Annual Update Today, 2 p.m. Van Meter

‘Welcome Back,’ President Says

I hope you have had a restful summer and are filled with a regenerated enthusiasm for the thousands of students who have chosen Western Kentucky University for this fall.

The budget process is now behind us, and we are receiving the best salary increases this institution has had in several years. Private fund raising is at an all time high and growing dramatically. Western XXI is in place, and a significant number of actions have been initiated in response to this document.

The 1992 session of the General Assembly will again prove to be a critical one for us. A new governor will be in place. We are thankful that both candidates have voiced support for higher education.

I continue to be flooded with positive comments from students and parents about the excellent job you are doing. You are competent, you care, and it shows. Thank you!

I hope you have the best fall semester of your career.

Thomas C. Meredith, President

Ruling Says WKU Ed.D. Degree Is Legal

“I am very pleased with the Attorney General’s Report,” President Meredith said following the July 30 positive response to WKU regarding the University’s proposed doctoral program in Education. The opinion of the Attorney General basically states that no Kentucky law restricts Western from offering doctoral programs and that the Council on Higher Education does have the authority to approve the degree program which is designed to enhance the training of teachers in light of the 1990 Kentucky School Reform Act.

The University’s Board of Regents approved the proposed doctoral program last October, but the Council on Higher Education refused to act on it in January, stating it did not have the authority to consider doctoral programs at schools other than the Universities of Kentucky and Louisville.

“We look forward to having the program now being considered by the Council on Higher Education. We are eager to move ahead with this next step in assisting education reform in Kentucky,” said President Meredith.

The primary aim of WKU’s doctoral program is “to prepare the practitioner. Western will be unique in that the program will be available to persons in their school districts, with periods of intensive study at the WKU campus,” President Meredith says.

A Message from the President

It goes without saying, but it shouldn't, that the most important resource we provide for students at Western Kentucky University is our faculty and staff. The buildings and natural beauty of our campus are invaluable, but they would be worth nothing without you and the positions you hold. You are the ones who provide the quality growing experiences, both in and out of the classrooms, that our students and alumni love to talk about. You are the reason we are a special place.

Because of this fact, we continue to strive to make your compensation as competitive as possible within the dollars we have available. The institutional compensation base for 1991-92 was increased eight percent. This was the largest increase this institution has experienced since 1981-82. Only two institutions were able to give more, and it is doubtful that more than a handful of institutions across the country were able to surpass our eight percent.

We are able to maintain a commitment to pay the base single health insurance coverage for the current contract. The benefit package provided by the institution has continued to increase each year and is now worth approximately 25 percent of each individual salary.

An additional benefit has been added beginning with the 1991-92 academic year. The Board of Regents approved the proposed Employee Dependent Child Grant Program. This program provides that dependent children of full-time employees will receive up to a 50 percent discount on the cost of tuition. Details are provided in a recent letter you received. We have tried to work this into the budget for the past two years, but have been unable to do so. I am pleased that it will be available for this coming year. Our goal is to increase this benefit to 100 percent when resources allow. I was also pleased that the Board approved the Staff Advisory Council beginning this year. This has been on my agenda for three years, and it is finally coming to fruition. The all-important staff of this institution need to have a voice that is now being provided. The 10 percent discount in the University cafeterias is still in effect, and will be much more conveniently administered beginning this year. You will need only to show your ID and 10 percent will be deducted at the register. Thank you for your contributions. Let's make the 1991-92 academic year the best one ever.

Regents Approve $109 Million Budget For 1991-92

The University Board of Regents approved a $109 million budget for 1991-92, an increase of more than $6 million, at its July 29 meeting.

The board also approved a dependent child grant that will cover half the cost of in-state tuition for dependent children of full-time faculty and staff, beginning this fall. (See story, p. 3).

President Meredith said the majority of the budget increase went to salaries—nearly 83 percent. Dr. Meredith added that while the adjustments were in the right direction, more is needed to bring salary levels to where they should be. Salaries were increased an average of 8 percent.

The board also approved a 9 percent increase in tuition and fees, set by the Council on Higher Education. In other action, the Board:

* approved the formation of a Staff Advisory Council to report to and advise the President. (See story, p. 3).
* welcomed two new regents—Stephen B. Catron of Bowling Green and Heather Falmish of Winchester, student representatives.
* approved a resolution severing the relationship between the University and the Western Kentucky University Credit Union by the end of the year.

Catron, who was elected to chair the finance and investment committee by the Board, said the Credit Union has expanded its services beyond the University community and that the change is in the best interest of both parties. The change will include an adjustment in rent of any University property to fair market value until the end of the year and stopping the use of University services, such as payroll and campus mail.

