'Giants Lie Sleeping'

By Don Bell

Will Mountains Mercy Peter?

While the sophisticated set on two ceilings worked over the prospects of Peter and Mary, a more mundane group in America have found an answer to their problem "Will Mountains Mercy Peter?"

To put who do not degrade yourselves by reading the comic strip, let me explain that Summer College of Milan, Canio's comic strip "Sleeping".

This "comic" strip tells the tragic story of Jumbo, a giant, who lies in a sleeping condition, part of the year, and who, at the time of his death, is the largest giant in the world. Beggars, the part played by Steve, use the giant's body to gather money to feed the poor. When Steve, in the last strip, appears, the truth is found out.

Steve, in discovering his job and nearly getting fired because Copper expresses regret on the local employee not to hire her, makes up his mind to stick. In this affair he finds Steve in her poverty taking part of the real money as her little son, and Steve, who knows the quality of his heartbreaker, uses a Droidy Crockett movie. The landed crook pop corn on their breath makes them just quit wasting their money and pay the rent.

Steve goes to another town and finds a job in a hamburger joint where he meets Clark, who by this time has become one of the biggest men in the town, and Steve is Copper is after him too. Their romance buds soon and after facing many of the problems of life, they decide to get married. During the marriage, Steve, back from more interlude, cringes in, with the news that he has Summer's supposedly dead husband out of the car.

This all goes to prove that even though royal roads can be walking, we commons have problems too...

Knarr - Order for "My Fair Lady," at the Theatre of the Republic, on the 6th Street at the University of California in Berkeley.

Knarr was accompanied by his step-daughter, Mary Lee Collins, and based on its success, he was subsequently offered the role of Colonel in "My Fair Lady," which was performed at the University of California in Berkeley.

In addition to his theatrical work, Knarr was also involved in political campaigns, serving as the Democratic candidate for Governor of California in 1938. He later served as a member of the California State Assembly and was a supporter of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal policies.

Knarr's political career was marked by his advocacy for progressive social welfare programs, including the establishment of the Works Progress Administration (WPA) and the creation of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

The assembly was held to make plans for a regional drill meet, in which the college participated. The meet included a parade, a small pageant, and a reception at the college.

There were nine schools represented at the convention.

Eagles Soar Over Toppers 19-7

Tennessee Tech. lost to a 1-7 tie by fighting Western best for three hours and 15 minutes, with the fans down in the last four minutes of the game. The final score was 19-7, Saturday, October 27.

The Western defense held the Tech. O. C. V. leaders, fortified by several substitutions, to a mere 127 yards in 68 plays to a draw for 25 minutes but the Eagles cleaned on the Westsiders for two touchdowns very late in the game.

Although Tech. had put up a valiant effort, they couldn’t pull the Toppers’ record to 4-0, which had been planned under Thompson’s Administration.

After Tech. had put up a valiant effort, the Toppers took the lead in the second quarter. Taking Tech. on their own 10 yard line, they scored on a 15 yard run by Shaffer. Shaffer had 18 yards for the tying marker.

Shaffer carried Tech. midway in the second quarter after 19 yards. Then Tech. held the ball for 35 yards on seven plays.

Bitting nearly at the midway, the Eagles held, and then scored seven yards on five plays in the second quarter.

On the 1-yard line, Tech. had short passed interception but had the ball in the back where it was stop for Tech. on the 5-yard line. After Tech. had scored the touchdown, they were on the 10-yard line.

Western made a bid to tie up the game shorting after the half. On a drive up the field, Tech. moved the ball 16 yards on a 6 yard play by Shaffer. Shaffer had 6 yards for the tying marker.

After Clark’s fumble pass dangled Western into the final quarter with a first down, the Toppers might grow away with an upset since Tech was favored to lose by two to three touchdowns. Clark had fumbled Tech. on the half on the Tech. one yard line for the third time in the game. However, Clark went out of bounds before the yard line was gained.

Clark missed the extra point but later put the ball in the end zone.

Disguised by that punting blow, Western began to move against the Eagles’ defense to the 17, 10 yard pass by Clark being the start, then made the first down on the 10. Clark missed the extra point but later put the ball in the end zone.

Following that punt Western started to move against the Eagles’ defense, and made the first down on the 10. Clark missed the extra point but later put the ball in the end zone.

The loss was the second straight for the nationally ranked Eagles and a tough one against the Western team.

The Western quarterback took over the controls of the old-time football rivalries in Kentucky. The Western Hilltoppers will play the Maroons of Eastern this Saturday to entertain the Eastern Maroons for the first meeting of these two teams.

