College of Education and Behavioral Sciences
Proposal to Revise a Certification Policy
(Action Item)

Contact Person: Retta E. Poe, retta.poe@wku.edu, 745-4662

1. Identification of policy: Policy on Expiration of Courses and Programs Leading to Professional Education Certification

2. Current policy:

   - For undergraduate certification-only programs:
     A student who entered WKU as a beginning freshman or transfer student Fall 2005 and thereafter (i.e., iCAP-eligible students) will be allowed seven consecutive years from the student’s catalog term (initial term of entry) to complete teacher certification requirements. The Dean of the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences may grant an extension to this deadline.

   - For undergraduate courses used to satisfy requirements in programs leading to teacher certification:
     Approved courses for programs leading to teacher certification must be aligned with current standards. Some older courses are not aligned with current standards, and thus it may not be appropriate to count them in a student’s program. Generally speaking, professional education and “content” courses used to satisfy program requirements in programs leading to professional education certification should be no more than 10 years old. Decisions about whether older courses may be used will be made on a case-by-case basis by the department head of the student’s major. Students who wish to use courses older than 10 years to satisfy program requirements may be required to demonstrate proficiency related to current course content and learning outcomes.

   - For graduate certification-only programs, endorsement programs, Planned Fifth-Year (Rank II) programs, and Planned Sixth-Year (Rank I) programs:
     Course work for programs leading to certification in professional education must be aligned with current standards. Some older courses are not aligned with current standards, and thus it may not be appropriate to count them in a student’s program. Generally speaking, courses used to satisfy program requirements in programs leading to professional education certification should be no more than 10 years old at the time that the certification program is written. Decisions about whether older courses may be used will be made on a case-by-case basis by the department head of the student’s major. Students may be required to demonstrate proficiency related to current course content if they wish to satisfy program requirements using courses taken more than 10 years prior to when the student’s program of studies is written. All requirements for graduate certification-only, endorsement, Planned Fifth-Year, and Planned Sixth-Year programs must be completed within 10 years from when the program was written. Students may request an extension, which must be approved by the Dean of the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences on recommendation of the department head.

     If the Commonwealth of Kentucky makes changes in certification requirements, students seeking certification may be required to modify their programs of study to meet the new requirements.

3. Proposed policy:

   - For undergraduate certification-only programs:
     A student who entered WKU as a beginning freshman or transfer student Fall 2005 and thereafter (i.e., iCAP-eligible students) will be allowed seven consecutive years from the student’s catalog term (initial term of entry) to complete teacher certification requirements. The Dean of the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences may grant an extension to this deadline.

   - For undergraduate courses used to satisfy requirements in programs leading to teacher certification:
     Consistent with NCATE Standard 1 (Candidate Knowledge, Skills, and Professional Dispositions), approved courses for programs leading to teacher certification must be aligned with current standards. Some older courses may not be aligned with current standards, and thus it may not be appropriate to count them in a student’s program. Generally speaking, professional education and “content” courses used to satisfy program requirements in programs leading to professional education certification should be no more than 10 years old. Decisions about whether older content courses may be used will be made on a case-by-case basis by the department head of the student’s major. For students in programs leading to secondary certification (Grades P-12, 5-12, and 8-12), decisions about whether older pedagogy courses may be used will be made by the Director of the School of Teacher Education, in consultation with content faculty when appropriate. Students who wish to use courses older than 10 years to satisfy program requirements may be required to demonstrate proficiency related to current course content and learning outcomes.

For graduate certification-only programs, endorsement programs, Planned Fifth-Year (Rank II) programs, and Planned Sixth-Year (Rank I) programs:
All requirements for graduate certification-only, endorsement, Planned Fifth-Year, and Planned Sixth-Year programs must be completed within ten years from the date the first course was taken. Students may request an extension, which must be approved by the Dean of the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences on recommendation of the advisor and department head.

4. Rationale for revision: The current policy is ambiguous with respect to the appropriate unit head responsible for approving inclusion of older pedagogy courses when the student is pursuing a major outside of the STE, so the proposed revision is an effort to provide clarity on that point. Evaluation of whether students meet current standards with regard to their content-area knowledge and skills is most appropriately made by faculty in the content area. However, faculty in the School of Teacher Education (STE) should make decisions about the currency of pedagogical knowledge, skills, and dispositions. NCATE Standard 1 states: “Candidates preparing to work in schools as teachers or other school professionals know and demonstrate the content knowledge, pedagogical content knowledge and skills, pedagogical and professional knowledge and skills, and professional dispositions necessary to help all students learn. Assessments indicate that candidates meet professional, state, and institutional standards.” In the supporting explanation accompanying the delineation of the standard in the NCATE manual, it is noted, “Educator licensure standards adopted by most states require that educators demonstrate knowledge, skills, and professional dispositions that enable them to address the needs of all learners. Therefore, candidates preparing to teach or work as other professional educators in P-12 schools are expected to demonstrate the candidate learning proficiencies identified in the unit’s conceptual framework, in the standards of national professional organizations which should be aligned with standards for P-12 students, and in state licensing standards.” To ensure that teacher candidates meet current teacher standards with respect to pedagogy, appropriate evaluation of whether a student’s pedagogical knowledge and skills developed in older courses are nonetheless consistent with current teacher standards should be conducted in the School of Teacher Education.

5. Impact of proposed policy on existing academic or non-academic policies: None anticipated.

6. Proposed date of implementation: The proposed revision will be implemented immediately upon approval by appropriate committees.

