Western Kentucky University

Western Kentucky University was established by an act of the Legislature of Kentucky in 1906. Originally created for the sole purpose of training teachers for the elementary and secondary schools of Kentucky, Western has steadily increased the scope of its academic programs to meet the expanding needs of its students.

The University now offers four four-year undergraduate degrees, two two-year undergraduate degrees, and eleven graduate degrees, with course offerings in thirty-five different departments. Western's enrollment has been more than 11,000 students for the past two years. That figure does not include students in the Jones-Jagger Laboratory School or students enrolled in extension classes conducted away from the campus.

Fifteen years ago the University's physical plant consisted of twenty major buildings on a campus of 128 acres, with a total value of $10,000,000. The campus now is composed of 182 acres containing more than 60 buildings with a total value of more than $41,000,000.

The Raymond Cravens Graduate Center and Library and the Poe-Ford Tower (a 27-story men's dormitory) went into use for the first time last year. The Ivan Wilson Center for Fine Arts is being completed on the site of the former football stadium.

Plans are well underway for a commercially-developed area of married student housing and an environmental sciences building.

Western's campus is recognized as one of the most beautiful in the nation and is crowned by a commanding hill from which Hilltopper athletic teams derive their nickname. It affords a view of the University from almost any approach to the city of Bowling Green, a community of approximately 36,000 people.

The Electric Plant Board of Western Kentucky University was established by an act of the legislature in 1890. It was then recognized as one of the first municipally-owned power companies in the nation and is crowned by a commanding hill from which Hilltopper athletic teams derive their nickname. It affords a view of the University from almost any approach to the city of Bowling Green, a community of approximately 36,000 people.

We are grateful for your presence because it demonstrates your interest in Western Kentucky University. The students, faculty, and staff are genuinely proud of the University and are attempting to make it better and stronger each year. We recognize the great heritage that is ours, and we will constantly seek to protect and preserve the ideals on which Western was founded — "To be a free school and to impart to its students a burning zeal to do and to be something; to kee the reputation of the school be sustained by real merit; and to lead the student to understand that a broad and liberal education is essential to the highest degree of success in any endeavor of life . . . ." Stated by Western's first president, Dr. H. H. Cherry, these ideals continue to be a sustaining force in the life of Western.

Western Kentucky University takes pleasure in serving as host to many conferences, meetings, and activities that provide us with pleasant association and friendly fellowship with alumni, friends, and interested patrons of the University. Among these activities are the outstanding athletic events scheduled during the year, and it is to you who are attending the home basketball games during this 1972-73 season that I extend a cordial welcome to the Western campus.

On behalf of the departments and program areas that make up the seven colleges of the University and of all the individuals who are associated with Western as a part of the University community, I extend best wishes and invite you to return to the campus on frequent occasions. We invite you to call upon us whenever Western can be of help to you.

JOHN OLDHAM
The Player
The Coach
The Athletic Director

Johnny Oldham became Western Kentucky University's director of athletics in 1971 after seven years of leading the Hilltoppers to some of their finest hours in sports as head basketball coach. He paced Western's basketballers to four regular season Ohio Valley Conference championships, four holiday tournament titles, five trips to national post-season tournaments, and an overall record of 146 wins against only 41 losses.

He climaxed his coaching stint at Western by guiding the Hilltoppers to a 24-6 record and a third-place finish in the NCAA Tournament finals at Houston. He was named the OVC's "Coach of the Year" for the fourth time and won the same honor for NCAA District 8, both by vote of his fellow coaches.

A Hilltopper basketball All-American in 1949, Oldham played two years of professional basketball with the Ft. Wayne Pistons of the NBA, then coached at Western's College High School before going to Tennessee Tech as head coach in 1953. He led the Eagles to at least a share of the OVC title three times, winning 118 and losing 83, giving him a career coaching total of 294 victories against just 124 losses, one of the finest records in the nation.

Head Coach JIM RICHARDS

The 1972-73 season will be Jim Richard's second as head coach of the Hilltoppers. He succeeded current Western Athletic Director John Oldham in 1971 after three years as an assistant coach. He immediately, in the 1971-72 season, led Western to a tie for the Ohio Valley Conference title and a 15-11 record.

He and Oldham now share a distinction held by no other coach in the history of the OVC, since they are the only coaches to win a share of the league title in their first years as head coaches. Oldham won his first OVC crown at Tennessee Tech in 1955-56, nine years before coming to Western.

Richards' leadership of the Hilltoppers is another chapter in a continuing success story. His career as a student was no real indication of the phenomenal success he would later enjoy as a coach. He was a solid reserve player, but never a starter, at Adair County High before graduating in 1954.

