Mr. Clarence Glover

Clarence Glover was born and reared in the section of Horse Cave, Kentucky called Henry Town. From grades one through three he attended what many called the Horse Cave Colored School. Upon integration, he attended the Caverna schools from grade four through high school graduation.

He graduated from Caverna with numerous athletic awards and accomplishments. His senior year of high school he averaged over 19 points and 24 rebounds per game. He was named basketball all-district, all-conference, all-regional, all-state, All-American, and to the Kentucky All-Stars team.

Following his high school graduation, Glover elected to attend college at WKU. He made the Dean's Honor List, was named to Who's Who of Students in American Universities and Colleges, and also was the first recipient of the E. A. Diddle Award (named for WKU's legendary basketball coach).

Clarence Glover played on WKU's only NCAA Final Four team. The team is historically known as the only team in NCAA Division I Final Four history where all five starters were from the same state. That same year the Caverna community held Clarence Glover Day, recognizing him as a Kentucky Colonel, and establishing the Clarence Glover Scholarship. The WKU College Heights Foundation awards the scholarship yearly to a Caverna senior that attends WKU.

Upon graduating from WKU, Clarence was the number one draft selection of the NBA Boston Celtics. After a two-year tenure with the Celtics he earned his Masters Degree from Boston State College and became a high school teacher, coach, athletic director and assistant headmaster in the Boston Public Schools. He was named Massachusetts Coach of the Year. He later coached at Purdue University.

After leaving Purdue he earned his rank I certification through graduate studies at Butler University and IUPUI in Indianapolis. He has held administrative positions in Indiana and Kentucky, including principal in the Jefferson County Public Schools of Louisville, Kentucky.

Clarence Glover serves on numerous boards including the WHAS Crusade for Children, Actors Theatre of Louisville, and the Louisville Public Media Board of Directors. He has been named to multiple athletic halls and all-time teams including the WKU Athletic Hall of Fame, the Barren County Athletic Hall of Fame, and the WKU All-Centennial Team.

His professional accomplishments and honors include co-founding the Frenchburg Academy year-round boarding school, the Alpha Award presented by the U. S. Secretary of Labor for the Frenchburg Academy, the Tiger Woods Foundation Award presented by Tiger Woods for his work with students, and becoming President of the WKU Alumni Association National Board of Directors.

Mr. Glover is married to Bettie Parrish Glover who also is an award winning educator. His children are Edward L. Glover, Adonis J. Glover, Koleta Glover Forcelli, and Robert Whitlock. Grandchildren are Adonis (Little A.D.), Alivia, Theodore (Theo), and Giavanna.

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNERFrancis Scott Key, 1931*

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light
 What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming
 Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight
 O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming
 And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air
 Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there
 Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
 O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

MY OLD KENTUCKY HOMEStephen Foster, 1852*

The sun shines bright in My Old Kentucky Home,
 'Tis summer, the people are gay;
 The corn-top's ripe and the meadow's in the bloom
 While the birds make music all the day.
 The young folks roll on the little cabin floor,
 All merry, all happy and bright;
 By 'n' by hard times comes a knocking at the door,
 Then My Old Kentucky Home, good night!

Weep no more my lady
 Oh weep no more today;
 We will sing one song
 For My Old Kentucky Home
 For My Old Kentucky Home, far away.

WKU Alma Mater

WKU's alma mater, "College Heights," was originally written by 16-year-old schoolgirl Mary Frances Bradley as a poem to be entered in a contest on the campus in 1924.

Miss Bradley combined her poignant words with a beautiful melody composed by her father, Ben J. Bradley, an accomplished songwriter and musician from nearby Franklin, Kentucky.

On March 12, 1925, "College Heights" was first performed at chapel assembly in Van Meter Auditorium by Miss Bradley and our alma mater was born.

The music was subsequently published and then copyrighted by WKU in 1930. On the music is the notation that the song is dedicated to WKU's first president, Dr. Henry Hardin Cherry.

"College Heights"

College Heights, on hilltop fair,
 With beauty all thine own,
 Lovely jewel far more rare
 Than graces any throne!
 College Heights, we hail thee;
 We shall never fail thee
 Falter never, live forever,
 Hail! Hail! Hail!
 College Heights with living soul
 And purpose strong and true,
 Service ever is thy goal
 Thy spirit ever new.
 College Heights, we hail thee;
 We shall never fail thee
 Falter never, live forever,
 Hail! Hail! Hail!
 College Heights thy noble life,
 Shall e'er our pattern be,
 Teaching us through joy and strife
 To love humanity.
 College Heights we hail thee,
 We shall never fail thee,
 Falter never, live forever,
 Hail! Hail! Hail!

History of Western Kentucky University

The roots of Western Kentucky University go back to 1875 with the founding of the privately owned Glasgow Normal School in Glasgow, Kentucky. On March 21, 1906, the Kentucky General Assembly approved legislation to establish two teacher-training institutions, or "normal schools," in the state. A locating commission chose Bowling Green to be the site of one, and the Western Kentucky State Normal School was created.

The new state-supported school took over the building and student body of the privately owned Southern Normal School. The owner of the Southern Normal School, Henry Hardin Cherry, had been actively involved in the campaign to establish teacher training schools and became the first president. Classes began on January 22, 1907.

