State Earmarks $250,000 For Western's Expansion Program

Plans Call For More Than $1,000,000 Outlay

Western's program of expansion and improvement received additional acceleration yesterday with the announcement that $250,000 has been committed to the institution by the State of Kentucky for new buildings.

President Kay Thompson stated shortly after the announcement was made that tentative plans for use of this money call for the construction of a service building, construction of a dormitory for women and renovation of present facilities including transforming Potter Hall into a dormitory for women.

An alternate plan would call for even more additional housing on the campus. The final decision will depend on the outcome of conferences with the college and state engineers with state engineers. The service building will house all mail facilities on the same floor, and with the main receiving and distributing center for all college publications. The building will cost approximately $35,000.

The new dormitory would house 100 occupants. The location of either of these buildings has not been definitely determined.

The new Potter Hall will be completely repaired and renovated to make it a modern dormitory for women.

The total amount of money which has been committed to expansion of the program will amount to more than $700,000.

While discussing plans for use of the $250,000, Thompson reviewed plans for Western by the state, President Thompson stated, to behalf of the entire college organization, to have preliminary plans drawn up through the state. He noted that Governor B. A. Chandler had been very cooperative in making the money available for the badly needed expansion and improvement of the college.

Governor Chandler had told the college officials early in his administration that he would be willing to make such allocations of money. His action was a result of the organization of State Education in Kentucky.

Additional money beyond that granted by the state will be sought from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. Under one plan in addition to the campus buildings, additional dormitory buildings on the campus will be constructed.

HILLTOPICS

BY BETTY SPARDUYN

How many of you at the game last Saturday night thought about the many little things being done at the Hilltop "rubber" to make it the great game it was? You ever stop to think what all goes on behind the scenes at one of Western's games? First of all, credit must go to those that sell and take tickets at all the games. Without them nothing would be possible, but that's only one very pleasant. Also to be recognized are the members of the football team who usher and the alumni who sell tickets and help in the countertops. These people are always helping someone find their seat, and are at your beckon call for a program.

The football fans are also in charge of the concessions stand, something we take for granted, but would be greatly missed if not available.

Something that is impressive at one of our games is the preliminary before the teams begin playing. This involves introduction of the visiting team and the singing of the National Anthem all combined to make this ceremony one long remembered by the visitors to our games. The marching band is also combined during all the home games. This group is uniformed and present at each game, and marks a great change from the "Here's to Old Western, Western will win" which needed much.

Many other things could be mentioned that go into the complete job of presenting a ball game, and if you go to the gym for a game, observe the little things being done and imagine what hours of hard labor go into it to make it work to the approximate $5,000 that are present enjoy themselves a little more.

Student Advisory Council Busy Working On Campus Problems

The Student Advisory Council of the president, which is a year-old organization, has been holding regular meetings this year and is currently investigating several situations which exist on the campus. The council presented a program at chapel, at which the members outlined its objectives and future plans.

The council was originally organized by Professor A. B. of the University, in order to advise him on matters pertaining to students and to keep him abreast of student trends and ideas. Representing a cross section of the student body, the council members were selected on the basis of proven leadership ability on the campus. All members are holding or have held elected office in student organizations and the council is the full semester president of the major clubs in department activities where an officer is elected; the president of the four classes and the editors of the College Heights Herald and Tailman. It was decided to have each member continue the full year on the council, although several of the clubs have elected new officers this semester, as the members are chosen to represent the entire student body, and will not specifically represent their organization or class.

This year, it was felt by the entire group that the council was too large to work effectively with President A. B., so they chose 15 members from their ranks to represent them in meeting with the president. This group is known as the Executive Board of the Council and includes the four class presidents, History Club, History Club and f. C. Council, President C. B. Gray, President C. B. Gray, and President C. B. Gray, are members of the council and include the following students:

Mrs. Frances Hooks Catlett, the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. 春 A. B. Hooks of Harrodsburg, she is president of the Library Science Club, feature editor of the Tailman, and secretary-treasurer of the English Club. She is also featured in the 1957 edition of Who’s Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Leon Dunagan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Dunagan of Louisville, is president of the Geography Club. He has played a variety of football, and baseball for Western, and has been a member of the English Club, and has been president of the English Club, and vice president of the “W” Club.