As a student at Western, he was a baseball player who attracted several professional offers and kept statistics for the last E. W. Diddle's basketball team. After his junior year, he changed his mind about becoming a dentist and set his sights on a coaching career.

The 30-year-old Richards joined the Western coaching staff following a high school coaching career that could be termed nothing less than brilliant. It began at Auburn (Ky.) High School in 1959, where his team won 66 games against 30 losses over three seasons. From Auburn he went to Glasgow (Ky.) High, where the Scotties' five-year record was 122-27, a winning percentage of .819.

His high school coaching stint was dismissed in March, 1960, when he led Glasgow to the Kentucky State championship and a 32-2 record. Shortly afterward he was voted the state's "Coach of the Year" award by his fellow coaches across the Commonwealth. He joined the Western staff only a few months later.

Richards' teams have always been associated with an aggressive, pressing type of defense and a running style of offense. His basic basketball philosophy revolves around his defense.

"Whatever the sport, you like to build a strong defense first," he declares. "But there's more to the game than that. I believe that you have to be aggressive and active on defense—even more so than on offense.

"I also believe that if you have a lot of movement in your defense, you are likely to get a lot of movement, which is a basic necessity, in your offense. If you get lax or static on one end of the floor, you'll probably get the same way at the other end."

Richards and his wife, Annette, who was a cheerleader at Adair County High when he was playing there, have two children, Steve, 9, and Ann, 7.

His relaxation most often takes the form of a fast game of Hearts with friends or a round of golf.

Assistant Coach BENNY DEES

While this is only Benny Dees' second season at Western Kentucky and in the Ohio Valley Conference, he may well be the most experienced assistant coach in the league. He has been a head coach at both the junior college and four-year college levels.

He coached three seasons (1967-70) at Virginia Commonwealth University, where his teams had a combined record of 40 wins against 33 losses while annually playing one of the toughest College Division schedules in the nation. His .80-70 team there, for example, played nine University Division opponents, including Western Kentucky.

Before moving to VCU, he coached for five seasons at Abraham Baldwin Junior College, where his teams won 102 games and lost only 36. His 1966-67 team went 25-1 and ranked 16th in the nation.

Dees played for two years at Brester Parker Junior College, Mt. Vernon, Ga., then was an All-Skyline Conference performer for two seasons at the University of Wisconsin.

Benny and his wife, Marie, have one daughter, Penny, a 2-year-old.

Assistant Coach RALPH BAKER

Ralph Baker joined the Hilltopper staff in 1971 after three years in the high school ranks and one season as an assistant coach at Jacksonville (Ala.) State. The 29-year-old native of Whitesville City, Kentucky, played at Western from 1961 through 1965 after a brilliant high school career at Wayne County High, Monticello, Ky.

A valuable sixth man on Hilltopper squads his sophomore and junior campaigns, Baker broke into the starting lineup and was named team captain as a senior, helping lead the 'Toppers to a berth in the National Invitation Tournament.

After serving as a graduate assistant under Coach John Oldham in 1966, Ralph took his first full-time coaching job as an assistant at Luray County (Ky.) High. A year later he moved to Smiths Grove, Ky., just outside Bowling Green, as head coach at North Warren High, leading his team to a 26-3 record. In two seasons there his teams put together a 44-12 record before he moved to Jacksonville State.

Baker, a bachelor, will be handling the Hilltopper junior varsity team, as well as scouting and recruiting duties.

HILLTOPPERS' WINNING WAYS SPAN THREE PLAYING SITES

All three of the buildings in which Western’s basketball teams have performed have been steeped with tradition. The Hilltoppers’ present home, E. A. Diddle Arena (picture on page 23), is one of the finest facilities of its kind – a utilitarian structure that provides the ultimate of ease and pleasure in viewing high-time collegiate basketball. It has been a most successful haven for Hilltoppers teams, which won 95 games and lost only 13 during the first nine seasons after it was opened in December, 1963.

The first home of the Hilltoppers was the original 250-seat “Red Barn” (above) in which Western basketball teams played until 1931. In 11 seasons played there, the Toppers won 50 home games and lost 26.

In the former Physical Education Building, pictured at left, Western enjoyed many of its greatest seasons under the late Coach E. A. Diddle. During 33 seasons in this structure which seated 4,500 fans, the Hilltoppers won 336 games and lost only 38. All told, in its entire 53-year basketball history, Western has a home-court record of 481 wins, 77 losses.

Western Kentucky and its opponent in tonight's game, Texas Tech Red Raiders, have probably been drilled on the same thing in this week's practice...DEFENSE. Western's Hilltoppers have been working hard to put together a defense capable of stopping the Tech offensive game, just as Tech has been striving to find a plan to halt the Western fast break which scored 131 in its first win Monday night.

