HERE FOR MEET
Tom Wallace, Editor of "Louisville Times,"
Speaker
ALEXANDER IS OFFICER
Lieut. Governor J. A. B. Spencer
Speakers Here

The Kentucky Division of the American Fisheries Society held its annual meeting at Bowling Green, on November 13 and 14. Mr. W. C. Alexander, president of the Division, and Mr. H. M. Bower of the Kentucky Chapter of the Society were among the speakers.

Irrigation on the Murray Farm is a topic of interest to many farmers. Mr. Bower, who is an expert on the subject, discussed it at the meeting.

The meeting was held at the Murray Farm, a large tract of land situated on the outskirts of Bowling Green. The farm is equipped with numerous irrigation channels and ditches, and the speaking was done in a field.

Mr. Bower spoke on the importance of irrigation in agriculture and the economic benefits it brings to farmers. He also discussed the methods of irrigation and the different types of irrigation systems that are in use.

The meeting was well attended and many farmers benefited from the information presented by Mr. Bower.

The meeting concluded with a social gathering at the Murray Farm, where refreshments were served. The guests included farmers from the surrounding area and the members of the Kentucky Division of the American Fisheries Society.

The Kentucky Division of the American Fisheries Society continues to promote the welfare of fisheries and wildlife in Kentucky. The society is dedicated to protecting and preserving the natural resources of the state.

SCHOOL NEWS

Editor's Note

Knock! Knock!... Who's there? English? English who?
No, I wasn't looking for a literary snoop. My regular staff has disappeared, or gone on vacation - who knows? So I came to you and knocked on the door, hoping that you might be just in time to save me.

Education

Why is it important for someone who has a job to be literate?

Most people have a job, but very few are literate. Literacy is important for everyone, especially those who work in jobs that require reading and writing. Without literacy, one cannot fully participate in society.