Proposal to Create a Temporary Course
(Information Item)

Contact Person: Matthew Shake; matthew.shake@wku.edu; 745-4312

1. Identification of proposed course
   1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: PSY 407G
   1.2 Course title: Psychology of Language
   1.3 Abbreviated course title: Psychology of Language
   1.4 Credit hours: 3
   1.5 Schedule type: L (Lecture)
   1.6 Prerequisites: A research methods course or permission of the instructor.
   1.7 Course description: Overview of scientific study of human language abilities, with primary emphasis on individual psychological mechanisms.

2. Rationale
   2.1 Reason for offering this course on a temporary basis: The course is currently pending review and approval as a permanent addition to the psychology curriculum (to be listed as PSY 407G). In the interim, this proposal serves to offer the course in a timely manner for Fall 2013 registration. Psychology of Language (also known as Psycholinguistics) encompasses several areas that are central to understanding human cognition and behavior; for example, how humans read, speak, and comprehend language. The course emphasizes the importance of scientific methods to better understand individual language abilities, and thus provides a strong addition to the department’s emphasis on psychological science. At the graduate level, this course provides an important addition to the choices available for the department’s masters-level students, particularly those in the Psychological Sciences program. Psycholinguistics is also part of an emergent field of study called cognitive science, which is at the forefront of modern psychological research. Whereas linguistics studies the origin, structure, and use of language, and sociolinguistics examines the relationship between language and social behavior, psycholinguistics uses empirical methods to understand the cognitive and neurological abilities that give rise to an individual’s language capabilities. Finally, Psychology of Language is a common offering at other universities (Stoloff et al., 2010), particularly ones as large (or larger) as WKU.

   2.2 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other academic units: There are no graduate courses at the university that cover the full range of these topics. At the undergraduate level, the English Department offers an Introduction to Linguistics (ENG 104) that emphasizes English language structure and meaning, but the course does not focus on individual psychological mechanisms (e.g., the influence of short-term memory capacity on reading patterns) or scientific research on those mechanisms. ENG 408G (Psycholinguistics & Sociolinguistics) examines sociolinguistics, language development, and psycholinguistics in the context of Second Language Acquisition and Teaching in the department of English (PSY 407G would not fulfill the requirements for the ESL Endorsment, the TESL Graduate Certificate, or the TESL Minor). CD 347, 481 and 486 (Bases of Speech; Speech and Language Development; Language Disorders) examine speech disorders in the context of sociolinguistic and psycholinguistic issues, with a greater focus on treatment and therapies. LTCY 199 (and other Literacy courses) focus on developing reading skills, but do not examine the cognitive and neurological mechanisms underlying the full range of linguistic abilities.

3. Description of proposed course
   3.1 Course content outline:
      - Introduction to Psycholinguistics
         - Basic language processes
         - History of psycholinguistic research
11

• Context of psycholinguistics in psychology history

• Linguistic Principles
  • Basic Grammar Concepts
  • Transformational Grammar
  • Grammatical Theory

• Psychological Mechanisms
  • Working Memory & Long Term Memory
  • Serial vs. Parallel Processing
  • Top Down vs. Bottom Up Processing
  • Automated vs. Controlled Processing
  • Modularity

• Language Perception
  • Speech structure
  • Speech segments vs. continuous speech
  • Written language perception

• Word Comprehension
  • Internal Lexicon (Phonology, Syntax, Morphology, Semantics)
  • Organization of semantic network
  • Lexical access

• Sentence Comprehension & Memory
  • Sentence processing & timing
  • Figurative language
  • Sentence memory

• Discourse Comprehension & Memory
  • Local vs. global discourse structure
  • Cohesion and coherence
  • Discourse memory
  • Schemata

• Language Production
  • Speech errors
  • Formulating and implementing speech plans

• Conversational Dynamics
  • Conversation structure
  • Conversation participants and settings

• Language Acquisition
  • Pre-linguistic communication
  • Early phonology and grammar

• Later Language Acquisition
  • Later morphology and syntactic development
  • Metalinguistic emergence
  • Bilingualism and second-language acquisition

• Language Acquisition Processes
  • Linguistic environment (feral and isolation)
  • Cognitive processes and innate mechanisms

• Biological Underpinnings of Language
  • Brain mechanisms
  • Lateralization of language processes
  • Language evolution

• Language influences on culture and cognition
  • Whorf hypothesis
  • Lexical and grammatical influences on cognition

4. Second offering of a temporary course (if applicable)
   4.1 Reason for offering this course a second time on a temporary basis:
   4.2 Term course was first offered:
   4.3 Enrollment in first offering:

5. Term of Implementation: Fall 2013

4. Rationale for the proposed program changes:
   - There is a slight modification to the listing of courses for the Practicum. In the past, the MAE in Adult Education had been using EDU 590 but we created our own practicum. This had not been reflected in the catalog listing.
   - We have removed ADED 589 (a course that has not been created) from the proposal and put ADED 590 in its place. ADED 589 was to be an internship/practicum for those interested in teaching in the community/technical college realm. However, that would mean an additional course on the books to hire for. Instead, we will have the students conduct those same tasks in ADED 590 – Practicum in Adult Education.
   - Corrected EDLD courses to be properly identified as EDFN
   - Update the GRE and GAP score requirements to reflect recent changes to the GRE.

