12-18-1973

UA12/2/1 Camellia Bowl Special

WKU Student Affairs

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.wku.edu/dlsc_ua_records

Part of the Journalism Studies Commons, Mass Communication Commons, Public Relations and Advertising Commons, and the Sports Studies Commons

Recommended Citation

http://digitalcommons.wku.edu/dlsc_ua_records/3521

This Other is brought to you for free and open access by TopSCHOLAR®. It has been accepted for inclusion in WKU Archives Records by an authorized administrator of TopSCHOLAR®. For more information, please contact topscholar@wku.edu.
Camellia Bowl Special
College Heights Herald
Western Kentucky University
Bowling Green, Ky.
Tuesday, Dec. 18, 1973

QUARTERBACK Dennis Tomek (12) attempts to escape the vicious pass rush of Louisiana Tech that sacked him six times for a total loss of 80 yards. At right, cheerleader Kelly McKeehan resorted to nail biting during some tense moments of the championship game.

"We just didn't play no ball"

By Verenda Smith

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—The time has come, said the walrus, to speak of many things—including why Western was shut out by Louisiana Tech Saturday 34-0. And not only did the Hilltoppers break their 12-game winning streak, but a clue as to how early some fans waved goodbye to the hopes of the first NCAA championship came early in the second quarter, when a writer described the set gulls lazily encircling the field as "vultures moving in for the kill." Louisiana Tech took control of the game early when they took advantage of Western's first three punts, which averaged only 31 yards, to dig their way into Western territory.

"My leg is shot," explained kicker Charlie Johnson as he sat on the bench and watched Walter Herd take over his job on the field. "Every once in awhile I can really kick, but it's been a long season and my leg is just too stiff."

The Hilltoppers averaged only 33.8 yards per punt during the entire game, with Herd kicking seven times for 41.3 yards and Johnson at 39.6 yards in five tries. Tech averaged 8.1 yards per kick.

It took the Bulldogs only two possessions to get on the board. With the ball given to them inside Western's 47-yard line, McNamara ran it 37 yards to the 15-yard line. Quarterback Denny Duron was headed for a touchdown when he slipped in the mud, and defensive back John Leathers stopped another TD attempt when he batted a pass out of the air. Tech settled for a field goal, and from then on it was Knieke-bat-bat-bat-

Photo by Mark Gordon

Photo by Verenda Smith

CHIN IN HAND, punter Charlie Johnson, gives his attention to the action during Saturday's loss. Johnson punted five times on a rain-soaked field for a 39.6 yard average.

FAILING to get a first down (it was their last possession in the half before they would have one), the Toppers punted 31 yards. It was returned to the Western one-yard line, where Johnson grabbed West's Wilson just in time to keep him from scoring.

Instead, Charlie "Quick Six" McNamara took the ball over the line, and with six minutes left in the first quarter, Tech was on top 10-0.

Early in the second quarter Tech combined two pass interceptions and two plays to become two touchdowns richer, and down 24-0, about all Western had left to battle for was its pride.

Center David Carter said, "We weren't mentally ready: We were too relaxed."

Commenting on the first

—Cont. to Page 4, Col. 3—
Sell your used books!

Highest prices During Finals Week

Bonus Days
Get an extra 10% during finals week.

College Heights Bookstore
Downing University Center
Leo's view

Westerners who went West got ambushed more than once

By LEO PECKENPAUGH

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — A disappointed group of Western fans, coaches and players sat in disbelief here Sunday afternoon at the Sacramento airport, waiting for a flight from here to Nashville that would never take place, on this day anyway.

The charter flight that was scheduled to depart from Sacramento at 9 a.m. had been delayed because of electronic problems. Truth is, that the electricity in the DC-8's galley was nil and the plane had been grounded by FAA officials until everything was working.

So the Western delegation waited. Until 11 o'clock they sat and replayed the 34-0 whitewash they had suffered at the hands of Louisiana Tech in the Carnella Bowl the day before. Card games were plentiful with players, coaches and others sprawled across the lobby of the airport trying to kill time.

