It's Cloudy Today

Lately it's been rather cloudy.

It hasn't rained yet

The air hums with the potential

The worms come out

All they find is the sun

Burning in its affection

Their thin skin blistering

To escape the water

They risk the sun

But the water

Was never there

The weather has changed

It's freezing one moment

Sunny the next

You can't dress

For weather you don't know

You can only hazard

That it might rain today

it hasn't

It's just been cloudy.
