BOWLING GREEN, KENTUCKY, NOVEMBER, 1905.

FOUND EVERY TERM AT SOUTHERN NORMAL SCHOOL.

1. Numerous classes in arithmetic and algebra; several classes in English Grammar, spelling, penmanship and spelling classes; a reading class in which you may learn the elements of vocal culture and the art of good reading; an elocution class in which you may become proficient in that art; a vocal music class in which you may learn the theory of vocal music and become proficient in its practice; four or five Latin classes; one Greek class; one German class; one or more classes in geometry, trigonometry and analysis; one in physics; several in shorthand and bookkeeping; one or more in ancient and modern history; two or more in Illustration; one or two in rhetoric, or more in psychology; one or more in the sciences, such as chemistry, botany, geology, etc. In addition to these mentioned, classes in ancient and modern philosophy, economics, logic, ethics, criticism and mythology will be found one or more terms each year.

2. A faculty of earnest, well-equipped teachers who are proficient in the branches they teach, and who have a keen interest in the students of the school. It may not be amiss to remark that the very best preparation for teaching is to be in the class of an expert teacher. Great teachers are not made by lecture but by example.

3. A splendid student body—the brightest and best young men and women from scores of neighborhoods. When it is recognized that education is one of the chief incentives to effort, think what a power there is in the splendid student body to impel others to constant and sustained effort.

Teachers will make a few terms amid such surroundings do for you? Is the best any too good for you? Can you afford to spend time and money attending a school where you will have fewer advantages?

BASKET BALL.

The girls have organized the B. N. Basket Ball Club. The subscriptions have reached nearly forty dollars; hence the club will be ready for engaging a complete team. They will play out of doors until cold weather begins, then they will play in the School gymnasium in the Big Gym, which has been rented by the club.

Over fifty girls have signed their intention of becoming members.

Calendar.

The second term of the Southern Normal School and Bowling Green Business University will begin in Vanity Hall at 9 a. m., November 14th, 1896.

The winter term of the Southern Normal School and Bowling Green Business University will begin in Vanity Hall at 9 a.m., January 23rd, 1897.

The spring term of the Southern Normal School and Bowling Green Business University of Bowling Green, Kentucky, will begin in Vanity Hall at 9 a.m., April 2nd, 1897.

Summer School.

On June 13, 1896, our special Summer School of six weeks will be organized. The action in the Summer Normal School of six weeks is only 30, and board and book and fees during the same time are only $3.00 per month, everything furnished. There will be any teacher in the South who desires to enlarge his work and become more skillful in his chosen profession, to enter our Summer School. Not only a general review in common school work will be given, but those desiring to do so may get special classes in any of the higher branches.

CRAMMING FOR EXAMINATIONS.

As a general proposition the teacher who seeks to raise the grade of the certificate or to increase his general average does well. Yet he may make a very serious error in using wrong methods in bringing about the desired improvement.

Too many teachers are engaging their time studying probable questions, pouring over sets of answers to the last four or five years State examinations, hoping to make a hit on the "mines" of the State examination.

Teachers are expected to teach science—the sciences of language, the sciences of nature, the science of geography, etc. The study of general science can, at least, give only limited facts of knowledge. While such a plan may be utilized in raising one's certificate it will never increase his ability to teach a task teacher holding high grade credentials in a right calculated to make ample work.

Some teachers have organized study clubs to which those who attended the school from their home districts and members in small towns are gathered in the latter of study club rather than the mastery of the sciences he is expected to teach the children.

The true teacher will not stoop to such impossible methods. The true teacher will master subjects and principles. He will continually grow in knowledge, in power and skill. He will not spend his days worrying about examinations, but will have before him one continual desire to do as much for the children he has to teach.

No teacher in the Southern Normal School would gladly harm his leader over his charges than carelessly striving to enable his students to grasp principles and master subjects rather than miserably trying to pass examinations.

The school, the teacher, the men of the world, etc., feel, teach, advance or endure the study of isolated, divorced facts and questions and sincerity in securing receiving a teacher's certificate certainly has never given much time to the study of education, and easily has little respect in the eyes of the children.

Interesting Items Concerning the Work of this Department.—Graduates University Succeed in Getting Good Positions.—Send for Free Catalog and Journal Before Going Elsewhere

The record we are making ought to be interesting to students old, for the purposed, and young men and women, they are to be kept busy. The numbers of those who have made the great and the present is greater now and the courses are larger than ever.

Larger! Yes, fully thirty per cent. And can we succeed in getting them for all these young men and women? Certainly, and many will place before they are graduated. This we do not recommend, but simply mention to show the demand for our pupils.

