Regents to consider budget plan tomorrow

By Sheila Eison

The University's Board of Regents is scheduled to meet tomorrow at 10 a.m. to consider the 1992-93 budget recommendation of President Thomas C. Meredith.

With permission of the Board of Regents, President Meredith released the plan to members of the news media April 15 after rumors began to surface regarding the University's budget.

Good Friday afternoon, April 17, President Meredith met with faculty and staff to discuss the budget proposal. "I really had not intended to do this until next week, but by some mysterious fashion, all of the budget information sent out got wildly distributed to the press and everyone else, so I thought if the world was going to have it, certainly you ought to hear about it," said Dr. Meredith.

"I wanted to have this meeting as quickly as possible," he said, adding: "There are a lot of rumors floating around and we need to bring them to a close as soon as possible or confirm them."

After introducing members of the University's Budget Committee, Dr. Meredith described the efforts preparing the budget as "a very laborious process. This committee was organized a year and a half or more ago with the idea of having as much feedback on the budgeting process at this institution as possible," the President said.

"We started out learning as much as possible about every budget on campus. The budget committee spent countless hours reviewing these budgets, then listening to budget directors on campus. They used that information in their first trial as we built the 1991-92 budget," he said, adding: "They continued to study and gain information and grow.

"And then as we received our mid-year budget cut, all of that information became very helpful as they the (budget committee) worked, and we spent many hours deciding how to cut $2.359 million in the middle of the year," The President said.

"The committee did that in a remarkable way."

In January, the distressing news over our revenue situation in the state continued, and it became evident that an additional $6.1 million be taken out to begin this next year July 1," the President said.

"That's a lot of money. I've been through a lot of budget cuts in my lifetime... but I've never been around anything close to this," he said, adding: "It's been devastating. It's been painful.

Referring to the budget committee, Dr. Meredith said: "It was interesting for me as President to watch this group work and move away from turf protection... to moving toward what was best for the corporation."

During the hour-long meeting, Dr. Meredith outlined "several priorities," and then went over the budget item by item.

"Number one is classroom instruction," he said.

"The President said the budget committee had a commitment to following Western XXI.

"It has been followed. The only exception is we had to dip into the reserve for small amounts. Western XXI calls for increasing the reserve, not decreasing, but to my knowledge this is the only violation of Western XXI that I am aware of."

Before going over the proposal, Dr. Meredith made specific introductory remarks regarding the following:

"Libraries: The budget committee has recommended that the University Library reduce personnel costs by $200,000 to $250,000 to be put into acquisitions only.

Even in times of budget cuts and strain, we cannot ignore the library. We have to continue to grow in the library," the President said. "No budget plan is in place on how that will be decided;"

"Teaching loads: The President explained the expense of the University's dependence on part time faculty. Due to continued enrollment growth, use of release time for full-time faculty, and the university's strong commitment to keeping classes as small as possible.

He said all faculty will have full teaching loads, but added: "This does not lessen our commitment to research and public service. It means many of you have to work harder and longer... we'll have to do more with less money."

"Football: The President and I have recommended without question the suspension of football at Western Kentucky University," Dr. Meredith said.

The President described the move as "a painful decision" that affects many people, "but it has

Memo to: WKU Regents. Subject: '92-'93 Budget

From: Thomas C. Meredith, President

—April 13, 1992

As promised in my memo to you on March 31, 1992, you will find enclosed the final recommended budget plan for the 1992-93 fiscal year. This is my recommendation to you, and I believe it generally represents the recommendation of the University's Budget Committee to me.

At the outset, let me say how much I appreciate the countless hours the members of the Budget Committee have spent on this difficult task. A year and one-half ago, they began a process carefully studying the many budgets of this institution and meeting with the directors of those budgets to better understand what they were studying. They used that knowledge to help prepare the 1991-92 budget according to the priorities of Western XXI. They have continued to learn and study. This proved to be a great asset when dealing with our mid-year budget cut. Enclosed is a list of the members of the Budget Committee. This committee's commitment to Western XXI and our classroom instruction, coupled with their intensive study and discussion, has led to the enclosed recommendation. They have maintained an agreed-upon confidentiality and a commitment to forego discussions involving turf protection in order to facilitate the advancement of the academy as a whole. I thank them. I want to particularly thank Dr. Cecile Garmon, Director of Budget and Planning, for her expertise and sacrifice of time in making sure that the recommendations of the committee came together in a balanced and rational way.

There are two additional items being put into place which will not have a direct impact on the budget but will instead have a secondary impact. I have asked Dr. Haynes, Vice President for Academic Affairs, to reduce personnel costs in the library up to $200,000 or more. These savings will be put back into the library for acquisitions only. This will accomplish two things. The library will be able to continue to move forward during our budget crisis, and we will be addressing our concern over overstaffing in our library.

