$120,000 Heating Plant Project Nears Finish

BY VICTOR T. BEACH

After taking a guided tour through the heating plant design here at Western, guided by Emmett Wills, plant superintendent, you get the feeling that you have just witnessed something big in operation. One sees the new 600 horsepower boiler that will soon be in operation, at a cost of $120,000, supplying heat and the necessary superheated steam which heat the buildings at the hilltop campus. This new boiler will take care of Western's present needs and six additional ready-made buildings which will be constructed in the future. One must realize that a lot has gone into making this new and more efficient operation the reality it is today.

Thirteen years ago, 1943, heating took place in the old castle. The heating plant was started from the present site, and was put into operation in February, 1977. The architect for the building was Culp and Sams. The design here for heating was Wallace Norris, and the heating engineer for the entire plant was F. P. Myers of Louisville. The plant contained two 300 horse-power Hoyt water tube boilers with safety valves, which came from the Kentucky Heights Plant.

As Western expanded, the heating plant had to expand thus making the boilers larger. The old No. 1 boiler, which was installed in 1957, was abandoned.

New Fire Hydrants To Be Added To Campus

President Kelly Thompson announced the contract for improving water lines on the campus at a cost of $21,000 had been let. The contract was awarded to P. H. Myers of Louisville. The plant contained two 300 horse-power Hoyt water tube boilers with safety valves, which came from the Kentucky Heights Plant.

Anticipated additional expenditures will increase the cost of the project to $25,000, President Thompson

Announced additional expenditures will increase the cost of the project to $25,000, President Thompson added.

Work on the extension and modernization of water lines on the College Heights will begin on November 14, according to T. G. Crawford, superinten dent of the Crawford Construction Company, which was awarded the contract for the project.

The new project which will cost approximately $30,000 will provide complete fire protection and will also serve to increase the water supply on the campus. The installation of new main will be installed according to recommendations by Bowling Green's fire chief, Robert Schwab and water department head, Francis Devers.

In a long distance telephone conversation, Mr. Crawford stated that the actual laying of new pipe lines would begin on the 14th and the actual work will be completed in two or three months. The new pipe will be placed between the Library and the Administration Building, on the campus.

An Investment That Pays

"An investment in knowledge," said wise old Benjamin Franklin, is "an investment never wasted." In this case, many students think that Benjamin Franklin was talking through his hat, please listen to me,Dear Friend, Dr. Paul C. Glick, of the Census Bureau.

Dr. Glick recently computed the lifetime earning power of the college graduate. The result is exciting, especially at a time when we are all on our toes. Some stopped after one or two years of grammar education. Others finished grade school. Dr. Glick's data are listed in the next paragraph.

If you quit school now, on average, to earn enough to support yourself, you will need approximately $100,000. A college education is worth the investment for a temporary pleasure that ticks the after-day. Remember, there are a lot of tomorrows somewhere out of the way.

The average high school graduate nowadays has approximately 10 years of longevity before him. How much longer would your money earn in preying bens a good job 10 years hence when you have married and have several children to support?

"Bore, I have a ten-year-old-jalopy," you might object, "as you please consider me for the job that is open.

The boss would doubtless consider you a more sensible age.

"Bore, I am a college graduate, and can show you the diplomas," you might rather forcibly protest.

Notice that the college graduate has a lifetime income of $480,000, or $48,000 more for the family who quit high school.

That means you invest $100,000 in life for the family, a good start, and there are only $15,750 in hard cash. Be smart. Don't chase your nose and your future family out of this much greater cash.

Are you in charge? Pol bowls, wouldn't it be easy if we could just replace them?" This term "bowling" instead of the usual term "golf" to refer to the coming 1959 season. The University of Kentucky is coming to the WKU campus on a future date and saw the girl's bowling team playing. Don't think they are the boys. We don't see boys any more, they are the girls. The tournament is a two-day event, but a three-day event, for it will become a three-day event on Friday, November 19. Now when Sadie Hawkins Day will be coming to Bowling Green. The Baden Hawkins Race and Dance will be held on Saturday, November 20.

The dance will be held in Paul Car ter Student Center. It is scheduled for 12:00 p.m., admission $1.00 per person. Everyone should be dressed in light blue and the White and Blue theme. The dance will be held in the Student Center. Women will be on the dance floor, but will not be allowed to dance. The dance will be held on November 19, on a date later. All students are invited to go and enjoy the girls, just in case something should happen on Saturday. The race will be held on Saturday night before Western's last home football game, therefore, even if you can't go to the dance will be held on Saturday night.

