Dr. Wilson Receives Plaque From Club

Dr. Gordon Wilson, head of the Political Science Department, was presented with one of only five Kentucky Plaques to receive a special plaque by the Utopia Club for his services to the organization over a period of many years.

The plaque was presented to Dr. Wilson recently as a meeting of the Franklin county club. At that time, he was cited by Carl W. (Pop) Tussey, former president of the Utopia move- ment in the United States, as being instrumental in helping with Utopia clubs in Kentucky and giving the organization a boost when it needed it most.

The other four persons for whom similar plaques have been authorized are James A. Utopia Field Agent at the University of Kentucky; Herbert Piloter, Franklin, state auditor; Harry M. Young, and Adam Kith, both of Lexington.

Utopian clubs, formed primarily for rural residents open to any person between 21 and 35 years of age, are designed to take up where youth programs leave off and carry through until adult age when adult work begins.

The first Utopia Club in Kentucky was formed in 1930, and three years later, a unit was begun in Warren county as the first all-Solid club in the United States.

In 1930, the organization was open to men as well as women, and it continued in active status until World War II. It was revived in 1941 and has been on a steady pace since.

Utopian Clubs have many purposes, the main emphasis being on social and community activities for young adults, in which they are beginning to carry an active role in adult community problems. The educational programs are carried on according to the club's charter, and social activities play an important part.

Madame Pingon, Western French Class Informant

By MARIE SANS

Madame Pingon, from Evrest, France, is in residence near Paris, in the native informants for our French class here.

At a recent meeting of the sophomore French class, I had the pleasure of meeting Madame Pingon, who speaks no English. The French students were much interested in getting to know her, so I asked her some questions and translated the answers.

Madame Pingon was born in La Rochelle, France, which is situated on the south coast of France on the Atlantic shoreline. She studied at the Sorbonne. When her father was a commandant in the armed forces, she went to the United States during World War II. She stayed here for some time, but eventually returned to France where she lives.

“Stage Door,” Western Players’ Spring Production Is Scheduled For April 8

“Stage Door,” one of the classics of the modern American theatre, has been chosen by the Western Players for their spring production which is scheduled for presentation in Van Meter Auditorium on Thursday, April 8. This delightful comedy from the pen of Eliza Pinker and George Kaufman concerns a group of young girls who have come to New York to study acting and find jobs, precariously in the theatre. They live and breathe there, and their lives provide a picture of courage that is heart-warming.

Dr. A. P. Black Makes Two Addresses On Campus This Week

Dr. A. P. Black, head of the Chemistry department at the University of Florida, gave two addresses on the campus Wednesday.

He spoke in chapel Wednesday morning with his address, “The Status of Pharmacology,” pointing out the benefits of fungus in municipal water systems in the control of locusts among young people.

Wednesday evening Dr. Black spoke on “Water Resources of the South” at a meeting of the Western chapter of the American Chemical Society. The meeting was held in room 20 of Cherry Hall.

This speaker, considered a top authority on water in the south, is an outstanding president of the Kentucky Association of Science and Industry. In the pages of the “Biology Club,” a boardroomhouse for young ladies of the theatre, their hopes and ambitions are revealed in scenes of highly entertaining comedy highlighted with bits of tragic intensity. Contrasted with the amusing are the pathetic scenes of the girls without talent and the sterile actresses whose days are over and the battles against discouragement and despair as those young hopefuls seek to conquer a place for themselves in the world of the theatre.

Colorful contrasts are offered in the vivid personalities of the women involved in the story and their boy friends who come to call.

Cave Explorers Seek Underground Adventure

By Buddy Thomas

Recent activity of cave explorers in the Cave City area has brought to light similar interest on the Hill.

Students here, who are interested in cave exploration, come under three categories. The first group consists of the actual members of the National Speleological Society. The second unit is made up of those students who are attempting to gain membership in the national society. The third group consists of many students who are interested and many students who go underground only once in a while and then for fun only.

Western has two members of the national society: Austin Wade, sophomore from Martinsville, and Rob Krieger, freshman from Los Angeles. Both belong to the Nashville Giant.

Becoming a member of the National Speleological Society requires hard work and an honest interest. The three major requirements are that the applicant must be recommended by a member of the society, must have some experience with cave exploring, and must be eighteen years of age.

