Murrie optimistic about team’s chances

By LEE GRACE

Somehow it doesn’t seem surprising that Joel Murrie is optimistic. In his first two years as coach, Western has been 86-33 and won the Ohio Valley Conference title two years ago and the Northern Division crown last year.

"Maybe it’s an understatement, but I expect to win," he said. "I think any team’s success lies in wanting to win and knowing how to. I believe we have this."

"We have had a tremendous improvement ever last year due to the summer ball many of the kids participated in," he said. "We’ve also progressed as a team unit, which is more important than an individual unit."

The Hilltoppers, 30-20 last season, return 13 players from last year. Western lost to Austin Peay and Eastern in the OVC playoffs a year ago.

Among the returnees will be three All-OVC selections and a top pitcher.

Left fielder Ralph Antone, third baseman Paul Knuth, center fielder Donnie Thomas and pitcher Cam Walker form the nucleus of a tough lineup.

Joel Murrie, pitcher, also improved the summer ball many of the kids participated in," he said. "We've come a long way with the team unit, which is more important than an individual unit."

Baseball

Team Murrie said will be different from his previous two.

One reason for that difference is the graduation of Mike Williams, last year’s OVC Player of the Year.

During his career, Williams hit .33 home runs, placing him third among college hitters.

But without Williams, Murrie said the Hilltoppers have changed their philosophy.

"We've changed from a power ball club to a scrapping-type club," Murrie said. "We've gone from a one-dimensional ball club to a multidimensional one, which is better."

Last year's team was plagued by lack of depth, but Murrie said that won't happen this year.

"We have several positions with real good depth," he said. "I'd even go as far as to say that we have two starters at some positions.

Second base and right field "are up in the air," Murrie said, but plans for other starting positions have been made.

Dan Menier will catch. Knuth will be at first base and Kevin Birkofe will be at third. Jim Rathburn will be at shortstop. Antone will be in left field and Thomas will be the center fielder.

Either Brian Day or Joe Garafola will be at second when the season opens tomorrow against Tennessee State in Nashville, Tenn., Murrie said.

He said he hasn’t yet decided on the designated hitter.

Coming into a season that will see Western play its toughest schedule in three years — this year’s opponents had a winning percentage of .622 last year — Murrie will rely on what he calls his "four ace starters."

But the cream of the crop has to be Walker, who was named co-captain with Thomas.

Walker won six straight games last year to establish himself as Western’s top pitcher. He will be joined by Dave DeUello, Craig Martin and Greg Haymer in the starting rotation.

In the bullpen will be Kevin Benten, Jim "Hondo" Hess and Doug Mez. Wade Janssen will probably move into the starting rotation later in the season after spending the first few games in the bullpen, Murrie said.

One of the biggest changes to which Western will have to adjust is being switched from the Northern Division to the Southern Division, which includes Austin Peay, Middle Tennessee, Murray and Tennessee Tech.

The move came with the addition of Youngstown to the OVC’s baseball schedule.

Last year we won the (Northern) division fairly easy," Murrie said. "It’s going to be a lot tougher this year and more of a challenge."

"But everything is relative," he said. "You are going to play better if you play tougher competition than if you play weaker competition."

Team in top shape, coach says

By STEVE THOMAS

Western will begin the season with a positive outlook as the team takes to the courts under new head coach Jeff True.

True will be in his first year as a college coach, but he played tennis for four years at Indiana University, winning all-Big 10 honors in 1980 as a top singles player.

"The main thing that I feel I have to offer as a coach is my own experiences as a player," True said.

He hopes to improve last year's 15-11 record and fifth-place finish in the Ohio Valley Conference. "I hope we can move up in the top three in the conference," he said.

"At this point, the only team that can beat us is a team with much better talent. We're going to beat the teams playing on our level because of the excellent condition our players are in."

Men's Tennis

"Our doubles teams are going to be our major strength this year. I doubt we'll win many matches solely on our singles games."

The OVC race is going to be close, True said. "The two top teams to beat are Murray and Austin Peay."

Western opens the season this weekend against Southeast Missouri, Middle Tennessee and North Alabama.

