Dad

In the throat of even the most stalwart man there arises a lump when you mention Dad to him. To be sure, it was his mother to whom he told his troubles and on whose shoulder he cried when his best girl left him, but it was his dad who was to him a real pal to him. He was the one to whom he could talk man to man and yet not feel ashamed. It was his dad whom he copied when he first put on long trousers. He ambition mainly was "to be a man just like Dad." It is to this great personage that one day each year is dedicated. Dad rules supreme on that day. He is the center of all our attention, and the one over whom we make a show. He is the man of the house and the master of the situation.

This year, as for the past eight years, Western has set aside a day in honor of Dad. Today is that day.

Our chapel program is dedicated to him. Every student will have the honor of introducing Dad to the student body, faculty, and other guests. A special luncheon will be given in his behalf. He will be an honor guest at our football game this afternoon. DAD, YOU ARE WELCOME—WE ARE HONORED TO HAVE YOU.

Western College Players

Dr. J. Reid Sterrett and his Western College Players have just presented their fall dramatic production and again they have added another jewel to their precious scepter.

The year of 1934 marked the organization of the Western College Players and the coming of the able Dr. J. Reid Sterrett. Previous to 1934 the dramatic productions were sponsored by the literary and other class organizations. The formation of the College Players was a step to pool the talent and resources of the institution. This resulted in a more unified dramatic program which has given Western a long list of outstanding productions.

One feature of the program of the Western College Players is the variety of types of performances.

The group has presented three Pulitzer Prize Winners: "Miss Lulu Bett," "To the Ladies," and "The Bound." Two classical productions have been given, Oscar Wilde's "Importance of Being Earnest," and Shakespeare's "Two Gentlemen of Verona." A number of contemporary works have been staged: "Laburnum Grove," and "Hay Fever." The mystic type was given in "Our Town," and "Outward Bound," while "Age 26" was of the literary group. The recent production, "The Flying Gerardos," took us back to the melodramatic presentation, "Gold in the Hills." This list of productions is a credit to any institution of this size.

Success of this group may be attributed to a number of factors: the untiring efforts of Dr. Sterrett, the dramatic talent of the Hill, the support of faculty and student body, and cooperation of other departments with the College Players. Congratulations! All of You.

Murray-Western Rivalry

Again, Kentucky's outstanding gridiron classic between two Kentucky colleges is at our threshold.

This rivalry began in 1931 and his continuing without interruption since that date. Since the inaugural tilt, the Western-Murray game has been the highlight on both institutions' gridiron schedule.

Not only has the competition been the climaxing feature to each institution's schedule, but it has grown to be the gridiron classic of West Kentucky. Interest in this occasion has gone beyond the bounds of West Kentucky—year by year it is吸引了 growing crowds from other sections of the state.

Strictly made this affair so colorful! As we see it, sportmanship is the secret. Supporters of each institution root with all their might for their representative team. After the hard-fought game is over, won or lost, the students, alumni, and fans of both schools are just friendly neighbors.

This year we are going to this traditional classic, Murray, and her followers. Westerners, root for our team, but after the game is over, won or lost, remember that we are the winners. Let sportmanship give more stimulus to this rivalry.

Merlin Waleski, fresh from Sandusky, Ohio, is wearing a "F" For Victory" pin that has quite a background. He received it recently from a friend living in Telford, England, with whom he had been corresponding for several years.

HILLTOPS—

Word has reached this column that Raymond Miller, also of Sandusky, was engaged with an interesting project before he materialized at Western to study music. He was organizer and manager of the "Oncall College entertainers." This was a variety show that featured ten black face comedians and instrumentalists. They have performed at theaters, schools and churches for the past three years.

HILLTOPS—

Tom Byrd, former Western tackle, is now playing professional football for the New York Americans. He was with the Detroit Lions earlier in the season. In reporting to his team at Yankee Stadium, Byrd asked permission to use the lockers formerly occupied by base ball star Babe Ruth, much to Tom's surprise his request was granted.

HILLTOPS—

Humors from the Eastern Campus say that The Maroons would probably have received an invitation to the Sun Bowl had they defeated Western. If the Tar Heels round the Toppers, the Easterners may still be granted a bid according to this report.

HILLTOPS—

Some attractive placards have been posted over the campus in an attempt to arouse enthusiasm over the Howard game today. An interesting one has "Rah! Rah! Rah!" on the first line with "Terry" on the second line preceded by the outline of a red garter.

