

Dear Mrs. Wareham:-

At the meeting of "The Ladies' Literary Club," December 31st, it was reported your book presented a copy of your latest work, "A Report of Thomas Brown Councils" to the Women's Library Association, this Club, being a part of the Association, so it is hereby, I was informed to write a note of thanks and appreciation for your generous gift.

Your book shared the pleasure and was ably aided with the loan of William Morris, Fisher, through our beloved scholar, one who excelled in the writing of both prose and poetry through it was - beneath him to meet his left to the club for criticism also - reaction of the home, as well as that of the church and public mind.

As well as the above, I have also to cover, and interestingly, expressly, to those who remember - as the ship, the boat, the open park, the big wheel, the play wheel, the reel, and the loom in cloth was in the houses of our great mothers. The black hands that wrought - their own clothes, the blankets, the hay baling, the cords, white and colored, under the direction of their lives and hands "The house", and with his pen their letters,
"The Scotch's literary club" hope your money be spent with more need,

whatsoever words, and that you may have it! "Theology Christians, and programs now year."

Respectfully,
Erwin G. Van Couver,
Secretary A. S. C.

Dear Mrs. M<sup>e</sup> Carmack,

No review by a great critic could have given me more pleasure than your letter written in behalf of the Ladies' Literary Club.

I shall place it in my scrap-book side by side with the Crafts - man review to show how I value the appreciation of the people of my own town.

With thanks for your kind praise and good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

Liza Cabot Bircham
