To Appear In Spring Festival

The College Chorus of 125 voices and the String Quartet of 10 pieces will present a festival concert Sunday afternoon, March 11, in Van Meter Auditorium at 3:30. Featured in the annual spring appearance of the College Chorus under the direction of Canon Rill will be "The German Requiem" by Johannes Brahms, one of the great works for chorus and orchestra. Appearing as soloists with the choir will be: Leo Neil Russell, Baritone, soprano from Princeton; Dennis Lilt, tenor, voice major from Bowling Green who will sing the baritone role, Miss Mary Paulson of the music faculty will be the piano accompanist.

In its second appearance of the spring season, the Western Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Gudrun Gwathmey will perform Beethoven's Eighth Symphony as the opening portion of the concert. Following the intermission the chorus and orchestra will perform "Requiem," a sacred choral work in seven parts with soprano and baritone solo parts.

The scope of the Brahms work was completed in 1868, and it is understood that it was written in 1868.

Story To Break Soon

Dr. Neil Plummer of the University of Kentucky faculty made a startling prediction recently, according to the Unlv. of Kentucky, the victim will likely be either a small child or a University of Kentucky student.

Dr. Plummer went on to give the probable site of the accident, and that if the odds of being killed are as good as this year as in the past, it will be following such a story soon.

Meanwhile, the soccer sports season starting, such a prediction could be made about Bowling Green.

Although much has been accomplished in safeguarding the life and a system of record has been worked out to aid those who get into a fix, it is a fact that safety in the water is largely a matter of personal safety.

With a little common sense on the part of swimmers who understand their capabilities in this predicament, they could be disproved and, more important, a life saved, and practice your ABILITY. THE LIFE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN.

Don't tell me that worry doesn't do any good. I know better. The things I worry about don't happen.

By rounding slippery curves under slight power of the engine, you can help avoid skids in your automobile.

Ahh, Spring fever! My dad has already put out the last of my favorite amaranth, but then again, I wonder if he'd be so eager to bring them back. That's just 'Tish" just to give us a scare," said the cat, "but don't blame me, I'm just doing my job as a house cat." This is a natural and expected behavior, right?" "Yes, of course!" replied the owner. "That's why we love our cats, isn't it?"

Todays Event

The high school musicians provided a delightful evening of music at the auditorium. The students have practiced hard and were eager to showcase their talents. The concert included a variety of styles, from classical to contemporary, and the audience was treated to a wonderful performance. Thank you to all the musicians who made this night special!" "You're welcome! We're so glad you enjoyed it," said the organizing committee. "We can't wait to bring you more music in the future!"

LYNN ADAMS

People going around barefooted, carrying a shotgun and a jug of moonshine, was the idea which Lynn Adams had of Kentucky until the last year or two.

Lynn, who is a first semester sophomore, said that people in town, with the few who climb from originally, still have this idea and expect Kentucky to be nothing but mountains. They don't seem to realize that Kentucky has the same as any other state.

They have heard of the Kentucky Derby and bluegrass. Now that they're here and has a chance to really see it, Lynn has really fallen in love with our fair state. They say that really crazy about the place and that she doesn't plan to go back to Iowa.

Following graduation from high school, Lynn attended Coe college in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The following three years, she worked at a radio station in Cedar Rapids. Sometime last year, she and her family took a trip through Kentucky and liked what they saw. That led to Lynn's coming to Western in February.

An elementary education major, Lynn would like to teach the second grade after she finishes college.

A pleasant personality and a charming smile are two of her characteristics. Some think that her voice sounds like June Allyson's. No wonder she always seems to be happy.

Toppers Trounce Ft. Knox 16-5 As Rhodes Fans Nine

The Hilltopper baseball squad broke loose for 13 hits and 16 runs Tuesday to avenge an earlier 9-2 defeat by Fort Knox as they soundly trounced the Knomenes 16-5. This victory brought the Western crew's standing to five wins against one loss. Their standing in the OVC play is now 3-1, with victories over Eastern Kentucky (2-1) and Tennessee Tech (2-0) and a defeat at the hands of the Evansville Aces (5-7).

Another conference game is scheduled for this Saturday when the Diddlemen will travel to Richmond to meet Eastern in a return game. The remainder of the games on the Hilltoppers' schedule are Ohio Valley Conference foes. Tuesday the Red and Grey rigs will seek to arrange their only conference loss as they meet Evansville here.

Game Rhodes, sophomore basketball star, is currently starring on the mound for Coach Hickey. He has won two games for the Toppers and in 17 1/3 innings he has fanned 28, granted 10 hits and only three runs. Other mountaineers deserving praise are Jim Puckett and John Bickel. Although Bickel has not been credited with a single win his fine hurling has often kept the Toppers out of a tight jam. In the Tennessee Tech game, Puckett tossed a no-hit, no-run game in only one hit, a single in the second inning of the game. He struck out 11 men, walked none, and retired the last 25 Eagles in a row. Besides all this, he batted in one of the Toppers' two runs.

Catcher Bob Barlow is probably largely responsible for the spirit of the ball club. His chestnut behind the plate keeps the entire team jumping.

The Ohio Valley Conference baseball championship is decided by season play. The Hilltoppers close the season on May 27 with a double header against Murray on the Western diamond.

Netters Lose Only One Of 7

Western's once-beaten tennis team bowed back with two straight 7-5 wins against OVC opponents after dropping a body contested match to the Eastern Maroons, 3-2.