You could play your game—almost like the gambling mania of Lake Tahoe, Nev., had been the night before as several had made the 90-mile trip—supposedly sightseeing.

But word the flight would be delayed another two hours while Capitol Airlines officials tried to repair the aircraft. Western coach Jimmy Petz gave his players extra money, which they promptly used in two of the airport stores.

Meanwhile, two hours later, the Capitol officials tried desperately to locate another plane to slip the travel-weary Toppers home, as it became evident that it would take too long to fix the craft. They found a similar DC-8 in Las Vegas, and it appeared that the team would leave around 3:30 p.m.

Word was spread for everyone to meet at gate 26 at 3:30, ready to depart.

Capitol gave all members scheduled to fly out on the charter meal allowances. They ate and returned at the designated time.

But there was no place, as it was learned that the plane in Las Vegas could garner only five stewardesses. FAA requires that a plane have seven, and again the group played the waiting game.

Down in the airport's cocktail lounge a small gathering watched pre-flight games between Buffalo and the New York Jets. Someone noted that the Western Redskins Tech game would be replayed on another station. The bartender changed channels and within minutes the place was packed. Tension mounted as if the game had yet to be played. The Western people watched intensely, maybe hoping that their proud offense wouldn't play so poorly the second time around.

They did, and the lounge emptied late in the game, when their team was being soundly thrashed.

But good news was on the way.

Good news for a few anyway.

Because after a nine-hour wait, the group was going to be sent to Oakland via buses and housed in the Hilton Inn. They would leave Monday morning, via the same plane.

WESTERN PLAYERS and friends enjoy a friendly game of cards while waiting for their flight Sunday at the Sacramento (Calif.) airport. The flight never took place, Sunday at least, and the team was forced to stay in Oakland. Left to right are, Bob Sandige, Paul Bushong, Bill Bushong, Tom Ward and sportswriter Clark Hanes.

Telephone booths were flooded as several businessmen on the trip notified their offices that they would not be home for work Monday.

Players called home to explain their absence. But they didn't mind it. An extra night simply meant more sightseeing. This time in nearby San Francisco.
Louisiana Tech stymies usually potent offense

"I'm headed for College Inn!!
WHY?
- ALL UTILITIES PAID
- CLEAN LINENS AND TOWELS
- MAID SERVICE
- NO MAINTENANCE PROBLEMS
- PROFESSIONAL SECURITY SERVICE
- CAFETERIA AND SNACK BAR
- PRIVACY

That's why I'm moving to The College Inn.

THE COLLEGE INN
1149 College Street

College Heights
Herald
Cornellio Bowl Special
Leo Pickens, Sports Editor
Veronda Smith, Asst. Sports Editor
Staff
Carter Pence, George Suddell,
Bruce Ayers, Steve Hardin,
Al Gross, Advertising

The College Heights Herald is a weekly publication of the Western Kentucky University and is published every Thursday during the academic year by Western Kentucky University. Wishing all readers a happy holiday season, stop by the College Heights Bookstore for a selection of books, gifts, and more. A free Raleigh bicycle will be given away on December 24th, 2000. You do not have to be present to win.
that part of the reason the blocking was off was, once again, the slippery field. "The force of hitting someone makes your feet slip down," he said, adding, just as every other player had said, that there were no excuses. "It's hard to explain what happened because everything just went wrong."

Total offensive yardage in the game was 76 yards for Western, far below their season average of 407. yards. Tech went 336 yards. They also outpassed the Hilltoppers 150 yards to 88. And Western had only seven first downs to Tech's 17.

John Stumber rushed for a team high of 36 yards in nine carries. He was followed by Clarence Jackson with 12 yards in eight carries. Tomski held the ball six times and lost 50 yards.

On the defensive squad, however, things were a little brighter. They held McDaniel to 149 yards in 21 carries, and Bernie Berto had only 42 yards in 14 tries.