What an inspiration it would be if we could interest our greatest and greatest, the best of our students, in a body of our colleges. But the classes would afford the advice of science, self-culture and improvement of the same young men and women and would turn in every respect to the same end, education and thereby support the classes.

And you, who read the news as we mean by students in the city. Here, in our shorthand school we make a large pay- ment of colleges and university graduates. Do you know what the significance of this means? Here, in our shorthand school, we are our students and managers of various kind of corporations are sending out students to college, and university graduates are learning shorthand and are entering business through good commercial colleges.

Our students are conscious of the conditions that exist, and they are doing the most of the highest order. What constant, unnecessary, enjoyable work!

Is it possible to increase the earning capacity of a student from fifteen to twenty dollars in seventy-five or eighty days practice? And this is almost a weekly experience with us. These news are distanced at a good rate of speed. stemmed class, and each member was required to bring in a newly studied transcript. Similar work is given daily.

Mr. Raymond P. Kelly, of Chicago, was with us on the even- ing of the 14th of May and gave us a lecture on the System of the Greek System of shorthand. A large crowd of students and citizens of Bowling Green attended the lecture which was delivered in the evening with the presentation of seeing one of the fastest stenographers in the world.

Mr. Kelly fulfilled their expectations well beyond their most satis- fied. If there were any "holes" in the audiences be- fore the exhibition, he was a royal Jailer after it. Mr. Kelly gave a clear demonstration of his writing, but cut his lecture to the principal points of the system. He then paroled him in French and German and read it back without a single hesitation and in the true test of efficiency of the shorthand and the strength of the system which Mr. Kelly has worked so long and so successfully.

Maybe the students did not enjoy the exhibition given by Mr. Kelly. The reception in his book was an evidence of his popularity. All formations were dropped and a jolly good time was en- joyed. Excitement renewed as crows and fees were earned by the young ladies.

We have just installed in our typewriter department fifty new machines. This gives us one of the best equipped typewriter- schools in the United States, and decidedly the best in the South. A great deal of attention has been paid, especially in the past few years, on the correctness and neatness of typewriter work. It is found that both machine work, excellent teacher and the desire that our people should exist, are turning out the best typewriters in the country.

If you want to see a bee-hive of industry, just come to this de- partment. Every part of the office is busy, the typewriters are in the rhythm of the strike of the keys, to see the operators pay attention to their work, to notice the general sym- phony that pervades the entire building is an up-date in our office to the very best in silence is what we have succeeded in doing.

The Rev. James Small gave a lecture to the students in chapel on the above. His lecture, "About the Time," short-hand student presented the following:

"Young men, if you study business in college, and your old man is well, he would be akin to the life of the country. Mr. Kelly has the plan of a head bookkeeper with a large mercantile company in Louisiana.

M. LeComte has resigned his position with the Scott Lumber Co. and has been appointed to a new position with the Panhandle Lumber Co. in Florida.

D. H. Bailey, business student 1920, has resigned his position with the Remington Typewriter Co., and is now with the Califo- rnia Goldsmith Co., Los Angeles, Calif.

C. A. Perot, 1920 student, has changed his business and shorthand department in a college in Sarat, Tenn.

Robert Ray, business and shorthand student of 1920, has recently accepted a position with West Kentucky Coal Co., Picay- ne, Ky.

J. W. Trout, business student 1920, has an excellent position as traveling salesman in Texas.

W. S. Wannam, former business and shorthand student, has accepted a position with the Foreword Lumber Co., Florence, Ky. He has recently been promoted.

H. E. Moore, business student of 1920, has accepted a position with the Standard Oil Co. at Jacksonville, Florida.

V. W. Dodd, business student 1920, is keeping books for a large mercantile firm in Central Ohio. He writes that he is well pleased with his position.

Ford, business and shorthand 1920, is keeping books for the Rose Coal Co. in Columbus, Ohio.

Geo. F. Parry, business and shorthand student, is in charge for the business and shorthand department.

G. E. Jones, former business and shorthand student, who is now with the Atlantic High School in Danville, Va., reports that the attendance is twice as large at the school as it used to be. He makes a special note that his shorthand writing is very much to the satisfaction of the stenographer and is a most excellent one with a good position with a large mercantile establishment in this city.

Walter W. Jenkins, former business and shorthand student, has resigned his position as a stenographer with the Ken- tucky Bank.

C. L. Holcomb, 1920 graduate, reports that he has a fine position in Florence, Ala.

Cheeks, student of 1920, has resigned his position with the Bank of Yellville, Ark., to take a larger hand in the business world.