Members are asked to map all caves they explore. The society furnishes general data sheets to its members. These sheets when filled out contain the following information about a particular cave: its temperature, type of cave, hydrological features, and fauna. These data sheets, along with the maps, are filed at the national headquarters in Washington D. C.

Before a cave can be mapped, each member must take certain safety precautions. He is told to tell someone what time he expects to return; he is warned to wear a rope that has been provided. He is also told to use the sources of light. Whenever he has obtained official permission to organize a group, he is free to go to a date.

The National Speleological Society advocates the prevention of vandalism and the conservation of caves. Contrary to popular belief, cave exploring is not dangerous. Only four deaths caused by cave exploring have been recorded in the United States. Floyd Cutter is the only famous person to die in this manner. No deaths have occurred in the ranks of the national society.

A group on the Hill comes under the heading of would-be members of the national society. This group, made up of twelve boys, has organized a club and been elected from Lawrence Marinos, Martin Massey and Burton Martin, who are members of the high school. This project will be a part of the annual Teller competition, near - "Franklin", as a project.

Other officers of this club are Donald Crouch, vice-president; James Wade, secretary, and students from the Martin County, and Jack York, treasurer from Cincinnat.

The band will be directed by Mr. James E. Tyler, associate professor of music at Western. The program will be under the direction of the School of Music in the Undergraduate Music Department.

While the program is principal, for students, parents, and friends will be welcome to attend. The concert is being sponsored jointly by the Music department and the Bowling Green Music club through its president, Mrs. M. L. Billings.

Basketball is like any other contest.

There’s a winner and a loser in every game. The Hilltoppers have done it 29 times this season and the latter three times. Yet despite this spectacular record, there are always the individuals who have followed the team through a remarkable season with reverence in their hearts for adulthood probably.

When they lose a game. (Human nature supposedly, belated) “those marvelous Hilltoppers,” only to be the first ones to come up with derogatory remarks about the same team.

There will be more games than any other team in the nation this year; third in the nation in total offense with 68 points per game, landed only one player on several All-American teams and on the All-A.I.C.T. first team. Tom Marshall was named the All-American Most Valuable Player.

Western was sixth in the nation in the field goal shooting department with a 4.1 percentage. Marshall is fifth in rebounding with 45 for as many as 32 games. Tom Marshall is in the hilltopper this season in the fifth highest total ever scored in the history of the game and his career total of 1,906 points is now the state record.

These are the records established so far this season and we haven’t seen the best of the season yet.

Hilltoppers Drop NIT Chances To Holy Cross In Semi-Final Event

Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers went down to defeat last Thursday night in the semi-final round of Southern Conference Invitational Basketball Tournament for the second time in two years. The Western team, seeded third, scored a stinging 71-63 defeat, which left the unbeaten Hilltoppers and fans rocking on their heels.

It was a night of two things, the fans seemed to think. The Hilltoppers, without Turner got off to a quick start, and the fans got the thrill of the first quarter, and the other was the shock of offensive, work on the part of the Hilltoppers. Togo Pallas was the thorn in Western's side as he hit the hole with 11 points and four foul shots for 12 points. Western used three different men, but Pallas couldn't seem to stop him. He was the only man in the second half.

Western had looked great in their first game of the season against Bowling Green University, and the prediction was that the Kentucky fans might go all the way. In the first 15 minutes of the Holy Cross game the New York crowd watched in awe at the brilliance with which the Toppers were working their fast break, and at one time in that second quarter the boys from Bowling Green were leading by 11 points. Then something seemed to snap, and in the last ten minutes the Hilltoppers were heading for the dressing room only two points behind.

Spring Football Practice Now Underway

Western opened its spring football practice Monday, March 6, with Coach Dockery, Glenn Smith, and several other prospects. Returning veterans such as Jim Ommol, Whitney Sanders, Jerry Meesman, Millard Shirley, West Dunnah, O. D. Graham, Jim Chernilow, Jim Aura, Randell Mills and Jackline Johnson, back; Bo Colley, Tack Hook, Jim Phillips, Parnell, Sammy Berbold, Bill Stevens, Dave Palmer, Jim Graham, Tom Palmer, Walt Anderson, John Speck, Steve Mertapper, and Don Sparks, Sneem.

Other boys who are expected to stand out are Joe Cunningham, Bill Kitterman, Al Newman, John Merte, Ty Wynn, Patterson, Jim Shackelford, and Jimmy Horn.

Co-Captains of the Phi Beta Panhellenic are the only ones when the season opens next fall.
