Western's coaching staff got together again this week with Coach Jesse Thomas' bridge pad to figure out the best attack to use against the Morehead Eagles tonight. The Hilltoppers have dropped two games in a row after piling up two victories and two deadlocked tilts and are going all out for a win tonight, according to the board of strategy pictured above plotting headaches for the Eagles.

Tonight's game marks the last time Coach Thomas' charges will appear in the Western Stadium this season.
GREAT MOMENTS IN FOOTBALL

1. Illinois-Michigan game (1924) — In 1923 Michigan and Illinois both had a piece of the Big Ten championship. Partisans claimed the title for both. In 1924 the two teams were undefeated when they met. The cocky Wolverines lined up to kick off. A low liner was booted to Red Grange of Illinois. Picking up blockers the redhead lit out down a sideline. Plunging into the thick, Grange miraculously evaded Michigan tacklers, broke into the clear, outran the desperate safety. He went 95 yards to a touchdown on the opening kick-off. The Galloping Ghost scored twice more in the first quarter, running 67 and 44 yards on line-plays, to crush Michigan's hopes. Final score: Illinois 39, Michigan 14.

2. Minnesota-Nebraska game (1936) — In this game the two midwest titans had played each other to a 0-0 standstill. With 58 seconds to go Nebraska kicked out. The kick was short, landed in the arms of the Gophers' Wilkinson. Thinking quickly, Wilkinson lateralled to Andy Uram on his 23-yard line. Minnesota blockers sprang into action, cut down the Cornhuskers one by one as Uram sped down the field, snatching a last minute victory, 7-0.

3. Duke-Pittsburgh game (1938) — This game was marked by the most outstanding exhibition of kicking ever put on by a college player. Eric Tipton of Duke made his punting a powerful offensive weapon, kicking out seven times between the 10- and 20-yard mark, and seven times between the goal-line and 10-yard mark. The powerful Pitt team was set back on its heels and an intercepted pass on the Pitt forty gave Duke its chance. The Blue Devils failed to make a first down, however. Then Tipton's coffin-corner kick went out on the Pitt 5-yard line. Perdue, Duke right-end, blocked the Panthers' defensive kick-out, fell on the ball for a touchdown: Duke 7, Pitt 0.

4. Rose Bowl Game (1934) — Columbia was a lightly regarded underdog against a Stanford team including Bobby Grayson, "Monk" Moscrop and Keith Topping. With Montgomery starring, the Lions put on a first half drive, went to Stanford's 17. Montgomery wheeled on a tricky spin, handed the ball off to Barabas, continued turning to fake ball to Brominski. Half of the Stanford team went for Montgomery, half for Brominski, as Barabas lazied off nonchalantly, cleared left-end, ran over the goal-line untouched. Columbia fought off a powerful Stanford second half drive, won 7-0, in a stunning upset.

5. Army-Notre Dame game (1929) — Notre Dame, rated a national championship team this year, came a tartar against an underdog Army team, which used only eleven iron men against the Irish reserves. In the game's waning moments, with the score 0-0, Army threatened. Stopped on the line, Cagle of Army dropped back to pass. The aerial was intercepted by Jack Elder, Notre Dame speedster and end, on the 4-yard line and before startled Army men realized it, he was in the clear. Elder ran 90 yards to a touchdown: Notre Dame 7, Army 0.

6. Michigan-Pennsylvania game (1939) — This game was featured by the publicized Harmon-Reagan duel. After a disappointing first half, Harmon of Michigan, early in the third quarter, started out on a wide run to the left. Three Penn tacklers missed clean cracks at him. Finding himself smack up against the sideline Harmon daringly cut back fifteen yards, to his own 20-yard line, in order to outflank Penn on the right side. Almost downed back there Harmon raced down the field as Wolverine interference caught Penn men on cross field blocking. After running what must have been a good two-hundred yards back and forth Harmon scored. Michigan won the game, 19-17.

7. Princeton-Dartmouth game (1938) — A great Dartmouth team of this year featured the running of brilliant Bob MacLeod. MacLeod distinguished himself against Princeton, however, by his spectacular blocking. On one play, a 68 yard off-tackle dash by teammate Hutchinson, MacLeod blocked out the defensive end, picked himself up and dashed down the field to erase the Princeton safety.

8. Michigan-Northwestern (1925) — Lowry, Northwestern captain, displayed unusual resourcefulness in this game. Michigan, featuring the famous Friedman-Oosterbaan (Benny to Benny) pass combination, was a big favorite, but a muddy field nullified the passing threat. Northwestern capitalized on a Michigan fumble early in the game to kick a field goal and lead 3-0. Michigan threatened continually, but could not score. Late in the fourth quarter, pushed back to their goal-line, the Wildcats were forced to kick out. Lowry ordered the kicker to ground the ball behind the goal-line, giving Michigan a safety. According to the rules of the day, Northwestern took the ball on its twenty. The Wildcats stalled through three downs, kicked out safely, won the game 3-2.

Hilltoppers Make Final Appearance Of 1947 Season In Western Stadium Tonight

Western's football team makes its last home appearance of the 1947 season in the Western Stadium tonight against Ellis Johnson's Morehead Eagles. So far the Hilltoppers have racked up two ties, two victories and two defeats.

