Tickets, Fines... Moans—Police Say ‘Don’t Park’

By BUDDY M. BRYANT

Monday morning, 8:15 a.m.—Joe G. Johnson, captain for the security office and partner in the 3801 Corvette in a vacant faculty space near Van Meter Auditorium. At 9:20 a.m., Officer Wallace dropped by for a routine check, discovered John’s vehicle. The incident led to a citation for illegal parking.

The prevailing opinion of events is not too common for the security office. Students are usually the only ones affected by the security office.

Two men are assigned to the shift and the campus security car is co-sponsored by the University’s Green Police department by two—radio doctor officers along with the security staff are: Bryan Bryant, Delbert Cummings, Ed and Wilman, William Soderberg, Ed Tom White.

Royalty expressed concern over the way the campus landscape is being marred by carelessness students and faculty who fail to use the sidewalks that are provided. He voiced the hopes that all would do their part in helping to keep the campus beautiful.

Future plans indicate a campus-wide safety program will be established under the direction of Chief Royalty and the National Safety Council. Officer Bryant said and also that the new equipment for the campus police is anticipated early this year to keep pace with the expansion of the college.

The chief came in from the busy, serving with the Iowa City Police department for 16 years.

Coed Industrial Arts Major
To Teach Handicapped

By JAMES PEDEN

Have you ever thought about stepping into a man's field and showing him it isn't only a man's field? Miss Agnes Ruff did and she has succeeded.

Miss Ruff is the first woman to be a bona fide industrial arts major in the history of Western. According to Walter Nalbach, head of the industrial arts department, Nalbach states that Miss Ruff is one of the most sincere and dedicated students he has ever taught.

As an art minor, Miss Ruff plans to take a two-semester drawing to the degree upon graduation.

How does a girl feel after choosing a field such as industrial arts? "I wonder if many people feel, after they have chosen a major and have entered into it, that they have bitten off more than they can chew?" asks Miss Ruff.

"When I entered my high school woodworking class, the first day of my first year, I was wondering if I had chosen the wrong specialty."

"Ode To Judgement Day"

ON SEMESTER EXAMINATIONS

(Editor's Note: The following is from a bulletin of the National Secretaries Association.)

"And it came to pass that early in the morning of the last day of the term, the teacher found his desk surrounded by a group of students. They had missed their classes and were asking for their books and papers to be returned. The teacher replied that their marks had been recorded and they could receive them immediately.

"But the students argued that they should not be penalized for missing a day of class. They claimed that the teacher had given them the necessary information during the day.

"The teacher responded that they needed to be held accountable for their absences and the missing day of class, and that they would have to take a make-up exam to prove their knowledge of the material.

"The students reluctantly agreed to the make-up exam, and the teacher marked their papers and returned them the following day."
Credit Organization Has Great Potential

BY FRAN NELSON
Harold Feature Editor
Western Kentucky State College Credit Union, Inc. is an impressive name for an organization of only two years' existence. But if plans for the future materialize, it will double its membership in no time.

The credit union was established on June 31, 1963, and started taking members on August 1. February. Membership of the union can take place in two ways: they can invest a minimum of $500 in a new account, increasing dividend rate, and a $30 credit union flat will also assist members in establishing, setting up things as borrowing, goods as reduced prices, and in financing such purchases.

Life Savings Provided
A special feature offered to members in the provision of life insurance at zero charge, on all loans and investments. The amount of insurance is equal to the amount of the account. (This provision bears are automatically paid off in case of the borrower's death. And in the event of an investment being called, the heirs are to receive the money in the account.)

Eligible for membership are all students, faculty, staff members, and members of their immediate families of W.K. State Credit Union, Inc. is under the leadership of:

English Faculty Plans Increase in Curriculum

BY RACHEL MOONEY
Assistant Features Editor

As a result of the recent enrollment expansion at Western there is in need of additional faculty or what is known as "differential faculty." A notable example is the English department.

Dr. William E. Wood, head of the English department, said, "Several new minors are now being added, but the English faculty, and we have greatly enriched our fine arts program." New minors are now offered in the major classes.

Another expansion in the curriculum is the addition of a new course, "Introduction to English," to be taught by Dr. Wood. The course, which is open to all students, will be offered to all students.

Dr. Wood added, "The English department has greatly expanded its curriculum, the teaching staff, and the course. The department has greatly increased. Several new teachers have been added to the staff for this year, and classes are to be offered by the Student Center and the Rock House as well as Cherry Hall. Faculty offices for the departments are also located in all of those buildings."