Kansas City Building News

Among several manuscripts recently presented to the Kansas City Star by Miss Mabel Loganport, was the contract for a $1.5 million hotel built by the Kaiser Company. The contract was signed by Miss Loganport, who is the wife of the late L. Thomas, who signed the contract on November 9, 1933.

Miss Loganport is the daughter of the late L. Thomas, who died in 1929. She had been a well-known lawyer and businessman in the city for many years. The contract is for the construction of a modern, 1,000-room hotel, to be located in the heart of the city. The hotel will have all modern facilities, including air conditioning, elevators, and a large pool. The hotel will be named after Miss Loganport, and will be one of the largest and finest hotels in the city. The hotel is expected to open in the spring of 1959.

Mrs. B. H. Brown, a resident of Bowling Green, has recently placed several interesting items in the Kansas City Star. One of the items was a story about the 1959 Kansas City World's Fair. The story was written by John H. Brown, who has been a frequent contributor to the Kansas City Star. The story described the exciting new exhibits that will be on display at the fair, and the many new attractions that will be featured. The story was well-received by the readers of the Kansas City Star, and was widely praised for its accuracy and depth.

Mrs. Brown also donated an old story about the Kansas City World's Fair, which was originally owned by the family of F. P. Fries. Book Marks

With selection day just around the corner, interest can be directed to new books about the candidates for the presidency. The candidates for the presidency are: John F. Kennedy, Hubert H. Humphrey, Richard M. Nixon, and George C. Wallace.

In 1964, Arthur Schlesinger Jr.'s "A Thousand Days" was published. This year a Republican primary for the presidency was held. Among the candidates was Barry Goldwater, Under Secretary of Labor, who lost the primary. Arthur Schlesinger Jr. has written a biography of the cabinet minister, who is a key figure in the Republican party.

A biography of a president is "Theodore Roosevelt: The Man in Profile," by the wife of the president, Marjory Roosevelt.

Musician Notes

Officer of the Music Educator's Association of the United States is Joe Lipp, president; George G. Johnson, vice president; and Robert E. Rice, secretary, and Joe Jennings, treasurer.

Cobina and treasure seekers took their annual trip to the dunes this weekend. Monday night on occasion of the Music Educators of the United States and the National Association of Music Educators, a special session was held for music students going to Miss Hilla Gooch, Transylvania U.

The special session, which was limited to singers, featured a series of talks by students composed of members of the Music Educators of the United States and the National Association of Music Educators, who came to hear a concert by the famous African choral group, the "African Singers." The concert, which was sponsored by the University of Kentucky, featured music from the three or two main bands in the world. The colorful costumes, unique instruments, and wonderful music made it a memorable occasion.

Many of us, I am sure, felt our thoughts wander back to Homecoming still. We remember what a success it was. The thrill of seeing all our old friends, the beautiful dresses, and the beautiful gowns, the music, the dancing, not leaving out the reception and luncheons and breakfasts—all these things that make us wish that the day could last longer.

It was a Homecoming comparable only to one that a few of us never forget. The Shackford Day was on Friday, November 10. The Shackford Day is the day before Sadie Hawkins Day, and it is the day when the Shackford House is celebrated.

The Shackford Day is the day when all the women of the Shackford House are invited to a tea at the Shackford House. It is the day when the Shackford House is decorated with flowers and streamers. It is the day when the Shackford House is filled with music and dancing. It is the day when the Shackford House is the place to be.

Western Players Review Activities

One of the largest clubs on the hill is the Western Players, with over one hundred members. This large membership is due mainly to the work put forth by the membership committee.

With such a large membership the Players is always active. Looking ahead on the calendar into early December, we find the Players engaged in the production of "Christmas in Two Keys," the second major production of the year. "Christmas in Two Keys" is divided into two parts, "Christmas in Two Keys Part I" and "The Tale of A Half." The casts for both parts have been selected. The cast for "Christmas Treat" includes: Roy C. Wood, John L. Johnson, and Joe Howard. The cast for "The Tale of A Half" includes: Roy C. Wood, John L. Johnson, and Joe Howard. Join the Players! New members are always welcome. Try them, and you'll be glad you did. It was a real treat to see the Players in action last Thursday night. "Christmas Spree" was a complete success. The Players held a meeting in the library prior to the performance. An informal look at the show was given, and refreshments were enjoyed by all. The players are a fine group of people, and you are sure to receive a warm welcome if you join them.

BOND ISSUE CHAPEL TOPIC

"The Better Roads Bond Issue will cost Kentuckians a lot of far less than nothing!"

These were the words of Dr. James R. Martin as he spoke at the recent Chapel service. Dr. Martin, head of the University of Kentucky's College of Commerce, used a four point outline to clarify this statement. He explained that there are certain problems to be considered before voting for or against the issue which would give Kentucky $100 million for road building purposes.