The second item involves faculty teaching loads. In order to reduce costs, address our concern over the expanded use of part-time faculty, and put more full-time faculty in front of our students in the classroom, all faculty will return to full-time teaching loads. No released time will be granted without full documentation and approval through the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs. I will also review the proposed list before approval is given. In addition, unless schedules would indicate a less than optimum performance in the classroom, all administrators with faculty rank will teach at least one class. I am enclosing a copy of the report on part-time faculty for your perusal.

There are many emotional issues in these recommendations. Probably one of the most emotional is the recommendation to suspend football. The Faculty Senate passed a resolution to eliminate (not suspend) football. It wasn’t unanimous, but it passed nonetheless. The Associated Student Government passed a resolution in support of football. The fact that the coach and some players were at the meeting may have had some influence, but I don’t know for sure.

Except for the letters from parents of players, current players, and former players and coaches, there has been very little support demonstrated for the program. However, let me quickly add that I hate to lose a major fall sport from our campus.

Since the Budget Committee and I are recommending certain expenditures in 1992-93 for football, such as scholarships and coaches’ salaries, I have suggested a possibility to Dr. Marciani, Athletics Director. If a plan can be put together for 1992-93 that would require no additional institutional funds beyond those recommended by the Budget Committee, then consideration will be given to having a football program for the 1992 season. This would require a reduction program and possibly increased private funding. I believe this could be accomplished.

The problem will come in 1993-94. At that time, institutional support for football is scheduled to be only the fulfillment of the last year of Coach Harbaugh’s contract. It is possible that a drastically reduced nonscholarship program could be in place at that time requiring a minimum level of institutional support. That level would have to be determined depending upon the sport’s worth to the University.

The primary question really has more parts than it may appear at first. Should the Board suspend football, keep the program as is, reduce the program by some degree, or move to a nonscholarship and reduced number of coaches status? I truly believe that most I-AA football programs will either drop football or drastically cut back their programs within two years. A national meeting on I-AA football is scheduled in May to discuss this problem. I don’t believe we can afford to wait for that dialogue. There would probably not be any official action taken until the January 1993 NCAA meeting. Our budget crisis is upon us now and too many students’ and coaches’ futures are in the balance.

Let me again plead with you to reach a decision concerning the 1992-93 budget plan by your meeting on April 30, 1992. The recommendations will impact many lives and programs. The individuals involved will need as much time as possible to make the necessary adjustments prior to July 1, 1992.

We stand ready to meet with you at your convenience to discuss these recommendations prior to our April 30 meeting. I await your call.

Advocates for higher ed will give teaching award

The Kentucky Advocates for Higher Education Inc. have announced a new award to honor outstanding teaching. The award will be named the Acorn Award and will be presented annually to a teaching professor in one of Kentucky's accredited four-year public or private colleges or universities. The first award will be presented this fall. Anyone is eligible to make a nomination just by submitting the name, address and phone number of the teacher. Each nominated faculty member will be contacted and will receive an application form. It will be the nominee's responsibility to complete the application and return it to the Advocates. A panel of judges will review each application and select the winner. The Acorn Award winner will receive a $5,000 honorarium and a hand-carved plaque designed and crafted by Kentucky artist Warren May. Nominations need to be submitted by May 31 and sent to The Kentucky Advocates for Higher Education Inc. Acorn Award, P.O. Box 524, Georgetown, Ky. 40324.
1,400-1,500 graduate May 9

Commencement is scheduled for Saturday, May 9 at 1:30 p.m. in E.A. Diddle Arena. Registrar Freida Eggleton says faculty and staff participants should assemble in the Auxiliary Gym of Diddle Arena dressed in academic regalia and in line by 1:10 p.m. Marshals will indicate the marching route and the proper seating arrangement.

Individual college receptions honoring the graduates will be held immediately following the ceremony.

Some 'firsts' this year, according to Eggleton, include issuing graduates non-returnable souvenirs caps and gowns and a new size diploma (8 1/2 X 11 instead of 7 X 9).

Although an accurate count of attendees won't be available for a couple of weeks, Eggleton says she expects 1,400-1,500 degree candidates.

WKU is first to offer Master of Accountancy degree

Beginning this fall, WKU will become the first Kentucky institution to offer a master of professional accountancy degree.

The program, which was approved by the University's Board of Regents in October, received approval from the Council on Higher Education last week.

President Thomas C. Meredith said the program was developed to help students meet the increasing higher education credits some states are requiring before they can become certified public accountants.

"There is an immediate need in Tennessee for additional preparation in accounting and the Kentucky General Assembly established that same need for Kentucky during the 1990 session," Meredith said. "I'm pleased that we are able to be on the forefront in meeting that need."

