COLLECTION NOTE

This collection consists of case files of the Warren County (Kentucky) Equity Court for the years 1802-1856. Equity courts (sometimes called chancery courts) heard lawsuits involving wrongs that could not adequately be remedied in a court of law, or cases requiring a broader application of principles of justice than, for example, a simple award of monetary damages.

The bulk of the cases concern debts, estate settlements, and land title disputes, but other matters covered include divorce, dower claims, contractual disputes, and the disposition of property, including slaves. The files typically include such documents as the petition for relief of the plaintiff(s), the answer of the defendant(s), summons to witnesses, depositions, and other evidentiary documents such as bills and receipts, promissory notes, deeds, mortgages, land surveys, and wills. In cases involving estates, the documents often (but not always) name family members and heirs of the deceased.

The files are arranged consecutively by case number rather than in strictly chronological order. The box and folder information below summarizes each case by giving the names of the plaintiff(s) and defendant(s), the case number, a date for the case (which may be approximate, as the litigation may have spanned a number of years), the number of items in the file, and a very brief elaboration of the issue and/or parties involved. The most efficient way to search the list is by using a word processing software "find" function to locate a particular name or subject.

Note: Many of the documents in the files are damaged, in poor condition and/or difficult to read. This may affect the completeness and accuracy of the information, including the spelling of surnames, in the folder listings below. Documents may also be missing from some case files. In other instances (as indicated in the folder listings), the entire case file is missing and only the names of the parties may be known. Oversized items in the files (such as maps or surveys) have been removed and stored separately in Box 63.