"I don't know much about the other two teams, but I know Middle Tennessee has a very good team," True said. Last year Middle was third in the OVC and defeated Western 5-4 in dual competition.

Louisville junior Ken Putlack holds the top singles and doubles positions.

Senior Tony Thanas of Anderson, Ind., will be playing in the No. 2 position. He and Putlack, the team's co-captains, are the No. 1 doubles team.

The team's No. 3 player will be Andres Thompson, a senior from Vina Del Mar, Chile. He has earned a singles title and several runner-up finishes in OVC competition.

Keith Henton, the only freshman on the team, will be the No. 4 seed. He and Thompson will be the No. 2 doubles team. Henton was all-state at Castle High School in Newburgh, Ind., his senior year.

Other team members are Arthur Anderson, a Hopkinsville senior; Jody Bingham, a Chambersburg, Pa., junior; Danny Darnell, a Bowling Green senior; Hector Huertas, a Norwalk, Conn., junior; and Barry Michaels, a Dayton, Ohio, junior.

"All our players are pretty competitive with each other," True said.

Richards sees team as OVC contender

By LEE GRACE

Last year, Western won three of four tournaments and beat defending Ohio Valley Conference champion Morehead and several of the country's so-called Southern powers.

This year, Coach Jim Richards believes duplicating that record would require a miracle — on the scale of winning the Master's Golf Tournament with a hole-in-one on the final hole.

"I don't see any way with the spring schedule that we can have the sort of record we had in the fall," he said. "We have a very strong team, but 95 percent of the teams on our schedule have greatly larger budgets, five full scholarships and a tremendous weather advantage.

"I don't want to be totally negative," he said. "We have some good players and a fine team, but many of the Southern schools have an advantage starting out."

Still, Western must be considered a prime contender for the OVC title.

Last year, Western lost the OVC title to Morehead by two strokes. This year, Richards believes, his team will capture that title.

"Without a doubt, we have the strongest team, but it's going to be tough," he said. "At least four teams could win the title if we falter."

Those four are Morehead, Eastern, Middle Tennessee and Murray.

Senior Kenny Perry is Western's top player. He was bothered by a crick in his neck last fall that hampered him in the team's two tournaments.

"Perry never got his game back in shape after he got over his crick,” Richards said. "He had some problems that led him to slicing and hooking and all sorts of other problems."

But Perry still had the team's lowest stroke average.

The No. 2 player is Rick Huddelson, who won one tournament and finished second in another after losing a sudden-death playoff.

Other players are Scott Beard, Phillip Hatcher, Mike Nation and Joe Vitalone.

Western will begin play tomorrow at Montgomery, Ala., even though the Toppers haven't been able to practice much this week.

"Our short game isn't there yet because we have gotten out very little because of the weather," he said. "The greens have been wet and the ball just doesn't roll the same as it would when it's dry."

During spring break, the team will compete in three tournaments — one in Montgomery and two in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. There, Richards will learn whether his team has a chance to match last fall's performance.

Smith breaks own records

By MARK MATHIS

Tony Smith has made a significant mark on Western's track record book since he began competing here three years ago.

Smith has come into his own this season, setting — and then breaking — school records in the 60-yard high hurdles.

"Tony has really blossomed this season as a performer and a leader on the team," Coach Curtis Long said. "He made the sacrifices on and off the field to become good."

Smith, a senior architectural drafting major from Norristown, Pa., has two outdoor track seasons left because he didn't compete his freshman year.

He has been involved in athletics for a long time.

He was state champion in the Pennsylvania high school indoor hurdles his senior year, and finished third in the 330 intermediate outdoor hurdles.

That recognition caught former Western track coach Del Hessel's eye. "Coach Hessel was on me the whole time my senior year to come to Western," Smith said.

Smith did, and he has rewritten the 60-yard high hurdles record. In the Toppers' first meet at Middle Tennessee Jan. 23, he broke the record for the first time with a 7.37 clocking. One week later, at the Illinois meet, he broke it again with 7.33.

That has qualified him for the National Collegiate Athletic Association indoor championships in Detroit, later this month.