The Hilltoppers have yet to be defeated on their own field. In their first home game of the season Coach Jesse Thomas' charges fought a strong Arkansas State eleven to a 14-14 tie. The preceding week-end in Evansville the Hilltoppers opened the 1947 season against the Evansville College Purple Aces and wound up in a 0-0 tie.

With the two deadlocked games behind them, the Hilltoppers took the field against the Tennessee Tech Golden Eagles on the night of Oct. 11. The first win of the season was scored as the Hilltoppers stopped the Eagles 15-13 in a vicious game marked by numerous injuries for both teams.

On Oct. 17 before a large Homecoming throng Western continued among the ranks of the undefeated as the Hilltoppers thrashed a big, tough Bradley University eleven 14-7 in their only afternoon game played in Bowling Green this season.

The undefeated record was carried to Louisville the following week-end and put on the line against the undefeated University of Louisville Cardinals. As in all four previous tilts the Hilltoppers took the field as the underdogs and for the first time the pre-game dope caught up with Coach Thomas' charges. The Cardinals still remembered the 29-19 lacing handed them last year and went out to avenge that defeat. The Hilltoppers led at halftime 13-7 and were apparently on their way to another victory. The Cards were not to be denied though as they came storming back to push over two quick touchdowns and dominate the game for the rest of the way.

Still smarting under their first defeat the Hilltoppers hit the road again last week as they traveled to Kalamazoo, Mich. to meet the powerful Western Michigan Broncos. As usual Western was decidedly the underdog and after playing the Broncos to a standstill in the first half were smothered in the last two quarters.

The Broncos outweighed the Hilltoppers both in the line and in the back field. They plowed through for long gains on the ground and were equally potent in the air as a 38-0 score was piled up.

Back in their own Stadium for the first time in three weeks the Hilltoppers will be out to get back in the win column at the expense of the Eagles tonight. Coach Johnson's eleven is the second KIAC opponent the Hilltoppers have met this year, the University of Louisville Cards marking the first engagement against a member of the Kentucky loop.

The two final games of the season will find the Hilltoppers on the road for meetings with two KIAC elevens. Next week Coach Thomas will take his squad to Richmond for a tilt with the Eastern Maroons. On Nov. 22 the Hilltoppers will be in Murray for the final game of the season against the traditional rivals from the Purchase—the Murray Thoroughbreds. Murray handed the Hilltoppers the worst defeat in the history of the rivalry last year in the Western Stadium and Coach Thomas is not likely to let his boys forget that incident when they get ready to tangle with the Thoroughbreds this year.

Western's Hilltoppers and the Morehead Eagles met for the first time on the gridiron in the fall of 1939. The Eagles traveled to Bowling Green for the initial tilt of the series and were stopped by the narrow margin of 2-0 in the Western Stadium.

The following year Coach W. L. "Gander" Terry hit the trail for Morehead with his Hilltoppers and came out of a torrid battle with a 0-0 knotted score.

In 1941 Western maintained the ability to keep the Eagles away from the Hilltopper goal and shut out Morehead 14-0 in the Western Stadium.

Arnold "Winky" Winkenofer took over the coaching duties at Western in 1942, assisted by Jimmy Slato and Tommy Prothro. The Western eleven appeared in Morehead that year and continued their record of never allowing the Eagles to score against them, winning by a 9-0 count.

World War II stopped all football activities at Western in 1943, 1944 and 1945 and the rivalry between the two teachers colleges from opposite ends of Kentucky lay dormant. In 1946 both schools resumed action on the gridiron and a meeting was scheduled in Morehead.

It was a different story from what had held sway before the war. Not only did the Eagles score their first touchdown against the Hilltoppers but they rolled up a larger score than the combined scores registered by Western in the first four meetings. Revenge was sweet as Coach Ellis Johnson's Eagles trampled the Hilltoppers 36-7 on Morehead's home field.

Coach Jesse Thomas was directing the Western eleven and well remembers the lacing his boys took last year. A drubbing handed the Hilltoppers last season by the Tennessee Tech Golden Eagles was avenged when the Western team dropped the Tech boys 13-6 four weeks ago.

Morehead comes to Bowling Green for tonight's game with a record of one victory, five defeats and two ties. The Eagles have been hampered by injuries all season and have not been able to hit their stride as yet.

Ellis Johnson is the head coach at Morehead. He is assisted by Robert Laughlin, who tutors the ends, and Stanley Radjunas, the line coach.

The Hilltoppers were K. I. A. C. champs from 1932 through 1940. They came back to take the crown in 1942 and 1943. Last year with the resumption of tournament play following the war, Coach Diddle's team won again.

In 1934 the Hilltoppers won their first S. I. A. A. crown. From 1936 until 1942, Western reigned supreme in the S. I. A. A. and continued to top the list last year when the tourney was resumed after being discontinued in 1943 because of the war.

In 1936 Western was the Southern Olympic Representative. The Hilltoppers were the southern N. C. A. A. representative in 1939.

In 1942 and 1943 Coach Diddle took his teams to Madison Square Garden for the Sportswriters Invitational Tournament. In 1942 the Hilltoppers lost to West Virginia in the finals and went out in the first round in 1943 when Fordham stopped them.
