ANNUAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Made by H. H. Cherry, General Manager S. N. S. B. O. B. C.

Commencement Exercises Potter's Opera House, May 28, 1900.

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I desire to make a few statements and respectfully request about five minutes of your time. The Southern Normal School and Bowling Green Business College have had quite a rough and varied experience since our last commencement exercises. We have seen without a college building—successfully handled and taught the largest body of students that ever gathered in Bowling Green at any one time. We are convinced since going through the experience of the past year that the Institutions are proof against water and fire. After the fire occurred it was circled all over the country that the schools had suspended, and as a result every one brought letters inquiring into the matter, but notwithstanding this fact our annual enrollment for this year will be about 150 students larger than on last year. The results obtained and the general work done during the past year are highly gratifying to the management and we trust that none of the friends of the schools have cause for disappointment.

I do not want to be accused of dreaming and chasing rainbows in this life, but this school is in its infancy, and it is only a matter of a few more months until the daily attendance will go beyond the one thousand mark. I will at commencement exercises in 1895 that we would some day have five hundred students, and you laughed at me and said that I was a dreamer, but I want to say tonight that we passed the five hundred limit long ago and that we are now in the field for one thousand people.

This is the only time I shall say anything during commencement exercises and I would be guilty of ingratitude if I did not say a word relative to our students. I state, without an attempt at fancy, that this town has never had a nobler, more earnest and serious body of young people in it than the one which has attended this school during the present year. You will pardon me if I should seem extravagant with my language, but I live among the students and know their lives, motives, aspirations and desires. I have also watched the success of hundreds of former students who are holding the highest positions of which is now being constructed. The faithful committees of citizens who have had this matter in hand have met many difficulties in their untried efforts to give Bowling Green another attractive college building. It is only a matter of a few months until the buildings will be completed and the Southern Normal School and Bowling Green Business College will have a new and permanent home, which will not only be a credit to our people, but to the entire South.

I know that the people have confidence in the schools or they would not have given up the delightful, aspiring and yet hard work we are doing for the cause of education and the building at this point schools that have already become a part of the blood, muscle and soul of this city, as well as this country, I will reluctantly stagger away from the sacred grounds of the old college dressed in a ragged suit and without a dollar in my pocket, for if I have a dollar left I will take it out and lay it down on the altar of sacrifice that human hope may be prolonged and the great work of these institutions continued.

Permit me to say just a word relative to our position, yet it is only a part of the work we do. As I have said before a work of this kind can’t be placed upon the almighty dollar. The school has never been run with a view of gaining a bank account. It may be you can sell silken goods, the glittering diamond, and discount the commercial paper at the bank for the money that is in it, but you can’t effectively lead and train the human soul for the amount of laurel you can make out of it.

The School makes no attempt to toy with formalities, ceremonies or rituals. It asks and desires recognition only to the extent it deserves it. It is not a tool of any denomination, party or state. It has and it will continue to advise against the organization of football teams and recommend instead frequent nature excursions into the hills, woods and on the rivers, that the next may commune with God through nature. In the language of Shakespeare we would prefer to have the student “...and tongues in the trees, books..."
in the running brooks and sermons in the storms."

The school does not organize or permit the organization of any club, sect or party that would divide the students into separate units. It would prefer to teach that we are all made out of the same clay and by the same God, and to lead them into humility and to teach no aristocracy except the aristocracy of character. We would have the students understand that no man is better than the principles within him, whether he is a millionaire in his broad understanding of his culture, or an urchin in his nature, and that school is better than the principles it practices and teaches.

The charge is that our school has not been progressive in its methods can never be brought against it. It has always been on the look out for the most modern methods for imparting information, and it has accepted and used the best methods that have been advanced and rejected all trashy educational fakery.

We try to lend our students to see that the commanding genius in every successful career must be some definite aim, some absorbing purpose, some vision of greatness or usefulness that shall marshal the strongest energies of the courage and be as light, heat and gravitation to all men. Speech.

I am opposed to organizing any military spirit, but the spirit of peace."—Jno. Seale.

We thank you and hidden forces of his own being and all who read this send or bring us some—may we ask that it can be done effectively is through the thing for it. Every article is marked with the donor's name; and this feature can be done by any school, and the only way with the beauty of rhetoric and strength of wisdom.

The diplomas were presented by John L. F. Copeland, the teacher of piano, organ and voice in the Southern Normal School. No one went away disappointed. Of course much was expected of Col. Copeland, but he far surpassed our most sanguine expectations. Not one moment of the speech was uninteresting. It abounded in wit and humor, pathos and beauty, wisdom and philosophy, song and story.

The Commencement Exercises Covered a Period of Two Weeks and Closed One of the Brightest and Most Prosperous Years in the History of the Institutions.

The Annual Sorority.

The institutions were so fortunate as to secure this year the Rev. Wm. Lunsford to preach the baccalaureate sermon. He is one of Kentucky's greatest preachers. A lawyer, with a heavy musical voice and perfect e§t'se in wind and loves mankind so much that he never fails to captivate his audiences. As to the B. O. B. C.

The Business College commencement was pronounced and brilliant success. Every number on the program reached high-water mark. The music, under the management of Mrs. John Giles Cooke, the teacher of piano, organ and voice in the Southern Normal School, was chosen to deliver the Annual Address to the graduating class of the Bowling Green Business College. All that was the speeches! He caught his audience at the very outset and held the unqualified attention of all to the end. All the elements of a great speaker were in him. His unspoilt life, his broad and magnificent views, his strong intellect and wide information are all great questions, his long and varied experience in public pol­

This address was just forty-five minutes long but seemed only fifteen or twenty. But few audiences were ever better pleased with an address.