4. Rationale for the proposed program changes:
- The proposed GRE/GAP and TOEFL admission score changes reflect recent changes to the GRE and TOEFL and are intended to establish cut-offs that are equivalent to the previously-utilized scores from the older versions of the tests. The scholarly writing sample will serve as an assessment for the applicants’ writing ability should they choose to apply without submitting GRE scores. The program advisory committee agreed that the program should be opened up to students from all backgrounds with an interest in Education and Behavioral Sciences, as opposed to only students with an undergraduate background in Education and Behavioral Sciences.
- The addition of EDU 594 Practicum in Education or Behavioral Sciences and EDU 599 Thesis Research and Writing provides new alternatives for students. Previously, EBSS students had to take practicum and thesis courses in other program areas. They will still be able to do this, if appropriate and if approved by their advisors, but now they also have available EDU courses.
- Due to adherence to accreditation standards regarding enrollment capacity, some programs may not be able to accept additional students in to their courses should their enrollment numbers be at capacity for those admitted to the specific programs.

1. Identification of proposed course:

1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: PSY 407G
1.2 Course title: Psychology of Language
1.3 Abbreviated course title: Psychology of Language
1.4 Credit hours and contact hours: 3
1.5 Type of course: L (Lecture)
1.6 Prerequisites: A research methods course or permission of the instructor.
1.7 Course catalog listing: Overview of scientific study of human language abilities, with primary emphasis on individual psychological mechanisms.

2. Rationale:

2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course: Psychology of Language (also known as Psycholinguistics) encompasses several areas that are central to understanding human cognition and behavior, for example, how humans read, speak, and comprehend language. The course emphasizes the importance of scientific methods to better understand individual language abilities, and thus provides a strong addition to the department’s emphasis on psychological science. At the graduate level, this course provides an important addition to the choices available for the department’s masters-level students, particularly those in the Psychological Sciences program. Psycholinguistics is also part of an emergent field of study called cognitive science, which is at the forefront of modern psychological research. Whereas linguistics studies the origin, structure, and use of language, and sociolinguistics examines the relationship between language and social behavior, psycholinguistics uses empirical methods to understand the cognitive and neurological abilities that give rise to an individual’s language capabilities. Finally, Psychology of Language is a common offering at other universities (Stoloff et al., 2010), particularly ones as large (or larger) as WKU.

2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: The course is cross-listed for undergraduate/graduate enrollment; 30/semester at the undergraduate level based on the course’s ability to fulfill part of the Psychology Major.

2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department: There are no graduate-level courses being offered that cover these topics. At the undergraduate level, Psychology of Language is covered very briefly (one chapter or section, typically) in some courses such as Cognitive Psychology (PSY 405), Child Development (PSY 321), and Introductory Psychology (PSY 100). There is no course in the department, however, that addresses the full range of language topics.

2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments: There are no graduate courses at the university that cover the full range of these topics. ENG 408G (Psycholinguistics & Sociolinguistics) examines sociolinguistics, language development, and psycholinguistics in the context of the English major. CD 481 and 486 (Speech and Language Development; Language Disorders) examine speech disorders in the context of sociolinguistic and psycholinguistic issues, with a greater focus on treatment and therapies. Courses in the M.A.E. in Literacy Education program (e.g., LTCY 519 Foundations of Reading Instruction, LTCY 520 Clinical Diagnosis of Reading Variability, LTCY 521 Reading Intervention, LTCY 524 Content Area Literacy, and LTCY 528 Literacy Research Methods & Evaluation) have some content overlap with the proposed course, but the literacy courses are focused on reading assessment as well as the teaching of reading more than the psychological research into the cognitive and neurological mechanisms underlying the full range of linguistic abilities.

2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions: Psychology of Language/Psycholinguistics is a common offering at other universities. A number of WKU’s benchmark institutions offer courses that share some similarities to the course proposed here. For example: Florida Atlantic University has a graduate course in Biopsychology of Language (PSB 6809). University of Northern Iowa offers Memory and Language (PSYCH 5504). Northern Illinois University offers Psychology of Language (PSYC 500).

3. Discussion of proposed course:

3.1 Course objectives: Students will be able to:
- Understand and apply theories of language processing to explain psycholinguistic phenomena
- Understand the application of experimental methods in understanding psycholinguistic phenomena
- Understand basic aspects of psycholinguistics (e.g., semantics, syntax) and their connection to language acquisition, conversation dynamics, language pathologies, and other more advanced topics in psycholinguistics
- Identify and describe the underlying cognitive mechanisms that give rise to linguistic abilities.
- Describe developmental and individual differences or changes in language ability

3.2 Content outline:
- Introduction to Psycholinguistics
  - Basic language processes
  - History of psycholinguistic research
  - Context of psycholinguistics in psychology history
- Linguistic Principles
  - Basic Grammar Concepts
  - Transformational Grammar
  - Grammatical Theory
- Psychological Mechanisms
  - Working Memory & Long Term Memory
  - Serial vs. Parallel Processing
  - Top Down vs. Bottom Up Processing
  - Automated vs. Controlled Processing
  - Modularity
- Language Perception
  - Speech structure
  - Speech segments vs. continuous speech
  - Written language perception
- Word Comprehension
  - Internal Lexicon (Phonology, Syntax, Morphology, Semantics)
  - Organization of semantic network
  - Lexical access
- Sentence Comprehension & Memory
  - Sentence processing & timing
  - Figurative language
  - Sentence memory
- Discourse Comprehension & Memory
  - Local vs. global discourse structure
  - Cohesion and coherence
  - Discourse memory
  - Schemata
- Language Production
  - Speech errors
  - Formulating and implementing speech plans
• Conversational Dynamics
  o Conversation structure
  o Conversation participants and settings
• Language Acquisition
  o Pre-linguistic communication
  o Early phonology and grammar
• Later Language Acquisition
  o Later morphology and syntactic development
  o Metalinguistic emergence
  o Bilingualism and second-language acquisition
• Language Acquisition Processes
  o Linguistic environment (feral and isolation)
  o Cognitive processes and innate mechanisms
• Biological Underpinnings of Language
  o Brain mechanisms
  o Lateralization of language processes
  o Language evolution
• Language influences on culture and cognition
  o Whorf hypothesis
  o Lexical and grammatical influences on cognition

3.3 Student expectations and requirements: Graduate students will be required to write a significant term paper or research proposal. In addition, students will be expected to read assigned text chapters and any supplemental materials. Class attendance and active participation in in-class activities and demonstrations is expected. Student learning will also be assessed through a combination of tests, quizzes, and written reports or assignments.