But we are waiting for the record. Simple statements do not apply. We do not blame you for asking for facts. In a sentiment of the business world. The following pupils were studying shorthand and typewriter work, which are the most important elements in the world of business.

W. J. Pierce, stenographer; Memphis, Tenn.; Mountain View, Okla.; East, Oklahoma; Miss Sue Hawkins, stenographer in our office.

Mrs. E. W. M. Murray, stenographer; Protector, Miss; Mt. Vernon, Ill.; Miss Clara Hoffman, stenographer; Charleston, W. Va.; Mrs. J. E. Egan, stenographer; National Bank, Louisville, Ky.; Sr. Maria Bethel, St. Louis, Mo.; Miss Lyda Thompson, stenographer; Amesville, Tex.; Mrs. Horace Hosten, stenographer; I. & E. R., Ill.; Livingston, Ky.; Miss Bertha Bowling, teaching typewriter; city, Miss June Hunt, stenographer; Mt. Olive, Miss.; Miss Carrie Harness, stenographer; Davenport, Miss.; Miss A. D. Darmo, stenographer; Rockford, city, Miss E. Littie, Plattsmouth, Ne.; combined stenographer and book- keeper.

E. U. Gaites, stenographer; Hopkinsville, Ky.; H. E. Oliver, stenographer; Kattawa, Ky.; Miss Marie Miller, stenographer; Jackson, Miss.; O. C. Clay, stenographer; Mayfield, Ky.; Mrs. J. M. Van Aernic, stenographer; Boston, Mass.; Mrs. A. N. Boley, teacher college; Owensboro, Ky.; W. A. Austin, stenographer; Washington, D. C.; Miss Ella Herring, office; Hartford, Conn.; E. H. Hettner, stenographer; Waco, Tex.; E. R. Bay, stenographer; Sturgis, Ky.; P. B. G. Smith, teaching and bookkeeping; Louisville, Ky.; C. M. Brearley, commercial teacher; Prestonburg, Ky.; T. F. Farris, stenographer and bookkeeper; Georgia; Miss Mary Hargreaves, business student; Miss A. E. Boyd, law office stenographer; Paducah, Ky.; Mrs. J. D. Hughes, business student; Charles, Penn.; A. A. Anderson, stenographer; Columbus, Ohio; F. A. Harvey, stenographer; Greenwich, Miss.

Mrs. M. C. McAdoo, business student of last year, and now a record of those who entered in the same classes.

The Great Business Training School of the South.

SPECIAL NOTES CONCERNING THE BUSINESS DEPARTMENT.

The old students of the Bowling Green Business University will be glad to know that the Business Bank has been newly opened and will make available a large amount of money to the students of the school. The College National Bank opened Sept. 5, 1920, with Mr. H. J. Langston as cashier, and Mr. E. J. G. Williams as teller. The bank has been open about two weeks and is located in front of Mr. E. L. Wills.

Mr. E. R. Ramey has been keeping the Indigent Ledger. Mr. Ramey is an Al chemical and never fails to get a daily publication.

Mr. Fugus has completed the Business Course in August in which he is a member of the class of '20, and is now taking post-graduate work. Mr. Fugus has looked after the welfare of the College and has proven himself to be an exceptionally accurate account-ant. A Banking Club will be organized about Dec. 1, and it is reported that the average daily clearings will run from $75 to $1,000,000.

It is from four to six weeks office practice in the College National Bank, work on the Indigent Ledger is assigned to every student and his book bank is balanced at the end of each six.

All 1920 students will be given two weeks office practice in the College National Bank, work on the Indigent Ledger is assigned to every student and the office practice is given as supplementary. Any student who has had office practice will be well equipped for almost any bank position.

Former graduates who desire to review their shorthand handwriting or business English are invited to attend the Business and Century Business Practice, which forms a part of our Commercial Course. Students who desire to practice with the teaching position will do so to complete our Commercial Course. Those desiring to take shorthand classes will be given a course of fifteen months. The degree of Master of Accountants will be ac- quired.

The Collection Department of the College Bank is doing a good bookkeeping business. Orders are in demand. There never has been a time when good positions were in greater demand than they are at the present time and good practice makes for young men and young women who can write a good hand and have some knowledge of accounts.

BOWLING GREEN BUSINESS UNIVERSITY.

