For your enjoyment, a photo station with a WKU backdrop has also been set-up in the commons area so that you may take individual and group photos.

Additional information about degree programs, events, activities, and opportunities to give at WKU Elizabethtown-Fort Knox is available at www.wku.edu/etown-fiknox or by calling 270.706.8870.

Thank you for attending today's event. We look forward to you sharing your photos with us on social media! #WKUEtown

Student Commencement Participants

Mr. Edward Razo is a student at Western Kentucky University Elizabethtown-Fort Knox (WKU-E) in Elizabethtown, Kentucky. A case manager for the Hardin County Drug Court Program, Mr. Razo received his associate of arts (AA) degree from Elizabethtown Community and Technical College (ECTC) and today will be awarded his Bachelor of Science Degree in Social Work (BSW) from Western Kentucky University. Mr. Razo has maintained a 4.0 grade point average throughout his AA and BSW studies. He is also a member of the Phi Alpha Honor Society. After completing his BSW degree, he will take a short break from school before returning to obtain his Master's Degree in Social Work. In the future, Mr. Razo plans to open a substance abuse recovery center in the Elizabethtown area.

Mrs. Sarah Anne Hoyt is originally from Holstein, Nebraska. After graduating from Adams Central High School and receiving an associate of arts degree from McCook Community College, she joined the U.S. Army where she served for four years, including two combat tours. Mrs. Hoyt returned to college when she and her family were living at Fort Benning, Georgia. After a move to Fort Richardson, Alaska, she continued her education. Today, while her husband is stationed in Kentucky, she is proud to finally finish her Bachelor's of Science Degree in Organizational Leadership at WKU Elizabethtown – Fort Knox (WKU-E). In addition to her part-time position with WKU-E at its Fort Knox site, Mrs. Hoyt volunteers her time to the Fort Knox Spouses' and Community Club. She and her husband, Daniel, have two daughters, Isabel and Lillian.

Mr. Preston Fowler is a music student currently studying with Dr. Stephen Mattingly at the University of Louisville where he focuses primarily on studying and teaching the guitar. He looks forward to teaching music, performing, and composing guitar music.

Jacqueline Yunker, a graduating senior at WKU Bowling Green (Fall 2017), recently performed in a production of Puccini's "Suor Angelica" as the main character. She currently studies with Dr. Wayne Pope and hopes to attend graduate school for vocal performance after graduation. Jacqueline resides in Bowling Green, Kentucky, with her husband and their two children.

History of Western Kentucky University

On March 21, 1906, the Kentucky General Assembly approved legislation to establish two teacher-training institutions, or "normal schools," in the state. A locating commission chose Bowling Green to be the site of one, and the Western Kentucky State Normal School was created.

The new state-supported school took over the building and student body of the privately owned Southern Normal School. The owner of the Southern Normal School, Henry Hardin Cherry, had been actively involved in the campaign to establish teacher training schools and became the first president. Classes began on January 22, 1907.

For the next several decades, the curriculum at the college focused on teacher training and certification; in 1922 the state renamed the institution Western Kentucky State Normal School and Teachers College, and in 1930 the name was shortened to Western Kentucky State Teachers College. Today, it is fondly called WKU.

In the 1960's both the curriculum and the campus underwent major reorganization and expansion. In June 1963, the college merged with the Bowling Green College of Commerce, formerly the Bowling Green Business University. Along with the graduate school, the Bowling Green College of Commerce became a separate college within the administrative structure. In 1965, the WKU Board of Regents approved the formation of three more colleges: the Potter College of Liberal Arts, the College of Education, and the Ogden College of Science and Technology.

On June 16, 1966, Western Kentucky State College became Western Kentucky University. The university's six colleges are now:

- College of Education and Behavioral Sciences
- College of Health and Human Services
- Gordon Ford College of Business
- Potter College of Arts and Letters
- Ogden College of Science and Engineering
- University College

In 1964, WKU began offering classes in Elizabethtown. Graduate classes for teachers and school administrators were held evenings and weekends in local high schools, allowing students' completion of master's degrees without driving to other cities. In the 1970s, WKU began offering classes at Elizabethtown Community College and expanded the number of course offerings. In 1976, WKU entered into an agreement with the Army Continuing Education Center to provide classes at Fort Knox, and continues to provide classes there today. In 2002, the Central Regional Postsecondary Education Center opened on the Elizabethtown Community and Technical College (ECTC) Campus, with WKU as a partner school providing programs in the new facility. Today, in addition to offering classes on-site at ECTC & Fort Knox, WKU-E offers classes at Hardin County Schools Early College & Career Center (EC3) as well as online.

Academic Traditions

A time-honored tradition of great dignity, the wearing of academic attire is a survival of the ecclesiastical garb of the late Middle Ages. The academic gown, necessary for a scholar's warmth in unheated stone colleges, and the hood to protect his shaven head, were first adopted in the thirteenth century at the University of Cambridge in England.

Academic costume, oftentimes referred to as academic regalia, came to America in 1754 with the founding of King's College, now Columbia University. Styles became quite varied, as they were in Europe, but in 1895 a group of American college and university representatives met to establish a uniform system of academic apparel for this country. This led to the establishment in 1902 of an "Intercollegiate Code of Academic Costume." The American Council on Education formed a committee in 1932 to review the 1895 code, and it was again reviewed and revised in 1959.