Perhaps the flashiest defensive performance of the game was by defensive back Mike McCoy, who tallied All-American Roger Carr so closely that Carr only caught one ball all afternoon—that one, however, went 36 yards for a touchdown.

But except for some commendable defensive efforts, not much went right for the Toppers. Porter Williams summed up the situation best, "They aren't that much better than we are. We just didn't play no ball."

---

BURGER KING RESTAURANT

THE HOME OF THE WHOPPER WHERE KIDS ARE KING

11th & Laurel Bowling Green, Ky.

FREE FRIES

with purchase of a Whopper or Jr. Whopper and Coke

11th and By-Pass Offer good thru 12-31-73

limit 1 per customer

---

BURGER CHEF

Try our luncheon special

Big Chef - French Fries Small Coke

99¢

11:00 - 2:00 Daily
Burger Chef on the By-Pass

Register for a free Raleigh bicycle to be given away Dec. 24, 2:00 p.m.
You do not have to be present to win.

---

SANTA WILL ARRIVE TONIGHT!

(Tuesday, Dec 18)

CHRISTMAS SURPRISE GRAB BAGS
VALUES UP TO $10
ONLY $2

---

Due To A Typographical Error, The Phone Number In The Frischs Ad Last Friday Was Incorrect.
The Correct Number Is —

781-3363
Russellville Rd.— Just Past The Over Pass

---

This is our first Christmas, and we would like to show our appreciation to you our loyal customers by bringing SANTA to Headquarters.

---

The Individual Store for Individual Tastes for Individual People

108 Western Gateway Center 843-1796
12-9 Mon-Fri 10-9 Sat , 12-6 Sun

For your Christmas shopping convenience, we will be open til 10 Mon-Thu.
MEET YOUR FRIENDS AT

BOAT DOCK
RESTAURANT
BARREN RIVER ROAD

Specializing in Catfish
Seafood
842-9845

Center Theatre
BOWLING UNIVERSITY CENTER

Thru Thursday

VINCENT PRICE
DIANA RIGG

"THEATRE OF BLOOD"

United Artists

12-18-73
6

MEET YOUR FRIENDS AT

BOAT DOCK
RESTAURANT
BARREN RIVER ROAD

Specializing in Catfish
Seafood
842-9845

Center Theatre
BOWLING UNIVERSITY CENTER

Thru Thursday

VINCENT PRICE
DIANA RIGG

"THEATRE OF BLOOD"

United Artists

WESTERN COACH Jim Feix, who absorbed his worst loss ever, relaxes before Saturday’s game.

And first shutout as head coach

Feix suffers worst loss ever

By LEO PECKENPAUGH

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — When Western's football team left the field at Hughes Stadium here Saturday after losing the NCAA Division II national championship to Louisiana Tech 34-6, it was the first time a Jimmy Feix-coached Hilltopper team had been shut out.

And it was Feix's worst loss in his six-year reign at Western.

But the Henderson native said "this is the first time I really don't hate losing."

"With the kind of season we've had," Feix said, "you just don't hate it. I'm really proud of these guys laying it on the line in the second half when they were down 24-0. I think even though we didn't perform well, we showed a lot of pride."

"We just lost," said Western quarterback Dennis Tomok, who was sacked behind the line of scrimmage six times. "Hall, I don't know what to say. This is the first time we've been in this situation this year and I don't know what to think. I'm just disappointed it has to end this way."

Western's Porter Williams was ready for the passes that didn't come. "It seems that every time Dennis turned around he was on his butt," Williams said.

Defensive coordinator Butch Gilbert said, "I don't know whether it was that we played so bad or they forced us to play below normal. It was probably a combination of both."

Louisiana Tech head coach Maxie Lambright, who admitted his was surprised the victory was "this easy," said, "We couldn't have done anything better. We forced them into things they hadn't done. You just don't beat a team like Western every day."

The gloomy Western dressing room found offensive inness John McElroy and Dave Nolner, weeping and embracing teammates.

