Herald Selected As Best College Paper In State

Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green, Ky., has selected The College Heights Herald as the best college newspaper in the state. This honor, which is given by the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association, is the first time that the school has received such recognition.

The Herald was established in 1928 and has a circulation of 1,000 copies. It is published once a week and is distributed to all students and faculty members. The newspaper covers local news, sports, and events, as well as national and international news.

The Herald is published by the Western Kentucky University Student News Service, which is a student-run organization. The newspaper is funded by a combination of student fees and advertising revenue.

The Herald’s selection as the best college newspaper in Kentucky is a testament to the hard work and dedication of its staff. The newspaper covers a wide range of topics and provides valuable information to the university community.

Military Ball Is Capped By Crowning Of Queen

The annual Military Ball, sponsored by the Officers Club of Western Kentucky University, was held on Saturday night at the Health and Physical Education Building. The ball was attended by over 300 guests, including faculty, staff, and students.

The evening began with the presentation of colors by the ROTC Detachment, followed by the crowning of the queen, who was selected from among the students in attendance.

The ball featured live music, a variety of foods, and dancing. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the queen, who was chosen by a panel of judges based on her appearance and personality.

The evening concluded with a farewell song sung by the university choir, and guests were invited to continue the celebration at the Officers Club. The Military Ball is an annual event that brings together members of the university community to enjoy a night of fun and entertainment.

We Hope The Seniors Will Consider

For several years now it has been becoming increasingly evident that all is not well with the financial structure of the various class organizations. Far from being ideal, the arrangement, particularly that part of it which concerns the collecting of class dues, has become a book no further than to the financial statuses of the last few graduating classes to be made painfully aware of the fact. That the work has been left to be done, and done soon, is clearly apparent. It is becoming impossible more rapidly each semester for barely 40% of the pledges to turn in their books, or for the seniors, who are best equipped to do so, to provide the necessary money that to meet expenses that the entire group incurs. With the record books showing a consistent failure to meet the demands of the collected dues during the past few years it has already become obvious that the present method is as outdated as the coon-crazy, raccoon skins that were once worn to keep the weather out. This is the most identical with those of a plan successfully put into effect last spring. At that time, the second semester dues of the then senior class were added to the charges for the renting of caps and gowns. The result, needless to say, was the only record of a recent past. There are not many little things we would like to bring. For instance:

A pop club for the students:

Life for the long silent Cherry Hall chimes:

A new pencil sharpener for the periodical room in the library:

Eff 07 for the main reading room in the building:

Eff 07 with the omission of the "free", for each floor in Cherry Hall:

Because these conditions do exist and because we are secret to no one, we were rather surprised and a little disappointed last Monday evening when a group of the senior class proposing to make the payment of organization dues compulsory to students.

We were surprised to see that someone had finally agreed to assume the responsibility for the introduction of the long-needed measure and disappointed to note that it was defeated, almost pret emptorily dismissed, without at least being allowed a committee investigation and report.

The aim of the motion, as was made clear at the meeting, was not to force every senior to pay his twenty-five cents each semester, but rather to provide for the expected revenue from an organization whereby the pay ment of that twenty-five cents could be taken care of efficiently and expediently. To effect this it was proposed to have the slight charge paid to the college Bursar along with the regular class room and incidental fees on registration day.

When the motion was defeated it did not seem clear at the time, although there was some cry of a "principle" at stake. And while we feel that cry was unwarranted, we have ever been any indication to high-pressure final action on the bill at Monday's meeting. We choose to believe that there was no, however, considering that the details had not at all been worked out.

But regardless of the intentions, we think much of the practical reasons the seniors were warned that the meeting would take place where and when it did, the fact that only about one-fourth of them were present, the usual one-fourth, should not have caused such a cry of overstepping of rights or any excessive concern over the matter of representing interests being ignored.

Why the measure should have been defeated, at least as it was, is even less clear. Especially is this so when one takes into consideration that its proponents are most identical with those of a plan successfully put into effect last spring. At that time, the second semester dues of the then senior class were added to the charges for the renting of caps and gowns. The result, needless to say, was the only record of a recent past. Motion Affecting Students Passed

The Bowling Green City Council has passed an ordinance to restore traffic congestion on Fifteenth street in front of Cherry Hall. In the past when cars have been parked on both sides of Fifteenth street it has been impossible for traffic to be carried on in a normal manner and the street has become narrow of the street,

For this reason, the city fathers have seen fit to forbid parking on the south side of the street under threat of an impound fine. For the first offense a cash fine, with the provisions of the ordinance and warning you not to repeat the offense, will be presented. The second time a fine will result.

