ORGANIZATIONAL HISTORY

The Janice Holt Giles Symposium was held 17 and 18 May 1991 on the campus of Campbellsville College, Campbellsville, Kentucky. Symposium director Clara Metzmeier assembled several noted Kentucky authors and educators to present papers on such topics as feminism in Giles’s novels, a sense of place in her works, and the folklore reflected in her fiction. Janice Holt Giles’s daughter offered reminiscences of her mother and Wade Hall, associate symposium director, presented remarks about her husband Henry Giles. A readers’ theater adaptation of Giles’s short story “Adios Miss Em” was also performed for those in attendance.

COLLECTION NOTE

This collection contains five videocassette recordings of the proceedings of the Janice Holt Giles Symposium, 17 and 18 May 1991. A copy of the program accompanies each videocassette; the contents on the video are marked on the program. Also included is the publication Janice Holt Giles which is based on the papers delivered at the symposium.
