning.

This is where the self-study can be quite helpful. Look again at your objective. What are you here for? Next, look at the progress you've made toward that objective. Now—weigh the two. Will your present rate of progress bring you to your objective? If not, utilize the next step in the self-study—the planning. Decide what changes must be made in order to bring you to your desired goal. Plan the changes carefully, always keeping in mind the long-range aspect of your planning. Finally, when the planning is finished, get to work and put those plans into operation. The end results of such a student self-study will speak for themselves.

DR. STONE ATTENDS PANEL DISCUSSION ON CHURCH MUSIC

Dr. Thomas Stone of the Music department went to Louisville last Thursday, November 1 for a panel discussion on Church Music at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

BAND WILL NOT ATTEND FINAL FOOTBALL GAMES

The Western Marching Band is now recuperating after its arduous fall labors performing on the football field. The Marching Band has completed its fall work as far as football games are concerned, and now they are leaving it up to the football team to represent Western in the last two games of the season, which unfortunately happen to be away.

MUSIC STUDENTS ATTEND CONCERT

Members of the Music 180 classes attended the Community Concert last week, which presented the Orfeon chorus from Portugal, as a part of their laboratory portion of the course.

DELTA OMICRON PRESENTS PLEDGE RECITAL

The Delta Omicron girls have already presented their pledge recital for this semester. The Sorority will also sponsor a recital by Mrs. Doris Mielcke, local harpist.

Julia Neal To Address Local AAUW Meeting

Miss Julia Neal, nationally known authority on the Shaker religion, will be the principal speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Bowling Green Branch of the American Association of University Women, at the Helm Hotel Friday evening, November 16, at 6:30.

Miss Neal's talk will concern the diary of Eldress Nancy, a member of the Shaker colony at South Union, near Auburn. Miss Vera Grinstead, president of the local branch of the AAUW, will preside over the program.

Miss Neal, a native of Auburn, is a member of the English department at Florence State College, Florence, Ala. She has completed work on two books about the Shakers, a religious sect which flourished in some parts of Kentucky, Ohio, and throughout New England during the last century. Her interest in the Shakers began at Western when she wrote a research paper on the topic in an English course for Dr. Gordon Wilson, former head of the English department.

Her first book, By Their Fruits, published by the University of North Carolina Press, won an Avery Hopwood Award at the University of Michigan. This book tells the story of Shakerism in South Union. The second of Miss Neal's works is a diary of the Shaker Colony in Kentucky during the Civil War years. This diary, kept by Eldress Nancy, is a first-hand account of the actions and adventures which took place as both Union and Confederate armies passed back and forth over the property of the Logan Logan County Shakers.

Miss Neal received her AB and MA degrees at Western. She did further graduate work at the University of Michigan. She taught at Western and was dean of residence at Kingswood School for girls near Detroit, before joining the faculty at Florence State. She has held offices in the South Atlantic Modern Language Association, the Conference on College Composition and Communication, and the Association of College Teachers of English in Alabama.

Miss Neal is a member of the National Council for Teachers of English, the Alabama College Association, Sigma Tau Delta, and Chi Delta Phi.

In 1959, she was elected to Who's Who in American Women. In May, 1962, she was invited to the Philadelphia Museum of Art to give an address on the Shakers. This year she was given the honor of becoming a Kentucky Colonel.

Book Marks

By Ferrell Jenkins

Among the useful government publications in the library is the Biographical Directory of the American Congress (1774-1961). This book gives information about the Continental Congress, lists congresses, and the members of each congress, by state. A brief biographical sketch of each member of congress is given.

The Congressional Record contains the proceedings and debates of each congress. Daily copies of the Record are found in the library. The proceedings for the full year are bound and usually make about 15 volumes. One of the most valuable features of the bound set is the index. One may look up a particular bill or subject. Every senator and representative, who has had a part in the proceedings, is listed alphabetically. The headings under each name may include such material as general information, amendments offered by bills and joint resolutions introduced by, and reports made by.