Mac Francis Bowling Green, a student of the University of Louisville Medical School.

An Expression of Appreciation

As an expression of appreciation for the help of the students in raising money for the Kentucky United Fund, the students were given a reception by the Student Council.

The reception was held in the Student Union at 8:00 p.m. Following the reception, the students were given a tour of the University of Louisville Medical School.

Santa Claus On Hill Last Night

Santa Claus made an advance visit to the dormitories this evening. The students were greeted by the singing of Christmas carols and the sound of Santa's sleigh bells. The decorations were a sight to behold. The students were treated to a variety of treats, including cookies, hot chocolate, and holiday music.

tended the fall meeting of the Kentucky Athletic Conference held at Lexington on November 27th.

Coach Terry announced after the meeting that the Kentuck-yan football coaches met to agree to a "Development of Teachers in Service.""

The Latin Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grise on Wednesday, December 14. They decided to send Christmas cards to last year's club officers and also signed to each member of the club.

Miss Nisonoepier gave an interesting talk on the composition of the Latin prose and poetry, and the contribution of each writer and historical event. Upon the completion of this resolution, a quiz program was held on the various things discussed, with pri-Norri the winners.

After refreshments were served, the meeting adjourned.

International Relations
The International Relations Club held its regular ui-weekly meeting last Tuesday.

The program was an open forum on whether or not the United States should send food to the civilian population of either East or West Berlin. It was well illustrated with pictures of the city of Berlin and its activities.

After the open forum, a coffee hour was held, during which refreshments were served.

Arts and Crafts
The Arts and Crafts Club met for its monthly meeting last Thursday evening. The program was over by President D. N. Robinson, who introduced the students to the art of oil painting.

President Mrs. Rose Blauker, chairwoman of the club, gave a talk on the history of the club. The club members were shown pictures of the city of Berlin and its activities.

After the talk, the students were given a chance to try their hand at oil painting.

Science and Agriculture
The Science and Agriculture Club met at 7:30 o'clock in the science building. The program was given by President D. N. Robinson.

President Mrs. Rose Blauker, chairwoman of the club, gave a talk on the history of the club. The club members were shown pictures of the city of Berlin and its activities.

After the talk, the students were given a chance to try their hand at oil painting.

The meeting will be January 7 at 7:00 o'clock.

In Sports
The Student Council held its meeting on Monday afternoon, December 14 at the Student Building. The girls joined in singing Christmas carols. The speaker of the evening was Miss Kelly, Home Economics teacher of Aiken and Warren County. Miss Kelly spoke on "The Advantages and Disadvantages of Doing Home Demonstration Work."

French
Christmas evening, December 16, the French club gave a Christmas program in the Little Theater. The program was lighted only by candlelight and the audience sat on either side of a creech banked with evergreen. This was an unusual way of seating observed in the French home.

The program was opened by the reading of the Christmas story from the French book. The audience was then entertained by a presentation of the club, Dorothy Gillis. This was followed by the singing of a French Christmas carol. James Gillis presented a song on a subject of the Noel Providers in France. He described of the French Christmas holidays spent by French students in visiting the country of France. This was followed by a song of the French Christmas carols.

Toppers Swamp Western Boxers Draw With Paducah In Independent Go

Western fighters Steve even last week in Paducah as they registered a win, a draw, and a loss in three bouts staged at Board Arena, Dec. 12.

Roger Ralst scored the Western victory by decision at Bill Sweaney in a hard-fought, three-round contest. Ralst, a lightweight, had his man on the canvas three times in the first short round but the Paducah nat. gave the battle eight rounds to settle the fight on his feet. Wodrow Jones, Western 112-pounder, fought to a three-round draw with Joe Pinzard, Paducah lightweight. Jones, who kicked his man with a hard right at the opening gun, seemed to have everything in hand during the first round, but Pinzard came back to win the second and third frames to punch his way to a draw. Jan Paszek who suffered a round knock-out was the only Western left to live. Paszek gave J. D. Waston, Paducah lightweight, little trouble before getting knocked into a thirty-minute sleep.