On February 4, 1911, the school moved to its present site on "the Hill," approximately 125 feet above downtown Bowling Green and formerly the site of The Pleasant J. Potter College. Over the next decade, the curriculum focused on teacher training and certification. Students received practical experience at the Training School, and a model one-room Rural School was opened on campus in 1924. In 1922, the state renamed the institution Western Kentucky State Normal School and Teachers College and authorized it to grant four-year degrees. The first such degrees were awarded in 1924.

The campus expanded in 1927, when it merged with Ogden College, a private young men's school located on the east side of the Hill. The name was shortened to Western Kentucky State Teachers College in 1930, and the following year the Master of Arts degree was first offered. President Cherry died in 1937 and was succeeded by Dr. Paul Garrett.

As the College's mission broadened, its name was shortened in 1948 to Western Kentucky State College. Dr. Garrett died in 1955, and Kelly Thompson became the third president. In the early 1960's, Dr. John D. Minton became the first graduate dean.

Under Thompson, both the curriculum and the campus underwent major reorganization and expansion. In June 1963, the college merged with the Bowling Green College of Commerce, formerly the Bowling Green Business University. Along with the Graduate School, the Bowling Green College of Commerce became a separate college within the administrative structure. In 1965, the Board of Regents approved the formation of three more colleges: the Potter College of Liberal Arts, the College of Education, and the Ogden College of Science and Technology.

On June 16, 1966, Western Kentucky State College became Western Kentucky University

The University's colleges are now:

- College of Education and Behavioral Sciences
- College of Health and Human Services
- Gordon Ford College of Business
- Ogden College of Science and Engineering
- Potter College of Arts & Letters
- University College

Since 1969, Dero G. Downing, John D. Minton, Donald W. Zacharias, Kern Alexander, and Thomas C. Meredith have served as WKU's presidents. Our current president, Gary A. Ransdell, was elected on September 12, 1997.

WKU Glasgow officially opened on February 7, 1988, in the former Liberty Street Elementary School, where it operated until January 2002, when the Glasgow Regional Center on Hilltopper Way welcomed its first classes. The largest of WKU's three regional campuses, WKU Glasgow serves more than 2500 students and employs more than 100 full-time and part-time faculty and staff.

A century of growth has made WKU a respected center of learning where qualified students may receive general and specialized higher education at the undergraduate and graduate level. Today, the university proudly serves the educational needs of 21,048 students from Kentucky, 46 other states, and 61 foreign countries.

History of Western Kentucky University, Glasgow

The story of Western Kentucky University and Glasgow reaches back to the 1800s when the long-held dream of an institution of higher education became a reality for Glasgow and Barren County.

The story began when 19-year old A.W. Mell arrived in Glasgow from Ohio and opened the Glasgow Normal School on February 9, 1875 using educational methods never before seen in southern Kentucky. Mell adopted a new mode of education when he began teaching men and women in the same classroom - a move that met resistance in traditional Victorian mindsets.

Professor Mell and his teaching partner, J. Tom Williams, sought to expand their institution, but when the generous residents of nearby Bowling Green pledged $3,000 in financial support, the duo convinced their faculty and students to follow them to a Warren County hilltop where they opened the Southern Normal School and Business College. As years passed, Barren County faithfully encouraged her youth to continue their education in an effort to develop a better-educated population and expand their horizons.

One such student was Nettie B.C. Depp, a young school teacher from the Eighty-Eight community who was convinced she could be a better teacher by learning progressive methods while earning a degree. Nettie became the first of thousands of Barren County students to complete the course of study and earn a degree in Education. Equipped for success and armed with experience, the young teacher sought to do more by becoming the first woman to seek public office in Barren County in 1913. She won the election and served admirably as the county's Superintendent of Public Instruction some seven years before the passage of the 19th amendment guaranteed women the right to vote.

Over the past 138 years, the Glasgow and Barren County community has produced some of WKU's most outstanding students. They have served the world through a variety of professions and contributions. The middle of the 20th century saw notables such as Russell Dougherty, the Commander of the Strategic Air Command, world-renowned bandleader Billy

WKU Glasgow Tartan Stole

The Glasgow City Tartan stole, worn around the neck at commencement ceremonies in Bowling Green, signifies the graduates' affiliation with WKU's Glasgow Campus.

Most directly connected with Scotland, the origins of tartan can

Vaughn, NBC president Julian Goodman, Governor Louie B. Nunn. Countless others from Barren County emerge from WKU's hallowed halls to make lasting differences that continue to influence our lives.

Later in the 20th century, Glasgow and Barren County's forward-looking leaders recognized the immense value of having higher education opportunities within the local community. The journey took those visionaries through uncharted territories for more than two decades before their dream became a reality in 1988.

Over the past quarter-century, WKU Glasgow has evolved from a modest regional campus with limited course offerings to the vibrant center of learning we proudly offer to the region today. With more than 2,700 students enrolled in over 7,000 courses leading to degrees in more than 33 subjects, WKU Glasgow not only has accomplished great things, it stands at the threshold of an exciting future.

be traced back to the British Isles. For centuries, the tartan has been used to set apart various Scottish clans and families. Indeed, the design is Glasgow tartan and is associated with the Scottish heritage of Glasgow, Kentucky.