Suppose you wanted to know if any material from the Park City Daily News had been entered in the Congressional Record, for a given session. Again, the index proves a time saver. Just look up the name of the paper and you are in business. The index also includes a history of bills and resolutions of both houses of that session.

The debates and history of the bills in congress have been published under four names. The Annals of Congress began to be published in 1789. Register of Debates and Congressional Globe cover the period from 1824 to 1873. The Congressional Record has been published since 1873. These volumes are available in the library.

The U. S. Government Organization Manual is the official organization handbook of the federal government. It is published annually, and contains sections descriptive of the agencies in the legislative, judicial, and executive branches.

The Department of Commerce publishes the Statistical Abstracts of the United States, each year. This book is a plethora of facts and figures. The population, vital statistics on health and nutrition, immigration and naturalization figures, and communications, are just a few of the matters dealt with. Do you know how many pieces of mail were received per capita in 1960? The answer is in the Abstract.

Trying to decide on a profession? The Occupational Outlook Handbook might be helpful. It is published by the Labor department and includes occupational reports on different fields of work.

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare publishes a number of books. They have an entire series on education in various countries. The librarian said that Education in the USSR, is often used. Trends in Financing Public Education is published by the same department. It covers the years 1929 through 1960. U.S. Government Films for Public Educational Use lists films available and tells how to secure them.

The Department of Agriculture publishes yearbooks. One of the books has an appealing title: Food. After a Hundred Years deals with the activities of the department for the past hundred years.

Planning a trip to the nation's capitol? Washington City and Capitol is a book of over 1100 pages. It not only tells about the city, but is filled with pictures that should serve to entice tourists.

Most Americans have seen at least one government publication: it is called Form 1040. While the use of other government publications may not be obligatory, their use will, nonetheless, prove rewarding.

Western's first cross-country team is already making history on the Hilltop. Coach Tom Ecker's harriers outran Murray for the second time this year to capture first place in Union University's Invitational meet Saturday. This is the first Hilltopper running team in 23 years to capture a trophy. The win makes them the team to beat in the OVC championship run at Cookeville December 1.

In another area of the athletic world, Western's football team took on the role of the spoiler, beating Morehead 7-0, thus eliminating that team from championship contention. An Ounce Of Prevention..

By Marcus et Aurelius

Occasionally, medical science develops a painless way of administering medicine to the masses. Such is the case of the new Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine. It is a painless, odorless, tasteless way of protecting your life against America's Number 1 crippling disease—polio.

Tomorrow, Western students, faculty members, and administrative personnel will be given the opportunity to protect themselves against this dreaded crippler by simply eating a lump of sugar which has been saturated with three drops of pink vaccine. There is no more need to fear needles or sore arms when protecting yourself against polio, because neither play a part in this new type of polio vaccination.

Even though a person has already had the Salk shots, he should take the oral vaccine because it provides longer-lasting protection against polio.

College students should pay particular attention to this opportunity because while they are at college, they are preparing themselves for the future. To many students, the future looks pretty bright at present, but how would it look if you suddenly found yourself hampered by polio?

Take advantage of this excellent opportunity to provide yourself with the protection you need to insure yourself of enjoying a full, productive, polio-free future. The protection won't cost you anything except the time it takes for you to chew and swallow one small lump of sugar.

John Warren Oakes Is Art Club Guest Speaker

John Warren Oakes — guest speaker for the evening — was introduced by corresponding secretary Paul James at the Art Club meeting Wednesday October 25.

Oakes, winner of the Albert Students League in Woodstock, New York, presented a comparison of the cultural climate in Bowling Green to that found in Woodstock.

Oakes stated that the cultural climate found in Woodstock was far superior to that in Bowling Green.

Oakes gave the following reasons for this condition: (1) greater number of artists situated in Woodstock; (2) greater amount of local interest in the arts at Woodstock; and (3) an evident lack of interest in the arts on the part of the majority of Bowling Green residents.

