LAW JOURNAL COMMENT

 Mention Made of Book in Administration of Indians

In the recent issue of the History of the University of Kentucky, there is a lengthy and complimentary article on the history of the school of education. The article was written by Judge Samuel Wilson, of Lexington, Kentucky.

The effects of the policies of the administration of the school of education are clearly described, and the reader is left with the impression that the school is well administered.

Professors Wood's Car Is Stolen

A Chevrolet coach, belonging to Professor Wood, was stolen from his room on the evening of February 15. The car was last seen in the hands of a negro who was driving it.

The car was stolen while the professor was absent from his room, and the negro is believed to have taken it for his own use.

THE NEW BLDGlington

The present High-Bldghting for College Heights is, with a few exceptions, one of the most modern facilities in the physical plant of some of the larger Universities. The new building is in the process of construction on the Hill, and will be ready for occupancy in the fall.

The proposition of obtaining the appropriation for the erection of this building has been before the State Legislature, and is on the ballot at the present session. It is hoped that the members of the Legislature will take seriously into consideration the proper transmitting of the physical body of the school, and will grant the necessary amount of money to construct the building. We need to be grateful for any help that we can get to establish this new Institution.

In Memoriam

Within the last few weeks, death has taken two of its most prominent pillars, College Heights. Mr. T. J. G. Brown and Dr. W. T. Williams.

Mr. Brown was one of the oldest of the Kentucky School of Medicine, and died of one of the most logical causes in the state. General Walker, as he was called, was one of the greatest friends and benefactors of the institution, and had given a lifetime to its promotion.

New Filling System is Installed in Telegraph Office

A new filling system has been put into use in the personal matter office. Mr. William J. Craig of the Western Mail has been engaged in the installation of the new system, and the results have been most satisfactory. The old system has been discarded, and the new one has been put into operation. The old system was unsatisfactory, and the new one is much better.

TIGERS UPSET DOPE

The Hilltoppers of Western Teachers College lost out in the last stage of the State tournament at Lexington last week by succumbing to the Tigers of the Teachers College of the State University of Kentucky. In the final game of the tournament, teachers and students of the Teachers College of the State and the Eastern teachers were upset by the Western team. The scores were 17 to 7 for the Western team.

Westerners had the upper hand in the first three quarters, but the Easterners scored heavily in the last quarter, thus winning the game. High Spots of Chapel

By Joe Lafferty

January 24

Chapel guests were entertained by some unusual and clever attire. Among the various costumes observed, a pair of people dressed as a horse and carriage were especially attractive. Their outfits, complete with a rider dressed as a jockey, was quite eye-catching.

February 1

Many of the senior class members participated in a unique fashion show, which featured a variety of costumes and creative design ideas. The atmosphere was lively and energetic, with a strong sense of camaraderie among the participants.

February 3

Several students showcased their talent in a presentation that combined poetry and music. The performance was well-received, with a high level of audience engagement.

February 5

A group of students presented a talk on the history of fashion, highlighting significant moments and figures in the industry's evolution. The presentation was comprehensive and informative, covering a wide range of topics.