Although Western allowed Old Dominion 106 points, Coach Richards believes his defense to be a little better than it might seem. "Both teams are quite fast break oriented and have been for years... and both teams did an almost fantastic job of getting the ball off the boards and running with it," Richards commented.

Tonight is the season opener for Tech with four of its five starters having faced the Toppers in last season's opener, which tech won 95-87.

Tech will have a small height average at slightly less than 6-6, to Western's barely above 6-4. In last year's game Ron Richardson, 6-10 1/2 senior, forward, got 17 points and 15 rebounds and 6-3 junior, guard Richard Little pumped in 19 points. Guard Don Moore, 6-3 got 4 points and 6-4 forward Ed Wakefield got 9 points, both playing in a reserve roll.

Tech's fifth starter will probably be 6-9, freshman center Rich Bullock.

Western showed it had strong reserve power Monday night with sophomore, forward Mike Larson coming off the bench and leading the Toppers in rebounds with 12.

Also coming off the bench was 6-6 sophomore forward Kent Allison, who led the Western team in points with 18. Allison, coming out of a bout with Mononucleosis, might break into tonight's starting line-up.

After scoring 26 points in the junior varsity game, freshman Johnny Britt came in as a reserve in the varsity game, scored 15 points and brought down five rebounds.

Junior Tony Stroud got 17 points, senior Chuck Witt dropped in 14, senior Granville Bunton had 12, senior Ray Kleykamp 8, and sophomore Bobby Caylor 6 to round out the Monday night scoring for the starters.

Tech is the first of three opponents to come to Diddle Arena this weekend. Western will play Stetson Saturday and West Georgia Monday night, with both games scheduled to begin at 7:30 CST.

RED TOWEL COUNTRY

Western Kentucky University’s red towel tradition originated with the late E.A. Diddle—former Hilltopper coach, one of basketball’s revered legends, and a member of both the Naismith and Helms Athletic Foundation Halls of Fame.

Through 1,062 Hilltopper basketball games—759 of them victories, the fourth highest total ever for a coach—Diddle clutched a red towel in his hands. He kept it stored in a desk drawer for years as he guided his teams to 32 championships in 10 different conferences, and he developed 32 All-Americans and 16 professional players, as he took his teams to 11 national post-season tournaments (eight times to the NIT and three times to the NCAA), and as he led Western to 18 seasons in which it won 20 or more games.

He chewed on it, threw it in exultation, cried on it during the rare moments when things didn’t go right, waved it as fans and used it to signal to his players.

The red towel became synonymous with Ed Diddle and Western’s winning athletic tradition. For years it has been tradition for fans at every Hilltoppers sporting event to wave red towels as they cheer for the “Big Red.” When a Western team goes over to the road, fans fly red towels from their automobiles as they make their way to the site of the game. No real Hilltopper fan would be caught without his red towel!

Coach Diddle passed away in 1970 at the age of 74, but his memory will live on long as the Hilltoppers compete in collegiate athletics.

The Home of the Hilltoppers

Academic-Athletic Building #1
-E. A. Diddle Arena-
Western Kentucky University's Academic-Athletic Building #1 — E. A. Diddle Arena was officially dedicated on December 7, 1963. One of the most modern and efficient facilities of its kind in any college campus in the nation, it was the first step in a new era of athletic facilities for the University.

Since its completion, Western has also built new physical accommodations for almost every other intercollegiate sport. Thus the University's basketball arena has become a segment of a comprehensive Athletic Complex that also includes the new Academic-Athletic Building #2 — L. T. Smith Stadium, which has 19,250 seats for football and an all-weather track; a lighted field for varsity football practice, physical education activities and intramural sports; a battery of lighted tennis courts; and a varsity baseball diamond.

Both of the Academic-Athletic Buildings also contain classrooms and activity areas for the Department of Physical Education and Recreation. Academic-Athletic Building #1 contains an Olympic-sized swimming pool, an auxiliary gymnasium, numerous offices and dormitory rooms, and 20 classrooms that provide for the needs of the departments of Military Science and Foreign Languages as well as those of the Department of Physical Education.

The Arena, named for the late coach who so successfully and colorfully headed the Hilltoppers' basketball fortunes for forty-two seasons, has a seating capacity of 11,568.

The utility and versatility of the Arena has been amply demonstrated. It has hosted the NCAA Tournament's Mid-East Regional first-round games, as well as the district and regional tournaments of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association, which have played to capacity crowds. It has also been the site of numerous concerts and other types of programs, including Western's annual spring graduation exercises.
Hilltopper basketball, a golden era of Western Kentucky University's proud heritage, reached one of its highest plateaus in 1971.