The S. N. S. Commencement.

The commencement exercises were the most successful ever given. An excellent program was carried out to the letter. The graduates completed their course in a most satisfactory manner, and this was an evening when they justly de­erved the laurels. The stage was completely covered with flowers, and it was regarded as a fitting tribute to the worthy class. The citizens of the town, as well as the school, were greatly pleased with the excellence of the entire program. Col. T. J. Smith presided upon this occasion in a most happy manner.

Col. Copeland.

The Business College was at the head of this notice. Many of "the boys and girls" were present from the family board. Prof. T. G. Gardner, Superintendent Warren County Schools, and B. S. of the class of '88 was toast master. The speeches were most excellent. Every­thing went merry as a marriage bell. At the "we small hours of the night," when course after course had been disposed, the association arose and joined in singing "And Lang Syne," and went away feeling that indeed "parting is such sweet sorrow."

Commencement Music.

All the music of the week was arranged by the class of Mrs. John Giles Cooke, the teacher of piano, organ and voice in the Southern Normal School. To those who knew Mrs. Cooke this is all that needs be said to assure the public of the high class of music we enjoyed. Both the vocal and instrumental were again and again mentioned in terms of highest praise.

The Alumni Banquet.

The Alumni Association met in the parlors of the Mammy Hotel, transacted the usual business, received into membership the Scientific Class of 1900, elect­ed, N. Holland to deliver the next ad­dress, and then proceeded to the dining­room to "pay our respects" in the ban­quet. It was a merry party and a joy­ous occasion. Many of "the boys and girls" were present from the family board. Prof. T. G. Gardner, Superintendent Warren County Schools, and B. S. of the class of '88 was toast master. The speeches were most excellent. Everything went merry as a marriage bell. At the "we small hours of the night," when course after course had been disposed, the association arose and joined in singing "And Lang Syne," and went away feeling that indeed "parting is such sweet sorrow."

Department of Music.

One of the most delightful events of commencement week was the graduating exercises of the music department, under the management of Mrs. John Giles Cooke. The hall was crowded and the evening exceedingly warm, but no one grew weary of the program. It was pron­ounced one of the finest ever given in this city.

Our Spirit.

We are indebted to the General Manager for an expression that puts into a nutshell the spirit that pervades both our schools. Old pupils are perhaps familiar with it and it is to be desired that new ones may be no less so. It is this: "The only real artificers is the artificers of character." Think it over. How will it do for a working basis? Is it correct in fact and principle? Do you know of anything more to be desired than character? A classification on any other basis is unnatural, hurtful and wrong, and, therefore, destined to be short lived.

The immortal Page said: "Perhaps the very first question that the honest individual will ask himself, as he proposes to assume the teacher's office, or to enter upon a preparation for it, will be: 'What manner of spirit am I of?'" Next to this should come the question, of what manner of spirit is the school which I am about to enter? This is fully answered in the General Manager's succinct statement. All our students will testify to this fact. Once standing in these schools depends not upon dress nor upon personal condition, nor upon family connection, but upon character alone. If any one without it should enter with us he would soon become too unhappy to remain long.

Are Happy.

We are happy over the results of the Summer Term, just closed. It was in every sense the greatest in the history of the school. It has been made a part of the regular school session. We had never given it the attention this term has had, but having incorporated it into the regular school we propose to spare no work or means to push it to a brilliant success. Indeed, it is already a success. It was perhaps the largest summer school in the South. But it is to be larger yet. Keep your eye on it. Teachers will always attend a school that gives them what they want. They do not go to summer schools for an "outing," but for instruction and help.

The Summer School.

Quite a large number of teachers who had not been in school for years, attended our Summer Term. This is a hopeful sign. Progressive teachers are not satisfied merely to "keep school." Progress and patronage now realize the importance of having up-to-date teachers; they seek those who attended summer schools and otherwise show that they teach not altogether for money.

"The First Doctrines."

Some one has said: "I think the first doctrines with which one season's understanding ought to be those that rule his manners and direct his sense; that teach him to know himself, how to live and how to die. Among the liberal studies let us begin with those that make us free."

This is the very essence of good sense. And yet is it not true that these very things are frequently brushed aside as being secondary to text-book learning. We hold that any school that underlines a human character or blights a life because of unsound teaching or because those great things are subordinated to those of less importance is unworthy the name of school.

That Fence.

"The Peace Fund" continues to grow. Let others send in contributions. The students are preparing to build an iron fence around the new college building that will be a monument to them and a credit to the college.

So great is the demand for our students of the B. G. B. C. that we are actually unable to supply it. And yet some people say positions are hard to get!

Gen. W. F. Perry, who played a conspicuous part in some of the greatest battles of the Civil War, has endeared himself to the students and faculty of the school by his winning interest in them. He delivered two lectures, in the session just closed, on famous battles which he witnessed and in which he took part. He is a man of spotless character and is loved by all who know him. The General always draws large crowds when he speaks, but they never tire of him. They applaud him to the echo. It is a real pleasure to hear him.

In a letter to one of our students a teacher-teacher who was with us in the Spring Term writes: "I thank God for the strong mental, moral and spiritual food that He offered me through my teachers and associates in the Cherry school, and I hope to bear testimony to the fact in my teaching." This is only one out of hundreds of just such expressions. We could fill the Educator with such extracts that have come unbidden from our students. Nothing is more evident than the fact that the spirit of helpfulness pervades the entire school.