4. Resources:

4.1 Library resources: Current library resources are sufficient.
4.2 Computer resources: No special computer resources are required.

5. Budget implications:

5.1 Proposed method of staffing: Psychology received a new faculty line as part of a cluster hire in aging, and the new faculty member will assume responsibility for teaching this course. This course will be offered to undergraduate as well but cross-listed with a G section to accommodate interest from graduate students in the Psychology masters programs.
5.2 Special equipment needed: None
5.3 Expendable materials needed: None
5.4 Laboratory materials needed: None

6. Proposed term for implementation: Fall 2013
7. Dates of prior committee approvals:

1. Identification of proposed course:
   1.1 Course prefix and number: KIN 528
   1.2 Course title: Dynamics of Injury Management
   1.3 Abbreviated course title: Injury Management
   1.4 Credit hours: 3
   1.5 Type of course: L
   1.6 Prerequisites: Admission to Athletic Training Concentration or permission of instructor.
   1.7 Course catalog listing: Integrates the knowledge, skills and values that Certified Athletic Trainers must possess to evaluate and treat athletic injuries and refer to appropriate medical personnel.

2. Rationale:
   2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course: This course is needed for the proposed graduate concentration in Athletic Training administered by the Department of Kinesiology, Recreation, and Sport (KRS) and WKU’s Division of Extending Learning and Outreach (DELO).
   2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: 15-20.
   2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department: This course will be restricted to students accepted into the Athletic Training Cohort.
   2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments: This course will have little or no impact on other courses since all students taking the course will be admitted to an online cohort program. No other departments at WKU offer courses in Athletic Training education.
   2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions:
                                                An online athletic training course is not offered at other institutions. University of Kentucky offers an AT 682 “Clinical Seminar in Athletic Training” and AT 680, “Special Topics in Athletic Training”. Indiana State University offers an ATTR 655 “Clinical Experience in Athletic Training”; however those courses are not offered online. This course is “cutting edge” because currently there are no known on-line graduate athletic training courses.

3. Discussion of proposed course:
   3.1 Course objectives:

       Upon satisfactory completion of this course, a student will be able to:

       • Explain advanced evaluation and treatment techniques and procedures.
       • Identify general medical conditions and injuries common in physical activity and athletic competition.
       • Integrate assessment and referral skills to understand the various ancillary services in athletic medicine.
       • Identify the various stakeholders during injury treatment and recovery.
       • Manage/interact with the stakeholders involved in the recovery process.
       • Analyze appropriate basic and advanced modality use for a variety of injuries.
       • Design advanced rehabilitation techniques for timely return to participation.

   3.2 Content outline:
• Introduction
  o Role of the certified athletic trainer in a variety of settings.
  o Scope of practice
  o Prevention, assessment, treatment and rehabilitation

• General Assessment and Evaluation
  o Orthopedic Injury Assessment Principles
  o General Medical Assessment
  o Postural Assessment
  o Neurological Assessment
  o Assessing Range of Motion and Strength Assessment
  o Physical Performance Measurements

• General Medical Conditions
  o Assessment, Diagnosis, and Care of Simple Dermatological Conditions
  o Common Syndromes and Diseases
  o Common Viral and Respiratory Tract Conditions and Disorders
  o Common Cardiovascular and Gastrointestinal Tract Conditions and Disorders
  o Common Genitourinary, Gynecological, and Sexually Related Conditions
  o Disorders and Diseases
  o Sudden Illnesses and Communicable Diseases

• Therapeutic Modalities
  o Therapeutic Modality Foundation
  o Whirlpool
  o Moist Hot Packs
  o Paraffin Bath
  o Cryotherapy
  o Cryokinetics
  o Cryostretch
  o Lymphedema Devices
  o Ultrasound
  o Pulsed Shortwave Diathermy
  o Electrical Stimulation
  o Therapeutic Massage
  o Traction

• Therapeutic Exercise
  o Joint Mobilization
  o Isometric Resistance Exercises
  o Isotonic Strength-Training Devices
  o Daily Adjustable Progressive Resistive Exercise
  o Isokinetic Dynamometers
  o Muscular Endurance
  o Aquatic Therapy
  o Neuromuscular Control and Coordination Exercises
  o Muscular Speed Exercises
  o Cardiorespiratory Endurance
  o Activity-Specific Skills
  o Exercise for the Young and Old

• Psychosocial Interactions
3.3 Student expectations and requirements: This will be an online course comprised of chapter readings, quizzes, special projects, video presentations, exams, and online group discussions.

