The Heirloom

"The Heirloom" is a play by C. L. Richardson, and with equal praise has been reserved for "The Hebrew Girl," by J. B. Greenhill, and "The Oldest Boy," by C. J. Stidolf. It is scheduled to be presented on the afternoon of October 30th, at 3:30 pm.

Equipment Needed

Equipment needed for the production of "The Heirloom" includes a stage set, costumes, and lighting. The stage set will be designed by John Smith, and the costumes will be designed by Mary Johnson. The lighting will be provided by the college's own lighting department.

Acknowledgments

The production of "The Heirloom" is a collaborative effort involving students, faculty, and staff from the Department of English and the College Heights Herald. The Herald is proud to provide a platform for such a significant event and looks forward to seeing the students on stage, bringing the story to life.
Mr. R. C. Woodward Is 42 Year Campus Employe

BY WILLIAM T. LYNCH

Have you ever wondered why Western's campus is one of the most beautiful in America? It didn't just happen that way. As you look around and see the many beautiful wells, streets, and sidewalks, you can thank a man who has been part of the University for 42 years. Mr. R. C. Woodward, superintendent of buildings, has made many contributions over the years.

When Professor Woodward came to Western, the campus had been here for 42 years. Don't let this fool you, however, because he is as young as he can be. He was born in 1925 and worked for the University of Illinois before coming to Western.

Woodward studied at the University of Illinois and received his degree in architecture. He then went on to work for several other universities before coming to Western in 1953.

Some of the projects that Woodward has worked on include the renovation of the Old Main building, which was completed in 2010. He also worked on the construction of the new student union building, which was completed in 2015.

Woodward is a member of the American Institute of Architects and has been recognized for his contributions to the University.

Looking Backward

ONE YEAR AGO — Mr. R. C. Woodward, former employee of the University, passed away on November 8 of cancer.

The Welcome Mat

Thirty days before November, but for Westerners it has only one — Homecoming. This year the eighth day of the month, November 8, is Western's busiest day when all former personnel and alumni of the University will be on the campus to renew old friendships and again visit the spot where so many important memories were made.

A welcome goes out to all, for it is they who have ties to Western and have helped to make Western great.

This year's Homecoming activities will start on November 8 with a parade through downtown Pullman. The parade will feature floats, marching bands, and cheerleaders.

Again the Herald welcomes you.

TOPPER

HILLTOPICS

BY BOB RICHARDSON

The first week of school is completed by now, and most of us have settled down to an almost normal life, although it seems that studying, when we must, and circulating, extracurricular events, when we want to, is the student's life. The student who has not learned to budget study time and leisure time wisely, is sadly lacking.

As an example of this miserable person who mixes pleasure and study, let us listen to a tale. A student in the sophomore class, after blue Monday, which helped in after a wonderful Saturday and Sunday, Saturday night was quite late, and the remainder of the day he planned to study his history. He just couldn't get down to that dry subject, so he decided to clear his mind by taking in a movie. After the afternoon showed, and by Saturday night he was ready to face his fate.

By Sunday afternoon, Elmer had awakened enough to realize that he still had to help the home government capture Gaul. He managed to slip his wife and daughter down for a three-hour show, and afterwards, to his disgust, he found that he just happened to pass a magazine, follow the path of least resistance, and arrive at the bank of sun, sand, sea, and ship.

The professor in Elmer's last class for Monday had assigned ten pages in their four mandatory-case

But before walking out of class, Elmer thought he had heard the professor say something about two hours of study time. And just as he was about to rush back into class, he found that he just happened to pass a magazine, follow the path of least resistance, and arrive at the bank of sun, sand, sea, and ship.

As we have just observed, our leading character, Elmer, got out of class at 4:00 p.m. on Monday afternoon. He then proceeded to spend the remaining time of the day as preparation for ten hours as he had five hours of study for which to study. On the following day, Elmer was scheduled to give a lecture on the history of the American Indian, and he just happened to pass a magazine, follow the path of least resistance, and arrive at the bank of sun, sand, sea, and ship.

By five-thirty our boy was standing in line at the school cafeteria, thinking of the good food just ahead. He was looking forward to a good meal and a good meal he got.

At six o'clock he settled himself at a table, his mind occupied with the good things to come. Between his liver and the smiling blonde, a little history of the American Indian was interposed, and Elmer, looking at his History book, was right in the middle of a good meal.

In history, Elmer gave the answer on how the Romans conquered Egypt. Thinking of the good food and the good meal, Elmer was about to answer the question when he was interrupted by the bell. The morning's lecture ended, and Elmer, looking at his History book, was right in the middle of a good meal.

Elmer went through his last class, English, like a snap. When asked to identify the ob currently running for the class, Elmer responded, "Mary Lou." He thought it would make the language department happy, and the language department was happy.

Elmer then left the class, and as he left the class he thought that the boardroom had just posted a new leaf of typed paper reading, "Do not leave until the secretary leaves," which is the last word Elmer heard.

PRODUCT OF THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES
Aerial Battle Expected For Tomorrow Night's Game

The undefeated Western Hilltoppers take to the field once again tomorrow night to take on the Northeast Louisiana State Indians, which promises, from all reports, to be a passing duel between Jimmy Pitts and the opponents quarterback Mark Beavershead.

This team from the deep south is expected to give Westerners more for their money than most people may expect. The Indians have played four games this year, and although they lost the first two, the total points scored by them in the first-three games was 81 including a 41-7 shellacking of Livingston State College in Alabama.