* approved changing the name of the Office of Independent Study to Correspondence Study and the Department of Health and Safety to the Department of Public Health.
* approved naming Western's football field after retired Athletics Director and former football coach Jimmy Feix.

Faculty and Staff Are Encouraged To Take WKU Classes for Professional Development

President Meredith has urged all vice presidents, deans and department heads to encourage faculty and staff in their divisions to take advantage of the Faculty-Staff Tuition Scholarship Program. In a letter dated July 24, the President said "I am particularly interested in encouraging employees to utilize the faculty-staff scholarship program.

"One of the Priorities for Action (A-5) contained in Western XXI encouraged the University to support the continued growth and professional development of faculty, staff and administrative employees," the President said, adding:

"Please be sure that faculty and staff members in your unit/division are aware of this benefit, and please be supportive as you make appropriate adjustments in the work schedules of employees utilizing this benefit."

The program, which enables faculty and staff to enroll in courses at Western which would improve their competence in the positions they hold, is outlined in Personnel Policy #4-64.

CHE Can Rule on Education Doctorate

"The degree program will focus upon three areas: providing leadership, providing organizers and developers of human resource potential and providing instructional skills leaders," Dr. Pankratz explained.

If the Council approves Western's program, it "will provide a type of leader Kentucky and the nation will need to be successful in school reform," said Dr. Carl Matray, dean of WKU's College of Education and Behavioral Sciences.

President Meredith said, "This proposed degree is in response to an overwhelming need for persons trained in curriculum that can address the issues of education reform in Kentucky."

President Meredith Gives Staff New Voice

Staff Advisory Council Fulfills Promise

President Meredith received approval by the University Board of Regents at its last meeting to establish a Staff Advisory Council. The President said the Council fulfills a promise he made three years ago when he interviewed for the WKU presidency.

"There are 500 to 600 people who really don't have a voice that I can hear," he said.

"A total of nine representatives from all categories of employees of the University other than faculty and executive, administrative and managerial employees will make up the Council," the President said. Ballots will be sent with specific instructions through campus mail to staff employees who will vote for one representative(s) in their staff representation area.

Each vice president will appoint one person who is not a nominee to serve on an election committee, and these three persons will be responsible for solving any election disputes, and will report the results of their activities to the Director of Personnel Services. Representatives will serve for one year, eligible for re-election for an additional year.

Criteria for nomination are specifically outlined in a letter to each staff member.

Nomination forms are available in the Department of Personnel Services, Physical Plant Office or DUC Information Desk.

Questions may be addressed to the Department of Personnel Services, 2071.

Employee Dependent Child Grant Program Is Another Unique Opportunity

The Employee Dependent Child Grant program which President Meredith presented to the University Board of Regents at its July 29 meeting is effective this fall.

"As we move into a time of great shortages of faculty through retirements, we have to be more competitive with the recruitment of faculty," he added.

Faculty and staff received a letter from President Meredith Aug. 1 outlining the program with billing instructions. For this semester only, participants need to complete a form which was also sent, and return in with the student's August billing to the Department of Personnel Services.

In future semesters, forms should be completed and turned in to the Department of Personnel Services.

In addition, the University gives faculty and staff members and their spouses a unique opportunity not available through most employers by encouraging them to take University courses for college credit.

The University will pay 100 percent of registration fees for approved courses for regular and full-time employees, and 50 percent for their spouses.

To find out more about this educational opportunity, call Personnel Services, 2071.

Faculty and Staff Will Receive Pay Increases in August Checks

The Board of Regents, in approving the 1991-92 operating budget, approved salary increases for faculty and staff retroactive to July 1.

The compensation plan was approved during the Board's July 29 meeting.

The date of payment of salary increases will vary by payroll categories. Personnel paid on a biweekly basis will receive increases Aug. 23, and monthly payroll recipients will receive increases Aug. 30.

All compensation will include increases retroactive to July 1. Through the use of a "tax multiplier" within the payroll system, faculty and staff will not be penalized by over-withholding of federal and state income taxes due to the one-time adjustment.

Contact the Office of Personnel Services for more information.

New Attendance Policy Is In Effect

Effective this fall, faculty will drop students who fail to attend the first two class meetings for a course without permission.

"Students who register for a course but fail to attend are usually maintained on the class roster until a faculty member and the Registrar determine that the students will not be attending," says Dr. Fred Murphy, chair of the Academic Requirements and Faculty and Staff Will Receive Pay Increases in August Checks

"Students who register for a course but fail to attend are usually maintained on the class roster until a faculty member and the Registrar determine that the students will not be attending," says Dr. Fred Murphy, chair of the Academic Requirements and Regulations Committee of the University Academic Council.