3.4 Tentative texts and course materials:

4. Resources:
4.1 Library resources: Adequate
4.2 Computer resources: No additional required.

5. Budget implications:
5.1 Proposed method of staffing: This course will be taught by existing KRS faculty and part-time faculty funded by WKU’s Division of Extended Learning and Outreach (DELO). KRS is also hiring 2 new faculty positions in Fall 2013.
5.2 Special equipment needed: Adequate

1. Identification of proposed course:
1.1 Course prefix and number: RSA 546
1.2 Course title: Leadership and Ethics in Sports Health Care
1.3 Abbreviated course title: Leadership, Ethics Sports Hlth
1.4 Credit hours: 3
1.5 Type of course: L
1.6 Prerequisites: Admission to Athletic Training Concentration or permission of instructor.
1.7 Course catalog listing: Provides knowledge and skills related to leadership and ethical behavior and decision making in a variety of athletic training employment settings.

2. Rationale:
2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course: This course is needed for the proposed graduate concentration in Athletic Training administered by the Department of Kinesiology, Recreation, and Sport (KRS) and WKU’s Division of Extending Learning and Outreach (DELO).
2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: 15-20.
2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department: This course will be restricted to students accepted into the Athletic Training Cohort.
2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments: There are no similar courses offered in other departments on campus with content from the Athletic Training perspective. KIN 509 Sport in Multicultural Society focuses on leadership behaviors in exercise science with an emphasis across cultures. LEAD Leadership Ethics focuses on ethical issues facing leaders. IED 704 Leadership and Ethics of Teaching focuses on contemporary perspectives on leadership and ethics of teaching. RSA 546 addresses leadership and ethics that apply in the Athletic Training setting.
2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions: An online sports health care leadership and ethics course is not offered at other institutions with Athletic Training programs. Indiana State University offers ATTR 626 “Administration and Leadership” and the University of Kentucky offers AT 680, “Special Topics in Athletic Training.”

3. Discussion of proposed course:
3.1 Course objectives:
   Upon satisfactory completion of this course, a student will be able to:
   - Identify various leadership theory and styles appropriate in the sport health care setting.
   - Analyze and critique leadership and group dynamics within sport settings.
   - Identify ethical decision making models.
   - Address ethical risks for the athletic trainer in a variety of settings.
   - Evaluate appropriate professional behavior for the athletic trainer within the rapidly changing environments of athletic training services.
   - Consider the ethical risks and legal issues relating to health care laws and individual and team privacy.

3.2 Content outline:
   - Introduction
     - Definition of Leadership
Approaches to Studying Leadership in Health Care
- Sport-Oriented Interactional Approaches to Leadership
- Research on the Multidimensional Model of Sport Leadership
- Four Components of Effective Leadership
- Relationship of Leadership and Ethics

- Feedback, Reinforcement, and Intrinsic Motivation
  - Principles of Reinforcement
  - Approaches to Influencing Behavior
  - Guidelines for Using Positive Reinforcement
  - Guidelines for Using Punishment
  - Behavior Modification in Sport
  - Intrinsic Motivation and Extrinsic Rewards
  - Cognitive Evaluation Theory
  - How Extrinsic Rewards Affect Intrinsic Motivation in Sport
  - Strategies for Increasing Intrinsic Motivation
  - Flow—A Special Case of Intrinsic Motivation

- Group Processes
  - Group and Team Dynamics during Injury
  - Identifying Three Theories of Group Development
  - Understanding Group Structure
  - Creating an Effective Climate for Recovery
  - Relationship between Cohesion, Injury, and Performance

- Developing Sound Professional Ethics
  - Introduction to Ethics and Theory
  - Decision Making in Athletic Health Care
  - Developing Moral Confidence
  - Developing Good Moral Attitudes and Professional Habits
  - Developing Sound Professional Ethics
  - The Good Life
  - Why Prioritize Values?
  - Making and Ranking Value Choices during Injury

- Special Ethical Topics
  - Liability Risks for the Athletic Trainer
  - Legal Considerations in Sport Medicine
  - Decision to Return to Play
  - Referral Considerations
  - Minor and Youth Considerations

3.3 Student expectations and requirements:
This will be an online course comprised of chapter and outside readings, reflection papers, special projects, exams, and online group discussions.

<td>This program is designed to prepare professional Recreation and Sport Administration practitioners for a wide range of occupations. The program offers four concentrations: 1) General, 2) Athletic Administration &amp; Coaching, 3) Facility and Event Management and 4) Sport Media and Branding. The General concentration provides opportunity for study in a specialized area of recreation, knowledge of research procedures, and academic background for students planning to pursue doctoral study. The Athletic Administration and Coaching concentration provides an opportunity for persons interested in Athletic Administration to gain knowledge, research and experience in this dynamic area. The program includes thesis and non-thesis options. Candidates are encouraged to write a thesis.</td>
<td>This program is designed to prepare professional Recreation and Sport Administration practitioners for a wide range of occupations. The program offers five concentrations: 1) General, 2) Athletic Administration and Coaching, 3) Facility and Event Management, 4) Sport Media and Branding, and 5) Athletic Training. The General concentration provides opportunity for study in specialized areas of recreation and sport as students select three elective courses in their area of interest. The Athletic Administration and Coaching concentration provides an opportunity for persons interested in Athletic Administration to gain knowledge, research and experience in this dynamic area. The Facility and Event Management concentration allows for professional development in the rapidly growing discipline of facility and event management. The Sport Media and Branding concentration is designed for students interested in sport media relations, sport branding, digital media production and distribution, and sport sponsorships. The Athletic Training concentration provides the certified and certification eligible athletic training student an opportunity to further develop knowledge and skills related to this vibrant field. The program is appropriate for athletic trainers in all employment settings.</td>