Campus Chips of the Cadet Corps

By Don Paula Newsom

Attention! U.S. Army Recruiting Service's latest campaign for the armed forces of the United States: a sav, weighing seven pounds, twelve and a half ounces, was born to Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Frederick P. Finley at 1:44 a.m. on Wednesday, November 6, 1941. He was promptly named Frederick Franklin Finley.

Lt. David K. Cloos, with Company "M" 24th Infantry, Port Republic, Ky., visited Western November 6 and 5 on the way to Maxwell Field, Alabama, where he has been transferred to the United States Air Corps to receive flight instructions in the officer grade. Cloos graduated in an honor student from Western's ROTC and served as a 2nd lieutenant in Pershing Rifles. He was also named as a member of Who's Who in American Colleges, Vol. 9.

Lient. John North, 1940 Pershing Rifles captain, was on the campus Friday, November 1, 1941, enroute to Fort Chuter, Michigan, where he is stationed with the 18th Infantry. He is on leave after having par- ticipated in the Thursday, November 1, Louisiana maneuvers.

ROTC

Snm Saur, former member of Western's ROTC, was in town the other night. Sam is joining the Army Air Corps. Said Sam, "I got my orders to report to the Air Corps Service School and I couldn't go without coming back to the Hill and seeing all the fellows before leaving; so I drove over tonight to take a last look around."

ROTC

Pershing Rifles have been bearing down these last few days. The application for membership is being used to man marches out the Russellville Road in addition to a generous amount of drill with the rifle team. The fellows are bound under it however, and are sticking out the fatigue. That's the kind of spirit that Pershing Rifles are to have. They just want to fan that spirit into a warm glow, giving flame to the argument of "B." When the college appointment has been made...

ROTC

The fellows of the cadets had an occasion to put into practice the theoretical material they had learned when they went on a patrol a few nights ago. The problem was created over terrain several miles west of the college boundary. Twelve patrolmen of sophomores were organized and sent out early by one junior and one senior officer. Each group was equipped with a primula daisy and a flashlight. Use of the light was forbidden except for occasions of checking the direction of the march.

The results were both enlightening and amusing. Valuable experience was gained and serious mistakes were pointed out to the cadets. The patrolmen were faced with the task of dealing with a variety of human personalities that are faced by patrols, and the manner with which they should be dealt. On the whole, the mission was succeeded and another phase of the problem may be anticipated in the near future.

Hilltoppers To Play Howard In Dads Day Battle Today

The Western's crippled Hilltoppers will be seeking to push their average above the .300 mark again when they meet the Bulldogs of Howard College on the gridiron for the Dads Day celebration this afternoon. Last week's loss to Tennessee Tech left the 'Toppers with a record of four wins against a like number of defeats and marked the first time since 1931 that the Western grid machine has suffered more than three setbacks in a single season.

Coach Terry's starting eleven is in a little better physical condition than for the T. P. I. game but there is a strong possibility that one or two regulars may still be sidelined by game time this afternoon. Jimmy Sludio, regular blocking back is not likely to see action against the Bulldogs along with Bob Wilson, junior wingback, and John Masada, freshman, who alternates at the fullback position.

According to composite scores the Hilltoppers are going to have to show a lot more class than they did last week in order to be victorious over the Alabama. The boys from Birmingham have on their record, besides ties to Tennessee, Alabama and Miami, victories over Spring Hill and Tamps.

First Turkey Day Game In History Of The Rivalry

For the first time in their eleven year old rivalry the Western Hilltoppers and the Murray Thoroughbreds will engage in a Thanksgiving Day battle. The game will be played in the Western stadium next Thursday afternoon.

The game will originally scheduled for November 22, but it was re-scheduled because of an agreement between the two schools in order that more spectators might be on hand to witness another thrilling struggle between state arch foes.

Little discretion was handed by either team the last two times the 'Bords invaded the Hill, as each game resulted in a deadlock. The 1937 meeting of the two teams, played in a blinding snowstorm, ended in a 12-12 tie, as the BYU score sheet shows 12-12 no decision till. Last year the Western team romped all over a soggy Murray gridiron, threatening often but scoring only twice on a drive home from.

Comparative scores of the two

Six uniformed high school guards are to join Western's football band in dressing for the Western-Murray football game. Basin, Frankoma, Wheatcroft, Simpson County High, Bowling Green, Mareetville, and Central City have definitely made their plans to play.

That and a colorful half-time program

Hugh Goodman, director of the Western band, is in charge of the program.

This year shows little in favor of either team. The 'Topper's record shows four wins against a like number of defeats while the Murraymen have been successful in two encounters, losing four and tying one. The Hilltoppers beat Eastern 27-0 in 1939 and the Maroons trounced Murray 6-0.

