Typewriter Expert at University
Wrote 119 Words in a Minute.

(From the Times-Journal.)

The Bowling Green University never enjoyed a more unique and at the same time, inspiring program that was heard at its Chapel Hall this morning at 9 a.m.

Mr. W. C. Fugue has returned to his old firm and is now the head teacher in the Bookkeeping Department. He is a great teacher, of splendid character, and a model of culture. We welcome him back.

"$150 A YEAR."

"When I was a student at the school of business at the University, Green Business in our city, I was told that the employment of a typewriter would cost $150 a year."

F. M. P. M.

STENOGRAPHER.

Stenography has been installed in our course of study. It is a new process of shorthand written on a small machine called the Stenotype. It is remarkably smaller than the Underwood Typewriter, is almost noiseless, simple in mechanism, easily manipulated and seems destined to become a permanent office appliance. Some of its strong features are that any one who can read shorthand can read the notes of another as well as if his own; the speed obtained is far beyond anything ever accomplished in shorthand writing. A course in Stenography costs the same as a course in shorthand. The time required to learn it is practically the same as that of shorthand.

EX-GOV. HANLY, OF INDIANA, DELIVERED MASTERY ADDRESS

(From the Times-Journal.)
It is said that in interior China there is a school with this inscription over its gate: "If you are planted for ten years, plant trees; but if you Telegraph, unlimited and Typewriting."

This seems to be the motto of Bowling Green's great Business University as well as to be approached by the exceptionally successful commencement exercises last evening.

It was particularly notable in several respects. The opening address, delivered by Graduate J. D. P. E. for the first time in railroad work.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., May 8, 1901.

Burl Arnold, Min., April 14, 1901.

I have been a telegrapher for over two years and have had much pleasure in reading, because I believe there is nothing like the R. B. H. U. I am sure that I never existed four months in my life more than the four that I was with you and that I could have stayed four more.

The Superintendent of this division told me that he had rather have one boy from your school than a dozen from the other schools that he had received boys from.

Yours truly,

R. B. H. U.

MAMMOTH CAVES.

THREE MAMMOTH CAVES.

The greatest natural wonder in the world, is only sixty miles from Bowling Green Business University. It has 255 miles of explored ways.

The school takes two or three excursions to it every year and greatly enjoys its "dim and awful vistas." The picture above shows a party of R. B. H. U. students, taken at the mouth of the Caves just before entering for a day's walk in that wonderful-famed cavern.

Read "Assurance Doubly Sure," on page three, and act accordingly.

SPECIAL PENNSHIP.

Our School of Penmanship is attracting national notice. It is growing daily. It is becoming the Mecca of ambitious penmen. Among its pupils during the past year were students from Maine, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Florida, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Kansas, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama, Missouri, Connecticut, Illinois, and New Jersey.

It is estimated that good hand writing is over 75% of the secretarial work. Mr. Reader, you can make $600 while taking some other course in this school, if you will study Special Penmanship.

Special is a short road to a good salary and permanent employment.

A BEAUTIFUL ACT.

We deeply appreciate the beautiful act of loyalty and affection to this institution by former student, Miss Alice Whoreby, in presenting to this school last Christmas a rare and handsome presentation, as an expression of her good will and gratitude toward the school. We have hung it in our library, and we shall cherish it and wait, if you will, to see it until you are able to come in and enjoy it; but, in deep in our hearts, we have already received the art of love and loyalty on her part, and we shall cherish it and catch it from the inspiration which will light and brighten the road.
WHAT THEY SAY

Elsewhere in this paper will be found quite a number of commendatory expression from former students. Let them tell you about the school. They are disinterested. They have been here and have tested the institution and its merits. They know. Read what they say.

AN INTERESTING CONTEST

THREE PRIZES AND THEIR WINNERS

Last March, the school offered three prizes for the three months giving the best argument for attending this institution. Read them.

The first prize, an Unconditional Scholarship in Special Penmanship, was won by J. E. Phokee, whose letter follows:

Poaching, Green, Ky., March 17, 1912.

Mr. James Windham,
\[Name\], Ky.

Dear Old Friend:

The boys of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, but to judge others by yourself is the perfection of folly in this world. If God would choose to write this letter to you, he would.

Before entering this institution I studied literature, from time to time, from a number of business colleges in the city of [Name], as well as from the city of [Name], during my last term, offering me the opportunity to enroll with them. I have no idea of enrolling with them, but upon a thorough investigation of this institution I found the school offered in this institution to be most thorough and practical.