The Red and Grey netters defeated Marshall University at Huntington, W. Va., April 28. The Westerners dropped two sets in blanking the home team. The following Thursday the Toppers handled the Evansville Aces another 7-5 defeat to more their sixth win of the season. It was their fourth against Ohio Valley Conference opponents. The single loss to Eastern was a conference match.

Roper Otten, the freshman final from Elizabethtown, entered his array of singles victories to seven as he dropped only four games in the two matches against Evansville and Marshall.

LAVOY ON FLI-ALL INDEPENDENT TEAM

The Long Island University Blackbirds eagerly recently picked their all opponent team. Three men, Hal Hamilton, Ram Bauden of North Carolina State and Bob Lacy of Western received the top number of votes, each getting nine.

Topper Thinlies Score Wins In Two OVC Matches

Coach Turner Floyd's trackmen vaulted momentum after an early season loss to the Murray Thoroughbreds and ruled over two Ohio Valley Conference foes by easy margins before meeting Georgetown cougars andA Boge their first non-conference opponent.

Desire victories over Evansville and Tennessee Tech put the Topper's ahead in OVC competition and gave them a 2-1 conference record. The opening loss to Murray is the only loss the trackmen have been defeated this season.

The Thoroughbreds out-scored the Western teams 42-27 with promise of new records was shown.

COACH FRANK GRIFFIN and his Western golf boys boast an undefeated record at this point in the season. Woda's Women's Golf Centre college gave them three wins in a row as well as the Pacific Coast Amateur, also assistant football coach.

Western freshman Jerry Hopkins hurled the Illinois 122 fast 4 1/2 innings. Willis Simpson, the fast Western centerfielder, who is undefeated in the 102 yard dash, won the event in 10.2, but later scored that record against Evansville and Tennessee Tech. The paper last Sunday was full of news about the Kentucky Derby. They said that Midsummer won the race by one-and-a-half lengths over Hill Prince. There was a picture of the winner as he crossed the finish line, with all the rest of the horses strung out behind him and the names right beside the racers. It sure did look exciting.

I attended the Derby this year and I can truthfully say most of what the papers said. But I believe that some of their estimates were wrong. For example, one figure I saw for the number of people there was 100,000. That was for the horse, there were at least that many people between me and the rails, so I know that there were more than 100,000. Usually I'm not a betting man, but when Derby time rolls around, I always try to pick a winner. This year I worked scientifically, using the data from the racing form, the handicappers selections, and various tips from my friends. I came up with a horse that was sure to win the great event with ease. I knew that he could do it, because he had won the Derby Trial only a few days before. Of course, I mean Black George. Per those of you who don't know, I don't, I'll tell you that he came in last.

My data was smarter, however, because he couldn't see any sense in betting on only one horse when he could have two chances for the price of one. Besides all of that, the game is not like that. The Mark was going to win, since he was winning when he paraded to the post. She set on the King Ranch money and collected. But she didn't know it until I told her. She thought that she had bet on Doney and On The Mark. When I told her where she was, she said, "Now I guess you'll let me pick your horse for you from now on, won't you?"

-As for the Derby itself, I had a fine view of the track. It was right up near the turn in the back stretch. It the rail had only been on the track instead of on a walk, I think I could have enjoyed the race much more. I was on the back stretch, way back on the back stretch, and about all I could see of the horses as they crossed the finish line was the rear end. Somehow, that wasn't how I had pictured the finish of the Derby.

There were a lot of celebrities and famous characters there too. Of course I didn't see any famous ones, but I sure did see a lot of characters. Bob Hope was there, you know. He made the presentation of the cup to the winner. I didn't get to see him, but I did see the gate he went through. I heard that he was pretty crowded, all afternoon with all of those who wanted to see him. Maybe if he plans to return next year, the Downs will put up a quotation from Dante which reads "Abandon Hope, all ye who enter here." (If you think THAT stinks, you should hear some of my worse jokes.)

The students on the hill, especially those in Kentucky journalism, have been of great assistance in the past two years in contributing information for the permanent films of this college.

One of the most valuable of these contributions has been the inscriptions from cemeteries located in counties of Western Kentucky and Family Bible records. Most of us do not realize the value of these inscriptions and Bible records, but they mean much when studying local history.

All these titles are typed, indexed, and permanently housed in the library. Already two volumes have been compiled, and the data presently being made will make up another. Thanks are due every student who has assisted in this task.

James Allen White of Overholser has preserved to the library a collection of family letters written by the members of the Preston family of Virginia, between the years of 1835 and 1896. Among them are the letters written by James Preston of Lexington, Kentucky. These were written to the editor of the Louis ville Journal, between 1861 and 1867. Mr. Preston was a strong Unionist, and the letters strongly indicate this point of view. Old newspapers from various sections of the country were also included in this collection. This collection was given through the interest of Mr. Wilford Daniel, BS 49, and later a graduate student.

The Kentucky history class under Miss Katherine Robertson met in the Kentucky Library on Friday, May 5. The topic of discussion was the history of the Kentucky press.

"Turn on your radio at 5:30 this afternoon and hear the broadcast originating from the Kentucky Building. The following student announcers from the library will be heard: Mary Ruth Holt, 13; Mary Hames, Evelyn Adams, Frances Smith, H. L. Hudson, and John Nelson.
