Nostalgia

(By Harold A. Cure)

2 staves of a piece I wouild go on a summer vacation with my girl friend and my parents. I would go on a trip with her to New York City, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. We would stay in a hotel near Times Square, and see all the sights. Then we would go to the White House and the Library of Congress. After that we would visit the National Zoo and the Smithsonian Institution. Finally, we would travel to the Grand Canyon, and see the beautiful scenery. At night, we would enjoy a romantic dinner at a fine restaurant, and then return to our hotel in good spirits.

The Old and the New

The story of the birth, growth, development, changes in form, and disappearance of a town, is vividly portrayed in the town of Xenia, Ohio, where the town of Xenia Heights is located. Xenia Heights is a suburb of Xenia, and is situated on the outskirts of the town. The town of Xenia Heights was founded in 1857, and was originally called "Xenia Heights." The town was named after the town of Xenia, which was founded in 1803, and is located about 10 miles from Xenia. Xenia Heights was originally a small town, but it grew rapidly in the late 1800s and early 1900s, and became a large town in the 1920s. The town of Xenia Heights is a charming town, with its small streets and historic buildings. The town is known for its historic buildings, and its interesting history. It is a popular destination for tourists, and is a great place to visit.

Philosophy

I don't go to church on Sundays, I go there to listen to a sermon and then go back to my bad habits. I don't believe in religion, I believe in the power of the mind. I think we are all connected and we are all one. I believe in the power of thought and the power of the mind to change the world. I believe in the power of love and the power of compassion to make the world a better place.

Every Man On Western Performs Well As Union Is Hopelessly Defeated
Poland And Brookder Stag

Getting away to a late start in the first quarter, the Hilltoppers of Western Kentucky College, defeated the Union University Bulldogs of Jackson Tenn., 46-0. The first few minutes of the game were a series of fumbles by both teams, but Western won out in the second period, never permitting the other team to score. The Hilltoppers did not play their best game, and before they were half way through the game they had made four touchdowns. The win.

The strength of the Hilltoppers came out all through the game, the usually fast, well-organized offense which had been seen in previous games, enabled the Hilltoppers to win in the third period. They made another big division in the final period and practically, the entire team was a winner.

Carlton, Brookder, and Poland, Western's first three backs, who seem to have become eighth men off of the line back, played with great spirit and accounted for three of Western's touchdowns. The same

D. A. Wilkins, D. H. Armfield and Paul Johnson, went for the extra points and the two aftertempts all failed. Paul Johnson, with the help of Poland, played the two back for the Hilltoppers.

B. J. Poland, Western's leading halfback, who seems to have stepped up to first line, played the most important part of the game, and earned his place in the starting line.

The Hilltoppers' next game comes early in the second quarter when they meet Kentucky Wesleyan College on the same day, no score.