Knowing you, James, as I do, and knowing the educational training you have gone through, I feel it my duty as a friend to urge you to attend this college in preference to any other; and for many reasons, which I shall state very briefly:
- First, the method of instruction in this college is not one of the best, as I believe in the sustained methods of the school.
- Second, the method of education in this college is not one of the best, as I believe in the sustained methods of the school.

Emphasize of large or small market in the market of a higher market in this college, I have not seen that the business college in the school of the same.

Emphasize of large or small market in the market of a higher market in this college, I have not seen that the business college in the school of the same.

There are many advantages that seem to me. What I think, some of the most helpful of all the schools, is the sustained methods of the school.

James, I am so proud of your progress in the best college of our kind for any such old school and able business man as you are, and your ability to stand by your trade is what I stand by.

I am writing to you today, under separate covers, a catalog and literature for your consideration.

Treating what I want to say and will be in the same spirit in which I am writing this, and what is the better that we consider these matters, I am at

Your sincere friend,

J. E. PHOKEE.

The second prize, a Five-Month Scholarship in Special Penmanship, was won by Mr. Fred Blankenship. Read it:

Bowling Green, Ky., March 31, 1912.

Mr. Grant Lane,

Lafayette, Ky.

Dear Sir:

Understanding that it is your intention to enter a high-class business school, I take this liberty to ask you to make a careful study of the requirements and courses offered by the Bowling Green Business College. I am a student in this institution, and I do not advise you to enter this school.

You have not yet decided to take this institution, but I advise you to take it as soon as possible.

THE ANNUAL DEBATE

(From The Times-Journal of May 14.)

At the Omega House last evening there occurred the sixth annual debate between the two societies of the Business University. This is one of the most exciting and hard-fought school events that take place in this college. It is the only event of its kind and is enjoyed by everyone.

C. L. TURNER

The successful candidates in the debate.

The subject for discussion was: "Resolved: That Congress should provide for the printing and distribution of the "Weekly Register of the United States Navy," and the copies be sold to the public at a price to meet the cost of printing and distribution."

The debate was carried on with great enthusiasm and interest, and the arguments were well presented.

C. L. Turner, on the affirmative side, made a strong argument in favor of the measure, while L. L. Bamberger, on the negative side, gave a well-balanced reply.

Both candidates spoke with great ability and delivered their arguments with great force and eloquence.

The debate was a great success and was enjoyed by all present.
ASSURANCE DOUBLY SURE—Not even one student, old or young, male or female, has completed one of our combined courses in Bookkeeping and Shorthand or Telegraphy and Railroad Accounting, in the last ten years, without going directly from school to a paying position. Get the point? If you want big returns for your money and your time, take one of the combined courses. THE WINTER TERM WILL OPEN TUESDAY, DEC. 31, 1912.

Write for our new, forty-eight page, Illustrated Catalogue. Address Bowling Green Business University, Bowling Green, Kentucky.
CONTINENTAL EMPLOYMENT AGENCY.

This active, useful, and successful agency is operated under the same roof with the R. G. B. U. It has employed several thousand students and a great expense finds hundreds of positions every year for bookkeepers, stenographers, cashiers, secretaries and teachers.

It is the largest agency connected with any school in the United States.

THE SOUTHERN EXPONENT.

CHAPER BOARD.

Go where you will, you will never find a place that offers cheaper board than Northwestern University for thirty years this has been the college town. Hundreds of families take them in and care for them. Great good deed to me in the future. We are saving better than all the other places at rates elsewhere in this journal.

"CUT RATES!"

We could reduce rates only by dismissing strong teachers and supplying their places with inexperienced men. But that would not be cheap. When considering the matter of rates, you should remember that success is never high and failure is never cheap.

A. D. C. PROMOTED

A. D. C., who, up to one year ago was bookkeeper in the American National Bank, has been promoted to Secretary of the Stock Tobacco Company in Paducah—Bowling Green Tobacco.

Mr. Davis is an old student of whom we are particularly proud. His salary of $200 is an evidence of his ability as a business man.

800 STUDENTS

Eighty years ago Bowling Green Business University had about twenty students. The present day school has a magnificent four-story building containing classrooms and nearly 800 students. It is one of the most flourishing schools in the State—Nashville and American, Jan. 29, 1911.

HOW MUCH PREPARATION?