"Oh, it's not so bad losing," McElroy said, "but such a poor performance makes you feel bad. I just hated to see us play so bad."

Nolner, the team's captain, asked "I just can't believe it. How did we play so poorly?"

Offensive coach Stan Clark said he was glad it was over. "It's

Continued on Page 7, Col. 2

Start your woodcarving career with a kit from

Folk crafts
982 Fairview 842-6232

BIG "B" DRY CLEANING

Monday-Tuesday-Wednesday

Long or short

COATS

$1.19 each

DRAPEORIES
Cut and Priced by the
PERFECT FLAT
Price...comes the kit!

OPEN 7 A.M. TO 1 P.M. MONDAY THRU SATURDAY

Big B Cleaners

No. 1 Tiffin College Phone 642-8163
No. 1 University Plaza Phone 642-1715
No. 1 Fairway Plaza Phone 642-1716
No. 1 Western Guarantee Phone 642-1717

OPEN TILL 7 EVERY NIGHT

11 TO 7 SLACK SHACK

Mens Double Knit Slacks
(150% to $22.00)
only $6.00

Ladies Slacks
only $4.55

Cardigan Sweaters
only $5.99

Mens Work Pants
only $2.99

Mens Long Sleeved Dress Shirts
only $1.18

Ladies Tops
$1.00 and up

Jeans
$3.77 and up

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS SALE

31 W By-Pass
(Next to Bale Tire)
FULLY FURNISHED APARTMENTS

The Reef Apartments
11th and Stubbins St.

The Lodge Apartments
Topmill Drive

New, modern, fully furnished apartments located conveniently close to campus. Call now for more information.

Call 842-3296 or 843-1068 9am - 4:30 pm

TAPE HUT'S
End of Semester SALE

10% off on all 8-TRACK TAPES with student I.D.

Sale ends Fri. Dec. 21, 1973

Feix suffers

Continued from Page 6 -

been such a long and trying season," he said.
The Hilltoppers had averaged 57.7 points a game before being shutout Saturday.

Tech quarterback Danny Duron, a mister in Racine, Ia., engineered the victory, passing for one touchdown and sending his runners through and around the Western defense.

"You just don't beat a team like Western every day," he said.

"But we came down here believing we could win. We didn't come here to lose."
Cagers hark to holiday tournaments

Off to its best start since 1970, the Western basketballers traveled to Florida for a pair of holiday tournaments during the Christmas vacation break.

With a 5-0 record, Western will play in St. Petersburg's Big Sun Invitational Friday and Saturday. The Topers have been paired opposite independent power Florida State Friday with the winners of two other entries, Wake Forest and LaSalle, also meeting.

The losers will meet for third place honors in the first game Saturday with the championship slated to follow.

The Topers will then have a four-day break, where they'll stay in Orlando for a visit to Disneyland, and will compete in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl Classic.

The tournament, which is played on Dec. 26-27, will find Western meeting Duke in Jacksonville entertaining Florida.

The Topers have never met Florida State in the two teams' illustrious basketball histories. When Western takes to the floor against Duke in Jacksonville, it'll be the second meeting between the two schools. Duke whipped Western 79-72 in 1960.

LaSalle will come to Diddle Arena Jan. 9 and Western will open its Ohio Valley Conference campaign Jan. 13 and 14 with clashes against East Tennessee and Tennessee Tech.

---

Bowl-ed over

The frustration of the Camellia Bowl found its way to the homefront as students gathered before available television sets to watch the proceedings. A surge late in the second quarter brought the Topers within scoring position and the fans at Budweiser Hall to their feet. Failing to convert, the Topes turned the ball over to Louisiana Tech on the Bulldogs' 10-yard line and Denise Greerwell, top right, turned herself over to frustration.

Photos by Scott Applewhite

---

THE KING OF USED BOOKS IS PAYING TOP CASH FOR BOOKS BRING YOURS TO

L.M. BOOK STORE 1409 CENTER STREET

BIG RED, YOU'RE STILL NUMBER 1 WITH US!