FALL 1994 WKU-GLASGOW FACULTY AND STAFF NEWSLETTER
Compiled by Loretta Martin Murrey

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Glasgow Campus Director Dr. Wayne Jones invites everyone to the annual WKU-Glasgow Campus Christmas Party Friday, December 16, at noon in the Writing Center. There is no sign-up for the Christmas party--just bring finger food--but if you would like to exchange gifts, let Judy Parker know by Wednesday, November 30.

NEW WITHDRAWAL POLICY

Dr. Jones reminds everyone that Dr. Robert Haynes, Vice-President for Academic Affairs, has instructed the following changes be implemented for students wishing to withdraw from a class after the "W" period (see page 48 of the WKU catalog): The student must supply a written description of the extenuating circumstances using the new yellow form available in the office, accompanied by any relevant documentation to support the appeal; get the signatures of the instructor, department head, and the college dean; and file the approved form with the Office of the Registrar. Poor performance in class is not an extenuating circumstance.

NEW LIBRARIAN

As of December 1, Adolfina "Fina" Simpson will be the Glasgow Campus Librarian. The former supervisor for periodicals and microforms on the main campus has two master's degrees from Western--one in library science and one in education with an emphasis in Spanish. Fina was born in Cuba and enjoys teaching Spanish on the main campus. She and her husband, Maxwell, have lived in Glasgow since 1969, and her mother, Adolfina Vasseur, now lives with them. Fina loves to read, especially history and biographies, and says she is delighted to be here.

EXPANDED LIBRARY

The WKU-Glasgow library has been expanded to two rooms--one reference room and one periodicals room which also doubles as a study area.

LIBRARY ASSISTANT

Kristie Nunn, a resident of Glasgow and a senior library media major on the WKU main campus, is the new WKU library assistant. Kristie will be happy to help students and faculty with their research.

NEW ACADEMIC ADVISOR

We welcome new Academic Advisor Ann Maude to the WKU-Glasgow campus. Ann has a BA with an English major from Morehead University. She has taught Latin for 3 1/2 years in Jefferson County and most recently worked with a federal tutoring program for Hiwassee College in Tennessee. Her husband, David, is the minister of First Presbyterian Church in Glasgow, and her son, Joel, is a WKU senior. She has a daughter who is a sophomore at Hanover College in Indiana and another daughter who is a senior at Glasgow High School. Ann enjoys cross stitching, needlepoint, and hiking.

NAME CHANGE

Academic Advisor/Administrative Assistant Barbara Coffey took a vacation to Florida in May and came back with a new name, Barbara Rutledge, after her marriage to local CPA Joe Rutledge. Interestingly enough, Joe attended first grade at Liberty Street Elementary School which is now room 17 in the wing addition on the WKU-Glasgow campus. Joe was a member of the 1965 graduating class at Glasgow High School, the last class to graduate from the Liberty Street campus. Barbara says to remind English 100 teachers that Kay Gupton will be teaching Developmental English 055 in the spring semester for students with English ACTs below 16 or with very poor writing skills.

OFFICE STAFF

WKU-G Office Work Study Student Heather Wilcoxsin will be leaving after this semester. Her replacement has not yet been announced. Work Study Students Angela Stockton, Cheryl Sneed, and Emily Robertson will be returning to provide assistance to Director Dr. Wayne Jones; Senior Administrative Assistant Judy Parker; and Academic Advisors Barbara Rutledge and Ann Maude.

NEW MAINTENANCE SUPERVISOR

After two years on the main campus, Barren County resident Leon Sewell has transferred to the WKU-Glasgow campus. In his spare time he likes to squirrel hunt and fish. He does volunteer work with Josh's Friends, an organization dedicated to the memory of Leon's son Josh who died suddenly in 1993 at the age of fourteen. The organization's members dedicate their time and talents to helping others in such ways as visiting patients in nursing homes and hospitals, sending cards and letters, holding parties at Christmas and other special occasions, and awarding scholarships. Welcome to the WKU-Glasgow campus, Leon!

NEW I-TV TECHNICIAN

New Interactive TV Technician Shelia Vanbuskirk will be joining facilitators Elizabeth Moore and Jill Bailey in providing interactive TV to WKU-Glasgow students.

SUMMER TRAVELS

Elizabeth Moore and Jill Bailey visited England, Scotland, and Wales in May. They enjoyed Scotland because they had worked with the Scottish Highland Days in the elementary schools for so many years. Jill especially enjoyed visiting Wales because her great grandmother was from Wales.

KTIP TEAM

Elizabeth Moore and Jill Bailey are the WKU representatives on the Kentucky Teacher Internship Program (KTIP) team. They work with intern teachers in Barren, Metcalfe, and Monroe counties.

WKU-GLASGOW DUPLICATE BRIDGE CLUB

The WKU-Glasgow Duplicate Bridge Club has been holding weekly Monday night games in the North Wing (Nursing Wing) here since early June. Elizabeth Moore, an I-TV Elementary Education Facilitator, serves as the club director, and other WKU-Glasgow people who often play include Jill Bailey (another I-TV Elementary Education Facilitator), Dr. William Floyd (psychology professor), and Fred Ganter (bookstore employee). Several posters on various hallway bulletin boards have invited WKU-Glasgow students to play duplicate bridge Monday nights, but no student has thusfar been present. "I guess most young people don't play bridge anymore," suggested Moore, "and our particular kind of bridge really is more suited for experienced players than beginners. Still, we'd love to have any student who cares to play any Monday night." The games begin at 7:00 p..m. Mondays in the North Wing. The cost is $1.00.

NURSING PROMOTION

After three and a half years as a nursing instructor on the WKU-Glasgow campus, Nellie Bell has been promoted to Coordinator of the Associate Degree Program on the WKU-Glasgow Extended Campus. Nellie received her master's degree from Vanderbilt.

NEW NURSING INSTRUCTOR

The new nursing instructor on the Glasgow campus is Carrie Morgan. Carrie is also a nurse practitioner--this means she may see and evaluate patients and write prescriptions. She lives in Oakland, Kentucky, and is a native of east Chicago.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!