1. The bond issue is an economic proposal rather than a party platform.
2. The people are voting on whether or not they should authorize the issuance of 10 million dollars in bonds. The national government will grant nine dollars for every Kentucky dollar used for road building.
3. The proposal benefits every part of Kentucky, instead of only the main trunk - lines as many people may think.
4. The people of Kentucky will not be taxed one additional penny. Their tax money will pay the interest on the money being used to build and repair roads. This will go farther than if this money itself were to be used for construction work.

Justification of his opening statement came in Dr. Martin's summation: "With better roads, people will travel more, and their lives will improve. But, just as in the case of highways, they will not be used more, because Kentucky has a tax of ten cents a gallon tax rate, this same tax would pay for the bond issue, and here is more. Because of rising construction costs, the rate of 15 cents per gallon would cost $9,000 to furnish a bridge 20 years from now that would cost only $1000 thousand new. Where you put you 'X' on November 2, it is really as important as if you go to the polls to vote for the candidate you think will represent you and the state you live in to the best advantage."

"Coca-Cola does something for you, doesn't it?"

WHICH MAN PASSED THE H.P. TEST?

HUNDRED PERCENT

The latest, smartly-dressed man on the street... and that's why the Ninety-Nine Problems Test is so important. People judge you by what they see, and ninety-nine percent of you wear the wrong shoes, either too big or too small, and ninety percent of you wear the wrong socks, either too long or too short.

The fresh look is the thing, the kind of person you are, in fact, your attitude. And you may have a million dollars, but if you wear the wrong clothes you're always going to be the lowest of all.

You buy your clothes to make you look good, not to have them8 dried and ironed. A smart tie is just that, a smart tie, and smart shoes.

After securing the license, the family relocated there and is now employed by the Canadian government.

Miss Takenishi is a family whose relatives in Hong Kong estimate that 100 relatives have been left behind in that country. Miss Wilkey's mother is from Scotland and lives in London. Miss Takenishi's mother is from Slovakia and lives in New York.

Miss Carol Wilkey, a home economics major, has just returned from New Delhi, India, where she spent the last year with her parents. Miss Wilkey's father is an advisor to the Indian government on cooperative and rural credit programs.

Tigers Thrash Toppers 42-0

A crew of speedy Memphis State backs aroar up the turt Saturday night and capitalized on every break to nail the Hilltoppers 6-0. The big breaks for the Tigers came in the form of three Toppers' punts averaging only 22 yards per try and two quick interceptions--all occurring deep in Topper territory. Those early big breaks coupled with Memphis' savage line put the Tennessean on the road to their 4-0 Homecoming rout before 6,000 cheering fans.

The Hilltoppers, obviously experiencing a big letdown after their duel with Eastern, were never able to generate a major scoring threat after their attack bogged down on the Memphis 16 following a 20 yard ramble by fullback Rod Bagby early in the second period.

Memphis State, getting a quick jump, managed to generate their six scoring drives inside the Topper 40 yard marker after making their camp in Topper territory early in the first stanza. Overcoming the Topper weight advantage seemed to be no problem for the vicious Memphis line as they displayed some powerful blocking enabling the agile Tiger backs to eat up the yardage--all of them for the record.

Surprisingly enough, it was a State, sophomore guard Bob Lee, who proved to be the Hilltopper's chief tormenter for the night. The agile lineman scored two Toppers

Western's record now stands at 3-0, 0-1 and three defeats.

In OVC play the Hilltoppers have won one game and lost two. Eastern was down 14-0 while losses were to Tennessee Tech, 29-0, and Middle Tennessee State. Since winning conference, the Hilltoppers have whipped Eastern 19-7, 21-8, and Younttown, 26-0, and lost to Memphis State.

The topplers' inability to cope with the long aerials, is expected to be the big factor in the game at Kansas City Saturday. Behind the组成的 defensive wall the Toppers should mount a successful effort.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY 508

I met a man with a rather large head

Who looked at me and finally said:

"If you were my size, how would you feel?

And you think that you ought

To be thinking a thought!

Buy one from me before it's too late.

Thoughts for today, only

One-cent-eighty-five cents.

"A reasonable price," I said and bought.

The following brainy, thoughtful thought:

FAINT PLEASURE ISN'T PLEASURE!

Take your pleasures away! Smoke the cigarettes that give you more of what you're smoking for... more real enjoyment, more real rich flavor... more smoking satisfaction. Smoke a Chesterfield and enjoy it to the hilt.

Cheese for pizz... smoke Chesterfield!"