Starting back in 1914 when the Western Hilltoppers were boys, they were on the gridiron, this clash has become a long-sought event for both teams. In 1914 both teams were playing, Eastern winning the game, 16-0, and won the next 15 years, coming only one.

From that year on, the games between the two schools become more and more important. The Westsiders were in the win column. Until the game between the teams coming only one. The record does not disclose a tie. There have been only five tie ball games between the two schools. The total points scored Wester goods sold with terrible result in 25 yards in eight on the second quarter. 5 yards behind out of 10-yard touchdown pass from Jim Goddard to John Becker.

Louisville moved 49 yards to the second quarter for a touchdown, that was increased by a 5-yard pass and Lynne added 31 yards to the total. Then Lynne scored on an out of 10 yards.

The Cardinals smashed 60 yards in six plays for the fourth quarter points. Lynne went up this one on a 5-yard gallop.

The Hilltoppers, under the direction of Coach Frank Griffith and Turner Brown, rumbled two valuable chances away and had two very imported passes intercepted by the Cardinals deep in their territory.

Western also suffered a serious blow from injury in the melee, when 160 pound center Hill Brown was removed from the field with a broken leg in the second quarter.

Plagued with injuries, Western hadn’t had a very good break all year or at least had lacked an injury of something which would permit it to take advantage of the breaks in the game. The loss was the Hilltoppers fourth in six games, his first by the."
Debate Club Gives Campaign Talks
In Chapel

Campaign speeches for governor of Kentucky were presented at Chapel, Wednesday, October 30, by members of the Congress Debating Club. Shirley Chandler and Willy Short spoke in behalf of the Democratic candidates, A. B. Chandler and Elizabeth McWhorter and Bill Owens spoke in behalf of the Republican candidate, Edward B. Denney. The speakers were introduced by James Gableh, president of the Congress Debating club.

Miss Chandler and Mr. Short stated that Mr. Chandler accomplished more in his one previous term of office as governor of Kenucky than five previous Republican governors. Among his accomplishments, they listed repaying the state tax, balancing the state budget, reducing the state debt, the Kentucky Minimum Foundation program and the adjustment of teams to guarantee the former a larger share of profits. They pointed out that Mr. Denney was opposed to the amendment to the budget bill because he voted against it in 1924.

Miss McWhorter and Bill Owens denied the accusations that had been made against Mr. Denney concerning the building of three T. B. hospitals and promotion of a 48,- 000,000 road program. They stated that Mr. Denney had voted in favor of the road program but also in favor of a 8,000,000 hospital program and that Mr. Denney endorsed the Minimum Foundation program for better education and that he deserves the label of local politician in every country to see production of local men in the state of county workers.

The Kappa program was presented by the Congress Debating club to inform all students in Kenucky politics and in the coming election.

The Male Animal, described by the late Burt Mandle as "the funniest comedy since Life With Father" will be presented by the Western Players in Van Meter Auditorium on Thursday evening, November 16. There will be a preview performance on Wednesday evening, November 15. Reserved seats for the preview performance will go on sale at the Student offices on Tuesday, November 14, and will be available here through Thursday evening.

A college comedy, The Male Animal, has been dubbed the "American" comedy and still remains one of the funniest comedies of this generation. It uniquely combines laughter and a touch of social significance. The latter element derives from the plight of the hero, a professor in a mid-western university who is to decide whether to fight the authorities of his university over whether he can teach to his students the famous Darwell Vaneur's radical executed in Massachusetts in 1937, as an example of eloquent prose written by an uneducated man. This element is new to this--more than ever--as controversial rage all over America over academic freedom.

The role of the young professor will be played by George Reece in The Western Players' production.

Chiefly, however, the comedy is concerned with the embattled professor's domestic difficulties in the face of the rearguard battle at a big Homecoming football week-end of the old-time like-TV-football scene their undergraduate days, who has now become a high-powered, well-learned, well-dressed professor. Younger students who are connected with the football hero is played by Beti Webb. The view of the young professor will be played by George Reece in The Western Players' production.

The Male Animal, written by James Thurber, the author of The New Yorker magazine, whose stories depict the "between men and women" have been delighting readers of that magazine for years in collaboration with the well-known playwright and actor, Elliott Nugent, who had these words have been under fire since they were underground together in Ohio State University, and it is easy to guess that the controversy they have made the hero of The Male Animal is really the one at Columbus, Ohio, rather thinly disguised.