Dr. Wood said, "When I entered the department there were seven full-time English teachers. Now there are ten full-time English teachers. The student enrollment in the English department was small. Now there are so full and part-time faculty offices in the department and the student enrollment is 1,400."

Physics Students "Shoot For Moon"

By RICHARD H. BENNETT

Wes Knecht and Glenn Glasgow look at the stars under very different conditions than most Western students.

Knecht and Glasgows are senior physics majors who are studying the stars through an 8-inch reflector telescope which the physics department purchased last year at a cost of approximately $700.

They have been working on the project since September under the sponsorship of Dr. Marvin W. Russell, chairman of the physics department.

"Its purpose is to determine the limitations and possibilities of the telescope for astrophotography, " Knecht said.

Knecht has a Schmidt-Nicol X camera which can be attached to the telescope so that a close-up picture can be taken of the moon and some of the planets.

They have been able to photograph the eclipse of the moon which occurred Dec. 16. Also, pictures have been made of Jupiter and Saturn. They have observed them through a telescope which "Kunaf described as "seeing our own galaxy."

The two physics majors have worked at the roof of Olmstead Hall and the open fields of the school farm on the Nashville road as sites for their observations.

Winds and cold weather have been big problems faced by Knecht and Glasgow. As Knecht said, "I've put a dome enclosure to overcome these difficulties."

He expressed the group's appreciation for the help and cooperation given them by several of the physics faculty members and by the buildings and grounds supervisors.

"The physics department is getting new astronomy equipment which can be adapted for research work," Kunaf said. As a result of the new equipment purchased by the department, the physics students will be able to view the sun directly under any power of magnification.

Can a radio station make you dashing, debonair, masterful?

Well, now that's asking just too much! Even for WKCT. Of course, it's true WKT does give you a lift—gets you up on your toes—and does it without jarring your nerves. "WKCT" personalities are sharp—just listening to them makes you a master at small talk. And WKCT's news is first with the most—it makes you a master of big talk. To keep up with sports—you find plenty of, pappy and accurate statistics in Wes Strother's broadcasts of Hilltopper and local high school games. Then, there is Doug Hendley with "Light Night," a music style designed for the sophisticated young adults, and ABC Radio with network programs designed for young adults.

With all that maybe WKCT CAN make you dashing, debonair, masterful. Try it—dial at

KAPPA KAPPA GAMA
The Kappa Kappa Gamma chapter at Murray State College was presented with the national convention which will be in Atlanta in June. The fall semester pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity gave their traditional pre-initiation party last week for the active chapter. The party was held at the Murray Home Club. The alums, active, and pledges provided the evening's entertainment which featured the Glee Club.

The Lambda Chis are participating in the intramural basketball program with teams in all three leagues.

KAPPA SIGMA
Kappa Sigma gave its initiation dance at Western Hills Baptist Church. Before the dance the brothers attended a dinner given in honor of the new members. During the dinner the initiation ceremonies were conducted. Basketball and bowling have kept the brothers fairly busy this past month, as well as counseling pledges. Recent initiates William Peterson and Neil England put on a fine performance in Kappa Sigma's basketball game with ATO. The two accounted for almost half of the Kappa Sig points.

KAPPA DELTA
The Delta Gamma colony of Kappa Delta was represented by Mrs. Mattie Ruth Gallagher, the active member of the chapter from Stillwater, Okla., and Mrs. Rosemary Evans, president from West Lafayette, Ind. "Ring out the Old, Ring in the New" was the theme of the Kappa Delta dinner dance at Western Hills Baptist Church. The dinner was enjoyed by all for the music of E. A. Pope and the Revelers. At ten o'clock a skit was given by Vickie Eames, Mary Louise Jones, and Nancy Jasper portraying three old maid's looking back on the days when they were members of the Kappa Delta sorority. The skit was funny and enjoyable. Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, and Mr. and Mrs. Helen Johnson.

Plan Valentine Dance

Sophs make plans for the Sweetheart Ball scheduled for Feb. 12. The committee, headed by Dorothy Bartz, has invited candidates for Valentine royalty from the campus as a whole. The final vote will be at the dance.

Girls named were Linda Thomas, Kay Washburn, Ann Greenwell, Rose Baidul, Judy Jones, June Johnson, Betty Adams and Pam Piscatella, Carolyn McChord, Brenda Haynes, Bonnie Siglion, Karen Harris and Susan Long.