John Chamberlin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Chamberlin, of Louisville, is president of the Religious Council, the Christian Club, and the Taillman. He has served as president of the Religious Council for two years, and was selected “Campus Favorite” in 1955, and was selected “Who’s Who.”

James Maples, first president of the English Club, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Maples of Dunnell, Georgia. He has been a member of the Arts and Crafts club, and has served as secretary of this club, and as superintendent of the student work projects. James was selected as the Distinguished Military Student of the Year in the APSEC Department.

Robert Morris, first president of the History Club, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Morris of Louisville. A senior, he has been a member of the Geography Club, and was president of the APROIC Department. As the president of the Geography Club, he was president of the Library Science Club, feature editor of the Tailman, and secretary-treasurer of the English Club. He is also featured in the 1957 edition of Who’s Who in American Colleges and Universities. He has been on the staff of the Tailman. He has been president of the Society for Science and Research, and has been a member of the Christian Club. His article on the campus is “Who’s Who” among student leaders. He has served as president and has been president of the Biology Club. He has served on the Tailman staff, and has been a member of the Chemistry Club.

M. C. Parkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Parkin, of Louisville, is a member of the Phi Sigma Home Economics Club. Elaine has been a member of the Western Players, and the Art Club. She was elected to the “Who’s Who” among college students, and was treasurer of the Freshman Class.

Leon King, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. King, from Buckeyeville, and a senior on the Hill, is president of the Education Council. James West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson West, of Crafton was selected president of the Cherry Country Council.

WHICH MAN PASSED
THE N.P. TEST?

Okay, okay. It's a good point and one that makes sense. However, your analysis fails to take into account the specific question in the image. The question asks which man passed the N.P. Test, not whether it is an appropriate decision to make or not. The answer to the question is John Logan, and the reasoning is as follows:

John Logan, junior chemistry-major, from Eufaula, was elected president of the Biology Club.

The new vice-president is Al Gains of Piedmont; Norman Martin, and Mike ‘61, of McAlester.

Entries Are Announced For AAUW

Nine young ladies ranging from freshmen to seniors had entered the American Association of University Women Oratorical Contest before the deadline for receiving entries, announced recently by Russell H. Miller, director of speech activities, who is director of speech activities at Western.

Naomi Densmore, Jane Helstey, Linda Frey, Betty Stelzer, Carol Hatcher, Frances Hooks Calvert, Mary Ruth Grice, Helen Hatfield, and Miss Holliday have been the first nine entries. Several others have expressed an interest in entering, but had not officially entered as the Herald went to press. The wide range of subjects interest interesting listening in the competition which is scheduled for March 5, at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

Free Lipton, the English major, won last year’s contest. She will be a member of the English major’s program or she will select the outstanding speaker to receive the Elizabeth Denfield Lewis Oratorical Fund in the Lipton Oratorical Program on Agriculture, which is a contest by the members of the League of Women Voters of the A. A. U. W. organization at Award College.

The Oratorical Contest is to be held on March 19. Eighteen oratorical entries have already been filed for this competition which is open to men of the junior and senior classes. Deadline for entry for this contest has been set as March 9. All entries will be judged and the entries are requested to submit the subject of their entries, which will be selected by Mr. Miller by that date.

35 Students Graduated At Mid Term

Thirty-five students at Western have graduated during the winter term. Twenty-eight degrees are at the end of the first semester, 22, the end of the year term, and 24, the end of the winter term.

New Point System Should Cut Driving Offenses

By James Waddle

Do you know how Kentucky's Point System works? The Point System is basically a Driver Improvement Program. Its purpose is to make drivers more conscious of safety and more observant of the existing traffic regulations.