All candidates for degrees and those who hold degrees, including university officials, faculty, and visiting dignitaries, are attired in traditional caps and gowns. Recipients of the bachelor's degree wear black gowns and caps, while recipients of master's, specialist and doctoral degrees wear black gowns and caps with hoods of various colors.

Gowns worn for the bachelor's degree have pointed sleeves; the masters' gowns have long closed sleeves with slits at the elbow for the arms; the gowns worn for the doctoral degree have wide, round, open sleeves. Doctoral gowns are faced with panels of velvet down the front and three bars of velvet across each sleeve.

The mortar board is the headpiece most often worn at American universities for formal occasions. It is appropriately worn with the board flat on the top of the head. Degree candidates wear the tassel falling from the right quarter of the board, while graduates wear the tassel on the left. The tassel may be black or the color of the scholarly field of the degree held, with the short gold tassel reserved for those holding doctoral degrees.

Academic Traditions

It is the hood, which adds meaning and dimension to the academic costume. Changed little since medieval times, the hood is worn falling from the shoulders down the back of the gown in a display of vivid color. The hood is edged in velvet which by its color denotes the academic discipline in which the wearer's degree was earned, and it is lined in two colors of silk which represent the college or university from which the degree was earned. Hence, the Western Kentucky University hood contains one white chevron on a field of bright red and is edged with the appropriate discipline color.

The following is a partial list of colors adopted by the American Council on Education that represents the various academic disciplines:

Agriculture	Maize
Arts, Letters, and Humanities	White

Recognition of Academic Achievement

Undergraduates who graduate with outstanding academic achievement are designated in the program. Determination of a student's honor status is based upon the academic record in existence at the beginning of the semester in which the student will graduate. The final determination of those who actually receive academic recognition is made at the conclusion of the term in which all degree requirements are met.

Degree candidates who are potential honors recipients wear red and white honor cords during the commencement ceremony. Further recognition of those who actually receive honors recognition is indicated on their diplomas and transcripts at the conclusion of the term in which all degree requirements are met.

Cum Laude – This honor is awarded to students who have completed their baccalaureate studies with cumulative overall and cumulative WKU grade point averages of 3.40 – 3.59 and the completion of a minimum of 45 semester hours earned at WKU.

*Magna Cum Laude – This honor is awarded to students who have completed their baccalaureate studies with cumulative overall and cumulative WKU grade point averages of 3.60 – 3.79 and the completion of a minimum of 45 semester hours earned at WKU.

Summa Cum Laude – This honor is awarded to students who have completed their baccalaureate studies with cumulative overall and cumulative WKU grade point averages of 3.80 – 4.00 and the completion of a minimum of 45 semester hours earned at WKU.

A number of today's students are graduating with grade point averages between 3.40 and 4.00. The total number of credit hours these students have earned at WKU in order to complete their degrees is fewer than 45. Therefore, by university policy, these students can not be designated as an honor graduates. We are, nonetheless, extremely proud of their academic achievement!

Graduation Honor Cords

Cords worn by graduates as a part of their graduation regalia signify membership in an organization, special status, or graduation with honors. The colors of some cords that may be worn by some graduates today include, but are not limited to the following:

Black and Gold represents Gamma Beta Phi, an honor society and service organization. Students must have at least a 3.0 grade point average (GPA) and be committed to serving their community through projects.

Gold signifies members of Phi Alpha; these students are committed to academic excellence, service, and upholding the ethical standards of the social work profession.

Red, White, and Blue cords are worn by active duty U.S. military personnel or U.S. military veterans.

Red and White signifies students who are graduating with honors, having earned at least a 3.4 cumulative grade point average (GPA) and having completed at least 45 semester credit hours at WKU.

Alma Mater

WKU's alma mater, College Heights was originally written by 16-year old schoolgirl Mary Frances Bradley as a poem to be entered in a contest on the campus in 1924. Miss Bradley combined her poignant words with a beautiful melody composed by her father, Ben J. Bradley, an accomplished songwriter and musician from nearby Franklin, Kentucky.

On March 12, 1925, College Heights was first performed at chapel assembly in Van Meter Auditorium by Miss Bradley and, thus, an alma mater was born. The music was subsequently published and then copyrighted by WKU in 1930. On the music is the notation that the song is dedicated to WKU's first president, Dr. Henry Hardin Cherry.

College Heights

College Heights, on hilltop fair,
With beauty all thine own,
Lovely jewel far more rare
Than graces any throne!
College Heights, we hail thee;
We shall never fail thee
Falter never, live forever,
Hail! Hail! Hail!

College Heights with living soul
And purpose strong and true,
Service ever is thy goal
Thy spirit ever new,
College Heights, we hail thee;
We shall never fail thee
Falter never, live forever,
Hail! Hail! Hail!

College Heights thy noble life,
Shall e'er our pattern be,
Teaching us through joy and strife
To love humanity.
College Heights we hail thee,
We shall never fail thee,
Falter never, live forever,
Hail! Hail! Hail!