The above conditions were discussed by members of the Art Club and many proposals were made for attempting to change this situation here in Bowling Green.

These proposals will be discussed further at the next club meeting on November 4. All interested persons are urged to attend this next meeting.

This year's series is entitled "Grass Roots Government, Myth or Reality," Dr. Jenkins is attempting to establish whether there is such a thing as grass roots government. In trying to establish this fact, Dr. Jenkins plans to have many interviews with various city and county officials. Recently he interviewed County Judge Basil Griffin and two members of the Warren County Fiscal Court, Mr. Morehead and Mr. Walker.

Thus the fund is becoming graphic proof of the SNEA's desire to further the education profession by helping those who cannot help themselves, financially.

BSU Students Challenged By Missionary

A great challenge was put before the Western students this past week at the Baptist Student Center October 28-31 during World Outreach Week on the Hill, as the BSU members were challenged to prove their duty as Christians to help stamp out Communism.

The challenge was made by Dr. R. L. Bausum, who served thirty years as a missionary in the Orient, mostly teaching in the Baptist Academy in China. He has made a special study of Communism and is a good student in history. In addition to degrees from Carson-Newman and the Southern Baptist Seminary, Dr. Bausum also studied at the Johns Hopkins School of Oriental Studies.

In the analysis of the present world situation Dr. Bausum tried to lead the students to realize their own personal duty as Christians. His main talk on the Communist threat and the current status of Christians in uncommitted countries and those behind the bamboo curtain challenged many student and faculty members to stand up for their rights and to take it on themselves as part of their Christian duty to help stamp out Communism.

student, Antonio Joyce, carried on the great traditions of his predecessor, and succeeding conductors have maintained the highest musical standards; now the Orfeon Chorus, under its present conductor, Dr. Manuel Raposo Marques, enjoys an enviable international reputation.

Although in concert halls and auditoriums throughout the Western world the Orfeon Chorus has won its widest acclaim, this distinguished musical organization keeps an old custom very much alive while it is in residence in Coimbra. Small groups can be heard singing in the streets on almost any night of the week, and a pretty girl behind a balcony window or in a cafe never lacks a serenader. And whenever the listener is especially charming, she will receive a little scrap of black fabric, torn from the hem of a black robe, the official costume of the Orfeon Chorus.

The members of the Orfeon are known as Portugal's good - will ambassadors. These young men from the medieval University City of Coimbra have been singing their way into the hearts of the nations far-flung overseas population for many years.

Art Students To Form Guild

The formation of an art guild with a downtown gallery is being planned by a group of Western's art students.

This guild is being formed for the expressed purpose of presenting its work to the general public rather than to the select groups formed here at Western.

The group's spokesman — Paul James — stated that plans are now underway toward the acquisition of a downtown building for use as the guild's gallery.

Mr. James asked that all persons interested in joining the guild and participating in acquiring the gallery, please contact him and discuss these plans.

Eleven seniors will play their last football game for Western this Saturday afternoon when the Hilltoppers meet Murray in their season finale. These same eleven seniors will be out to spoil an opponent's homecoming for the second time of the season. Their first "spoils" was at Cookeville, Tenn. when they trounced Tennessee Tech 24-7.

The departing linemen who have done an outstanding job all season will be hard to replace next year. Heading the list is Lee Murray, 6-0, 180-pound end who will be gunning for All-OVC honors for the second straight year. Bill Munford became a regular end and a steady performer after playing the utility role behind Jim Hughes for three years.

The three interior starting linemen Barry Poole, Jim Taylor, and John Barriola, plus reserve Ollie Newell will leave a big gap to be filled next year. Poole, a three year letterman saw most of his action on offense, while Taylor was a standout on defense. Barriola's line-backing position will be hard to fill. Last but certainly not least is Ollie Newell. The smallest of the guards has given depth to the guard position for the past two years.

Leading the graduating backs is veteran quarterback Jim Daily. One of the tallest quarterbacks in the conference, he has been a threat to the opposition for the last four years. Behind Daily another performer who has been around for four years is fullback Joe Jagers, the most consistent ground gainer on the squad.

