Graduation

Next Thursday night marks the end, whether temporarily or permanently, of a college career at Western, for 176 students.

Today classes will be over, and as far as books and studies go, finals are all that remain. Society, however, has been patient, and few activities in which to participate.

For four or five years, going to class, mixing with the students, improving their education, and practicing the right things in everyday life, all activities have become set patterns for those who are graduating.

It will be strange breaking these bounds by leaving Western. This school sort of grows on its students, and whether they want to or not, they find themselves attached to a few activities.

Another night will be sad when one re-

Herald Reporter Reviews Over-All Campus Improvement Program

By FREEMAN ADAMS

Western is now in the midst of an extensive, comprehensive, repair and beautification program, which has been underway for the past 12 months.

This work is the result of planning and cooperation by many of the members of the faculty and administration staff. Most planning is currently going on for future projects of the same nature.

A great portion of these improvements has been made possible through the new budget system established at the college last September.

The complete renovation of Van Meter Hall is almost finished. The chandeliers are yet to be reworked and brass railings for the steps leading from the auditorium floor to the stage are to be installed. To date the walls of the Auditorium have been decorated, new wall-to-wall carpeting installed, a new tile floor put in the Auditorium, a new red curtain has been hung and the stage completely reconverted with a new lighting system and new floor.

One of the principal projects underway is the remodeling of Potter Hall. The ground floor which formerly housed the kitchen and dining room, has been converted into rooms, keeping facilities to house more than 30 young men.

The other dormitories are in various stages of repair. New lighting fixtures are being installed throughout and will be more than compensated for by the lighting of the fall semester in September.

The number of occupants in Potter Hall has been reduced because of the clearing of the work in progress. With the completion of the present dormitory program, the students were moved from the third floor, into new dormitories in the new area while the remodeling process is underway, the rooms will be provided throughout the building.

Another project in progress is the copper re-flashing of the roof of the Administration building.

A greenhouse was started to immediately the tuck-points and cleaning of the building on all major campus buildings. The work is expected to be completed this spring. The tuck-pointing will greatly enhance the appearance of the buildings.

Hightower Will Head Air Society

Hightower, Will Head Arnold Air Society

David B. Hightower was elected commander at a recent meeting of the 1955-56 membership of the Arnold Air Society. Other officers elected were: President, James Hall; Vice-President, Richard B. Wozniak; and Secretary-Treasurer, John R. Swisher.

The group held an open meeting and discussed plans for the remainder of the year.

Two members of the group are not only active members of the group but are also students, and therefore they have a vested interest in the activities of the group.
Graduation Time

The Western Music Educators Club held their annual May luncheon Thursday at the Boos and Health Building with fifty-four members and guests present. The program was presented by William Link, principal, who presented Earl Bohmeln, orchestra, in a short program of music with Dr. Howard Carpenter at the piano. The address of the day was given by Mr. Howard Brown, musical supervisor of the Nashville public schools who spoke on the subject, "What I Desire in a Beginning Teacher."

One of the high points of the affair was the presentation of the honor cup to the most outstanding senior music major selected by the faculty of the music faculty, Claude Rose, club sponsor, presented the silver goblet in William Link music senior from Henderson. This was the third year for the honor cup's award.

Groschelle, Craven's Awarded Assistantships

Frank Groschelle, senior geography major from Laramie, has been awarded a graduate teaching assistantship in the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. He will enter the University in September. Raymond L. Craven, graduate student from Laramie, has been awarded a graduate assistantship in the department of geography and geology, University of Oregon. Craven received an A.B. from Western in 1923 in social science. He will receive his master's degree June 2.

Religious News

By DON THORNBERRY

A candlelight service recently marked the official installation of officers for Western's Religious Council for the coming year, John Chamberlain was installed as president.

Other officers included Elizabeth McWhorter and Bertha Gibson, co-vice-presidents; Mary Bridges, secretary; Betty Green, Sunday School chairman, and Robert Proctor, provost.

The Religious Council is a service for religious activities of the Hill. The council's primary function is to serve the Easter Service, during which time, which is an hour of silent meditation; and to organize and provide a program of speakers for those interested in religious activities.

The council's program will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings in the Little Theater, beginning at 8:00 p.m. A variety of programs are presented with local ministers, prominent laypeople, and students participating. The council invites all students and faculty to take part in the council's activities.

