WKU regents meet tomorrow to consider budget, appeal, audit

The University’s Board of Regents will meet tomorrow (Thursday, Aug. 20) at 10 a.m. with an agenda including consideration of the 1992-93 operating budget.

The new board, which was appointed by Gov. Brereton Jones last month, will be conducting official business for the first time as a board at the meeting.

Board members will receive copies of the University’s response to the audit by Arthur Andersen and Co., and will discuss billings for the audit.

Also on the agenda will be discussion of the appeal of the lawsuit against hiring former Gov. Louie B. Nunn by former regents which was ruled illegal in Warren Circuit Court.

A large number of other agenda items will be considered, such as academic program changes and personnel changes since April 30.

Meet WKU’s Board of Regents

New residence halls house 388

Students are moving into the University's two new residence halls which were dedicated yesterday.

Located at the corner of University Boulevard and Normal Drive, the three-story buildings are housing students in sororities and those with which were dedicated yesterday.

The $7.6 million project was financed through the sale of bonds and is being repaid through student housing fees.

WKU now has 20 residence halls on campus.

Work on the two new buildings generated more than 150 jobs and contributed more than $6 million to Kentucky's economy.

Seminar series to inform WKU management on changes

Leadership for the 90s, a series of seminars for WKU management personnel, begins Sept. 3 with a program on the American Disabilities Act from 2 to 4 p.m. in Van Meter Auditorium.

The Leadership seminars "have been uniquely designed to inform our management personnel on critical legal issues, changing employee needs and constant management challenges confronting higher education today," said President Thomas C. Meredith in a memo to all supervisory personnel Aug. 5.

The President emphasized all meetings are mandatory, and will be considered during annual evaluation sessions.

Managers, supervisors and their nominees will receive individual invitations to attend soon, Dr. Meredith said.

Other September meetings include seminars on interpersonal relations Sept. 8 and cultural diversity Sept. 24.

On Campus will include all meetings each issue in Coming Up on page 8.

Let WKU brag about you

The Office of the President is continually updating the University's Brag Sheet, a listing of recent achievements and accomplishments of Western's outstanding faculty and staff.

Department heads are asked to keep the President informed of your achievements, to continue to keep Western in the spotlight, remind your department head to brag about you!
Here's to health! Preston Center opens

The Raymond B. Preston Health & Activities Center is completed and ready for business. A Sneaker Preview, fund raiser to provide additional equipment and supplies for the Health and Fitness Lab, is tomorrow at 6:30 p.m., at a cost of $50 per person.

Anyone interested in attending may call University Relations at 4295.

If you miss it, faculty and staff are invited to tour the Center Friday evening, Aug. 21 from 5-7 p.m. where information regarding membership in the Preston Center will be available.

Special Dedication Ceremony
Sunday, Aug. 23, 4 p.m.

After two years under construction, the Preston Center boasts state-of-the-art facilities serving the University's mission as a fundamental and essential physical education and recreational resource. Special features include the Supergym, multi-purpose activity units for basketball, volleyball and tennis; a skyway track; handball and racquetball courts; weight room; aerobics/dance area; swimming pool and diving platforms; human performance laboratory; lounge and vending area, and ancillary features.

The Supergym is the showpiece of the center

The Supergym offers approximately 40,000 square feet. Activities on the Supergym's four maple courts include basketball, volleyball, dancing, fencing and roller skating. The remaining two courts are covered with synthetic flooring for tennis and other uses.

Surrounding the Supergym on the second floor is a jogging skyway, which offers a view of the Supergym. The three-lane skyway is a 1/9th mile circuit and includes an elevator for handicapped access.

There are nine regulation-size racquetball courts, which include spectator areas on the upper levels. There is also handicapped access for one of the courts. The courts will have maple-strip flooring.

The 4,800 square-foot weight training area includes mechanical and free weights, exercise bicycles, treadmills, computerized rowing machines and an olympic lifting system that can accommodate up to 100 people.

The natatorium includes a 25-meter by 25-yard swimming pool with diving well, pool deck area and spectator seating on the second floor. It has 10 lanes for NCAA-sanctioned competition and intramural activities. It features underwater lighting for the heated pool and two one-meter and one three-meter diving platforms.

The Human Performance Laboratory offers diagnostic and prescriptive services for faculty, staff and students. It includes graded exercise testing, hydrostatic weighing for body composition and analysis, blood analy-

Where is everybody? ???

Faculty and staff temporarily relocated across campus know where you are, but the rest of us may be wondering.

While renovation continues in Tate Page and Potter Halls, offices normally in Tate Page Hall have been relocated to the Academic Complex, Jones-Jaggers Hall and Helm and Cravens Libraries. Some offices, however, remain on the fourth floor only of Tate Page Hall.

Dr. James Heck, executive assistant to the president, has been working with persons involved in finding temporary locations for classes and offices.

In Student Affairs, Housing is moved to Jones-Jaggers, Auxiliary Services to Van Meter Hall, Residence Life to Suite 100 in McCormack Hall, Minority Student Support Services to Bates-Runner Hall and Student Life to Bates-Runner Hall's home economics apartments.

The Page Hall Copy Center is in Room 120 of the Downing University Center.

Classes normally held in Tate Page Hall are being held at various locations across campus, and there are numerous signs posted.

For questions regarding those classes, call Dr. James Craig, 4662. For Student Affairs information, call Linda Tweedy, 5429.
