212 Will Receive Degrees At Commencement Thursday

Students, School Groups Honored On Awards Day

By James Weddle

With the end of a job well-done staring them in the face, Western students attended chapel Wednesday, May 15, for the annual Senior Day ceremony. This day is set aside for the presentation of honors won by the seniors of Western, and for recognition of students who have done an outstanding job in some field of endeavor during the school year.

Betty Spurlock, editor of the College Heights Herald, presented the Columbus Scholaricr Prize Association award won by the herald, to the college. This signified another fine year for the College Heights Herald.

Mary Ruth Orlie, freshman from Reading Street, received the award for winning the AAWU speech contest. Miss Sibylle Beemer, student speaker.

ATTENTION

The annual Faculty Reception in honor of the graduating seniors and the graduate students will be held this afternoon at the Student Center from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Herald Reporter Reviews '57 Graduation Activities

By Tom Emberton

The annual caps and gowns of Western's commencement period were last held last Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center.

John B. Horton, president of the Lindley-Winona Junior College, will deliver the commencement address in Van Meter Auditorium on Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

The commencement exercises will be held in the Student Center from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

SENIORS PRESENT MEMORIAL - Shown looking over the memorial presented by the 1957 Senior Class was Joseph A. Snell, Jr., and Dewey Bratcher, members of the committee in charge of the memorial.

Senior Class Presents Memorial To Western

The graduation class of 1957 has presented the college a set of natural stone seats located opposite the new entrance.

The seat was donated to the college by Paul and Mary Lou Shutt, who headed the committee on the project.

Formal presentation will take place May 15, along with the dedication ceremonies of the new memorial to the college.

The seats were set free of charge as a part of their special gift to their school.
Western Bids Farewell

To the 212 graduating seniors who will receive their long-awaited degrees next Thursday night, I would like to dedicate the last Herald editorial of the year. I will not start by asking that often quoted question, "is it from here?" I will ask the statement, "You are soon to go out into the world and be one of those on whom its next generation falls. What kind of a world are you going to make?" which are extremely important to think about as you step into this new role you have chosen for yourself.

I will write this as if the entire college were speaking directly to each of you.

To the juniors, remember that you will be solely missed and often remember ed by your fellow classmates, some of whom you may never meet again. Be sure you get to know as many students as possible through your years at Western you will cherish.

We hope you will remember wherever you go, your classmates, the faculty, and the students. You remember that all of us have experienced some time or another the joy of being one of a lot of people and formed many lasting friendships.

Remember long talks with your roommate, a fast cup of coffee in the Snack Bar before going to class, studying way into the night for examinations, those moonlight walks over the campus, your freshman days when you tried so hard to keep up with the upperclassmen, and many other things that have a special meaning to you alone.

Remember when you first entered, and you had no idea what to take, or what field to enter. Then all at once you were a sophomore and you were pretty sure of yourself and more settled. Your junior year has been one that has taught you to be more responsible for that day that looked so far away when you would bid farewell to all those things. Now that time has come, and with it a feeling of sadness engulfs you as you look around for the last time and know you have learned a lot. We hope you are trying to print all past imaging of the things you loved most while here, whether it be the dormitory and its stories, the college and its traditions, and the springtime, the sun sinking over the stadium, or even things you never thought you would miss—classmates, professors, the beautiful campus. We hope you realize that math problem that you worked on so many hours is over and you can breathe. We hope you realize that the mention that helped in the making of your future life. It will seem strange breaking these habits you have formed in the past four years, but as long as Western grows on its students and whether you want to or not, you soon find yourself boasting about it and feeling that you are from Western.

Yes, graduation night is near and when you recall all that Western has meant to you, but it will be a happy occasion too, because you can be proud of what you have achieved and look forward to making yourself of yourself and finding your place in the world.

Good luck to all of you and may God bless you in your future work. Remember that the only thing you have to fear is that of those that you leave behind, you all the happiness and success in the world.

Plaque On Ogden Campus Honors Former Student

By Coty Wayne

In the shade of a large oak tree on Ogden campus is a plaque dedicated to the memory of a former student of old Ogden College. In scribed on this plaque is "OLD STAR COURT OF HONOR. RICH, AND R. HUGHES, HERO OF CAVIARY."

Few people in Bowling Green or even on this campus know of this plaque and the hero behind it. The year was 1917. War tension was increasing and in February suddenly exploded when Germany began unrestricted submarine warfare. On April 6 of that year the United States declared war.

Richard Browder Hughes was born in Bowling Green in 1896. He attended City Street School and Ogden College. Scholastic achievement in college. He was caught up in the spirit of the times. The impending war, the new -fangled automobile, and the young lad of

Outstanding Writers Are Recognized For Their Work

Recognition was given to writers for superior material published this year in Valence, the literary magazine at the final meeting of Western Writers for the year 1966-67, which was held Thursday evening, May 16. During the program prize-winning works were read by the respective writers. The following were given top honors: "Gregy," a poem by James Aikin, "Queering Music," an essay by Terrence Kilian, "Lines From The Art of Love," a Latin translation by Charlotte Harwood, "Lady of Magnolia's Tale of Gory," a review of an Occasional work by Justice Hale, and "Summer," a short story by James Aikin.

