COLLECTION NOTE

This collection features information about a Latino dance project that was sponsored by the Kentucky Historical Society. Various styles of Latino dance including the salsa and cha-cha were taught at local schools throughout the state as a method of educating students about other cultures. KHS developed videoconferences for schools to watch before participating in the dances and worksheets to do once the dancing was complete. Four Kentucky communities submitted their student’s work to the project including Meece, Pineville, Winburn, and Rockcastle. Vicky Middleswarth was designated as project manager and was assisted by Jennie Bare Boyd for the duration of the project.