Halfbacks Lloyd Nash, Buzzy Best, and Bobby Mitchell have given the Toppers the needed depth in the backfield and all are equal in ability. Mitchell has been one of the finest punters in the league. Best and Nash have done an excellent job in the defensive secondary for the Toppers.

These eleven seniors will truly be missed, but with some excellent freshmen and the crop of returning lettermen, the outlook for next year and the coming years is extremely bright.

Mitchell Takes Over Punting Lead

A 61-yard quick kick against Eastern has helped Bobby Mitchell take over the punting lead in the Ohio Valley Conference. His 16 kicks for 596 yards for a 37.3 average gives him a lead over Mike Brown of Morehead.

Jim Burt continues to hold down the lead in the pass catches for 185 yards.

Murray Has Top Rusher And Passer

The Hilltopper defense will have to be on their toes Saturday as they will encounter the top passer and rusher in the conference. Tommy Glover, a transfer from SEC power Alabama, is the leading rusher with 102 carries for 487 yards and a 4.7-yard average. He holds the passing lead with 24 completions in 62 attempts for five touchdowns and 373 yards.

Western's Jim Daily is third with 24 completions in 56 attempts for 373 yards.

Toppers Close Grid Season Against Murray

Western ventures to Murray Saturday to do battle with the Thoroughbreds in the final game of the season for the Hilltoppers, who will be seeking to spoil Murray's homecoming. The Toppers also will be trying for the third OVC win of the season.

Western, victor over the Racers in last year's finale 14-6, will be trying for the second consecutive OVC win. This is the twenty-ninth meeting of these two schools with Western holding a twelve to eleven edge over the Racers. Five games have ended in ties.

The Toppers fresh from a victory over Morehead proved that the best defense is sometimes the best offense as they held the Eagles, who led the league in rushing with a 197-yard per game average, to just 61 yards on the ground and four completions out of fourteen attempts in passing.

The Hilltoppers defense will have to be stingy again Saturday as Murray has the league's leading passer, pass receiver, and the third leading rusher. Quarterback Tony Fioravanti has thrown for 541 yards and three touchdowns for the passing lead. Gary Folitz has taken over the pass receiving lead from Western's Jim Burt with 16 grabs for 224 yards and three touchdowns. Tommy Glover, a transfer from powerful Alabama, is the third leading rusher with 51 carries for 250 yards for

"If I had it to do over again, would I take Army R.O.T.C.?"

My wife and I are in Panama at the moment. She likes it. You know, Officers' Club, dances—that sort of thing. I like it, too. But whether I stay in the Army or not, the question is: Would I take Army R.O.T.C. if I had it to do over again? Yes, I certainly would. In spades, I didn't realize how lucky I was. At the time I figured: Okay, so I'll get my degree—get an Army commission, too, and pick up some extra money along the way! I wasn't the leadership type, I thought. I was wrong. Boy, was I wrong! Looking back on it, I wouldn't trade the leadership training I got for anything! Take my word for it, leaders are made—not born! Whether I stay in the Army or not, nobody can take away what I've learned. And let's face it, where can anybody my age step out of college and walk into a standard of living this good? Look, if you have already invested two years in college ROTC, take it from me: Stick it out! It'll be one of the smartest things you ever did. I say so."

Toppers Blank Morehead 7-0 In Crucial OVC Test

The Western Hilltoppers dealt a severe blow to the Morehead Eagle's OVC title hopes last Saturday with a 7-0 victory over the favored Eagles at Morehead. A 29-yard touchdown pass from Jim Daily to halfback Jim Burt in the third quarter provided the game's only score.

The Eagles who led the league in rushing with a 197-yard average were held to only 61 yards on the ground by the Topper's air-tight defense.