Winners In Contest At Auburn

Western's agriculture department received high honors in the Magnolia Rose Festival Fair and Pageant, with Billy Adams at instructor. Western placed tenth overall, third in the Junior Division Judge. They were as follows: Roy Page, first place; Don Treadwell, second; and James Chapman, third.

Other winners were: John Rein, first place in the essay category and second place in the Junior Division Judge; Jack Trauber, first; Bradford Hoiles, second; and John Newby, third. The theme was "The King of the Field and the Kingdom of the Field." Finals were held at the Field of Dreams, with the winners being the top three in each category.

Tops In Sports

If you haven't read various articles of college athletes breaking through college on their ability to participate in various sports, you are in the minority. There are hundreds of articles which have been published in the newspapers and magazines, discussing the "easy ride" college athletes are taking. These articles are constructive as long as they stick to the facts and do not make generalizations. When they begin to embellish, as some of them have, that all athletes are out for that "easy ride," they begin to harm the cause of the man who strives to keep a high academic standing, while making classes for road trips, practicing for hours each day, and continuously having opportunities to "wham by.

Western has each man on their sports roster. These men, while spending every ounce of their respective sport, or sports, to make them successful, continue to think of their studies first. Some of these men are on various boards and councils as your student council, the student staff, Herald staff, etc. One such member of the Hilltoppers basketball squad, 56-57 season, is also outstanding in the field of baseball.

Freshman members of the squad toward these men for guidance, set such heights as their goals, and forget about being like the classic movie hero who has the home of never having opened a book during his college career.

Golf Team Storms Through OVC Playoff After Topping UK

Ray Law, a junior, fired a 76 at the Municipal Course in Richmond to lead the Hilltoppers to the O. V. C. golf championship after an individual season for Donald Griffin's program, who racked up 9 wins without dropping a match. The Hilltoppers will undoubtedly have to cover mental state changes after their brilliant effort in the championship playoffs. Law, in covering the 36 holes to a brilliant 307, benefited twice behind Edwards who took medal honors with a 365 at 71-53 scores. Western, in covering the season's championship team event, finished a gaudy 14 strokes behind defending champs Middle Tennessee who finished in third place with a team total of 1:11. Tennessee Tech 1839, Eastern with 1:25, and East Tennessee finished third, fourth and fifth respectively.

Here's how the standing 'Four A's' appeared: Law 75-146, Wood 75-135-131, and Oll- bert 75-128-119.

The Tygers out-stroked their adversaries all 3 ways as they booked a team total of 91 the first day in nipping by a bit stroke lead over Middle Tennessee.

Sturgis of Eastern scored Eastern's Don Wood as the individual champ. Finishing behind Edwards and Law were Jim Chinara a sophomore and More Cow- boy of Middle Tennessee with 343. Coach Griffin's JKokmen finished the season with a 2-0 rec- ord, scoring a 364 with a 79 at Lexington last Friday 13. This was followed by a vibrant 81 at the wildcats by firing a sub- par shot of 3 on the last hole. Other winners for the Tygers were Bill Chalco and Don Bateman. Ray Law represented the finest line possible.

The U. of K. match brought the 'Kennel's' right back to an almost 9-5 count prior to the OVC playoffs.

College High Cardinals Enter Regional Undeated

By Mike Spack

One of the winningest baseball teams in the history of the school will meet Campbellsville in the regional tournament today on the Hill. The Cardinals from the training school have blazed through regular season and district tournament play without a single defeat.

Those who have followed this team know it will take a lot of baseball to stop them today. Throughout regular season and tournament play these fellows have left a trail of records that will long stand in the high school record book.

By posting a winning twon and no loss record through district tour- nament play, the team will be the only team in the school's history to raise the regional playoffs with a perfect record.

It was in the opening game of the district play that this club pulled another upset. Newbery won three in a period of only two days. Coach Al Alhorn could send seventh grade pitchers Lynn Gilmore and Mike Spack to coil Eastern with a 3-0 record.

The pitching duties were shared by sophomore Billy Bray who re- ceived credit for the first and seventh grade Lynn Scypure who won two with no defeats.

The leading hitter for the Car- dinals is junior first baseman Don Drury. He is batting at a healthy .350 clip. Other leading hitters for the team are junior Larry Shields, .30; junior Lamar Her- bert, .30; freshman Donnie Ham- mer, .30; and sophomore Billy Bray, .30. Rounding out the twelfth man is junior Terry Owens. Freeman Charles Harris, fresh- man Jerry Brotin, eighth grader Hal Griffin, and seventh grad- er Lynn Scypure.

Getting out of batting area averages, Coach Al Alhorn suggested that academically his team might rank among the highest in the nation. The team holds an over all average of a B grade, with four of the players listed as A students.
