Poore gets first for feature writing

Congratulations to Chris Poore who placed first in the Hearst Feature Writing Competition.

Chris entered his story about a student with bulimia. The story ran in one issue of last semester's Herald Magazine.

Chris will receive $2,000 and is eligible for the Hearst National Writing Competition in San Francisco.

Chris also scored points for Western's print program. Each year the school that gets the most points wins the Hearst Competition and is given $10,000 for its program.

Western's print program has consistently placed in the top 10 and the photo program has placed first the past two years.

Also congratulations to Chris, who has landed a job at the Lexington Herald-Leader. Chris was a 1991 intern for the paper, Leader.

PRSSA infobits

PRSSA would like to congratulate Eric L. Davis on winning the Steve L. Hunt Memorial Scholarship. Eric was announced as the winner during the PRSA luncheon on Pro-Am Day.

1991 Talisman arrives...finally

The 1991 Talisman is finally here.

After problems with printing and photos, the yearbooks arrived last week.

Students who ordered a book may pick them up at Student Publications.

The yearbook's theme is The Western World. And, as usual, it has great photos and stories.

Kim Hadley was the editor and Billy Hardin was managing editor.

Congratulations, Kim and Billy. Thanks for the hard work Talisman staff.

We were all saddened to hear about the unexpected death of Michael A. O'Leary, a 21-year-old photo student.

Michael had been rappelling with three other Western students when he apparently slipped and fell to his death.

The accident occurred around 8:50 p.m. Oct. 30 at a steel bridge over Barren River. He died of head injuries sustained when he hit a rock ledge.

Michael was from Buffalo, N.Y. We extend sympathy to his friends and family.

Lawrence accepts new job; publications to get new worker

We wish Rhonda Lawrence well at her new job at Fruit of the Loom.

Rhonda, who began working this summer as secretary in Student Publications, accepted her job because of better pay.

Despite a hiring freeze, the university will allow Student Publications to hire a new secretary at the beginning of the year.

Happy Thanksgiving