The Hilltopper touchdown climaxed a 68 drive which started with the second half kick-off. Beginning with Jim Burt's kick-off return to the Toppers 22-yard yard line, Western quickly drove to the Eagle's 29 where on a fourth down situation Daily on a quarterback sneak gained the necessary yardage. He then threw a perfect strike to Burt, who grabbed it on the 3-yard line, evaded two Eagle defenders and scored the winning touchdown.

Morehead, kept bottled up by the strong Western defense most of the afternoon, made their only serious threat in the fourth quarter when the Eagles, on fourth down were stopped short of a first down on the Topper's 15-yard line.

Daily, completing only one out of his first nine aerials found the range late in the first half and connected on eight out of his last ten attempts.

Morehead's backfield was harassed continually due to the aggressive play of end Lee Murray, guard John Barriola, tackle Harold Chambers, and cornerbacks Carson Culler, Bobby Mitchell and Buzzy Best. Completing only four of fourteen passing attempts and fumbles recovered by Western's Jim Taylor and Bobby Westmoreland, plus a 58-yard punt by Bobby Mitchell kept the Eagles deep in their own territory for much of the game.

This win was Western's second OVC triumph of the year and lifted the Hilltopper's season record to 4-3-0. Morehead, coming into the game tied for first place in the conference with a 3-1 conference record faces OVC leader Eastern next week and the Hilltoppers journey to Murray next for their season's finale. A Murray defeat would assure the Toppers of a fifth place finish and a possible tie for fourth.

'52 Refrigerator Bowl Champs Hold Reunion

The team members of the 1952 Refrigerator Bowl team enjoyed a reunion during Homecoming week-end. An informal social gathering was held immediately after the Homecoming football game, followed by a dinner-dance at Manhattan Towers.

Game films of the 1952 season, scrapbooks of game reports, and tall tales of accomplishment highlighted the meetings.

Returning for the reunion were Dr. Bill Ploumis, Pittsburgh, Pa., dentist; "Bubber" Simpson, football coach, Fairdale High School, Louisville; Bill Tate, football coach, Westover Road High School, Louisville; Gordon Ware, Owensboro; Will Price, American Air Filtering Company, Louisville; Ed Worley, football coach, Lakeland High School, Ellijay, Ga.; Warren Mahan, Louisville; Marvin Satterly, Louisville; Arnie Oaken, football coach, Madisonville; Walt Apperson, Mayfield; Capt. Max Stevens, Maxwell AFB, Montgomery, Ala.; Gene McFadden, Seneca High School, Louisville; Bobby Hensley, College of Law, U. of Ky.; Buck Sydnor, basketball coach, Hopkinsville; and Jimmie Feix, football coach, Western.

Plans were made for the next reunion at Homecoming in 1967, and for every five years thereafter.

Smith Leads IM Bowlers

After three weeks of action in the men's intramural bowling league, competition is becoming keener for the top positions in the league. The high averages of Ben Carrington of Delta Kappa Nu with 167, Maurice Sipes of the Holly Rollers with 165, and Al Smith of Jefferson County club with 160, are just an example of the closeness of the bowlers.

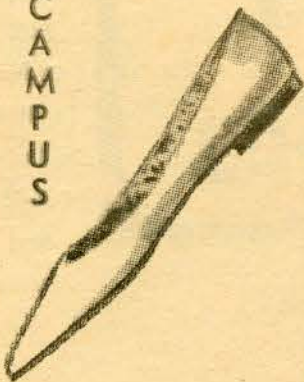

Last Wednesday, October 31, the three highest series were posted by Al Smith with a total of 542; followed closely by Ben Carrington with 535; and Paul Lowe bowled a total of 531 to stay close behind.

The Thoroughbreds will be keyed up for their homecoming duel with the Toppers, and the Toppers will be out to spoil an opponent's homecoming for the second time this year. Tennessee Tech was their first homecoming victory.

The Racers are not a team to be taken lightly, with the Hilltoppers fresh from a 7-0 victory over Morehead, and the Thoroughbreds doing battle on their home field, the contest should prove to be an exciting one.