4. Rationale for the proposed program change:

- Updating descriptions about the program concentrations will assist students with selection of appropriate concentration.
- Athletic Training Concentration: Athletic trainers are health care professionals who collaborate with physicians to optimize patient and client activity and participation in athletics, work and life. The practice of athletic training encompasses the prevention, examination and diagnosis, treatment, and rehabilitation of emergent, acute, sub-acute, and chronic neuromusculoskeletal conditions and certain medical conditions in order to minimize subsequent impairments, functional limitations, disability, and societal limitations. Athletic trainers’ work settings can include high schools, colleges, universities, professional sports teams, hospitals, rehabilitation clinics, physicians’ offices, corporate and industrial institutions, the military, and the performing arts. They work with people of all ages and all skill levels, from young children to soldiers and professional athletes. Regardless of their practice setting, athletic trainers practice athletic training (or provide athletic training services) according to their education and state practice act. The Bureau of Labor Statistics' Office of Occupational Statistics and Employment predicts employment of athletic trainers to grow by 30 percent from 2010 to 2020, much faster than the average for all occupations. As people become more aware of sports-related injuries at a young age, demand for athletic trainers is expected to increase, most significantly in schools and youth leagues.

The certified athletic trainer possesses skills and knowledge to treat clients and patients effectively in the variety of employment settings. As employment in the traditional and emerging settings has increased, additional skills and knowledge that are beyond the entry-level athletic trainer have been identified. These skills include, but are not limited to, leadership, communication, research, financial, and sport and business administration. The proposed concentration fuses the existing administration degree with an exciting practitioner concentration. This combination of courses will bridge a gap in the education of certified athletic trainers and make them competitive in a dynamic and diverse job market. To meet this need, WKU’s Department of Kinesiology, Recreation and Sport would like to offer a 12-hour concentration in Athletic Training as a new, related educational area of specialty within the Master of Science in Recreation and Sport Administration. This concentration is supported through courses offered by the Graduate Recreation and Sport Administration and Exercise Science programs and is offered for certified or certified eligible athletic trainers only. According to the National Athletic Trainers’ Association executive committee for Education, interprofessional opportunities and socialization are critical features to the professional education of healthcare providers and are especially relevant in today’s healthcare environment in which no practitioners practice in isolation. Athletic trainers have historically practiced interprofessionally, but that has not been intentionally addressed in professional and post-professional education programs. Opportunities exist for athletic training to become a leader in interprofessional education. By reaching this potential student population online, the concentration will provide a greater opportunity to serve these students globally, both in their understanding of recreation and sport administration and athletic training and in their pursuit of a related career path in a variety of employment settings.

3. Proposed prerequisites/corequisites/special requirements: ECON 202 and ECON 203

4. Rationale for the revision of prerequisites/corequisites/special requirements: This course focuses on the international monetary system, including models of the capital account and exchange rate theory. ECON 380 focuses on the determinants of the direction, volume, terms and gains from international trade. Given the limited amount of overlap in the two courses, it has been decided by those who teach the courses that ECON 380 is not required for the understanding of material presented in ECON 496.

5. Effect on completion of major/minor sequence: This will allow students more options when choosing between courses across semesters. This will also allow graduate students that have not taken ECON 380 the opportunity to take ECON 496G.

Proposal to Create a New Course
(Action Item)

Contact Person: Les Pesterfield, lester.pesterfield@wku.edu, 5-6246

1. Identification of proposed course:
   1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: CHEM 421G
   1.2 Course title: Inorganic Chemistry Laboratory
   1.3 Abbreviated course title: Inorganic Chem Lab
   1.4 Credit hours and contact hours: 1 hr, 3 hr
   1.5 Type of course: B: Laboratory
   1.6 Prerequisites/corequisites: Corequisite CHEM 420G
   1.7 Course catalog listing: A laboratory course emphasizing the synthesis and characterization of inorganic compounds of the main group and transition metals. Laboratory meets once a week for three hours. (Course fee)

2. Rationale:
   2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course:
   Historically the Department has used the special topics laboratory course (CHEM 476) to satisfy the inorganic lab recommendation of the American Chemical Society. This has caused confusion for students since all of the lecture/laboratory sequences in the Chemistry Department are sequentially numbered (e.g. 120/121 and 222/223) except for inorganic lecture/laboratory sequence (CHEM 420 and 476). The proposed laboratory permits the inorganic sequence to be brought in line with the remainder of the departmental sequences. CHEM 476 is the special topics laboratory course in the department corresponding to the special topics lecture course of CHEM 475.
   2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: 3-5 based on enrollment in CHEM 420G.
   2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department: CHEM 421G will provide a laboratory experience to accompany CHEM 420G. The course has traditionally been taught under the CHEM 476 course title. CHEM 476 will retain the special topics designation within the Department.
   2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments:
   2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions: All ACS-certified Chemistry Departments offer either an independent inorganic laboratory or an integrated (inorganic/organic/analytical/physical) laboratory to satisfy the ACS requirements.

3. Discussion of proposed course:
   3.1 Course objectives:
   Chemistry is a laboratory science. Laboratory courses are essential for students to begin to integrate and reinforce concepts presented in lecture. Students will synthesize and characterize a variety of compounds as examples of the fundamental types of bonding in inorganic chemistry: molecular, ionic, polymeric, coordination and metallic. This will allow students to make connections between the theories of bonding and electronic structure presented in lecture and the chemical and physical properties exhibited by compounds.
   3.2 Content outline:
   - Synthesis and characterization of main group compounds including molecular and polymeric materials.
   - Synthesis and characterization of transition metal compounds including alloys and coordination complexes •Syntheses will make use of aqueous, nonaqueous, solid-state and inert atmosphere techniques.
•Characterization will employ IR, UV-vis and NMR instrumentation.