This would seem to give Coach Terry's boys an edge, but the score of the game against Tennessee Tech tells a different story. The boys from the Mountain State out fought 14-7 by the Eagles, while the Western boys tied the same team. Morehead went down before the Hilltoppers by a 14-6 accid, but had to the Murray team by a 16-7 margin.

Next Thursday's game will mark the beginning of the Western football season for 1941. Six Western starters will make their last appearance of collegiate football in the Murray game. Those men that will be giving their last for the Red and Gray are: Eddie Conche, halfback; Howard Downing and Carl Jesse, tackles; Harold Hunter and Harry Bowling, guards.

West Michigan Drops Western At Kalamazoo

The Western Hilltoppers made a painful contribution to Western Michigan's Homecoming festivities Nov. 1, at Kalamazoo by taking the 21-7 kicking from the Bronco's.

The uncertain pass defense and poor kicking on the part of the Terrymen were great assets to the Michigan men. A poor kick, due much to a stiff wind, by Crouch went out on his own 27 yard line. Using straight power, the Michigan backs, barstonned the line, with Michigan gaining six yards for the initial tally, Metzger converted.

No scoring took place in either the second or third quarters. However, when the third quarter ended, the Hilltoppers had the ball on the Michigan 14 yard line and five and ten yards, Kentucky recovered a Michigan fumble on the 24 and Cunningham fired a 20-yard pass to Jayper. The first play in the final stanza saw Joe Cullen take back and fire a long pass to Bob Does in the end zone and Does made it 7-7 with a perfect boot.

With things looking pretty rosy for Western, the Bronco's momentum fell away after the Kentucky kickoff, when Melton forced a 30-yard pass to Classroom who ran 30 more yards for the mark. Metzger again from 32 yards, making it 14-7 and the situation was again mighty gloomy for the Terrymen.

In the fourth quarter, the Bronco's marched 30 yards for the touchdown following a kicked goal. Metzger made it three in a row with his final placement.

WELCOME DADS to your day at Western. Today is the first Dads Day football game ever to be held on Friday. This change was made in order to give the fathers of the Western students a better opportunity to leave their businesses and come to the Hill on their day at Western. Today's game between the Western Hilltoppers and Howard College should provide a good football show for you, and all Western students sincerely hope that you enjoy it.

TOP TOPPERS

Dads, it would be wise for you to pick up your pep pepers on Harry "Puddle" Foot. Bowling this afternoon if you want to see some fancy defensive work. Harry's jersey number will be 86, and he plays the guard position. He graduated from St. Joseph Prep School, Batdertown, and his home is in New Haven, Kentucky. Bowling is one of the senior guards on the Hilltopper squad and tips the scales at 185. He stands at 5'11" and is not heavy of his opponents stand after "Puddlefoot" throw. Blocking into him. Bowling is a biology major, and plans to graduate from Western in June. He is 22 years of age and expects to be in the army soon after graduation.

WKTC

A preliminary to the big gridiron battle between Western and Murray will be held at Murray this afternoon when the Baby Hilltoppers engage the Murray freshmen. Because of a large number of casualties both Western and Murray upon an agreement between the two schools will be forced to call on a couple of their big brothers for help. Pregans and Asbury will be the varsity men that will assist the Western Baby Toppers. Murray will also use a couple of varsity men in the tilt.

WKTC

Just to show what the Hilltoppers will be up against this afternoon, Howewell played the mighty Vols of the University of Tennessee last week and lost by a 28-6 score. The Howard marker was a result of the work of Jimmy Tawans who helped much in the Bulldogs' 74 yard march for their line touchdown against the Tennessee Vols. The Bulldogs and Chattanoogo deadlocked 7-7, and then Chattanooga defeated Tennessee Tech one touchdown, but the Tech took the Hilltoppers into camp.

SPIKES, CLEATS And SNEAKERS

Ever since the 1941 football schedule was released last spring the eyes of the Western students and fans have been focused on the last game of the year. Not only because it was the last game of the season, but because that game is with Murray. The Murray-Western fight of the gridiron is the second oldest rival series in the state. Western and Murray have been battling it out for the last ten years. Western holds the lead in games won and lost, having won six games to Murray's two, with two games resulting in ties. This year's game between the two Western Kentucky teams should measure up to those of the past years, because the comparative score system, which is not too accurate, rates the teams just about even. It should be a great football game when the Thoroughbreds, and the Hilltoppers meet in the Western stadium next Thursday afternoon for the first Turkey Day battle between these two teams.
