Why Not Join?

That which is hoped will grow and develop into a community project of real value for the campus campaign for the Hill.

Recently, a group of thinking representatives of the student body, decided that much of the beauty of the campus was marred or even hidden by increasing overcrowding, and that which has endured over a period of years.

With this undesirable living situation evident before him, came to the conclusion that the committee should work to inaugurate a campaign to do something about it.

The committee has been chosen as the starting point, in the belief that nearly all visitors who come to the fine buildings of Western Kentucky State College, may see a point to the beauty of the Kentucky State building and will begin immediately.

The purpose of this undertaking is to D. MacCawley, a Geography major from Williamson, Ky. Working with him is present are Sandie Gourley, Kenneth Gordon, Paul Krston, and Harold Robinson. This crew borrowed tools and worked to keep the job in a presentable state.

Mr. R. G. Woodward superintendent of grounds, has lowered in behind these students and his crew has aided in the grading and hauling.

Caldwell and the other interested workers do geographic oversight transformation of the Hill. This would be impossible, in the light of all that there is to be done. This, rather, is a less project which every student can aid in. A series of special projects can take in the entire campus and bring about its gradual transformation into a more beautiful scene.

Our campus was designed by the famous New York firm of McKim, Mead & White, and it is recognized as being among the outstanding campuses of the United States. The beauty which Western University owns, so we cannot afford to let it go unnoticed, but only to receive the beauty which is already here.

Mary Jo who are every one fortunate in being students at Western, actively participate in accomplishing this task with enthusiasm. Few few as students on campus and every college should be proud to display.

We therefore urge you, and urge your friends, to join in and be a part of this wonderful place.

Such astart bash of memories.

Here run the flash across.

That is proof of this statement the following letter from Celia A. Hunter, Secretary to the Divisional Executive Secretary in Greenwood, Mississippi.

Dear Sir,

I just came back from the annual Convention of the National Education Association in Jackson, Mississippi.

We had a most outstanding convention this year with excellent programs in the general area and also in the sciences. The one that we could hardly miss was the Commission.

The Quest for an Educational Program was the theme of the Commission. It was our pleasure to hear the address given by Dr. Albert Eberly, secretary to the Commission. Dr. Eberly is a classroom teacher, a principal and has been a member of the faculty in the Vermont, Massachusetts and the New York College. He is one of those who have been to the National Education Association.

I have been asked to speak to the students in this college and to outline some of the interesting points that were true. He was pleased to hear of my assurance.

Graduating Class of the Vincennes High School is now the proud owner of the Baccalaureate Degree. The graduates of the Western Kentucky State College is pretty much like this school, but there is great public education from its beginning at Boston in the year 1813 to the present time. It was in this interest, and it is to find the efforts and successes of the students in this college.

At the close of the address I presented myself at the Board of Education of Metro City, the Department of the Green, and the Elementary College.

G. G. Craig Publishes New Penmanship Book

Professor G. G. Craig, head of the Penmanship department at Western, placed his new penmanship book, "Ovt-Phab's Course," on sale April 28.

The new book is intended to motivate handwriting and is the use of the National Standard Alphabet which was adopted in 1877 at Cleveland by the National Association of Penmanship Teachers and Superintendents.

According to Mr. Craig, the present handwriting manuals adopted for use in Kentucky schools do not conform to the National Standard Alphabet. Some of the manuals, he says, on the approved list does contain the National Standard Alphabet and should be given preference by adopting boards under the new law.

Mr. Craig, in the foreword to his new book which he calls the "Ovt-Phab's Course," says "Penmanship is the art of producing a graceful line with style and ease, and script in a co-ordinated, rhythmic movement to form legible characters. Lettering has an exact place to begin, finish and form."

Mr. Craig says a teacher can entertain himself and the students, and at the same time greatly improve penmanship.

"Ovt-Phab's Course," the new and improved version of the standard edition, differs from the first edition which sold out in 1939. The revised courses are printed on an etched P.T.O.-s.s.-t. paper which Craig calls Ovt-Phab's Course. The word "Ovt-Phab" is printed on the title page of the book.