The sponsors of this year's council were Dr. Earl A. Moore of the English department and Mr. William Lawton, of the economics and sociology department.

A number of students from Western were present at the installation.

Debating Team Ends Busy Season

By WILLIAM THOMAS

Point Blank, as busy as that old expression, ‘Busy as a Bee’, has been the collegiate Debating team.

Team members believe that any member of the team was the biggest loser. Not one, however, believed he was losing. Each team member believed that the success of the team was due to the efforts of those fellow team members. The success of the team was due to the efforts of those fellow team members.

The head coach of Raymond Dravens, graduate student from Dravens, for the support of Dr. Earl A. Moore, of the English department, has held the state championship in Debating for the last 20 years. CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK

Built On Confidence — Growing On Service
For the first time in history, the price of Joint Life Memberships in the Alumni Association is lowered to $10.00. A new plan for Joint Memberships has been devised, with the first $10.00 paid by the husband, and the second $10.00 by the wife. This plan makes it possible for alumni to have a joint membership without the necessity of forming a separate husband-wife membership. The plan is designed to encourage alumni to form joint memberships, and to provide a convenient way of transferring membership to a new address or to a new member of the family.

Life Memberships in The Alumni Association are now $10.00. Joint (Man-Wife) Memberships are $15.00. You can receive THE COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD.
Kentucky Building News

By DAVID R. HIGHROVER

In the library of the University of Kentucky, there may be found a group of publications put out each year by the Legislative Research Commission of Kentucky, covering a wide range of subjects.

The commission may be considered as a joint legislative committee serving the several agencies in the intergovernmental community. Collection of the printed material relating to each issue and representing both parties, is served primarily as a facilitating and service agency for Kentucky's legislators. Through a small professionally trained research staff, the commission prepares in informational bulletins, research publications and monographs on subjects of current legislative interest.

The present Director of the Legislative Research Commission is Arthur L. Young, an alumnus of Western. The Chairman is Lieutenant-Governor Emerson Beauchamp from Russellville.

The Research Publication resulted from major research projects directed by the General Assembly and authorized by the commission, while in contrast, informational bulletins are not the result of extensive research but are, nevertheless important factual reports.

In the Kentucky Library, the researcher may find, listed under Research Publications, such publications as "Medi-Sys "The University Legislation for Kentucky," "Stripping Mines," "The Coal," "General Assembly Act," "1950 Census Report of Their Schools," and many more.

These publications and bulletins are unbiased and bring out the pros and cons of the issue at hand. Extensive research is done on these various subjects, and the reader will find facts of great value to him.

Do not doubt the students of Western will want to use and research the facts in the social sciences.

Miss Elizabeth Omnes, of the Kentucky Library, recently attended the meeting of the Special Libraries Section of the Kentucky Association at Lexington.

This commencement will celebrate the reunion of the classes of 1956 and 1955, Golden and Silver Anniversary. This announcement will be of interest to those who will come to the Kentucky Building to see an old issue of the 1955 college paper, which contains excellent pictures of this class.

Campus Beautification Program Keeps Mrs. Garrett, Miss Woods Busy

BY PAT STAGNAR

"Where is Mrs. Garrett?" one wonders. "Where is Miss Woods?" another inquires. "What is the latest on the campus beauty program?" asks the student body.

Recently, the campus has been transformed into a picturesque haven, thanks to the efforts of Mrs. Garrett and Miss Woods, who are leading the charge in the beautification program.

Pleasing the Eyes

"The landscaping experts have been hard at work," Mrs. Garrett said. "We've planted new shrubs, trees, and flowers to beautify the campus. The results are quite impressive."

"And the students are helping too," Miss Woods added. "They've been asked to reduce their trash output and participate in the beautification effort."

Future Plans

The beautification program is not just a one-time event. Mrs. Garrett and Miss Woods have plans for more efficient use of the beautification funds. They are working on a long-range plan to ensure that the campus remains a pleasant place for years to come.

"We're looking at a five-year plan," Mrs. Garrett said. "It will involve replanting the shrubs and trees, and maybe even creating some new gardens."

"And the students will be involved in all of it," Miss Woods said. "They will have the chance to see the results of their efforts and take pride in their campus."
