

the Harpers themselves are very tough and practical.

I would imagine that a book of this type would have little popular appeal.
So I started back that publication asked his own price in the printing. It cost $4.95. The color printing is particularly good.

Still, the salvage from an inferior copy is because the was a pink page in an almost completely pasted commemorative. Apparently she has no power of the sort. I see her. In her youth in a much larger house, the
but with the same intention outside of the same article & to preserve the social thing that is practically blatantly down regardless of health.

1-1
The first time I spoke the sketch, I did not locate the art of style of the writing. When I reached it again, I realized its descriptive simplicity. I stare at that the embrace is more human than artistic.

If anyone of you
remembered Mrs. Nickles Crompton's beautiful flower painting, Emerson's house marked by comparison.
Mrs. Nickles has a very large painting by Mrs. C.
Crompton and the same place
if you should happen to be in her house, take a good look at it.
To me there is a little too much of modern art in Emerson's house. The way the space dealt in surfaces is all wrong to me, but

It is said that she is apparently not a family; Martha is person, that she has to spend all
her time digging away to develop an unfettered
patience.

SC
2708

p. 7 Mr. & Mrs. Max Brunswick Yahr (Sunshine Friedman of Paducah)

p. 8 XV Club

p. 8 Miss Sarah Price (Sodie)

p. 10 Lily Hughes. She was an orphan, she & her sister were reared by Dr. Porter. She married Jim Lucas of New Mexico. They moved to the Southwestern. Her grandfather was Dr. L. C. Porter, 1810-1887. They lived where Foster apt. now stands. Dr. Joseph H. D. McCoskott arranged the marriage, so grandfather would have.

p. 11-12 Miss Sophronia Hergesheimer, who was later called the best portrait painter in South. Dr. H. A. Cherry in Ky. Building E. H. Hines. Miss Mattie McClean. She has girls, Mrs. Fawler Mrs. Corington. Ruth Anne Heddy.

p. 12 Mrs. J. Wells. Miss W. M. Coffey at Potter College. Mrs. Corington. Taught at Potter College. Read in summer house at side of the house. Mrs. Frances Fawler.

p. 14.
p. 14.
p. 14
XX Club

Beta & Miss Jan remember p. 14
15
9 or 10 years older than Jan

~~Browning Club? Founded~~ 1955
60 yrs
1895
Adolph Ocho was owner of N.Y. Times then his daughter married Walter Backe, Harvard graduate (age 33). The family business was Goldmor Backe Co, General Bankers & Investment Co. Miss Bess Dimes chaperoned her one year. They lived at the Plaza, then the most 3 expensive & fashionable hotel in New York. It was customary in those days - for wealthy Jewish families to ~~confer~~ <sup>arrange</sup> suitable marriages for their children, & the Sachs family followed that custom, to some extent evidently, so they could not have spent so much money in creating a wealthy & social background for her.

We lived in N.Y. at that time & it remains in my impression that she lived in a fashionable Jewish school at first, which probably served as a ~~chaperone~~ <sup>task & chaperone</sup> for a little school instructor and the rest of the time ~~scheduled~~ <sup>spent</sup> for the opera, theatre, concerts, art exhibits & sight-seeing of various types - settlements, houses, Wall Street, historical places of interest.

p. 16-18; School of Journalism, Columbia Univ. (2)
Walter Pitkin

p 31 Chinese Mask - We have a study of a mask

We have a very ugly flower painting

Talk - Old days in B. G.

Red Denmark - Jewish family life

Octagles - Murderer's story

The Terrible Dieren - Victoria Woodhull
women's rights.

p 16 This was Dr. Paul Jaeger Sachs, also a Harvard graduate. Partner in Goldman & Sachs Co 1904-1914. Professor of fine arts at Harvard 1919-1948. Exchange Professor to France. Honorary degrees. Author for 30 years

Adolph Aels b. - Cincinnati

Ed. at Knoxville, Tenn. had daughter who was a friend of Emma's.

Numerology.

Study of occult significance of numbers.

1917
1893
24

Walter Edward Sachs - Banker, b. 1884,
m. E. July 10, 1917.

1917
1884
33

Says m. Mary Williams 1939 & has 2 children

1960
1884
age 76 now

But I hear he m. an actress who divorced him in about 2 years.

Her last book was published 1930

Her parents were married Jan. 21, 1892

To me, they do not compare with Mrs. Livingston's flower paintings, or Mrs. Fowlers, either.