And Smith broke the 60-yard high hurdles record again Feb. 13 at the Ohio State meet with 7.30.

At last weekend's Ohio Valley Conference indoor championships, he tied that time to win the 60 yard high hurdle title for the third time.

"Tony has always been talented, and this year he tapped the potential that has been there all along," Long said.

"I should at least be able to make it to the NCAA (indoor) finals," Smith said.

He will get to move to outdoor high hurdles March 20 at the Georgia Relays.

Smith has become a team leader this season. "He exerts a positive image on the team, and he's more willing to give of himself this year," Long said.

Smith has become a leader and best player when last year's OVC and the Kentucky state singles' champion Sandy Leslie graduated in December.

Junior Mugs Osgenel will be called on to fill the leadership position. Tinius said. Osgenel and Leslie finished second in the OVC and the Kentucky state doubles competition last year.

Osgenel will play in the No. 1 position, hers is the only place Tinius has made definite.

Juniors Susan Bradley and Laurie Leslie and freshmen Amy Wheeler are competing for second, third and fourth spots.

Fresmen Amy Irby and Yvonne Turner, are in their first semester on the squad, but Tinius said neither is very far behind the rest of the team.

Despite losing her best player, Tinius thinks the Toppers will do better this spring than last year or last fall because of the team balance.

"We're stronger at the bottom," she said, "and we'll get points there where we didn't get them in the fall."

Western was 26-7 in the fall.

"I think we could come in third," she said. "Morehead is just unbelievably strong and Middle is really strong."

Tinius battles shortages of players and practice time

By NICK SHUTT

Western coach Katy Tinius faces a shortage of almost everything as she prepares her team for the spring season.

She's working with a minimum of practice time, players and scholarships.

But the team isn't letting it get them down.

"I think the spirit of the team is very good," Tinius, Western's second-year coach, said. "They work well together, and they get along well with each other."

Women's Tennis

The team practices indoors at Bowling Green during the winter, but costs have limited the limp the Toppers can spend on the courts.

"We're at a disadvantage because we can only practice one day a week while other schools have their own indoor facilities," Tinius said.

The team now has only six players — the minimum needed to compete in a collegiate match, which includes six singles and three doubles matches.

"I'll probably have to get a walk-on or two in case somebody gets injured," Tinius said.

Three girls have already expressed an interest in walking on, Tinius said.

The Toppers lost their team leader and best player when last year's OVC and the Kentucky state singles' champion Sandy Leslie graduated in December.

Junior Mugs Osgenel will be called on to fill the leadership position. Tinius said. Osgenel and Leslie finished second in the OVC and the Kentucky state doubles competition last year.

Coach expects improvement

BY NICK SHUTT

Western enters the spring season under third-year coach Nancy Quarcelino with a mixture of youth and experience on its seven-member roster.

But that mixture didn’t help the team last weekend in Orlando, Fla., during the Peggy Curl Bell Tournament. Western finished 10th in a 12-team field.

But Quarcelino believes that her team will get better.

“We started out early just for the practice,” Quarcelino said. “I wanted to see how we were doing and how much work we needed.”

Last fall, the team won the Indiana State Invitational and finished third in the Ball State Invitational before finishing near the bottom in the final two invitational. One reason for the early success was Susan Mercke.

But Mercke, a Louisville senior, has transferred to the University of

Women’s Golf

Louisville to graduate close to her family.

“We’re going to miss her,” Quarcelino said, “but we’ll make up for her loss.”

And one of the players Quarcelino is counting on to help make up for the loss is freshman Missy Pruitt.

Pruitt turned in an impressive fall season by averaging 81.7, second on the team. The Newburgh, Ind., native recently won the Bubba Conlee Memorial Tournament in Memphis, Tenn., by three strokes, shooting a 120 in the 72-hole tournament.

Melissa Jones, a Marion sophomore, dropped her low-10 average (the average of a player’s lowest 10 rounds during the year) to 83.6 in the 1981 spring season.

Sue Clement, a Henderson junior, was the team’s fourth lowest scorer with an 82.6 average. She had the team’s best low-10 average at 78.3 last year. She finished fourth in the Stale Amateur Tournament last summer.