We are frequently asked, "Am I well enough advanced to take a business course?" In reply we advise students to read elsewhere in this paper a statement of Mr. H. L. Nieten, Professor of Practice in Business, who says: "I cannot say that every student is prepared to take a business course. I do not mean by this that the student is not prepared for business, but that the student is not prepared to take the business course in which he wishes to enter."

WALTER L. KEIZER.

Context: One of the greatest improvements that an educational institution can offer is to offer the prospective student, outside the character of an institution itself, the spirit which I found in Bowling Green Business University, in the way of a high-wattage class, teaching, and the knowledge of the subject taught is thoroughly understood and not expensive.

PROF. SNYDER.

Prof. J. A. Snyder, of Cincinnati, came into our Student School Faculty, found his place as gracefully and quickly as if he had always been a part of us, and soon showed that he is a master indeed. He "comes to his work from the garret," as it has been said that no man ever does anything well until he has tasted the mud, has enjoyed and proudly appreciated his splendid services. Money cannot compensate such services. It is an uplift to one to have the privilege of working with such a rare spirit.

"CAN DO NO BETTER.

Edmond, Kansas, April 3, 1912.

Dear Prof. Elder.

I want to thank the school and the for your service in efficiency and the way in which I have been with the school since January 1, 1911, and can say that the knowledge I have gained while at the school is a great ability in bookkeeping, as I have attended the school for the past four years and I am today commanding a very liberal salary which is $200 per month in excess of the salary which I made before entering the Institution. I am today commanding a very liberal salary which is $200 per month in excess of the salary which I made before entering the Institution. If you ever come with the bookkeeping, I should be pleased to have you come on and read this log which is extremely valuable to me in my work in the bookkeeping.

Dear Prof. Elder:

Since leaving your Institution, I have been employed with the Easter Sugar Company, Ltd., and am today commanding a very liberal salary which is $200 per month in excess of the salary which I made before entering your Institution. If you ever come with the bookkeeping, I should be pleased to have you come on and read this log which is extremely valuable to me in my work in the bookkeeping.

FELIX VIEUX.

We have before us a panoramic photograph more than a yard long, of the present school building of the Bowling Green Business University, Bowling Green, Kentucky.

The back is a photographic reproduction of the magnificent house of the R. G. B. U. and its campus adjacent to a summer residence and students.

This school is one of the largest of its class in the country and the work high. The school building is scheduled for the present quarters with a loss of only nine or more from the main building.

Do you know of any other town or city in which board can be had as low as $10.40 per month, everything furnished?

Where else can board be had in private families for $12 to $14 per month?
"CONGENIAL AND CORDIAL SPIRIT."

I feel that my experience in public speaking is not adequate, but I express the hope that upon the B. E. C. I. my voice will be heard. I am eager to prove myself to the faculty of the B. E. C. I. who manufactured me in so many particulars and fit me for work while under their supervision.

The dominating feature of the B. E. C. I. is the congenial spirit existing among all students. The teachers are very good and the library is one of the best in the country, and so are the professors. I am convinced I would today be polishing along at the Bowling Green State University if I had not received such faith and encouragement from my home. I am greatly indebted to the Bowling Green State University for all the encouragement I have received. I cannot thank them enough for what they have done for me.

"FROM $5.50 TO $100."”

White County Bank, Chattanooga, Ga.

My dear Professor Dickery,

I am well pleased with your paper. My self-confidence is a strong foundation, and I feel sure that the paper will be graded A. I am very happy in the position I hold, and I feel sure that I am well satisfied with it.

Sincerely yours,

J. E. ARNETTE.

"INDIVIDUAL ATTENTION."

Miss Virginia E. Creasey, in a letter to a friend, sends the following words:

"The managers and teachers who give individual attention to each student, keep in closer touch with their students, and are more likely to observe and correct their students' faults. The students feel that they are cared for personally, and this makes the school a more pleasant place to be in."
"INCENTIVE TO BEST EFFORTS."

Central Mining Coal and Oil Company,
Huenin, West Virginia, April 8, 1892.

I was a student in the K: B. F. for several months, and I believe that no school has more to offer in thorough books than the Southern College.

The teaching method and personal attention of an exceptionally Professor—that's the foundation of the department of Mathematics and Science.

The courses are designed to give you a thorough knowledge of the subject and to prepare you for the future.

The instructors are well-versed in their subjects and are always available for your questions.

The college offers a wide range of courses, including Mathematics, Science, and more.

This is an excellent opportunity to pursue your passion and achieve your academic goals.

 Yours sincerely,

W. W. HUGGINS.