Dr. Jack Hall, head of the Department of Accounting at Western Kentucky University, said 15-20 states across the country are requiring CPA candidates to have 150 hours of college credit before taking the exam.

"The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, which is the professional society in this country, has likewise passed a bylaw requirement saying that to be a member of that group, by the year 2000, one would have to have 150 hours of education," Hall said.

Students in a four-year undergraduate program earn 120-130 credit hours.

"So to meet that 150 hours and give the student some credentials that he would otherwise not have," he said, "we think that the master's program is a necessity."

Half of the 30-semester hours required for the master's degree will be in accounting, Hall said. The remainder of the courses will be in advanced economics and in areas outside of the Bowling Green College of Business Administration, he said.

"The profession has indicated a desire to broaden students' educational experiences and that's our thinking in this extra component outside the college," Hall said. "We hope they will look to areas such as communication, political science and some other areas to broaden their background."

Hall said Western will offer two of the courses this fall and will use existing faculty to teach the courses. By next year, Hall said he hopes a search will be started to fill the Meany-Holland Accounting Professorship.

Private donations are being collected for the endowed chair that will be used to supplement the University-paid salary, he said.

The professorship was established in honor of former professors J.R. Meany and J.C. Holland to preserve the heritage of the Bowling Green Business University, which became part of Western in 1963.

The Faculty Development Committee will meet the second Friday each month to consider applications for funding.

Applications must be received in the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs by the last Friday of each month, dates varying to accommodate holidays.

For application materials and guidelines, contact either your college dean's office or the Office of Academic Affairs, 2296.

also been very costly,” he said. The President said an alternate plan was requested by the Board of Regents and that they will be provided with one. “I don’t know which one will be passed by the Board of Regents... The decision will be in their hands. That’s all I can tell you at this point;”

“ Personnel: The President said Western “has long had a practice of placing displaced individuals due to an office closing or whatever, of trying to make sure at all possible to place those individuals in other places within the institution in vacant positions.”

Dr. Meredith said this is a “top priority for Western. There will be individuals whose positions will be lost as a result of the budget cut. Every effort will be made to place those individuals back in this University somewhere, if at all possible, within existing vacant positions. But there is no promise for that, just a word of assurance for you that we will try to take place,” he said, adding:

“I’m pleased that we were in a position to not have to cut salaries on campus. Very few positions are being lost given the amount of money that’s being cut. And that’s not to diminish the importance of those positions.”

President’s Concert Goes Big Band

The Airmen of Note, premier jazz ensemble of the United States Air Force, will perform The President’s Concert in the Ivan Wilson Center Amphitheater at Western Kentucky University Friday, May 8 at 8 p.m. CDT.

Acclaimed by music critics and musicians alike as one of the finest big bands in the country, the band’s roots go back to the late Glenn Miller’s Army Air Corps dance band. In 1950, the U.S. Air Force created The Airmen of Note to carry on the styles and traditions of that great band. Without forgetting its rich heritage, The Airmen of Note has evolved into one of the most versatile and contemporary big bands in the world. Today, The Airmen of Note is one of the few touring big bands in the country.

The appearance of The Airmen of Note at Western is being sponsored by the University’s public radio service — WKYU-FM, Bowling Green; WDCI-FM, Somerset; WKPB-FM Henderson-Owensboro, and WKUE-FM, Elizabethtown.

Tickets for the concert are free and may be obtained by sending a request with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: AIRMEN O F NOTE-WKYU-FM, 1526 Russellville Road, Bowling Green, Ky. 42101.

In the event of inclement weather, the concert will be held in Van Meter Auditorium on Western’s campus. The first 1,000 people presenting tickets will be admitted to the alternate site.

For more information, contact WKYU-FM at 5489.

Tandy Corp. donates equipment

Tandy Corp. will donate more than $43,000 in computer equipment to WKU to support the education of future teachers.

Tandy announced it will donate 15 computer work stations plus installation and technical assistance. Each station will include the computer, keyboard, high-resolution color monitor and the equipment necessary to connect the stations together in a network.

Tandy will also replace the equipment quarterly, said Dr. Leroy Metze, director of educational technology at Western.

Metze said the computer classroom created by the Tandy donation will support a partnership announced in February between Western and Jostens Learning Corp. In that partnership, Jostens Learning is donating its entire line of instructional educational software to Western, which is valued at more than $700,000.

The partnership also includes the Bowling Green Independent Schools, Warren County Schools and Simpson County Schools.

“Tandy is very pleased that we were in a position to not have to cut salaries on campus. Very few positions are being lost given the amount of money that’s being cut. And that’s not to diminish the importance of those positions.”