Cindy Summers, a Bowling Green junior, was the fall’s fifth best scorer at 84.5. She was the team’s best finisher at the Purdue Invitational last year, shooting rounds of 79 and 80.

The team’s sixth lowest shooter was Terri Chadwell, a Somerset sophomore, with a 87.1 average. Chadwell won three all-state titles at Somerset High School.

Elise Meyer, a Prospect junior, finished the fall season as the team’s high scorer with an average of 91.0. Meyer, a transfer from Florida Southern, is in only her second year of college competition and played only two rounds in the fall.

Men could challenge Middle

BY MARK MATHIS

Although Western finished fourth in the Ohio Valley Conference indoor championships last weekend at Murfreesboro, Tenn., it won five out of 17 events, more than any other team at the meet.

“With the performances we had, I’m very optimistic about the outdoor season,” Coach Curtiss Long said. Long’s squad finished third in last year’s outdoor championships.

Larry Smith, who completed a four-year sweep of the indoor shot, is expected to be one of Western’s top performers outdoors.

Tony Dumas, who set an OVC record in the 60-yard high hurdles with his third straight indoor title, will also run in the 100- and 200-yard high hurdles and will lead off the 400-meter relay team.

Three Western performers were unable to compete in the indoor championships because of injuries, but they are expected to be ready for the outdoor season.

Track

Steve Bridges is the Topper’s best long jumper and he will also run in the sprints. Rey McCord is the team’s top triple jumper.

Simon Cahill and Ashley Johnson will run in the distance events. Cahill’s last outing in the indoor 3,000 meter run when he lapped everyone in the field except second-place finisher Chris Bunyan of Murray should give him momentum as the outdoor season begins.

Middle Tennessee will be the favorite to repeat as outdoor champions, but “if we don’t have any injuries, we’ll be right in there,” Long said. “But we can’t afford to lose anyone,” he said.

But if there’s a team that really can’t afford to lose anyone, it’s the women’s track team.

With only 13 women practicing, Long is faced with a real challenge.

Long was left with the women’s team when former coach Cecil Ward quit after the Mason-Dixon Games.

“We really need the numbers,” Long said. If any girls who are willing to work would like to come out, we could use them,” he said.

Although the team lacks depth, it does have some outstanding individual performers.

Yolanda Hughes has long jumped 19 feet and will be one of the few veterans on the squad. Angela Centauri returns in the sprints for Western.

Another standout is intermediate hurdler Vata Allen. “She could really make a mark at the NCAA this season,” Long said.

Western’s distance runners are veteran cross country runners. Kathleen Bevans, Tina Jordon and Shellee Myers are all “quality runners,” according to Long.

The women have no competitors in the field events yet.

Spring intramurals begin

Several intramural sports will be taking advantage of the warmer weather this spring. Probably the most popular of these is softball, which will begin March 15. The final entry date for women's softball is tomorrow and play will start March 22. Co-rec softball will start in April, and faculty-staff softball will begin in June.

Other men's spring programs include free-throw basketball, tennis doubles, billiards, archery, badminton doubles, horsehoe doubles, Frisbee and track and field.

Free throw and doubles tennis begin competition March 30. Final entry date is March 26.

The champion will have the highest free-throw shooting percentage, according to men's activities coordinator Jim Pickens.

The final entry date for billiards is also March 26, but play will not start until March 31.

Archery will begin April 7, and the final day to enter is April 2.

The final date to sign up for badminton doubles, horsehoe doubles and Frisbee is April 9 with competition starting April 13, 14 and 15, respectively.

The final men's event will be track and field April 20 and 21. Final sign-up date is April 16.

Table tennis, free-throw basketball, tennis singles, golf and Frisbee will be offered for women.

Table tennis competition began last night. Free throw begins March 30 and final entry date is March 26. The final date to sign up for tennis singles and golf is April 2. Competition starts April 7.

Frisbee on April 15 is the last women's event. The last day to sign up is April 9.

Co-rec basketball, with teams of two men and three women, begins March 21. Final entry date is March 17.