The third-place finish in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament marked the foremost that any Western team had progressed in NCAA Tournament play.

Under the late Edgar Allen Diddle's leadership in 1982, the Western basketball team opened the initial season of 42 that Diddle would coach before retiring. It was an auspicious—and prophetic—beginning, as his first quintet opened the season with the most lop-sided victory in the school's basketball history, a 107-42 triumph. It was a fitting start for a coach that would later become world renown for his waving of a red towel, a winning tradition and malaprop, better known as "Diddle-isms."

Diddle became one of the game's most successful coaches of all time before retiring in 1985. He became the wizard of basketball for Western and a hero to Bowling Green.

His words had a way of coming out considerably different than he intended, but quite often with an increased emphasis on the point he wanted to make.

For instance, he was once being interviewed on the radio and became somewhat frustrated when he realized his meaning wasn't getting through to the interviewer. He said, "If you can't understand it, it's due to a lack of ignorance on your part."

And once before a group of varsity and freshman players, he commanded them to, "Line up alphabetically, according to height."

In short, Diddle used 759 victories, a red towel, and a collection of tongue twisters to advertise Western to a nation.

Hilltopper basketball originally began in 1934, when the Hilltoppers defeated Notre Dame College, 36-21, with J. L. Arthur as coach. Because of World War II, Western dropped basketball from 1943 until the 1951-52 season, when L. T. Smith coached the Hilltoppers.

Then Diddle took over and, following 149 victories in the original "Little Red Barn," (picture on page 33) the Hilltoppers moved into the Physical Education Building, now the Margie Hile Library, where they were to win 236 of 374 home games over 32 seasons.

Western basketball has enjoyed for many many years, one of the game's most successful coaches in the nation. Diddle was a legend in his own lifetime.

Diddle became the trademark of a man who was a legend in his own lifetime.

During the 1953-54 season, Diddle's Hilltoppers posted the first of 10 seasons with 20 or more victories. It was, in fact, the first of ten straight 20-win years. Western's best-ever record came in 1962-63 when the team powered its way to 30 wins against only three losses.

Under Diddle's guidance, Western won 13 Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Championships and eight Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association titles. Western became a charter member of the Ohio Valley Conference in 1988. Under Diddle the Hilltoppers won ten regular season OVC crowns and four league tournaments.

John Oldham, an All-American player under Diddle, took over the coaching reins in 1964 and promptly guided the Hilltoppers to their ninth appearance in the National Invitation Tournament.

Before assuming duties as athletic director at Western two years ago, Oldham had taken Western to it's greatest heights. Twice that season his team knocked off Jacksonville, a team everyone had figured to be one of the nation's best. His Hilltoppers dropped a two-point decision to South Carolina in the finals of the prestigious New York Holiday Festival Tournament. They won the NCAA Mid-East Regional Tournament in Athens, Ga., by defeating Kentucky and Ohio State, eventually finishing third in the National tournament finals at Houston.

When Oldham retired, his assistant coach for the past three seasons, Jim Richards assumed head coaching duties. He and his two new assistant coaches, Benno Dees and Ralph Baker, would like nothing better than to keep the Hilltopper basketball program on the high plane it has enjoyed for so many seasons.

In seven seasons under Oldham's direction Western won 146 games and lost only 41, a winning percentage of .781. He was named the OVC's "Coach of the Year" four times; in 1962-63, 1963-64, 1968-69 and 1970-71.

A vital foot race in on between Western Kentucky's Rex Bailey [35] and Ohio State's Allan Horsby [33]. The prize was the basketball in the Hilltoppers 81-79 overtime win against the Buckeyes in the finals of the NCAA Mid-East Regional Tournament at Athens, Georgia in 1971.

One of the bright highlights in Oldham's 20-year coaching career came shortly before his retirement in the 197-83 thrashing of the University of Kentucky, in the NCAA tournament.

It was the first time the two basketball powers ever met and it enabled Western to claim basketball supremacy in the state.

It was a game and season that won't soon be forgotten.
Standing are Western’s Basketball Managers, Steve Arnold; Paul Gray, Head Manager; Mark Wallheiser; David Nance. Seated are the two Basketball Trainers, Bill Edwards; Don Crowder.

Trainer

RUSSELL MILLER

Russell Miller is Western’s first full-time trainer. His ability to diagnose and treat the injuries and ailments of Hilltopper athletes has already won the respect of Western’s coaching staff and players. He received his M.S. degree from Indiana University and served as a trainer at DePauw University for two years before coming to Western in 1969.