Attendance better

Approximately 160 students attended each class meeting with the figure slightly more for the freshman class and noticeably less for seniors. Students commented favorably on the increased interest and general student turnout for the election.

Final examinations for all Saturday classes will be held this Saturday, Jan. 25, and scheduled according to an announcement by William Monroe, Dean of Undergraduate Instruction.

Hilltoppers Show OVC They Are For Real

BY AL STILLEY
 Herald Sports Editor

Yes, it is true — the Hilltoppers are a Western hardwood team that is in the title contention for the OVC Crook.

After Monday night's decisive victory over Morehead, the Hilltoppers proved they are for real.

Paced by a balanced-scoring attack (9 players in double figures), and 43-43 rebounding, the Hilltoppers proved they are for real — and they proved to be too much for Morehead.

And for the first time since December 6, the Hilltoppers broke their mythical "600 Barrier" by hitting 59 of 100 shots for a 59.5 clip.

"When we rebounded well, the boys seem to play better ball," explained Oldham.

Hilltopper Unleashed

The Topper dominoes fell 63-57 over the 1,870 yesterday. Dwight Smith, the rebounding ace pointed in the OVC caught 11 m i n u t e s — while Clare Oldham Sr. and Steve Crow-mingham grabbed 12 apiece.

In full view of 5,600 Western fans, the potential of the pounding Topper was unfurled in magnificent display Monday night.

By screening defense, the Topper coaching staff (Oldham and assistants Gene Rhodes and Buck Sydor) has instilled in their players the essentials of pride and desire which has held 14 opponents to a meager 52.5 points per game.

Offensively the这的 pack a 32.1 points per game punch, led by Hankins' 23.3 average.

Starters Displayed Guts

Kneeling in the ball away from intended receivers, a hugging for rebounds and setting the court alive with passes, each starter displayed the guts that may very well lead the Toppers into the OVC hardwood throne.

Forward Pearl-Nicks tallied 17 points while discounting his fierce rebounding style.

Cunningham, the Topper in the gray flannel suit who is never out of the ball game, added 12 rebounds to increase his total to 127 for 14 games.

Smith, theuffy sparkplug of the Topper, was the first Hilltopper to smash out of a defensive slump. The 4' 4'' backcourt is 14 for 34, from the field in his last two games.

Alternate captains Ray Rhee- now has 13 points per game in games in addition to giving ex- cellent leadership to the young team.

Leadership From Coach

Coach Oldham has received excellent leadership from captain Ralph Baker, who has 27 rebounds and 77 points in a non-starting role.

"If I had time to name the qualities a captain must possess, I'd list the Top. Baker has 'em — leadership, unselfishness, reponsibility and dedication," claims Oldham.

Substitutes Bob Daniel, Charles Shuffield, Billy Warren, Jackie Butler, Kellar W a r-ker and Mike Kletten to-gather have accumulated 35 of 112 field goal attempts and 10 free throws for 20 points and a few rebounds to spare.

Yes, the Hilltoppers are for real.

Millen To Battle Union's Bulldogs

By PERRY GROW

Western renewes its series with Union University when the Hilltoppers seek their tenth straight series victory without a defeat Saturday at 8 p.m. in the E. A. Diddle Arena.

The Topper goals of the Roadhouse in the Diddle Arena, taking time two—quarter domination and Creasy predicated a 1-6 rec-millen hills面对 Middle Tennessee State Blue Raiders.

Millen will attempt a repeat performance of 1970 over the Raiders in the 37-1 record of the OVC for the second time in the 1st year.

The Topper will be seeking their 43rd victory in 55 games against the Raiders coached by Bill Shinn.

Austin Peay, under co-chip Coach Louis Pyle, is a proud team. The Govs rounded won their first game of the season by defeating Union and last Saturday in the OVC game by diving bowling East Tennessee State 72-23.

In the OVC Holiday tourney, the Govs were dropped 100-84 by Eastern Kentucky in the opening round.

The Govs posted a 169 rec-week last year, and were 5-7 in their first year in the OVC.

Western will be out to break the two games losing skid, having lost 59-46 and 77-59 in two meetings last season. Tip-off time is 7:00.

Friday — East Tenn.

The Toppers return home to boil East Tennessee State February 6, as Western opens its second half of of the Peninsula's OVC schedule. On February 9, Western hosts Tennessee Tech. Both games begin at 9:00 p.m.