3.3 Student expectations and requirements:
Students will be given a variety of inorganic compounds to synthesize. Students will characterize their products by physical and instrumental methods and write up their results in formal lab reports. Course grades will be determined by the successful synthesis of the assigned compounds and the formal lab reports. Students enrolled in the G-component of the course will be required to complete two additional synthesis/characterization laboratories and to present their results from one of the laboratories as an oral presentation to the class.

3.4 Tentative texts and course materials:

4. Resources:
4.1 Library resources: See attached library resource form and bibliography
4.2 Computer resources: No new additional resources are required.

5. Budget implications:
5.1 Proposed method of staffing: Existing faculty will teach the course.
5.2 Special equipment needed: Already in place from CHEM 476.
5.3 Expendable materials needed: Already in place from CHEM 476.
5.4 Laboratory materials needed: Already in place from CHEM 476.

6. Proposed term for implementation: Spring 2014

7. Dates of prior committee approvals:

- Inorganic Experiments, J. D. Woollins
- The Synthesis and Characterization of Inorganic Compounds, W. L. Jolly
- Advanced Practical Inorganic Chemistry, D. M. Adams and J. B. Raynor
- Practical Inorganic Chemistry, G. Pass and H. Sutcliffe
- Synthesis and Technique in Inorganic Chemistry, R. J. Angelici

Library does not have …
- Microscale Inorganic Chemistry, Z. Szafran, R. M. Pike and M. M. Singh

II. Key journal titles needed/recommended:

Library has access to …
- Inorganic Chemistry
- Journal of Chemical Education
Please submit tentative course proposal to Liaison Librarian before departmental curriculum committee meeting when proposal will be considered. This form will be signed and returned to proponent within three working days.

Degree Requirements—30-33 hours

Thesis Concentration

All candidates are required to complete a minimum of 30 semester hours of graduate work. Students are required to complete 24 semester hours of course work and 6 hours of thesis research. Students who have completed 3 subject courses at the 500-level with a B average may elect to take CHEM 516 as part of the 24-hour course work requirement.

Required -12 hours

Students must complete 4 out of 5 subject area requirements, and at least two of the courses must be at the 500-level:

requirements for this concentration. The Committee must consider factors such as previous research experience of the student, publication record of the student, and the research advisor’s publication record when determining if the student can pursue this concentration. The student and advisor must submit a progress report to the Committee by the end of the second semester. If the committee determines there is insufficient progress towards research and publication, the student will be moved to the normal thesis concentration. A student in the Research Intensive Thesis concentration may also opt to pursue the Thesis option at the end of the first or second semester after consulting with their research advisor.

A student moving to a thesis option within the first or second semester should be able to complete the requirements for the normal thesis option within the normal two year period. A student who wishes to move to the normal option in the second year of graduate study must get permission from the Graduate Committee and will probably require an additional semester of coursework to complete the degree.

- CHEM 531 Advanced Analytical Chemistry
- CHEM 535 Analytical Biochemistry
- CHEM 541 Advanced Organic Chemistry II
- CHEM 550 Advanced Physical Chemistry I
- CHEM 562 Advanced Biochemistry

Required Seminar-2 hours

CHEM 598 Graduate Seminar requirements are to be satisfied according to the current departmental policy.

Thesis-6 hours

CHEM 599 requirements are to be satisfied by preparing a thesis on the project chosen by the student and approved by the members of the student's graduate committee. These are to be prepared in accordance with the specifications established by the Office of Graduate Studies and Research. A thesis grade will be given after the final thesis has been approved by the student's graduate committee and the Department head. Students in the Research Intensive Thesis concentration may opt to use their published papers as chapters in their thesis.

Electives-3 hours

Only one elective course work may be selected from the subject courses or other appropriate chemistry courses approved by the student's graduate committee.

Research Proposal-3 hours

requirements for this concentration. The Committee must consider factors such as previous research experience of the student, publication record of the student, and the research advisor’s publication record when determining if the student can pursue this concentration. The student and advisor must submit a progress report to the Committee by the end of the second semester. If the committee determines there is insufficient progress towards research and publication, the student will be moved to the normal thesis concentration. A student in the Research Intensive Thesis concentration may also opt to pursue the Thesis option at the end of the first or second semester after consulting with their research advisor.

A student moving to a thesis option within the first or second semester should be able to complete the requirements for the normal thesis option within the normal two year period. A student who wishes to move to the normal option in the second year of graduate study must get permission from the Graduate Committee and will probably require an additional semester of coursework to complete the degree.

Required -3 hours

Students must complete one of the following 500-level courses:
- CHEM 520 Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
- CHEM 531 Advanced Analytical Chemistry
- CHEM 535 Analytical Biochemistry
- CHEM 541 Advanced Organic Chemistry II
- CHEM 550 Advanced Physical Chemistry I
- CHEM 562 Advanced Biochemistry

Required Seminar-2 hours

CHEM 598 Graduate Seminar requirements are to be satisfied according to the current departmental policy.

Thesis-6 hours

CHEM 599 requirements are to be satisfied by preparing a thesis on the project chosen by the student and approved by the members of the student's graduate committee. Electives-3 hours

Only one elective course work may be selected from the subject courses or other appropriate chemistry courses approved by the student's graduate committee.

Research Proposal-3 hours
CHEM 588 requires students to prepare a research proposal which must be presented to and approved by the student’s research committee and one member of the Department Graduate Committee.