In these first three games this year, the Indians passed 42 times, and completed 32 of them for a total of 362 yards in the air. On top of that, they rushed the ball for an additional total of 461 yards for a grand total of 723 yards gained in three games.

Despite the fact that they lost the first two games, one by the score of 40-20 to Boise State University at DeLand, Florida, the Southeasterners enlisted their first two opponents by 328 yards.

The Indians, now in their second year as a senior college, had a 1931 record of six wins and two losses. Head Coach James L. Williams established a record of 22 wins, 3 losses and 1 tie, in 18 years of Junior College football before they were elevated to the senior ranks in 1930 and 1931 he produced a National Champions Junior College football team. So it can easily be seen that all the opponents for the Toppers tomorrow night will be anything but a breeze, standing on the mound of the coach's altar.

Although dimes and injury side lined two of the Indians from their game, last Saturday, one of them will probably be ready for the contest tomorrow. In spite of these losses and the fact that the team has two defeats, the spirit of the team is running very high, and they will be out to go and the undefeated Hilltoppers to the last second.

The man to watch for the invaders will be the right half back Dick Pinkus who in the first three games of the year ratted off a total of 248 yards in 43 running attempts for a total of 5.5 yards a carry. Captain Dewre, who will probably be starting at the other half-back spot has gained 141 yards in 25 attempts for a 5.6 average also. Dewre started out the season as a sub, but soon worked into the starting lineup by virtue of an injury.

All the other players in the offensive backfield have an impressive record too, plus one or two reserves.

An interesting sidelight on the team coming to Bowling Green tomorrow night is the fact that 79 per cent of the squad are freshmen. Perhaps this is the reason for the two defeats, and if it is, the third game might be an indication of the experience they picked up in the two previous losses. It will be more than ready for the Toppers tomorrow night.

Big Red To Attack Tennessee Tech Next Saturday For OVC Lead

Western moves down to Cookeville, Tennessee, next Saturday night to take on a powerful Tennessee Tech, team. In their last game of the week, the Toppers will be in quite a difficult position, knowing A.W. Ford would stand, three, in one game, while Big Red was in first place with a 6-0 head, and Eastern, while the Hill- toppers, losing to the University of Tennessee, Evansville and Morehead.

Returning as head coach of the Eagles, after a few year's ab- sence is Preston "Pappy" Overall. Losing only seven lettermen from last year's squad, Coach Overall is building a veteran and experienced team, deep in reserve strength.

Western has won 8, lost 9, and tied once with Tech, in a series which began in 1932. The Toppers dropped their Homecoming tilt last year to the Eagles, 14-7.

The contest promises to be a thriller. Both squads have beaten Morehead decisively this season and are capable of exploding for a TD anytime they handle the ball.

Cherry Country Life Club Meets

Charles Ford, a senator, was elected president of the Cherry Country Life Club at the first meeting of the club, held in the Small Hall, on Thursday evening, September 30.

Other officers elected were: Charles Blair, vice-president; W. F. Farmer, secretary; Charles Frazier, treasurer; Charles Eid- man, corresponding secretary, William H. Martin, chaplain; Wayne Wilson, sergeant-at-arms; and Ray Young, recording editor; Charles Livingston, art director; Raymond Stone, ad- mission director; and Charles Kneen and Carl Harris, faculty advisors.

A committee was appointed by the president to plan for the next month.

All agriculture majors and minors are urged to join the club.

Hilltoppers Defeat Eagles For Third Straight Victory

Striking through the air and on the ground with the pose and per- fection of the veteran aggregation they are, the undefeated Hilltoppers rolled in their third straight vic- tory of the season beating also Mike- head Eagles 28-7.

Quarterback Jimmy Pitts again proved his offensive mastery by ef- fectively mining Western's passing and running attack. He did most of the passing himself enroute to new Hilltopper records for passes, and between passes, he formed the host of hard-running Top- per backs. Morehead found both the peeling and running too much and was never in a challenging position.

Western strung for their first score early in the first period on a long pass from Pitts to Shovens. The pass climaxed a short drive. From the Western 26-yard line. An earlier drive to the Morehead 39- yard line in Western's first posses- sion had failed when Pitts tossed Jack Roddy with a short pass. Now, down, Pitts was able to snap the ball, and Western led 6-0 at the first quarter ended.

The Toppers wrapped up the game in the high-scoring second period by counting 22 points to Morehead's lone touchdown good for 7 points with the conversion. The second quarter was still in its opening minutes when Western hit paydirt twice in a short time.

Pitt hit Plumis for the first of the two scores, and co-captain Wil- liam Watson scored the second with a 13-yard dash. Matter added one more in the third quarter by hitting Pitts for 9 yards.

extra point to bring the tally to 1-2-1. It was not until the end of the period that any more scoring was done. Approximately two minutes late before the half, substitute quarterback Whitley Sanders lined up with freshmen Jim Sandford and in what was perhaps the most spectacular play of the game. Sanders apparently fumbled an early season catch against Middle Tennessee when he opened Sanders' pass with one hand. The play covered 45 yards and was good for seven points after Ray Nettler added the conversion, bringing the score to 5-2. Action in the first quarter ended with Marshall down 2-0 on a 10-yard punt from Chuck Perry, the Eagles' highly decorated quarterback, to end Jim Hoffman's placekicking.

EXAMINATION PERIODVARY, THE 10:00 P. M. AT CHICAGO UNIVERSITY. NOSE, THROAT, and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfield

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes. A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-month period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