Western defeated Tennessee Tech 57-52 on Saturday and edged East Tennessee State 70-69 on Saturday. East Tennnessie's winning field goal at Junction City, Kansas.

East Tennessee's Buckaroos have one of the top sophomore in the nation, 6'4 Tommy Thompson, who averages over 20 rebounds per game.

After watching Woods operate, Coach Oldham said, "He's a great real threat for our team to see when he plays on our floor with the right hand like he's seven feet tall."

In hosting Tennessee Tech's Golden Eagles, coach Johnny Oldham will oppose his head- successor Kenny Sidwell.

Five From Western Attend Athletic Conferences Held By NCAA Groups

By AL STILLEY

Herald Sports Editor

In the National Collegiate Athletic Association's latest move toward the professionalization of college sports, athletic directors and coaches made their decisions affecting football and track.

The NCAA offered a resolution calling for an invitation to the AIAW to participate in any AIAW track or gymnastics meet unless the NCAA sanctions the meet and is given two weeks on the AIAW's administrative committee.

The NCAA also ruled that college athletes cannot sign with professional teams until after the bowl games and that any college football coach accepting pay from a professional team for scouting, helping sign players, or other chores must be disciplined. The latter rule is subject to a two-thirds majority vote by mail.

Platoon System

And Monday, the rules committee decided to repay a collegiate football in the platoon system, with its decision of un-imited substituting when the ball changes hands.

At the NCAA Convention, Western was represented by assistant athletic director Floyd Hornbeck, head football coach Nick Delos and assistant Turf Coach Ed Fazekas and head track coach Tom Eckert.

"The decision of the rules committee again forces football teams into specialization," explained Delos.

"Right now, we don't know how that decision will affect the team next season, but, on the whole, it will give more boys a chance to play on most college teams," Delos concluded.

"Argue On Techniques"

Fazekas commented, "The track coaches had two days of meetings where we argued mainly on the techniques of running track."

In explaining the recruiting of football players, Delos stated, "The rules are totally dependent upon the colleges for their talent because they have virtually no minor leagues as in baseball, football, "etc."

"The intense rivalry of the two teams to sign players who are still eligible to play on the college level has hurt the colleges," Delos added. "Of course, the colleges don't have the right to sign players.

Brown's All-Stars of the Week

Earl Hicks (33) and Dwight Smith (33) are this week's Brown's All-Stars of the Week. Hicks hit seven of field goals and three field throws for a career high of 17 points against Morehead State. Smith had all 17 rebounds, for his best performance of the season as the Topper downed the Eagles 92-60.
HOW TO BE A SUCCESSFUL BENCHWARMER

This was written by David McClellan while he was a junior at College High School. He was a benchwarmer.

During the last two years, I have spent around fifty hours watching the bench during our more talented champs, who are on the hardwood, giving their all for the dear old alma mater. Yes, it takes a lot of talent to be busy enough to sit on the bench-six straight games. As you can see by what is stated above, I am a successful benchwarmer. Here are some qualifications that enthusiastic young benchwarmers should possess.

You must have practically no talent. And if you do, you must be careful to keep it hidden, or you might have the awful experience of having the coach put you in the game.

You must have a highly trained voice, for it's the duty of the bench to aid the cheerleaders in spurring the team to greater heights.

Last but not least, you must have highly developed handkerchiefs, for that's the part of you that takes the wear, plus the splinters. This is my biggest downfall, as a benchwarmer—I don't have developed handkerchiefs.

Firmly Anchored On Bench

If upon examining yourself, you find that you possess these qualifications, you have at least a chance of being an average benchwarmer.

Now for some pointers that should keep you firmly anchored on the bench.

Constantly be on the guard against showing any improvement. If you do, the coach will probably try to make you into something that resembles a ballplayer.

It will aid you to assume immediately if you can disguise the coach or arouse his ill will. One successful method is never to pay attention to what the coach is saying. If for some reason you do fail to keep up playing dumb. Forgetting the plays and then wearing a complete look of ignorance almost always works, believe me.

One must not get the idea that a benchwarmer's life isn't an enjoyable one. We get to go on trips all over the country. During the halftime period or rather pregame warmups, the boys on the bench are allowed to exhibit their measurer-talent. This is done mainly to assure the public we are not just sitting there, not just charley or any other color.

This, plus the fact that just being on the squad seems to impress the girls makes life enjoyable for a benchwarmer. I can think of just one thing more enjoyable than warming the bench, and that is NOT warming the bench.