The administration of the Point system will be handled in the following manner. A driver accumulating 12 or more points in a three year period, going back from the latest violation, will be upon his request, granted a hearing to show cause why his license should not be sus- pended. These hearings will be conducted by departmental officers at central points throughout the state.

The Department of Public Safety is vitally interested and concerned with the Driver Improvement Program, and it makes every effort to as sess and correct those drivers who are accident repeaters and building up bad records. When 6 in 8 points are accumulated, a warning letter is sent to the offender. With 9 to 12 points on his record, the driver will be called in for an interview to review his case and to attempt to improve his driving record.

Final decision on suspension or other remedial action will be de termined on the basis of the circumstances in each case, and whether the driver is a chronic law violator or a poor risk.

Point System points

The following are mandatory revocations: Driving under influence of alcohol or narcotics 12

Misdemeanor or Reckless Fleeing or Pursuing or eluding a police officer 12

Felony Involving Use of a Motor vehicle 12

Reckless Driving with three convictions in two years 12

Leaving Scene of an Accident or Failure to render aid 12

The following are violations in which two points may be assessed: Misdemeanor Drunk Driving

"Pillars of society" is Henrik Ibsen's protest against materialism. The Thieves of the Bible prayed and long in public and proved their piety and good works. Similarly now, in public life today, and Ibsen's day makes loud profession of their philanthropy, concerns for and sacrifices to the welfare of the community. The ambitions and selfishness behind these pious provides the master dramatic with his theme on this occasion, and it is at times a tepid one, as it is.

Beyond the general attack on social philanthropists which the title announces, "Pillars of society" marks the beginning of Ibsen's long and clear assertion of the claim of women in moral and economical individuality and independence. Disguised with her in evidence on "becoming something for myself," Lena Hessel, who declared to leave behind her the prominent Norwegian town to sail to America to make her own way in the world, and in a gentler way, Martha Bonde, who made a life for herself as teacher in theological schools and social service with the "judged and lost" in her home town— all are variations of this strain of sentiment in the plot.

"Pillars of Society" represents a transfiguration in the work of this great writer into his most productive period that produced "A Doll's House," "Ghosts," "An Enemy of the People." "Hedda Gabler," and "The Master Builder." Ibsen believed in the end to the possibility and the beauty of great anti-clerical, anti-bourgeois humanism. This philosophy ran deep and never become extinct in the poet. Lena Hessel with her devotion in Bonde in is a treasure of

AMERICA'S FASTEST GROWING CIGARETTE
The Hilltoppers, in closing out their regular-season play, will stem the tide of John colleagues' Gold Enslin Eagles in an all-important contest. This game marks an early season decision to Western, 82-76. The Eagles, in a lessening snowstorm, have been unable to put a win in the conference thus far this season. They are paced by veteran junior guard Ron Rice, a Kentucky, with a 10 point game average.

Xaviersd: Next Wednesday the Tops will host one of the closest to the Xavier Stadium, the Xavier Musketeers. The Musketeers slipped the Tops early in the season at Cincinnati, 79-76. Xavier is paced by their 6-4 center Taramak and diminutive Jim Berdahl, a 5-9 footballer who drops in from anywhere. Xavier's chances are thin but they have a powerful forward to make the difference.

Hard Session Opens Spring Football Practice Drills

Nick Dennis, Western's new football mentor, and his Hilltoppers have opened up spring football drills last Monday in preparation for the coming season. Coach Dennis had approximately 48 men report for his first 3 p.m. session Monday. The Hilltoppers have twenty veterans returning from last year's squad which placed 5-5 and 2-1 in their final two games.

The Hilltoppers, new under the N.C.A.A. ruling, will have 30 days of spring practice and under an O.V.O. ruling all colleges in the conference must have their spring football drills completed by March 31. O.V.O. ruling was prohibited in order to prevent the spring football sessions from interfering with the spring sports program. Many of the athletes heavily on the football and basketball teams to lessen their spring sports program.