The fights were held in order to get some of Kentucky's amateurs ready for the Golden Gloves tournament which will be held at different times throughout the state in February.

Athletic Banquet Set For Spring

Western Athletic Director W. L. "Gandy" Terry announced yesterday a change of policy in regard to the holding of athletic banquets. Effective this spring a general sports convocation will be held at the conclusion of each scholastic year, probably during commencement week, at which letter-carriers in all collegiate sports will be guests. No definite date has been set for this year's affair.

All the details of the banquet have been placed in the hands of the banquet committee headed by Kelly Thompson, and a more complete announcement will be forthcoming in a later issue of the Herald. An attempt will be made to attract a nationally-known speaker. Physical Education will offer separate affairs for only the football and basketball teams at which functions lettermen in those sports alone were honored. This spring those engaged in all sports sponsored by the college will be guests. This includes, in addition to the names raised above, tennis, baseball, and track.

Missouri Daddlemen Are Unimpressed In tuned-up Till

Turning on the steam in the final period, the Daddlemen overpowered Friday, the 12th, linking to tie a 42-22 division from Southeast Missouri Teachers on the local floor in a tune-up tilt for the Washington and Lit battle in Louisville tonight. The victory was the Toppers' third in a row, against no losers.

The first half was a slow, drarry affair as both teams played with much position. The Daddlemen were bottled up by a stiff defense during this part of the contest as the Missouri boys allowed only four field goals while laying in five free-throwers themselves. Western, however, tallied seven free throws and led the intermission, 15-13.

The Toppers got under way in the second half and scored 27 points to the Indians' 21, Carrie Tower, who was held to a couple of foul shots during the first half, came back to add 10 points to his score and grab high-point honors for the night. Kendrick Pulks was second with 10 tallies.

During the first half the lead changed hands thirteen times and every were more than four points different in the two teams. Indians went to the front 11-15 immediately after the intermission but Towner and Pulks getting hot at this point passed the Toppers into an ever increasing lead. The Indians seemed to have lost the battle in the final period and even after Coach Delely sent in his full complement of reserves, they were unable to gain on the Toppers.

Although Molkey led the Mississippians in scoring with 16 points, Belton and Burles were the lowly performers. The Indians turned in a hard-fought game in which Barbee and Towner and Toper's and Toper's floor play was outstanding.

Missouri Daddlemen Defeat Southern Illinois In Initial Contest

With all-American center Keith Towner showing the way, the Hillb illies finally made it through the basketball season at Madisonville, December. The unseeded hillbillies had been unable to put the Toppers to start off the season, but in their second meeting, the hillbillies also gave the boys for the revenge for the last meeting, the Hillb illies' victory at Carbondale last year and 1940. The hillbillies were held to only four points, but the Mid-i-60s were behind the hillbillies, 19-12, the hillbillies took the lead in the second half, outscoring the hillbillies, 32-49. Both teams showed the tricks of the trade and the hillbillies and the hillbillies were played as a matter of fact.

For the first five minutes, the hillbillies could not get it even, but Western swung in the lead with the hillbillies, 13-14, and the hillbillies led by 22-13 at the half. The hillbillies were not able to get a strong, quick passers, but they lacked a lot of height. The point man was Harry Darham, a tall center, who scored seven points. After Towner in the second half, the hillbillies ran with the hillbillies, 57-56, with both teams playing a free throw.

1. Stanford over Notre Dame in the Rose Bowl. With Practice Hall being only a second place, and Frankie Albert at their peak, the Cardinal was mighty.

2. Tennessee over Boston College in the Cotton Bowl. This is very close, but I’ll have to stick to the Yale. The truth is that they had an easy schedule, but they also knocked off Duke and Alabama.

3. Mississippi State over Georgetown in the Orange Bowl. The team that could beat Alabama and Mississippi is good enough for me. In spite of the fine record of the Northerners.

4. Texas A & M over Fordham. In spite of that upset by Texas, I think John Kintler and Company will be strong for Fordham, but the Rams have a quartet of fine backs.