FIFTY NEW TYPEWRITERS

On Monday, October 30, 1905, an expert machinist from New York City will arrive in Bowling Green, Kentucky, for the purpose of setting up and putting in operation fifty brand-new Remington Typewriters for our Typewriting Department. We have just purchased fifty of the modern, up-to-date Remington Typewriters, and these machines will be installed at the time named above. This will give the reader some idea of our determination to make the Southern Normal School and Bowling Green Business College the leading school of the South in point of attendance and equipment as well as course of study.

Specimen of Ruling executed by D. A. Bickett, Business Graduate, 1906. Mr. Bickett is now holding a fine position with one of the largest Coal Corporations in the United States.

Send Us the Names of Prospective Students.

Do not fail to send us the names and addresses of your friends who contemplate entering school. We shall be pleased to send them our school catalogues. You will not only help the cause of education by doing this, but you will help your friends. We shall send your friends this literature without any cost whatever to them.

SPECIAL PARTIES OF STUDENTS WILL BE RUN FROM NEW ORLEANS, LA., TO BOWLING GREEN, KY., DURING THE WINTER AND SPRING OF 1906.
OUR SCHOOL OF TELEGRAPHY.

SPECIAL NOTES.

Many things are to be considered before deciding what telegraph school to attend. Perhaps a careful perusal of every item in this section will prove helpful. This school is supplied with every instrument necessary to the student. The instruction is practical. At the very start, it is determined by the management to build up a practical student second to none. It was, therefore, determined that this could not be done unless the equipment was the best to be had.

When a beginner enters our school of telegraphy he has the understanding of the equipment that he expects to receive and work with.

This school has no vacation. It runs thirteen school months each year.

Boasting proves nothing, but a fact can never be refuted. We start a fact when we say, "Our school is better equipped than any other telegraph company in the country." Our answer is that in all our experience we have never met with a student that our customers wanted--we say trained--to be employed in the telegraph business. You positively can, you can learn.

Our course includes a thorough acquaintance with wire signals, wire signals, wire signals, and semaphore signals.

The Superintendent of our school has had twelve years' experience in actual telegraph and is an expert in all subjects taught. This is the way he was born.

THE JUNIOR SCIENTIFIC DEBATING SOCIETY.

By Prof. L. E. Green.

The Junior Debating Society has been almost co-existent with the Southern School. Its origins date from the early history of the school which is said to be of great antiquity. The need of such a society was manifest early and the organization for a few years has been a matter of importance, pressed by the present magnificent standing and renowned prestige.

To estimate the value of the members in the organization in all its manifold capacities is to behold the features of college life and a mighty factor for good. The purpose of the society is to give a complete education in the subject of debate and public speaking. The men who are trained in the art of debate are able to express their thoughts logically, to think coherently and above all, that they may be able to express their thoughts logically, to think coherently and above all, to speak their minds. The importance of this character cannot be over-estimated. In nearly every avenue of life men are called upon for work which demands this power.

Learning, apart from everything else, is the way to success. It is now almost a necessary qualification for a business man to have command of his speech. Think of the man who goes without saying that all professional men should be trained for public work. Yet a large per cent of the teaching profession make no provision for this important qualification. This is to be regretted, and yet, it is true. Among the many essential qualifications of a man there is none more important than the ability to speak. Those who use every opportunity for gaining this power of expression will reap the rewards in eloquence and art.

Aside from training, debating and developing the mental capabilities, the Debating Society is, in effect, the literary culture of the students. It is the training ground of speech and oratory, the students being trained under the eye of the faculty and the students are expected to prepare the student for effective work in his later career. This is a class work which the faculty has only the best interests of the students in mind.

We encourage all students to take active and interesting parts in both all the social and cultural affairs of the school.

BOARD.

Low Rates Offered the Students of the Southern Normal School and Bowling Green Business University.

There is board at this time in Bowling Green for at least twelve hundred students at rates ranging from $6.75 to $12 per month, everything furnished. The exact cost of board depends upon whether you take school board or private board as well as upon any accommodations on the boarding places. We do not believe there is another city in the South that offers as cheap a rate of board as Bowling Green. Board alone in many of the cities would cost as much as board and tuition in this city. Students of the Normal and Business University are entitled to the same rate of board.

ARE YOU PLASTIC?

I asked a young man the other day what the term "plastic" really meant. He could not say upon the subject. I showed him the term as a "cheese." He then asked me, "What does that add up to?" Henceforth I will use the term "plastic" as a synonym for "cheese." I am further informed that the use of the term "plastic" is now considered a mark of intelligence.

"Plastic" is the term used by the French to express the idea of a substance that can be molded into any desired shape. It is often used to denote a substance that can be molded into any desired shape. It is often used to denote a substance that is capable of being molded into a desired shape.