"The process of verifying whether or not students are attending class sometimes takes several weeks," Murphy explained, adding:

"The unfortunate result is that other students, who would have enrolled in the course, are denied the opportunity to enroll because classes are closed unwittingly even though spaces are available."

Michael Owsley, left, a partner in the law firm of English, Lucas, Priest and Owsley in Bowling Green, presented a $1,000 check from the firm to the Warren County-Western Kentucky University Law Library to WKU Dean of Libraries Michael Binder, right. "The Bowling Green-Warrack County Bar Association and the local attorneys have had a long and successful relationship with Western since the Bar Association's library was moved to Western in 1965," said Owsley Binder. The money will be used to expand and enhance Western's law library collection.

Gifts to Western
The Hughes-Kirkpatrick Alumni Club of WKU has established a scholarship fund for graduates of Muhlenberg South High School who are residents of the area of Muhlenberg County once served by Hughes-Kirkpatrick High School. Members of the club recently presented a $20,000 check to the WKU College Heights Foundation.

Summer Enrollment Remains Record
Western Kentucky University posted a record enrollment for the 1991 summer session with 5,664 students. Enrollment was up 4.7 percent— or 253 students—over the 1990 summer session figure of 5,411, which was the previous record. The summer figure continues the record enrollment trend. The spring 1991 figure of 14,575 was the first time spring enrollment topped the 14,000 mark while the fall 1990 mark of 15,240 represented the first time enrollment at Western exceeded 15,000.

Dr. Rubye Beal Will Direct WKU-Glasgow

The new director of WKU-Glasgow says she is looking forward to continuing its growth and development.

Dr. Rubye M. Beal, former director of the Office of Business and Industry at Santa Fe Community College in Gainesville, Fla., began her new position last Friday, Aug. 16. She replaces Dr. James Heck, who has been promoted to assistant President Meredith.

"Dr. Beal brings an expertise and excitement to this position that will ensure the continued growth of the Glasgow Campus," Dr. Meredith said.

Dr. Beal said she is excited about working on the Glasgow campus.

"I think the challenge of continuing the work that has been started there is what attracted me to the position in Glasgow," she said. "Then I met the people in Glasgow and at Western and I thought, 'These are the people I want to work with.'"

Western is an outstanding University, Dr. Beal said, adding she feels honored to be joining the staff.

Then I met the people in Glasgow and at Western and I thought, 'These are the people I want to work with.'

As her first priority, Dr. Beal said she wants to get acquainted with the Glasgow community and its people, the students and staff and her colleagues at Western. She also looks forward to continuing the efforts to reach non-traditional students and to enhancing the physical facilities at the Glasgow campus.

Dr. Beal was chosen after a national search by a committee of educators and civic leaders from Bowling Green and Glasgow, which screened more than 80 applicants.

Before becoming director of the Office of Business and Industry at Santa Fe, Dr. Beal was assistant dean of student development programs; dean of academic affairs and student affairs at Valencia Community College, East Campus, in Orlando, Fla. and associate professor of psychology and counselor education at Nicholls State University in Thibodaux, La. She also operates R. Beal and Associates as an independent management consultant and human resource developer.

Update Shows Health & Activities Center Near Half-Way Mark; Dorms Going Well

If you’ve been away from campus all summer, you may be interested in an update on construction at the south end of campus.

The $10 million Raymond B. Preston Health and Activities Center, located at Regents Drive and Russellville Road, is about 45 percent complete, according to Rick Coltharp, university architect. Completion date is July 1992.

Coltharp said the superstructure is nearly complete, and some of the roof is in place. Crews are working on the mechanical features in the basement and installing the utility lines in the slab flooring.

Construction is going well toward the July 1992 completion date, he said.

Work on the Center began last September, and when completed, it will include a supergym, multi-purpose activity units for basketball, volleyball and tennis; a jogging skyway; handball and racquetball courts; weight rooms; and aerobics/dance area; a swimming pool and diving platforms and a human performance laboratory.

At the corner of University Boulevard and Normal Drive, near Peace-Ford Tower, two residence halls are under construction.

Building No. 1 has a roof and most of the brick veneer has been installed, and most of the interior has been framed. Workers are also installing the electrical conduit and plumbing. Crews are erecting the superstructure of Building No. 2.

Each building will be three stories and together the buildings will house 376 students.

One will house primarily students in sororities and one will be reserved for students with at least a 2.0 grade point average and 61 credit hours who have been in continual good standing with the University.

The $7 million project is financed through the sale of bonds and will be repaid through student housing fees.
