CHAPLAIN ROOS'S ABSTRACTS OF "THE AGE OF FABLE"

The "Age of Fable," a favorite subject with Dr. Roos, historical poet, editor of the "American Journal of Litterature," and member of the English Department of Western State Teachers College, is now being discussed at the third annual meeting of the "American Society of Litterature," held in this city.

"The Age of Fable" is a collection of poems, essays, and discourses on the subject of the "Age of Fable," written by various writers and poets. The collection is available in the library of the College of Western State Teachers.

The meeting of the "American Society of Litterature" was held in the College of Western State Teachers, and was attended by a large number of members of the society, as well as by many of the students of the College.

The meeting was opened by the President of the "American Society of Litterature," who delivered a discourse on the "Age of Fable," and was followed by a discussion of the subject, in which many members of the society took part.

The meeting was adjourned at 4 o'clock, and will be reconvened at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, at which time the meeting will be continued.

The "Age of Fable" will be printed in the "American Journal of Litterature," and will be published in a few days.

W. H. ROOS, Editor.
