Dr. Stickles Interprets News
China is not poking Communists in the sense that Russia is Communist," Dr. A. M. Stickles, head of the History department of Western, said in a chapel address March 13.

Speaking on, "Current Events," Dr. Stickles expressed this opinion as a result of his study of the situation. "Where you have a starting horde of people such as China has, there is bound to be political unrest."

Instability Rules China
He stated that China is in the kind of political situation which may grow into anything six months from now. In China's teeming population there are millions of peasants who do not own an inch of land, and there are millions of acres that are too under cultivation.
The condition of China within the last month has caused a great deal of criticism of the United States for not continuing to support the Nationalists. Under Pinay.

Dr. Stickles reported, "The United States spent between three and six million dollars trying to help China. General Marshall was there for a year, and later General Wedemeyer went there. Both reported that the Nationalists forces were not getting anywhere, and the matter was dropped."

All that is left of Nationalist China is a nucleus of men, where the leaders are preparing the stand for a defense against the Communist forces.

European Elections Viewed
In Europe elections have been rising most of the spotlight, Dr. Stickles noted. The recent elections in Greece shows that the Marshall Plan has helped block the communists and sent the country on the road to democracy.

He interpreted the present quiet in Turkey as a result of the Marshall Plan aid. Helping this was the attempt of Russia to break through the Black Sea in her constant search for a warm-water sea outlet.

The Yugoslavs have voted to take back their former king, Leopold. Though he has married a commoner.

"English elections reveal that the labor party is on the way out," Dr. Stickles said. "The majority party ordinarily needs a majority of 30 to 60 in the House of Commons to be safe, and the present majority of 12 to 15 is a little too risky."

Dr. Stickles gave his opinion of current events in Europe in the absence of Dr. Beth Thompson, hostess, who became ill before his scheduled appearance.

Education classes are busy in the library studying current trends in education. They are considering Kenya's national in salary standards, home-room school attendance, and communal subjects with those of other nations.

CBS Opens Script Contest
A nationwide collegiate writing competition has been launched by the Columbia Broadcasting System and World Wide Video, Inc.

The contest, to be known as the CBS Awards, is open to students on American colleges and universities, according to the announcement yesterday. The contest will offer four prizes, the first of which will be awarded in April. The first will be assessed on monthly intervals during the summer.

The amount of the award will be $500 if the prize-winning script is of one-hour performance, the second $300, the third $200, and the fourth $100.

Judges outlining the complete rules and regulations will be selected to receive writing to the Editors, CBS Aparatus, Headquarters, 1 East 57th St., New York, N. Y.

49 To Attend Summer Camp
Summer camp will be held at Lane, Oliver, Va., from June 18 to July 8 or 16 for All WCCT, according to Mayor Claude C. McRaven, planning "and a summer camp" for students of the College of Propedeutics, Professor of Air Science and Tactics, University of Maryland, will be commanding officer of the camp.

"Students" will be among the group who will make up the Eastern area who will attend the camp.

The campus has been reported that the students will specialize in camp administration; each school section will form a group headquarters and act as a home group. They will be guided personally and supply for a working laborer's camp.

Breakfast of the crews will be done by the students and the other crews can be told them to fly the missions.

College Hi Teachers Attend Conference
Mrs. Herman Lowe and Miss Edna Hansen of the Training School faculty have returned from Atlantic City, N. J., where they have been attending a conference on Teacher Education in the United States.

They heard David Lichtenberg, special representative of the American Association of University Women, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt on Human Rights and Individual Responsibility. They have read all of them and are trying to change the theme. The schools must take a more vital role in the world to-day.

Mrs. Lowe and Miss Hansen also attended the International Conference for the Improvement of Reading Instruction, which was attended by soliloquies led by William S. Gray, Chicago; Miss Myrtle Dally, New York, and others.

Rabbi Explains Role Of Jew In American Life

Jews have played an important part in the development of the cultural life of America. Rabbi Milstein, as a guest editor, Wednesday morning, March 26.

"The Jew in America" was the subject of Rabbi Greenwald's address, in which he traced the history of Jewish life in America.

He observed that the first Jewish settlement in the United States, which was established in New Amsterdam about 1649, was not the beginning of the end of the role of the Jew in the development of the country. It began indirectly with Columbus' voyage to America. Many of those who were instrumental in the voyage were members of the Jewish faith.

Rabbi Milstein stated that it was in this first settlement that the Jewish people accepted the creed of social independence. They have since that time cared for the poverty-stricken and handicapped people without outside aid.

The speaker cited that "Jews have fought in every war that our American forefathers have fought in from the Revolutionary War until present times." Their participation was from early years when members of the faith petitioned for the right in Jutland and national military.

Rabbi Greenwald was under the sponsorship of the Jewish Chababé Society which furnishes a chaplain sponsor each year.

had never before even attempted a field goal. After that the Cubans always played before taking the field and adopted the name which McMullan and Co. made famous.

Coach Diddle, when he took the floor, told the gathering that although the score for the game may be high the game itself will continue to keep trying until the end.

John Milstein, president of the Jewish National Committee at the dinner, on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Schenker, announced that the dinner will continue to keep trying until the end.

Jubilee Cruise

The Gold Star K. K. and its auxiliary, the Jewish National Committee, are planning a jubilee cruise for members and friends of the Jewish National Committee.

The cruise will be on the SS. "Jamestown" and will leave from New York on May 12th and return on May 19th. The members will be able to see the sights of the Mediterranean lands.

The cruise will include a trip to Palestine and will visit the Holy Land.

The cruise will be open to all members and friends of the Jewish National Committee.

The cost of the cruise is $150, which includes all expenses except for the cost of meals and drinks.

A limited number of berths are available, and interested persons are encouraged to make reservations as soon as possible.

Rabbi Greenwald was named as the official representative of the Jewish National Committee for the cruise.

Cultural Program

The cultural program for the cruise will include lectures on Jewish history, culture, and literature by Dr. Samuel B. Greenwald, and other Jewish leaders.

The cruise will also include a series of tours and excursions to national landmarks and ancient sites.

The cruise will be a unique opportunity for members and friends of the Jewish National Committee to experience the rich heritage and history of the Jewish people.