For those of you who haven’t yet seen it, here is an article in Look for December 31 called “Basketball Forecast” and written by Robert A. Cook. Cook is the basketball expert who will report the “top ten” basketball teams of the overnight. This season, he gives a preview of what he thinks will be the outstanding teams of 1941-42. In the past he has predicted that “basketball is as big as having a set of fancy figures to each team as Notre Dame. Michigan State, Bradley Tech, and Western Kentucky.”

Cook also picks what he believes will be the first three all-American teams at the close of the campaign. At first glance the list covers the top ten and places Carlyle Towery. Ever heard of him?

In a way, it’s too bad that school is only a week away. Until the sixth night for it means that a lot of us will be forced to buy our basketball ticket against Ohio University on the night of the show. This game is one of the high spots of the season and should be a banger.

Last week-end Ohio played Xavier II when the Hilltoppers scored 40-29 last January, Xavier has a team which averages over six feet and they were fresh from a 77-20 victory over Thompsonville. Ohio took them into camp, 48-37. If any of you can manage to get back for Bowling Green that night, I am sure it will be well worth your while.

Presenting Your Class Presidents

By John Stacey

Skeeter Vance

The political campaign that ranked first in distractions on the Hill and second in the nation, this year was that for the illustrious office of president of the freshman class. Martin “Skeeter” Vance, by virtue of his own aptitude and the reinforcement of some timely publicity, was the man chosen to lead the “youngsters of the Hill.”

“Skeeter,” who migrated from his home in Goshen to Western for the summer term, is a pre-law student with high ambitions for progress and recognition in the legal profession. As he does not sit at the present time contemplate receiving a degree from Western, his decisions as to major and minors have not been reached yet. In all probability, however, he will stress the political sciences in his college curriculum.

“Skeeter” has already received well-deserved recognition in connection with the peace elections before Thanksgiving. He succeeded in landing a third place position over men with more experience. It should be mentioned here that the young “Ace Lincoln” so called because of his physical appearance and force had received deca for the past, he had had previous experience.

He is now working for the Geal Punt for his meals. With a politician’s hand shake and greeting, makes a conscious effort to speak to every one he meets. A member of the Michigan Debating and Essay Club, although he does not sit at the exceedingly active part as the present, he possesses the potential for developing into a sturdy Senator.

As is characteristic of new Senators, he is lacking in the more technical parliamentary axioms; yet with his ambition and zeal, he should be well versed before many sessions.

His ambition at the present is not so much the practicing of law as it is the construction of law. He desires to sit in one of the legislatures and help formulate the laws of the land.

With a slow grin he added, “I have set a high goal and I hope to realize it some day.”

Student Symposium

By Ray Barlow

Do you agree that student participation in chapel programs?

Would you participate if called upon?

Three questions were asked of 101 students during the past week and the following results were obtained:

Seventy-three students thought that there was not enough participation by undergraduates in the present proportion was ideal, and seven thought students should not participate at all.

Fifty-nine of those seventy-three favoring more participation were willing to answer so they be called upon, while the remaining forty-one believed that their presence on the stage would not at all enhance the quality of the program or even the interest.

Twenty-seven of the forty-one thought student participation would hurt attendance at chapel.

Kentuckians

In Indiana

William R. Chance writes that he married Kathleen Russell, A.B. '38, of Evansville, Kentucky, on August 17, at the Christian church in Kentucky Green, and that he and Mrs.
Russell are living in the 865 Buchan street, Gary, Indiana, where Kathleen is continuing her college work at Gary college.

Mr. Chance went to Gary in 1933 and taught commercial work in the mornings and high school subjects in the afternoons for three months of school and eight weeks of summer camp. Besides this work, William is teaching four nights per week in night school. The Gary school system places its teachers on a tenure contract during their fifth year and gives them an annual increment of $200.00.

They moved to Miami last fall from Evansville on December 21 to 26 for their wedding. Kathleen recently received a letter from Leslie Newsom, Olga Newsom’s brother, who is teaching in the University of Miami. Florida. They further state that their move was due to doing secretarial work in the U. S. Steel offices in Miami, Florida. The splendid career of Mr. and Mrs. Chance is expected to continue.

Westen
WINS
AGAIN...

You can chalk up the reason as cooperation—
 many men doing his part,-day in and day out.
The same thing happens when businesses work together. The chances for success are more than doubled.

It is our business to cooperate with the students of Western in every constructive effort for the development of their abilities.