Practicum Research Experience in Chemistry -10 hours
CHEM 596 requirements are to be satisfied by conducting a research project under the direction of the student’s research advisor. This course provides faculty-mentored research experiences and emphasizes skill based training for students. Bridging the gap between academic study and professional development, this course will help students to develop and enhance problem solving and communication skills. This course emphasizes mastery of advanced technical skills, independent of thesis research.

Scientific Writing in Chemistry-6 hours
CHEM 595 requires students to prepare and submit two manuscripts based on their research to peer-reviewed journals under the guidance of the student’s research committee. At least one paper must be accepted to receive credit and graduate.

4. Rationale for the proposed program change:
Reduce the current credit hour requirement to 30 which includes 3 hours of research tool. This revision is proposed in keeping with the increased emphasis on the research mission of WKU and to be consistent with the programs with other departments in Ogden College.

5. Proposed term for implementation and special provisions (if applicable):
2013 fall

6. Dates of prior committee approvals:
Department of Chemistry 2/11/2013
OCSE Curriculum Committee 2/22/2013

Qualifying GAP Score: 2200 or higher (GRE score multiplied by the undergraduate GPA for a score) and a GRE Analytical Writing score of 3.5 or higher.

Degree Requirements
This program is designed to develop Teacher Leaders who can positively impact student learning in their classrooms and schools. Courses and experiences include Professional Learning Communities in which students interact with other graduate students from various content areas and grade levels to discuss and work on real-world challenges and promising practices they encounter in schools.

An Action Research Project for Teacher Leaders focusing on a classroom, school, or district issue is the capstone for the completion of the program. During the first course in the program, TCHL 500 Foundations of Teacher Leadership, students will complete an assessment process that will be used in determining which TCHL core courses they must take (see Important Note below). All students must either complete TCHL 540, 544, 548, 550, 554, and 558 or pass proficiency evaluations for these courses. TCHL 500, 530, and 560 are required for all students, and there are no proficiency evaluations that may be substituted for these courses.

Important Note: While enrolled in TCHL 500, master's candidates will use several documents, including their KTIP assessments or in-kind examples, dispositions self-surveys, referrals from school personnel, and their respective School Improvement Plan, to develop with their respective program advisors individualized programs of study of 30-34 hours related to Kentucky Teacher Standards and professional goals. Each student's program of study will include some or all of the TCHL courses, at least one content course specific to their initial teaching certification areas, plus additional education-related or content courses.

Program Completion Requirements
A minimum of 18 graduate credit hours in chemistry is required for a major. A minimum of 12 graduate credit hours in chemistry is required for a minor. The remaining credit hours must consist of Teacher Leader (TCHL) courses in the School of Teacher Education. For additional information regarding the secondary education aspects of this degree, consult the School of Teacher Education.

Teacher Option Requirements
Students must complete at least one course in four of the six areas of chemistry offered by the department and at least two of the four courses must be at the 500-level. The courses which may be used to satisfy this requirement are:

- CHEM 435G Analytical Chemistry
  - OR CHEM 531 Advanced Analytical Chemistry
- CHEM 446G Biochemistry
  - OR CHEM 562 Advanced Biochemistry
- CHEM 420G Inorganic Chemistry
  - OR CHEM 520 Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
- CHEM 440G Organic Synthesis
  - OR CHEM 541 Advanced Organic Chemistry
- CHEM 452G Physical Chemistry
  - OR CHEM 550 Advanced Physical Chemistry
- CHEM 446G/447G and CHEM 490G/591

No more than 12 of the required 30 hours of graduate work in chemistry can be at the 400G-level.

Other chemistry courses are as follows:
- CHEM 430G Forensic Chemistry
- CHEM 467G Biochemistry II
- CHEM 450G Physical Chemistry I
- CHEM 475G Advanced Topics in Chemistry
- CHEM 516 Investigations in Chemistry
  (maximum of 3 credit hours)

Additional Requirements for the Teacher Option
1. Each student must complete at least 7 courses in the above lists.
2. All students must complete 3 hours of CHEM 580 (which counts for the research tool and does not count toward the 30-hour requirement), 2 hours of CHEM 598, and 6 hours of CHEM 599 or 596.

4. Rationale for the proposed program change:
   No student enrolled in the program since the College of Education changed their program to the Teacher-Leader model.

5. Proposed term for implementation and special provisions (if applicable):
   2013 fall

</tbody>
</table>
4. Rationale for the proposed program change:
   - Title change from Geographic Information Science to Graduate Geographic Information Science. Inserting “Graduate” in the certificate program title emphasizes that it is a graduate certificate and clearly distinguishes it from our undergraduate certificate program in GIS (# 174). Also, changing “Science” to “Systems” reflects the fact that the program’s focus is on technology.
   - Minor changes in description of certificate.
     - In the second sentence, insert “graduate” before “certificate” to clarify in the description that this is a graduate certificate.
   - In the course list, change GEOG 419G GIS Applications Development to GEOG 419G GIS Programming to reflect the current title of the course.
   - In the course list, GEOS 523 Urban GIS Applications is a 4-credit-hour course.
   - Decrease minimum number of hours from 12 to 10 and decrease number of courses from four to three to avoid duplicating the maximum of 12 hours of graduate certificate course work allowed in any other degree program or certificate.

   1.1 Current course prefix (subject area) and number: SOCL 551
   1.2 Course title: Sociology of the Family
   1.3 Credit hours: 3

2. Rationale for the course reactivation: This class has not been taught for a while because there was no one with expertise in Family who could or who wanted to teach it. I am a new faculty member and Family is my primary area of expertise so I would like to revive the class for our students. As families are the primary agent of socialization and continuously affect people throughout their lives, it is an important class for graduate students in Sociology to have.
