Miss Reeder to be Honored

Nancy Daley Reeder retired from school teaching in June and, after 25 years of teaching children the "three Rs" and all the other things they're taught in the second grade, we'd say she deserves a good rest. During the past 25 years Nancy has been supervising teacher of the second grade at the Reeder has been supervising teacher at the Western Training School and many are the children, many of them grown now and with children of their own, who have had their little feet placed firmly on the road to knowledge by her. The greatest tribute a teacher can have is the one paid by the former pupils of her. Nancy has traveled over from her home in Hopkinsville for the occasion... Nancy is driving over from her home in Hopkinsville since retiring and is living with her mother, Mrs. Lucy D. Reeder, who is 100 years old, and her two sisters, Misses Sophie and Lunna Reeder, who operate a tourist home there... Mrs. Reeder, despite her 100 years, was quite active until recently when she fell and suffered a fractured pelvis... Nancy was born in a house which stood where her home is now standing, so you might say she has returned to her birthplace. Nancy, whose family did much to organize the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Hopkinsville, was most active in the Cumberland Church during her 25 years there... her summer work was taken at University of Kentucky... Miss Reeder has returned to her birthplace... Nancy was born in a house which stood where her home is now standing, so you might say she has returned to her birthplace. Participants in the district competition had been selected on the basis of spelling accomplishments in competitions held on individual school levels.

The contest was open to all pupils of third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades at schools in which there is an active Parent-Teacher Association unit affiliated with the Third District organization.

It was announced that Muhlenberg County schools with active PTA units were represented 100 per cent in the competition, the first time this has occurred in a county with more than one PTA organization.
